LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR

Dear Members of Congress,

We are pleased to provide you a report each year on the progress of the Department of Defense (DoD) in preventing and responding to the crime of sexual assault. This year's report describes and aligns the Department's significant achievements across the five DoD-wide sexual assault prevention and response (SAPR) strategic priorities. The Department of Defense Fiscal Year 2010 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military demonstrates these steadfast improvements in the areas of institutionalizing prevention strategies in the military community, increasing a climate of victim confidence associated with reporting, improving sexual assault response, improving system accountability, and improving stakeholder knowledge and understanding of the SAPR Program and Policy.

Our commitment to establishing a culture free of sexual assault remains unwavering. As detailed throughout this report, in fiscal year (FY) 2010, the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO) found innovative ways to collaborate with the Military Services—the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force—and their civilian counterparts to execute the SAPR Program. In addition to these efforts, the Department worked diligently to integrate more than 100 recommendations from internal and external agencies into a single coordinated plan to improve the SAPR Program. We look forward to future collaboration with Congress that further strengthens our program.

Our new prevention campaign, "Hurts One. Affects All.," emphasizes that behind each report is a person whose life is changed forever and a military unit that is less ready to carry out its mission. Knowing this, the Department remains steadfast in its commitment to preventing sexual assault, supporting victims with appropriate and timely care, and executing effective system accountability.

This is our duty! Our Service members deserve nothing less.

Director

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Sexual assault is a crime that is incompatible with service in the U.S. Armed Forces. It undermines core values, degrades military readiness, subverts goodwill, and forever changes the lives of victims and their families. Unfortunately, sexual assault is also a crime that is significantly underreported, both within and outside of the Military Services.

In 2005, the Department of Defense (DoD) established the Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program to promote prevention, encourage increased reporting of the crime, and improve response capabilities for victims. The Department's vision is to enable military readiness by establishing a culture free of sexual assault. The Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO) within the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) is responsible for the policy that supports the SAPR Program and oversight activities that ensure its effectiveness. The DoD SAPR Policy requires each Military Service to maintain its own SAPR program, document both Restricted and Unrestricted Reports of sexual assault, investigate Unrestricted Reports of sexual assault, and hold subjects appropriately accountable.

Section 577(f) of Public Law (PL) Number (No.) 108-375 requires the Secretary of Defense to submit an annual report to the Committees on Armed Services on sexual assaults involving members of the Armed Forces. Section 596(c) of PL No. 109-163, Section 583 of PL No. 109-364, and Sections 561 and 562 of PL No. 111-84 specify additional reporting requirements. This report fulfills those requirements and describes sexual assaults reported during fiscal year (FY) 2010, which is from October 1, 2009, through September 30, 2010. The appendices of this report include supplementary reports from the Secretaries of the Military Departments. This year, the report also assesses the Department's progress in the areas of prevention, reporting, response, and improved knowledge of SAPR issues in the context of the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) 2010 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members (WGRA).

In FY08, Secretary of Defense Robert Gates identified the following four key areas in the SAPR Program:

- Reducing stigma associated with sexual assault reporting;
- Ensuring sufficient commander training;
- Ensuring investigator training and resourcing; and
- Ensuring trial counsel training and resourcing.

Since then, the Department has focused on the execution of these areas. To assist in accomplishing these priorities—and for the first time in the Department's history—the issue of sexual assault was included in the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness Strategic Plan for Fiscal Years 2010–12.<sup>1</sup> Under the goal

“shape and maintain a mission-ready all volunteer force,” the Under Secretary of Defense (USD) for Personnel and Readiness (P&R) articulated the sub-goal of “establish a culture free of sexual assault.”

In keeping with the mission of establishing a culture free of sexual assault, this year’s report presents the Department’s programmatic activities and provides statistical analysis of reports of sexual assault during FY10.

To discuss FY10 programmatic efforts, OSD SAPRO utilizes the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan as the report’s oversight framework. This framework works as an oversight tool to assess progress against the Strategic Plan’s five priorities, which are:

- Institutionalize prevention strategies in the military community;
- Increase the climate of victim confidence associated with reporting;
- Improve sexual assault response;
- Improve system accountability; and
- Improve stakeholder knowledge and understanding of SAPR.

In addition to these targeted areas, in future years, the Military Services will be evaluated against the priorities outlined in the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan.

To address the first priority, the Department seeks to prevent sexual assaults through institutionalized efforts that influence the knowledge, skills, and behaviors of military members to reduce sexual assaults in the DoD community. In FY10, the Department built on the successful social marketing campaign that was disseminated worldwide in FY09. The FY09 campaign, entitled “My Strength Is For Defending,” was transformed to the “Hurts One. Affects All.” social marketing campaign for FY10. This next phase of prevention outreach was designed to reach Service members using the communications platforms they use most with the key message that the prevention of sexual assault is everyone’s duty. In FY10, the Department also undertook prevention-related research and engaged in outreach efforts through a variety of new media channels. In addition, each of the Military Services deployed prevention-focused informational and educational activities devised to motivate their personnel to intervene safely before sexual assaults occur. Although measuring success in prevention is difficult, it appears the Department’s SAPR programs may be contributing to a decrease in the incidence of sexual assault against Service members, as measured by DMDC’s 2010 WGRA.<sup>2</sup> In 2006, 6.8 percent of Active Duty women and 1.8 percent of Active Duty men indicated they experienced unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months before the survey.<sup>3,4</sup> In 2010, 4.4 percent of Active Duty women and 0.9 percent of Active Duty men indicated they experienced unwanted sexual contact in the prior 12 months.<sup>5</sup>

The Department is working toward the second priority by increasing victims' confidence in reporting sexual assault by publicizing the two reporting options, identifying and addressing the challenges associated with reporting, and reducing the stigma and other barriers that deter reporting. The Department's intent is to increase the number and percentage of sexual assaults reported to authorities while decreasing the incidents of sexual assault through prevention. The sexual assaults reported to the Department include a broad spectrum of offenses ranging from rape to wrongful sexual contact, which are addressed by Articles 120, 125, and 80 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ). In FY10, the Military Services received a total of 3,158 reports of sexual assault involving Service members, which reflects a 2-percent decrease in overall reporting from FY09. Despite the small decrease in total reports this year, the trend over the previous 3 years shows that more victims are coming forward to report sexual assault than when the SAPR Program was launched in 2005. Of the 3,158 reports of sexual assault in FY10, 2,410 were Unrestricted Reports, which is a 4-percent decrease from FY09. In FY10, the Military Services initially received 882 Restricted Reports, which is a 5-percent increase over FY09. At the request of the victim, 134 reports were converted from Restricted to Unrestricted Reports, leaving 748 reports remaining Restricted in FY10. It should be noted that, on average, the Department has received more than 750 initial Restricted Reports annually since the enactment of the Restricted Reporting policy in 2005; about 15 percent of these reports convert to an Unrestricted Report each year at the victim's request.<sup>6</sup> To further build the climate of victim confidence and encourage reporting, the Department also continued to publicize its reporting options through a variety of innovative media channels, engaged leadership to reduce the stigma associated with reporting, and developed initiatives to encourage help-seeking behaviors. As required by the Department's SAPR Policy, the Military Services provided initial and annual refresher SAPR Program training to the U.S. Armed Forces during FY10. According to the DMDC 2010 WGRA, 93 percent of Active Duty men and women indicated they received training on topics related to sexual assault during the 12 months preceding the survey.<sup>7</sup> This reflects a 4-percent increase over the number of Active Duty members who acknowledged receiving training in 2006 (89 percent for both women and men).<sup>8</sup>

For the third priority, the Department is improving its response to victims of sexual assault through policy and program enhancements that expand the Department's capability for victim care and increase Service member confidence in the military criminal justice process. Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARC) and SAPR Victim Advocates (VA) are responsible for ensuring victims are referred to medical, counseling, and legal support services. This year, SARCs and SAPR VAs made an average of 1.4 support service referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 1 support service referral per victim making a Restricted Report. In FY10, OSD SAPRO worked with the Military Services and other stakeholders to propose revisions to the SAPR Policy that are designed to further increase reporting by victims and improve response resources. OSD SAPRO also contracted with the Rape, Abuse and Incest National Network (RAINN) to develop a confidential 24/7 hotline resource for sexual assault victims and continued to work with the Pennsylvania Coalition Against Rape (PCAR) to implement the next phase of an educational curriculum to improve civilian rape crisis center support of military victims. In addition, the Department continued to revise and expand SAPR Program training requirements for military first responders and draft revisions to the SAPR Policy that would expand reporting options and services to new categories of persons, clarify that the SAPR policy is victim focused, and require that sexual assault victims be considered a priority for emergency care. The Department also began making revisions to the forensic exam form and associated healthcare provider instructions to ensure sexual assault victims receive care that reflects national standards. The Military Services also trained hundreds of SARCs, SAPR VAs, and commanders to provide direct support to victims.

The Department's fourth priority is ensuring SAPR Program effectiveness. Improved system accountability is possible through data collection, analysis, and reporting of case outcomes, as well as review of ongoing SAPR efforts to ensure attainment of desired programmatic solutions. The Department made significant strides in the development of the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID) in FY10. Each Military Service also agreed to update its data systems to support DSAID. Also, throughout FY10, representatives from OSD SAPRO, other DoD components, and the Military Services worked to improve SAPR Program strategic planning and oversight and to conduct innovative research. In FY10, 2,594 sexual assault investigations were completed involving 3,223 subjects, 2,554 of whom were subject to the UCMJ. By the end of FY10, 1,935 of the subjects received final disposition of their cases. Commanders had sufficient evidence to take action against 1,025 subjects. Of these, 51 percent had courts-martial charges preferred (initiated), 25 percent received punishment under Article 15 of the UCMJ, and 23 percent received a discharge or another adverse administrative action. Of the remaining 910 subjects, the Department declined or was precluded from taking action for a variety of reasons, including, but not limited to, insufficient evidence that an offense occurred, the victim declined to participate in the military justice process, or there was probable cause for a nonsexual assault offense only. The remaining 619 subjects who had not yet received a final disposition on their case or cases by the end of FY10 will be reported on in forthcoming years' reports. This year, OSD SAPRO and the Military Services also participated in and responded to reviews of the SAPR Program by the Government Accountability Office (GAO), Inspector General DoD (IG DoD), and Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services (DTF-SAMS). Finally, OSD SAPRO completed work on the development of its Oversight Framework, which organizes and aligns efforts within the Department to ensure the SAPR Program functions as it was designed.

The Department's fifth priority is to educate its stakeholders about its progress in SAPR programs and policies. Greater stakeholder knowledge results when military and civilian leadership communicate SAPR Program successes and challenges, disseminate SAPR-specific research drawn from the military environment, and deploy effective messaging through a variety of outreach channels. This year, OSD SAPRO worked to improve understanding of the SAPR Program both within and outside of the DoD community. The OSD SAPRO Director and representatives from the Military Services testified at congressional hearings about the progress being made in SAPR programming throughout the Department. In addition, the Military Services hosted summits to involve civilian and military leadership as champions of the SAPR Program. The Department also launched studies to measure effectiveness of the SAPR Program and better understand the level of SAPR awareness among military personnel and the general public.

INTRODUCTION

This report is the Department of Defense Fiscal Year 2010 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military, required by Section 577(f) of Public Law (P.L.) Number (No.) 108- 375, National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for Fiscal Year (FY) 2005. Section 596(c) of P.L. No.109-163, the NDAA for FY06; Section 583 of P.L. No.109-364, the NDAA for FY07; and Sections 561 and 562 of P.L. No. 111-84, the NDAA for FY10, impose additional requirements for the report. For additional information regarding the P.L.s that govern this report, please refer to Appendix A, Public Laws Governing the Report.

To discuss FY10 programmatic efforts, Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO) utilizes the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan as the report's oversight framework. This framework works as an oversight tool to assess progress against the Strategic Plan's five priorities, which are to:

- Institutionalize prevention strategies in the military community;
- Increase the climate of victim confidence associated with reporting;
- Improve sexual assault response;
- Improve system accountability; and
- Improve stakeholder knowledge and understanding of sexual assault prevention and response (SAPR).

The reports of sexual assault described in this annual report were made during FY10, which is from October 1, 2009, through September 30, 2010. For complete information on reported sexual assaults in FY10, please refer to Statistical Data section of this report.

This report is the Department's fourth annual report done on an FY basis. Annual reports from 2005 to 2006 were based on the calendar year (CY).<sup>9</sup>

INSTITUTIONALIZE PREVENTION STRATEGIES IN THE MILITARY COMMUNITY

The crime of sexual assault takes an immeasurable toll on the victim and diminishes the Department of Defense's (DoD) overall capability by undermining core values, degrading mission readiness, subverting strategic goodwill, and raising financial costs. The negative consequences of sexual assault have a ripple effect, starting with the victim and expanding outward to include families, friends, colleagues, the military community, and the larger population.

<sup>9</sup> Congressional revisions to Article 120 of the UCMJ on October 1, 2007, drove the Department to align its reporting collection period from calendar year (CY) to fiscal year (FY).

When discussed in this report, prevention is referred to as population-based or environmental- and system-level strategies, policies, and actions that preclude sexual violence from occurring. Such prevention efforts work to minimize or entirely eliminate the events, conditions, situations, or influences (e.g., risk factors) that result in the initiation of sexual violence and associated injuries, disabilities, and deaths.<sup>10</sup>

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION STRATEGY

Recognizing the significant impact of sexual assault, the Department began a transformative mission to prevent sexual assault in the military in FY05. No other major institution on the scale of the U.S. Armed Forces has undertaken such a comprehensive approach to sexual assault prevention.

The Department's early prevention efforts consisted of awareness training on SAPR Policy, services available to victims, consequences of sexual assault for an offender, and the incompatibility of sexual assault with the U.S. military's core values of honor and integrity. Since then, the Department has built on its earlier efforts by undertaking a more comprehensive approach to prevention by focusing on interventions aimed at the peer, community, organizational, and societal levels.

The Spectrum of Prevention is a comprehensive approach that is a central focus in the ongoing development of the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy, which underwent further refinement in FY10. In addition, all of the Military Services have comprehensive prevention strategies in place.

The Spectrum of Prevention depicts several populations and levels of influence in an organization's social environment that are appropriate targets for intervention (see Figure 1).<sup>11</sup> The Spectrum has six levels ranging from training individuals at the lowest level to influencing policy at the highest levels of an organization.

By addressing sexual assault at each of the six levels of the Spectrum, the Department's goals are to reduce the number of military sexual assaults and provide a benchmark model for other organizations to follow.<sup>12</sup> The activities at the six levels are as follows:

- Promote prevention-related policy.

<sup>12</sup> McGann, P., & Schewe, P. (2008). DoD Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy. Washington, DC: DoD.

- Create new organizational prevention-based practices.
- Foster prevention-related coalitions and networks.
- Educate prevention service providers.
- Promote community education.
- Strengthen individual Service member knowledge and skills.

Although the Department implemented activities at all six levels in FY10, it made particular strides in strengthening the knowledge and skills of individual Service members through prevention training and education, as discussed in the following section.

PREVENTION TRAINING AND EDUCATION FOR SERVICE MEMBERS

As a first step in combating sexual assault, the Department requires all Service members in both the Active and Reserve components to receive annual awareness training. In addition, sexual assault awareness instruction is currently a mandatory component of all accession training, professional military education programs, and pre-command courses.<sup>13</sup>

A key component of the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy is bystander intervention education. Bystander intervention programs are designed to empower people to act in situations where others may be at risk for sexual assault.<sup>14, 15, 16, 17</sup> In training, Service members are taught the skills to recognize risky situations and intervene safely before a sexual assault occurs.

Each Military Service has instituted a variety of programs that feature bystander intervention as prevention intervention. In FY10, the Military Services conducted innovative training and education for Service members.

- U.S. Army (USA) contracted to continue the Sex Signals training tour. Sex Signals is a 90-minute live audience-interactive program that includes skits dealing with dating, rape, consent, and other associated topics, such as paying attention to body language, alcohol use, and safe intervention.<sup>18</sup>

- U.S. Navy (USN) began a bystander intervention pilot program in March 2010 that was scheduled to run through December 2010. The pilot is anticipated to train more than 5,300 Sailors at five locations in bystander intervention skills.<sup>19</sup>
- U.S. Marine Corps (USMC) continued the Mentors in Violence Prevention Program designed to give all Marines the tools required to effectively influence bystander behavior in potentially risky social situations so positive outcomes occur.<sup>20</sup>
- U.S. Air Force (USAF) trained 400 facilitators to assist Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARC) in bystander intervention training at installations and subsequently held several 3-day train-the-trainer courses for local installation volunteers.

Senior Leadership Support

The Department is committed to ensuring that the top levels of DoD leadership are engaged in the SAPR Program, as recommended by the Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services (DTF-SAMS) in December 2009. In May 2010, Dr. Kaye Whitley, Director of OSD SAPRO, briefed the Joint Chiefs of Staff “Tank” on the SAPR Program and the status of the DTF-SAMS recommendations’ implementation.<sup>21</sup> In attendance were the Vice Chairman of the Joint Staff and the Vice Chiefs.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO proposed that revised training for senior leaders and commanders be included in the SAPR Policy reissuance based on findings from Policy Assistance Team (PAT) visits conducted in FY09. For additional information on PAT visits, refer to the FY09 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military Services.

Military Service senior leadership has also demonstrated a strong level of commitment to the SAPR Program. In FY10, the Military Services held several SAPR summits.

- USA held its third annual Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Summit in April 2010. At this summit, both the Secretary of the Army and the Chief of Staff of the Army delivered remarks (see Figure 2). More than 600 attendees were present, including brigade and battalion leaders, USA’s

<sup>19</sup> At the completion of the pilot program, an assessment will be conducted to determine the effectiveness of the training by measuring attitudes toward intervention in sexual assault-related behavior and reductions in incidents of sexual assaults.

<sup>20</sup> Collaborative efforts with the Training and Education Command and training program staff are underway to ensure SAPR-specific policies are embedded in the program curriculum.

<sup>21</sup> “Tank” meetings are used to address unresolved complex issues and to hold senior decision briefings.

SAPR Program personnel, SHARP Program personnel, and program managers (PM).

- USN held the Department of the Navy (DON) SARC Summit in March 2010. A highlight of the summit was specialized training on helping victims through the military justice process, particularly in understanding the new Article 120 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ)—the rape and sexual assault statute.
- USMC held a Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps Sexual Assault and Family Support Conference in December 2009. The conference was designed to examine ways enlisted leadership can support the prevention strategy and advance intervention and risk reduction training.
- USAF held the annual SAPR Leader Summit in November 2009 in Washington, DC. During this summit, attendees provided input to support the OSD SAPRO “Hurts One. Affects All.” campaign message in a strategic planning session.
- National Guard Bureau (NGB) held the 2010 National Guard Health Promotion and Annual Prevention Training Workshop. The theme of the workshop was “Become a National Guard P.R.O. (Prevention, Response, and Outreach).”

PREVENTION OUTREACH AND COLLABORATION

In FY10, the Department built on the successful outreach initiatives of FY09 and focused on expanding prevention-related outreach activities, including prevention’s role in mission readiness.

The Military Services also engaged in inventive ways to execute prevention-related outreach in FY10 (see Figures 3 and 4). Examples of these practices are as follows:

- USA utilized several innovative channels to convey the message of sexual assault prevention, such as interactive skill-based training, concerts, and commercials. Particularly, USA continued the partnership between the USA SHARP Program and the Better Opportunities for Single Soldiers Program.
- USN hosted numerous SAPR prevention and awareness training events in the Pacific Fleet. As of the end of FY10, 1,455 Sailors in the Pacific Area of Responsibility had been trained. Training venues included SAPR program workshops targeted at senior leadership and “Naming the Unnamed Conspirator” sessions targeted at helping unit commanders and leadership identify common behaviors that can facilitate sexual assault. USN also hired a highly qualified expert (HQE) in Bystander Intervention and Social Norms theory to support the Department-wide focus on prevention.

- USMC held senior leaders sexual assault prevention seminars for commanders to conduct a comprehensive review of the SAPR program and related policies. Subject matter experts (SME) from the Judge Advocates (JA) Office and law enforcement were part of the training program.
- USAF worked with experts from the University of Kentucky to execute the Green Dot Violence Prevention Strategy, which promotes effective intervention and prevention of power-based personal violence.

Figure 4: Soldiers Met Country Music Performer Toby Keith During a USA Concert at Fort Knox, Kentucky, Sponsored by the "I. A.M. Strong." Campaign.

All of the Military Services also engaged nationally recognized experts to speak and provide input on prevention programs to effect cultural change. For a full list of prevention-related outreach and collaboration activities, please see the Military Services reports in Enclosure 1, Department of the Army; Enclosure 2, Department of the Navy; and Enclosure 3, Department of the Air Force.

Social Marketing Campaign

As stated, the Department spent FY10 building on its successful FY09 social marketing campaign, "My Strength Is for Defending: Preventing Sexual Assault Is Everyone's Duty." The FY09 campaign focused on the ability of every Service member to prevent sexual assault by taking an active role in looking out for the welfare of friends and fellow Service members. It incorporated a key component of the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy—promoting community education about prevention. The Department contracted with Men Can Stop Rape (MCSR), a non-profit organization nationally renowned for its sexual violence prevention messaging and outreach activities. MCSR assisted in the development of a social marketing campaign for the Military Services to demonstrate key bystander intervention techniques and encourage victim support and sexual assault reporting.

In FY10, the Department again worked with MCSR to develop the "Hurts One. Affects All." (see Figure 5) social marketing campaign. As with the FY09 campaign, the "Hurts One. Affects All." campaign supports the Community Education section of the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy and promotes the message that the prevention of sexual assault is everyone's duty.<sup>22</sup> Following the deployment of the FY09 campaign, MCSR and the Department gathered feedback from groups of Active Duty and Reserve component members, commanders, SARCs, and SAPR Victim Advocates (VA) to identify prevention-based messages that resonate with Service members. Throughout FY10, OSD SAPRO asked the Military Services to play an integral role in developing key messaging components. Rollout of the jointly produced training video, public service announcements (PSA), and Military Service-specific posters will be released in FY11.

All of the Military Services utilized social marketing campaigns in FY10. USN, USMC, USAF, and NGB utilized the Department's "Hurts One. Affects All." campaign. USA employed the "I. A.M. (Intervene – Act – Motivate) Strong" campaign, which draws from the strength-focused tenets of the Department's campaign.

New Public Service Announcements

In FY09, the Department and the Armed Forces Networks collaborated to develop four new sexual assault-themed PSAs to run on Department radio, television, and computer networks in FY10. Scripting of the PSAs was based on data collected by OSD SAPRO during its FY09 PAT visits. The new PSAs convey messages about preventing sexual assault and encouraging victims to come forward. These important messages can be accessed at <http://www.sapr.mil/index.php/video-and-audio/saam-campaign-psas> and are embedded in Figure 6.

In addition, the Department developed a radio PSA that ran in nine targeted geographic locations with high military populations.

<sup>22</sup> The "Hurts One. Affects All." social marketing campaign poster is also located in Appendix B, "Hurts One. Affects All." Social Marketing Campaign Poster.

PREVENTION-RELATED RESEARCH

In FY10, as the Military Services developed programs to reduce the number of sexual assaults, OSD SAPRO began developing methods for measuring prevention program effectiveness. OSD SAPRO worked with Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC), the Department's human resource information source, to craft questions fielded in the Status of Force Survey of Active Duty Members. In previous Department-conducted focus groups, Service members stated that although they may consider intervening to assist someone, they simultaneously have concerns about how other Service members might view that action. To address this concern, the Department fielded a survey question to better understand attitudes about this kind of situation. Service members were asked if they considered it their duty to stop fellow Service members from doing something harmful to themselves or others when in a social setting.<sup>23</sup> Not surprisingly, given the supportive culture of the military, 95 percent of the respondents believed helping others in this situation was indeed their duty. Based on this overwhelming result, OSD SAPRO is currently developing a campaign to relay the results of this survey to reassure Service members that intervening is an action those around them would support.

Also, the SAPR Policy requires that Service member training focus on modifying the knowledge, skills, and behaviors associated with deterring criminal behavior or mitigating fact-based risks. In future years, the Department will continue working to identify metrics and other evaluative means to track prevention program progress.

The Military Services engaged in the following prevention-related research in FY10:

- USA, through the U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences, published two technical reports in July 2010 as part of a recurring Human Relations 2009 Operational Troop Survey.
- As a result of the 2009 DON Sexual Assault Study findings released in November 2009, which comprehensively compare USN's SAPR program with the 2005 Naval Inspector General Survey, USN funded two studies that reviewed prevention training effectiveness for both male and female recruits.<sup>24</sup>
- USMC worked with the Center for Naval Analysis to execute a study called Risk Mitigation and Response: Applying Best Practices From the Civilian Population to the Marine Corps. The study provides a comprehensive overview of sexual assaults within USMC.<sup>25</sup>
- USAF initiated a contract with Social Solutions, Inc., to conduct a training effectiveness study to measure successful transference of learning using self-reported measures from respondents indicating efficacy and willingness to change behavior.<sup>26</sup>

THE IMPACT OF EFFORTS TO INSTITUTIONALIZE PREVENTION STRATEGIES IN THE MILITARY COMMUNITY

The Department seeks to prevent sexual assaults through institutionalized efforts that influence the knowledge, skills, and behaviors of military members to reduce sexual assaults in the DoD community.

Since 2007, the Department has invested considerable resources in the prevention of sexual assault. No other institution of the Department's size and scope has implemented such a comprehensive, wide-reaching program. Few organizations in the world have the ability to strategically develop evidence-based curricula, train millions of people, invest resources, and measure outcomes. The U.S. Armed Forces has this ability.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO worked with DMDC to create and incorporate several questions into the 2010 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members (WGRA). This survey assesses Service member awareness of SAPR and Equal Opportunity Program. Several questions in the 2010 survey specifically addressed Service member understanding of sexual assault prevention tactics. Results of this survey give the Department a better overall perspective on Service member awareness of the prevention program and will allow the Department to identify areas of best practice and those needing improvement.

Every four years, the Department uses the WGRA to officially measure the incidence, or occurrence, of sexual assault in the military.<sup>27</sup> In 2006, the survey found that 6.8 percent of women and 1.8 percent of men experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the survey.<sup>28, 29</sup> In 2010, the survey found that 4.4 percent of women and 0.9 percent of men experienced unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the survey.<sup>30</sup>

The WGRA is designed so that its results accurately represent the Active Duty force. The design allows the Department to use weighted counts of survey respondents to roughly estimate the number of sexual assaults that occur in the years for which data is available. The DMDC 2010 WGRA indicates that there were nearly 15,000 fewer incidents of sexual assault in 2010 than in 2006.<sup>31</sup> A change this size in the sexual assault incidence rate is welcome news, but it is quite surprising. Consequently, the Department will measure sexual assault incidence with other, more frequent, surveys to closely monitor how the rate changes over time. However, other supporting findings in the DMDC 2010 WGRA suggest that the reported decrease in sexual assaults is not a mistake. In 2010, 93 percent of the Active Duty force received SAPR training in the prior year, and nearly all who received training indicated that it taught them how to intervene when confronted with a situation where someone was at risk of being sexually assaulted. In addition, most all Service members believed that preventing harm to others was their duty and, when presented with a hypothetical situation, could identify how they would intervene to prevent someone from being sexually assaulted.<sup>32</sup>

As a result, the Department believes its prevention programs are making a difference and contributed, at least in part, to the reduction in sexual assaults against Service members in 2010.<sup>33</sup>

INCREASE A CLIMATE OF VICTIM CONFIDENCE ASSOCIATED WITH REPORTING

Leading research suggests that most sexual assaults that occur in the United States are not reported to law enforcement.<sup>34, 35</sup> The Department's own statistics indicate that approximately 20 percent of incidents of unwanted sexual contact are reported to a military or civilian authority.<sup>36</sup> Underreporting poses a serious challenge to military readiness because the potential consequences of sexual assault are extremely high and can be physically and mentally debilitating. Chronic psychological consequences may include post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), attempted suicide, and substance abuse.<sup>37, 38</sup> In addition, a prior history of assault, including sexual assault, doubles the chance of developing PTSD symptoms after exposure to combat.<sup>39</sup> By encouraging reporting of sexual assault, the Department desires to increase the number of victims who access care and services. Several Department resources are intended to help restore the resiliency that sexual assault degrades. These resources are discussed in the Improve Sexual Assault Response section of this report.

To encourage greater reporting by sexual assault victims, the Department offers two sexual assault reporting options to Service members: Restricted Reporting and Unrestricted Reporting.<sup>40</sup> SARCs and SAPR VAs stationed at every installation work with victims to help them understand these reporting options. For additional information regarding victim care, please refer to Appendix C, DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Overview, Victim Care.

The creation of the Restricted Reporting option in June 2005 was a critical addition to the Department's SAPR Program. Restricted Reporting allows victims to confidentially access medical care and advocacy services without initiating an official investigation. This option may increase victim confidence in the military system. Also, if a victim decides to convert to an Unrestricted Report in the future, this option may aid the possibility of prosecution by allowing victims to anonymously receive Sexual Assault Forensic Examinations (SAFE). Although a victim may convert from a Restricted Report to an Unrestricted Report at any time, evidence obtained during a SAFE is only required to be maintained for up to 1 year.

When a victim makes an Unrestricted Report of sexual assault, it is referred for investigation, and victims' rights apply.<sup>41</sup> As in Restricted Reporting, victims may receive healthcare, counseling, and advocacy services. However, in an Unrestricted Report, details of the incident are reportable to command and law enforcement. For additional information regarding the Department's two reporting options, please refer to Appendix C, DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Overview, Department's Reporting Options and Procedures.

PUBLICIZING REPORTING OPTIONS

In FY10, the Department took several steps to further clarify and publicize the reporting options available to victims of sexual assault. The following sections discuss these steps.

In FY10, the Military Services also continued to implement training, in compliance with policy requirements, that ensures all military personnel understand the reporting options available to sexual assault victims.

- USA has made reporting a key topic in all training, including initial entry training for new Soldiers, mandatory annual refresher unit training, and pre- and post-deployment training. USA is also revising professional military education training to include an emphasis on the Restricted Reporting option.
- USN has worked to ensure medical first responders and forensic examiners, who are key victim support providers, receive comprehensive training and information on the Department's reporting options.
- USMC commanders receive training on the barriers to reporting from a victim's perspective and on respecting an individual's right to decline a report. Training can help foster a command climate that is better able to overcome these barriers and encourage reporting.
- In the USAF, the SARC training course includes an entire block on understanding reporting and confidentiality, which covers the basis for confidentiality, Restricted and Unrestricted Reporting, and the eligibility requirements associated with each reporting option.

Figure 7: The USAF Advertised a Sexual Assault Hotline Resource and Promoted the "Hurts One. Affects All." Campaign Message on Coffee Cup Sleeves.

Throughout FY10, the Military Services also continued to utilize innovative communications materials developed to publicize the Department's reporting options, such as PSAs; installation website, billboard, and flyer postings; and newspaper articles (see Figure 7).

Policy Enhancements

In FY10, OSD SAPRO continued to execute the DoD policy reissuance process for DoD Directive (DoDD) 6495.01, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program, and DoD Instruction (DoDI) 6495.02, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Procedures, which is expected in FY11.

OSD SAPRO worked with the Military Services to discuss and draft revisions to the SAPR Policy that clarify the Department's existing reporting options and propose expanding the categories of individuals eligible to elect the Restricted and Unrestricted Reporting options.

To explore the potential impact of expanding SAPR programs to other members of the military community, the Department approved USA's request for an exception to DoDI 6495.02, allowing U.S. Army Europe (USAREUR) to run a 1-year pilot program extending the Restricted Reporting option to eligible adult civilian beneficiaries of the military healthcare system in Europe. The pilot program encourages reporting of sexual assault by members of the military community by demonstrating USA's respect for the well-being of its civilian personnel and their families. As of the end of FY10, reaction to the pilot program, which began in March 2010 and is scheduled to run through February 2011, has been overwhelmingly positive. The end results of the program will be used to inform future implementation of the program.

State Reporting Laws

Restricted Reporting is not typically an option for victims of sexual assault in California because of state laws that require healthcare providers to report injuries associated with violent crime. On- and off-base providers licensed in California must notify law enforcement if a victim seeks medical care or a forensic exam, thus negating the viability of Restricted Reporting.<sup>42</sup>

In FY10, OSD SAPRO met with staff from the California congressional delegation and representatives from the California Coalition Against Sexual Assault (CALCASA) to discuss this Restricted Reporting challenge. The Department will continue to work with the Military Services and relevant stakeholders to overcome this impediment to Restricted Reporting.

In addition, staff from DON SAPRO visited a number of USN and USMC installations in southern California to assess the impact of the state's mandatory reporting laws on the Department's Restricted Reporting option. USN SARCs in California provide healthcare personnel with specific training on the limitations of Restricted Reporting in the state, and USMC is seeking to establish memoranda of understanding (MOU) related to this issue between military medical personnel and law enforcement personnel.

REPORTING PROCESS CHALLENGES

In reviewing the issue of underreporting, the Department found several persistent barriers to reporting. One is that informal messages from leadership, dissatisfied victims, peers, and the media may unintentionally reinforce the fear and skepticism associated with reporting. Also, the SAPR Program is still relatively new to the military community.<sup>43</sup> As with other new programs, Service members may be reluctant to report until the program proves itself to be permanent, trustworthy, and effective.

<sup>42</sup> California's mandatory reporting laws also affect victims in Arizona for whom the nearest civilian medical treatment facility is in California. For specific information please refer to U.S. state and territory mandatory reporting laws, which can be found at <http://www.sapr.mil/index.php/law-and-dod-policies/civilian-sexual-assault-reporting-law>.

In the DMDC 2010 WGRA, 71 percent of women and 85 percent of men indicated on the survey they did not report the incident of unwanted sexual contact they experienced in the year prior to the survey. These survey respondents were provided with a list of 13 reasons for not reporting the matter. Respondents could endorse one or more reasons for not reporting. The most frequently cited reasons Active Duty women gave for not reporting their incident included not wanting anyone to know (67 percent), feeling uncomfortable making a report (65 percent), thinking their report would not be kept confidential (60 percent), being afraid of retaliation or reprisals from the perpetrator or his or her friends (54 percent), fear of being labeled a troublemaker (52 percent), hearing about the negative experiences of other victims (47 percent), and thinking that nothing would be done about their report (47 percent). Other less cited reasons women gave for not reporting included fearing they would not be believed, having concern about the career implications of reporting, believing the incident was not important enough to report, and thinking reporting would take too much time and effort. The most frequently cited reasons men gave for not reporting included thinking it was not important enough to report (46 percent), wanting no one else to know (43 percent), thinking the report would not be kept confidential (36 percent), feeling uncomfortable making a report (32 percent), and thinking nothing would be done (31 percent). Other less frequently cited reasons men gave included thinking the report would take too much time and effort, fearing retaliation or reprisal by the perpetrator or his or her friends, and fear of being labeled a troublemaker.<sup>44</sup> It could be argued that Service members may be reluctant to report because they are not fully aware of their reporting options and the steps to follow. However, relatively few Active Duty women (15 percent) and Active Duty men (8 percent) endorsed lack of knowledge about how to report as a reason for not reporting.<sup>45</sup>

The Department found the following challenges to be of particular note in FY10.

Environmental Challenges

In 2005, DoD Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) identified opportunities to reduce costs and redundancies by combining selected bases and military installations with similar missions or services. At the bases and installations affected by DoD BRAC, the Military Services had to reevaluate how resources for SAPR services were dedicated. Under these circumstances, the Military Services realigned the provision of SAPR services according to the unique needs of each base and installation.

The Military Services also faced additional challenges to reporting in different environments, including guaranteeing the availability of reporting options for Service members in geographically dispersed and remote units, ensuring pre-deployment briefings include contact information for both reporting options, and clarifying the roles of personnel in deployed units as they relate to reporting. Currently, OSD SAPRO is working with the Military Services to resolve these issues.

Restricted Reporting Challenges

Throughout FY10, each of the Military Services worked to overcome challenges to maintaining the confidentiality afforded by the Restricted Reporting option while also providing sexual assault victims the assistance they requested. For example, USA reported uncertainty among some Soldiers regarding how third-party reports affect Restricted Reporting. The SAPR Policy revisions proposed to clarify the protections offered under Restricted Reporting in situations involving third-party reports (discussed earlier in this section) address this type of uncertainty.

REDUCING REPORTING STIGMA

As mentioned at the beginning of this report, one of the Secretary of Defense's four key SAPR Program areas was to reduce the stigma associated with sexual assault reporting. Because the military culture values strength and readiness, victims may sometimes mistakenly assume that being the victim of a sexual assault will make them appear weak or incapable of performing their mission.

In the DMDC 2010 WGRA, 40 percent of Active Duty women and 20 percent of Active Duty men who experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact in the year prior to the survey did not report the incident because they thought their performance evaluation or chance for promotion would suffer. In addition, 52 percent of women and 24 percent of men thought they would be labeled a troublemaker if they reported the matter.<sup>46</sup>

The Restricted Reporting option was enacted to address victims' fears and privacy concerns. On average, the Department receives over 750 initial Restricted Reports annually; about 15 percent of these reports convert to an Unrestricted Report each year.<sup>47</sup> Findings in the DMDC 2010 WGRA support these reporting and conversion averages. The survey found that, of those women who reported their unwanted sexual contact experience to a DoD authority, 30 percent made a Restricted Report, 50 percent made an Unrestricted Report, and 21 percent made a Restricted Report that was later converted to an Unrestricted Report.<sup>48</sup>

In FY10, the Department took the following actions to reduce reporting stigma:

- Deployed a new PSA entitled “Women Speak Out” to encourage victims of sexual assault to report the crime and get the assistance they need; and
- Required investigators and attorneys to be trained in interviewing methods that reduce the potential for re-victimization by the military justice system.

The Military Services also continued their efforts to reduce the stigma associated with reporting sexual assault.

- USA worked to finalize the development of a social network tool focused on engaging conversations about sexual assault.
- USN worked to promote and de-stigmatize help-seeking through its Suicide Prevention Cross-Functional Team (CFT).
- USMC developed briefs that cover sexual assault scenarios involving male victims, demonstrating USMC’s priority to dispel the myth that sexual assault is a crime exclusively committed against females.
- USAF, as part of local base practices, publicly marketed the Department’s reporting options in a range of venues, including base-wide presentations, commander calls, and special unit visits.

THE IMPACT OF EFFORTS TO INCREASE THE CLIMATE OF VICTIM CONFIDENCE ASSOCIATED WITH REPORTING

Among the performance objectives outlined by the Under Secretary of Defense (USD) for Personnel and Readiness (P&R) in the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness Strategic Plan for Fiscal Years 2010–12 is the objective of ensuring “an environment where victims of sexual assault feel free to report and know how to report the assault by decreasing the size of the gap between the number of incidences and number of reports of assault.”<sup>49</sup> In FY10, the Department employed policy changes, education, and messaging to encourage more victims to report sexual assault.

Given that most sexual assaults in military and civilian society are not brought to the attention of authorities, the Department identified improved reporting as the key to better visibility of the crime, improved victim care, and better accountability of perpetrators.<sup>50</sup> DMDC 2010 WGRA data indicated that in the past year, most all Active Duty members received effective training on sexual assault reporting options, the means available to do so, and the resources available for victims. Two-thirds of Service members knew they had a choice about what kind of information went to their commander; about two-thirds also felt that members of their work group would feel free to report sexual assault without fear of reprisal.<sup>51, 52</sup> However, because so few men and women chose to report their incident of unwanted sexual contact to an authority, it appears the experience of unwanted sexual contact may change one's perceptions about the freedom to report.<sup>53</sup> Enhanced training about safety and privacy precautions, accompanied by oversight review of systems designed to protect Service members and their privacy, may encourage greater victim reporting of the crime.

With the beginning of the Restricted Reporting option in 2005, reports by Service member victims the following year increased by nearly 30 percent. Except for a small decrease in FY10, Service member victim reports have grown steadily. Not only have the number of reports to military authorities increased but also in FY10 the Department had visibility over a greater proportion of sexual assaults against military Service victims. In 2006, reports to DoD authorities accounted for about 7 percent of the sexual assaults estimated to have occurred that year.<sup>54</sup> In 2010, reports by victims accounted for about 14 percent of the sexual assaults estimated to have occurred.<sup>55</sup> Although reports to DoD authorities will never capture all the sexual assaults in a given year, it is the Department's intent to reduce the underreporting of sexual assault in the military community.

The DoD SAPR Program has contributed to the increased total reporting of the crime by 86 percent in 6 years and also expanded the Department's visibility over a greater proportion of the sexual assaults that occur each year. Despite these accomplishments, much remains to be done to improve reporting. The majority of sexual assaults against Service members each year remain unreported. The Department must continue its efforts to knock down barriers that prevent victims from reporting and work toward the goal of eliminating the stigma that accompanies victimization.

IMPROVE SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE

OSD SAPRO is responsible for the policies and procedures that govern the multidisciplinary approach to sexual assault response adopted by the Department in 2005.<sup>56</sup> As a policy organization, OSD SAPRO embeds research-supported guidance and best practices from the civilian community in DoDI 6495.02.

In FY10, the Department continued to focus on strengthening its response capability through proposed policy revisions, program enhancements, updated responder training, improvements to care in joint and deployed environments, and creative outreach initiatives. A discussion of the Department's diverse and innovative response efforts follows in the sections below.

PROPOSED POLICY REVISIONS TO IMPROVE RESPONSE

Beginning in FY08 and continuing in FY09 and FY10, OSD SAPRO worked with the Military Services and other stakeholders to draft revisions to and reorganization of the SAPR Policy. The revisions will demonstrate the Department's commitment to ensuring victims of sexual assault receive the highest quality care and access to services and will include revisions mandated by the NDAA. The SAPR Policy is anticipated to be reissued in FY11.

In addition, several of the Military Services began considering revisions to their own SAPR policies in FY10. For further information on the Military Services' SAPR policies and revisions proposed in FY10, please see the Military Services reports in Enclosure 1, Department of the Army; Enclosure 2, Department of the Navy; and Enclosure 3, Department of the Air Force.

PROGRAM ENHANCEMENTS TO RESPONSE

DoD Safe Helpline Project

Sexual assault victims, and SAPR personnel seeking to assist them, have voiced a need for a confidential, anonymous hotline. In response to this need, OSD SAPRO began developing its newest initiative to support victims of sexual assault: the DoD Safe Helpline.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO contracted with the Rape, Abuse and Incest National Network (RAINN) to develop a new online hotline, telephone hotline, and texting initiative to support victims of sexual assault in the DoD community.<sup>57</sup> Once the DoD Safe Helpline is operational, visitors will be able to "click, call, or text" for victim support services for themselves or others anytime and anywhere. The Safe Helpline will offer victims an additional channel to seek sexual assault support and fulfill recommendations and mandates made by various oversight bodies. DoD senior leadership approved the initiative in 2009, and it is anticipated to launch in spring 2011.<sup>58, 59</sup>

After the contract award in FY10, OSD SAPRO began developing the DoD Safe Helpline in collaboration with the Military Services, NGB, OSD Family Advocacy Program (FAP), Department of Veterans' Affairs, and Coast Guard. All organizations provided input on the training curriculum, mandatory reporting protocol, privacy policies, and information for service referrals. As a result of the successful cooperation among all stakeholders, once operational, the hotline will boast a robust database of on-base and civilian service referrals that will be available worldwide 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

<sup>58</sup> DoD. (2009). Recommendation 27. DTF-SAMS Report. Washington, DC: DoD. The DoD Safe Helpline fulfills the Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services (DTF-SAMS) recommendation for the creation of a universal sexual assault hotline for Service members.

<sup>59</sup> In May 2010, the Under Secretary of Defense (USD) for Personnel and Readiness (P&R) approved this recommendation.

The database will also contain SARC contact information for each Military Service, the NGB, and the Coast Guard.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO developed a communications plan to launch and sustain the DoD Safe Helpline (see Figure 8). In support of the branding and communication efforts for the hotline, OSD SAPRO obtained feedback from Service members between the ages of 20 and 24.<sup>60</sup> These Service members provided valuable insights on several hotline-related topics, which directly informed the development of the project name, key messaging components, and hotline initiative branding. OSD SAPRO conducted additional post-design tests with the targeted user population, the results of which confirmed that the site is professional and builds confidence in the quality of assistance given.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO also developed a communications plan to launch and sustain the DoD Safe Helpline. Major milestones included formulating potential brands and product names; holding focus groups to test brands, product names, key messages, and spokesperson types; and developing communication tools and tactics.

In FY11, efforts will include a broad integrated outreach campaign, including a variety of launch events with RAINN and other non-profit, congressional, and senior government officials in interested organizations, such as DOJ and the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).<sup>61</sup>

Strengthening Military-Civilian Community Partnerships to Respond to Sexual Assault: Phase II

During FY10, OSD SAPRO continued its partnership with DOJ's Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) and the Pennsylvania Coalition Against Rape (PCAR). This partnership started in FY08 when OSD SAPRO concluded Phase I of a collaborative training project with the Military Services, NGB, PCAR, and OVC entitled Strengthening Military-Civilian Community Partnerships to Respond to Sexual Assault. Phase I resulted in an interactive 2-day training curriculum that better equipped civilian agencies to assist military victims of sexual assault and their families. A facilitator's guide and participant's manual for this project were finalized in FY09.<sup>62</sup>

In FY10, PCAR received grant funding from OVC to implement Phase II of this initiative. In FY11, Phase II will involve designing a regional training program for civilian partners to be conducted by DoD SAPR Program representatives and civilians. The trainers will include one SARC, one JA, and one civilian VA. These trainers will lead three regional training sessions for civilian rape crisis center VAs from around the country. Training sessions will take place in regions with high populations of Service members. The project is an effective way to improve civilian community services for military sexual assault victims.

<sup>61</sup> Any reference to any non-federal entity is not intended to be an endorsement of that entity by the Department of Defense.

Partnerships with civilian rape crisis centers provide an additional avenue of reporting and a source of confidential crisis support—away from the military environment—for military sexual assault victims. As noted throughout this report, privacy and career concerns may discourage a military sexual assault victim from reporting an assault through DoD channels and, consequently, from seeking on-base assistance. By working with civilian rape crisis centers, the Department helps ensure Service members can receive care that considers their military-specific needs, even when they seek care off base.

Victim Assistance Project

In FY10, OSD SAPRO helped initiate an effort to evaluate victim assistance functions within all Department programs. This effort fulfilled several recommendations from various oversight bodies, including the Defense Task Force on Care for Victims of Sexual Assault, Government Accountability Office (GAO), and DTF-SAMS.<sup>63, 64, 65</sup> In addition, this evaluation helped achieve the goals of reducing redundancies and creating efficiencies within the Department, as directed by the Secretary of Defense.<sup>66</sup>

OSD SAPRO led the establishment of an OSD-level working group focused on five principal objectives:

- Assess the outcome of a functional evaluation of victim assistance programs within the Department (i.e., sexual assault, harassment, victim and witness assistance, and domestic violence) and make recommendations to USD(P&R), as appropriate.
- Issue victim assistance guidance on the distinct but related issues of sexual harassment and sexual assault.
- Evaluate the Military Services' processes for staffing and designating key installation-level victim assistance program positions at installations in the United States and overseas to ensure these individuals have the ability and resources to fully carry out their responsibilities.
- Establish consistent victim assistance terminology, position descriptions, minimum program standards, and organizational structure throughout the Military Services.

- Modify program personnel and oversight, as needed.<sup>67</sup>

The working group members included representatives from OSD SAPRO, OSD Office of Legal Policy, DoD Office of the General Counsel, OSD Office of Diversity Management and Equal Opportunity (ODMEO), Defense Human Resource Activity, and OSD FAP. The working group held its first meeting in April 2010 and, shortly after, conducted a data call to obtain victim assistance support information from the Military Services. The group held additional meetings throughout CY10 to review the results of this data call and conduct a review of the current DoD policies that govern victim assistance. The working group collaborated with representatives from each of the Military Services in the development of recommendations to the USD(P&R) and expected to receive a response from the USD(P&R) in the second quarter of FY11.

COMPREHENSIVE CHANGES TO DD FORM 2911, *FORENSIC MEDICAL REPORT: SEXUAL ASSAULT EXAMINATION

From FY08 to FY10, OSD SAPRO led a working group to update Department of Defense (DD) Form 2911, Forensic Medical Report: Sexual Assault Examination, and its accompanying instructions. The working group included members from the Military Service SAPR programs, OSD for Health Affairs (HA), Military Service legal and investigative offices, and U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Laboratory (USACIL).

In FY10, the group proposed revisions to the form's instructions, which will allow examiners to have more a detailed description on how to locate and collect evidence. Proposed revisions to DD Form 2911 and accompanying instructions were designed to be consistent with DOJ's A National Protocol for Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examinations: Adults/Adolescents and to assist healthcare providers in collecting evidentiary specimens for analysis by a crime laboratory.<sup>68</sup> This DOJ protocol was recently adopted by OSD(HA) as the minimum standard of care for sexual assault victims.

Once issued, DD Form 2911 will ensure the victim is aware of his or her right to all SAPR services from the servicing SARC and further define requirements. The revised form and instructions will also include comprehensive instructions for a more detailed examination of male victims and ensure victims are subject to a less intrusive examination.<sup>69</sup> In addition, SAPRO is working to finalize instructions for conducting a forensic examination of the alleged sexual assault offender.

<sup>69</sup> The examination will include the use of toluidine blue dye and additional genital swab collections in examinations of male victims.

SERVICE MEMBER CONFIDENCE IN INVESTIGATIVE PROCESSES

The Department recognizes that a significant barrier to reporting is the belief among many Service member victims that nothing will be done after a sexual assault incident is reported.<sup>70</sup> In FY10, the Department continued to review training programs and policies to ensure investigative personnel and trial counsel are trained to properly handle sexual assault cases.

In FY10, the Joint Services Committee (JSC) on Military Justice completed a review of Article 120 of the UCMJ, Rape, Sexual Assault, and Other Sexual Misconduct, which codifies most sex offenses in the military, as recommended by DTF-SAMS. Upon completion of its review, the JSC proposed a legislative amendment to Article 120 and submitted it to Congress for consideration in June 2010. The proposal addressed the report and DTF-SAMS recommendation that Article 120 be reviewed because “practitioners consistently advised Task Force members that the new Article 120 (effective October 1, 2007) is cumbersome and confusing. Prosecutors expressed concern that Article 120 may cause unwarranted acquittals. In addition, significant issues related to the constitutionality of Article 120’s statutory affirmative defense of and consent to lesser included offenses have evolved.”<sup>71</sup> This report, and similar concerns with Article 120 as amended in 2007, were raised with members of Congress and their staff in FY10. The JSC-proposed amendment to Article 120 addresses those concerns. In addition to Article 120, the JSC also proposed amendments to Article 43, Statute of Limitations, and Article 118, Murder, as they pertain to sexual assault.

In FY10, the Military Services worked to effectively investigate allegations of sexual assault.

- USA Judge Advocate General Corps (JAGC) continued implementing its Special Victims Prosecutor (SVP) and HQE programs by hiring HQEs to advise leadership and improve training of sexual assault investigators, prosecutors, and defense counsel; additional examiners for the USACIL to process DNA evidence; and SVPs to focus on the prosecution of sexual assault and special victims cases. Particularly, USA added eight additional SVPs and one Office of the Judge Advocate General (OTJAG) HQE in FY10.
- The USN Criminal Law Division provided training to all Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) agents through an Advanced Family and Sexual Violence course, which addressed topics such as alcohol-facilitated sexual assault, consent defense, cases involving multiple subjects, and intimate partner sexual assault.
- USMC enhanced the requirements for key prosecution billets by updating the Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) Manual to add six additional MOS for JAs. The change requires that these billets be filled with JAs possessing advanced education, experience, and training.

- DON executed a Sexual Assault Investigation and Prosecution Course through its Mobile Training Team (MTT). Through the course, NCIS special agents received training on investigative theory and practices on offender behavior.
- USAF received funding for the hiring of 24 additional Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI) agents in early 2010 to serve as local sexual offense SMEs. The responsibilities outlined for these agents included participating in sex offense investigations (mandatory), meeting or exceeding AFOSI sexual offense investigative timeliness standards, and outlining AFOSI headquarters' oversight of sexual offense investigative effectiveness.
- USA and USAF jointly funded and conducted the Military Institute on the Prosecution of Sexual Violence Conference, which explored the complex issues faced by prosecutors in balancing offender accountability and the effect of criminal prosecution on victims.

CAPABILITY FOR VICTIM CARE

The Department's response resources are available to victims of sexual assault 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Each victim who reports a sexual assault is offered the assistance of a SARC or SAPR VA, who explains the reporting options, services available, access to those services, and resources available for assistance with navigating the military criminal justice process. SARCs and SAPR VAs address the victim's safety and security needs, provide an opportunity for victims to communicate the incident and feel validated, and offer expertise to prepare victims for the road ahead. Victims are also offered professional assistance with medical care, counseling, spiritual support, and legal resources.

The Military Services have also continued working to sustain constant response capabilities for victims. For additional information regarding first responders and victim care, please refer to Appendix C, DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Overview, Victim Care in the Department of Defense.

Sexual Assault Response Coordinator Recognition

The SARC is often the first person a victim contacts after a sexual assault. The knowledge, dedication, and commitment of SARCs form the cornerstone of the Department's response strategy.

In April 2010, OSD SAPRO hosted an event honoring the 2010 Exceptional SARCs of the Year from each of the Military Services and NGB (see Figure 9). By publicizing the exceptional work of SARCs, the Department hopes to honor these professionals and call attention to the comprehensive services available to victims of sexual assault.

National Federal Service Award

In addition to Department recognition, outside organizations have acknowledged the committed work of SARCs. Annually, the DOJ OVC recognizes individuals and organizations who demonstrate outstanding service in supporting victims and victim services. Specifically, the Federal Service Award honors federal employees for their direct service to victims of federal crime. The award recognizes a service provider's exceptional contributions and extraordinary impact on behalf of victims in areas governed by federal jurisdiction.

In FY10, USA Master Sergeant (MSG) Verlean Brown was awarded the Federal Service Award. As the Senior Deployed SARC assigned to 3rd Sustainment Command (Expeditionary) in support of Joint Base Balad (JBB), MSG Brown provided information, counsel, and assistance to more than 100 individual Service members; single-handedly supervised and trained more than 200 VAs; and conducted more than 40 education and training classes for 2,000 Soldiers, Airmen, and civilians located at JBB in 2009. On April 16, 2010, U.S. Attorney General Eric Holder presented MSG Brown with the Federal Service Award at a ceremony held in Washington, DC, honoring MSG Brown's achievements. In attendance were then-Deputy Under Secretary of Defense (DUSD) for Plans, Mrs. Gail McGinn, and OSD SAPRO Director, Dr. Whitley.

Victim Reports and Service Referrals

Each Military Service is required to report the total number of its Restricted and Unrestricted Reports, as well as victim service referral information, to OSD SAPRO each year. These numbers offer the Department an initial indicator of the sexual assault reporting climate and provide an opportunity to examine and monitor the relationship between reporting and service referrals.

Each Military Service's Military Criminal Investigative Organization (MCIO) collects Unrestricted Reports.<sup>72</sup> It is the SARCs' responsibility to ensure collection of non-identifying Restricted Reports and to submit them to their respective Military Service's SAPR program. To improve visibility and the ability to analyze reporting trends, the Department requests quarterly reports on Restricted and Unrestricted Reports from the Military Services. For additional information regarding quarterly reporting, please refer to the Improve System Accountability section of this report.

Ensuring every sexual assault victim has the opportunity to access available resources through service referrals is critical to aiding victims along the road to recovery. Informing victims of available resources and assisting victims in accessing these resources are standard components of the SAPR Program. SARCs and SAPR VAs are responsible for ensuring victims have access to medical treatment, counseling, and legal advice. Referrals for these services are made to both military and civilian sources. A referral for service can happen at any time while the victim is receiving assistance from a SARC or

<sup>72</sup> The Military Service Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIO) include the USA Criminal Investigation Command (USACID), Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS), and Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI).

SAPR VA. Referrals may happen several times throughout the military criminal justice process.

This year, SARCs and SAPR VAs made an average of 1.4 service referrals to victims making Unrestricted Reports. For victims making Restricted Reports, SARCs and VAs provided an average of 1 service referral per case.

The Military Services varied in the average number of referrals per victim, as follows:

- USA provided an average of 0.3 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 0.5 referrals per victim making a Restricted Report.
- USN provided an average of 2.3 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 1.8 referrals per victim making a Restricted Report.
- USMC provided an average of 1.8 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 1.0 referral per victim making a Restricted Report.
- USAF provided an average of 4.2 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 1.3 referrals per victim making a Restricted Report.

Although the Military Services have differing rates of service referrals per report, the Department believes inconsistent data collection may have precluded the data from fully or accurately representing the work of SARCs and SAPR VAs. In FY11, OSD SAPRO will work with the Military Services to review the methods of defining and tracking support service referrals to ensure data is accurately captured. In addition, the Department will develop guidance on how referrals will be counted in the future. This guidance will help ensure SARCs and SAPR VAs appropriately advise every victim.

TRAINING

The Department understands that providing continuous and relevant training to all responders is critical to offering quality care to victims, and the Department continues to update its policies to reflect this understanding. OSD SAPRO has proposed SAPR Policy revisions to training requirements for all levels of training and all military personnel. These changes will be reflected when the policy is reissued.

In FY10, all four Military Services continued to institute SAPR training initiatives for all first responders. In addition to the first responder training detailed in the sections that follow, the Military Services also continued to provide initial and annual refresher SAPR training for Service members and worked to standardize training for SAPR personnel.

The following sections highlight outstanding examples of this collective focus on providing high-quality and comprehensive training.

Sexual Assault Response Coordinators and Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Victim Advocates Training

The Department continued to review and clarify the training requirements for SARCs and SAPR VAs in FY10. The Military Services also continued to provide initial and annual refresher training for SARCs and SAPR VAs.

Through DoDI 6495.02, the Department sets training and response capability standards for all SARCs and VAs providing support to victims through the SAPR Program. However, the Department's guidance also provides the Military Services the latitude to structure their own SAPR programs around their unique missions. As a result, the Military Services have created a number of different deployed and unit SARC and VA positions depending on the needs of their SAPR programs. In the sections that follow, the different SARC and VA position terms used reflect the different positions reported by the Military Services.

The USA Installation Management Command trained 55 new Installation SARCs; 3,748 Unit Victim Advocates (UVA); and 266 Deployable Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (DSARC) in FY10.<sup>73</sup> In addition, the USA SAPR program MTT facilitated training for 212 newly appointed UVAs and DSARCs in the USA National Guard (ARNG) and USA Reserve.

USN has 64 SARCs, 29 of whom were new employees in FY10; each of these SARCs received training during FY10. To enhance SARC training, the Commander, Naval Installations Command launched new SARC web-based training. Currently, there are 3,519 trained Active Duty VAs across USN; 2,193 of those VAs received initial training in FY10, and 2,734 VAs received the required annual refresher training. In addition, 146 VAs received training before deployment as individual augmentees.

USMC provided training to 92 SARCs and 912 VAs in FY10, which included both initial and annual refresher training.

USAF has 175 full-time SARC positions authorized. All USAF SARCs must complete the mandatory 40-hour Air University SARC training course prior to serving as SARCs. In FY10, 61 civilian and military USAF personnel attended the SARC training course, which was initial training. Also, 172 SARCs participated in annual refresher training in July 2010 during the annual SARC training workshop. There were 2,049 trained and available VAs in the USAF in FY10. Initial and annual refresher training for USAF VAs is identical. In FY10, 3,119 members received initial and/or annual refresher training.<sup>74</sup>

<sup>73</sup> The 3,748 Unit Victim Advocates (UVA) trained include 2,534 new UVAs who received training in garrison in FY10.

<sup>74</sup> This number is higher than the total number of available U.S. Air Force (USAF) VAs because some training course attendees take the course to expand their knowledge of sexual assault, even though they cannot actually serve as VAs because of potential conflict between their current role and covered communications.

In addition to specific first responder training requirements identified in DoDI 6495.02, USAF provided all first responders with appropriate bystander intervention training with modules for leaders, men, and women in lieu of the annual training requirement. OSD SAPRO approved this alternate training in FY10.

Commander Training

In FY10, the Department improved on the actions taken in FY09 to enhance commander training and accountability (see Figure 10).

USA developed training specifically for senior leaders. During FY10, the USA School of Command Preparation (Pre-Command Course) trained 197 brigade commanders, 542 battalion commanders, and 195 command sergeants major. In addition, USA Reserve reported training 400 brigade and battalion commanders.

USN revised key SAPR command personnel training to improve response to sexual assaults. USN Installation SARCs reported training on roles and responsibilities for 1,807 commanders in FY10, as well as training for 805 new command POCs, 484 new command liaisons, and 681 new SAPR data collection coordinators.

USMC provided command team training on SAPR roles and responsibilities to 258 commanders in FY10, which included commander-led discussions during newcomer orientation.

In the USAF, senior pre-command training is conducted at the AU. In FY10, 122 wing and vice wing commanders and 270 group commanders received SAPR training as part of this training. Installation SARCs also provided SAPR-specific training to 3,342 squadron commanders and first sergeants.

First Responder Training

The Department also worked to enhance the training of other personnel involved in sexual assault response in FY10.

Criminal Investigators

In early FY09, OSD SAPRO and MCIO representatives reviewed investigator training. The representatives recommended to the Department that training standards be revised to ensure training requirements reflect the needs of the law enforcement and military criminal investigators responsible for addressing issues and procedures applicable to sexual assault cases.<sup>75</sup> In FY10, OSD SAPRO drafted revisions to DoDI 6495.02 to enhance SAPR training for investigators and JAs based on the results of this review.

As noted below, the Military Services also offered advanced training to investigators related to their responsibilities in sexual assault cases.

During FY10, all U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command (USACID) agents who investigate or supervise agents who investigate sexual assault allegations received training developed and fielded by the U.S. Army Military Police School (USAMPS); 723 USACID agents were trained during the past FY. In addition, USAMPS conducted Special Victims Unit (SVU) training in conjunction with its attendance at the CALCASA National Sexual Assault Conference.

In FY10, USN SARCs trained 131 military and 87 civilian criminal investigators on their roles in the USN SAPR program. In addition, USN requires that NCIS special agents complete annual in-service training on sexual assault awareness, prevention, investigative procedures, and victim sensitivity. In FY10, 92 NCIS special agents received advanced training on sexual assault investigations.<sup>76</sup>

USMC provided training for 154 criminal investigators in FY10.

USAF provides a 7-week Basic Special Investigations Course (BSIC) for new agents at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center. Most of the AFOSI sexual offense investigations training is taught in five blocks of instruction in the BSIC. In FY10, 169 agents were trained. AFOSI also offers an Investigative Sexual Assault Response Training Refresher Course, which is a web-based refresher training course; 1,962 AFOSI agents completed this course in FY10.

Law Enforcement

The Department is committed to providing law enforcement personnel with appropriate sexual assault training. In early FY09, OSD SAPRO and law enforcement representatives reviewed law enforcement training. The representatives recommended to the Department that training standards be revised to ensure training requirements reflect the needs of the law enforcement community responsible for addressing issues and procedures applicable to sexual assault cases.

In FY10, USAMPS provided specialized sexual assault training to 2,985 military law enforcement investigators and first responders in several professional development courses. USAMPS also continued developing a 2-week SVU training course focused on victim impact, alcohol-facilitated sexual assaults, trauma and memory, and male-on-male sexual assaults.

<sup>76</sup> NCIS conducts investigations of offenses affecting both the U.S. Navy (USN) and the U.S. Marine Corps (USMC). Thus, NCIS training information applies to both the USN and the USMC.

USN SARCs trained 1,853 military and 212 civilian law enforcement personnel on SAPR program roles and responsibilities. These numbers only reflect one component (SARC training) of law enforcement personnel.

USMC provided training for 5,874 law enforcement officials in FY10.

The USAF Security Forces Apprentice Course provides law enforcement instruction in areas related to the SAPR program; 4,957 students were trained through the Security Forces Apprentice Course in FY10. In addition, a Basic Officer Course (BOC) provides SAPR-related instruction in areas such as crisis intervention, victim-witness assistance, and intervention interviews; 102 Security Forces officers completed the BOC in FY10. Finally, 79 UASF Security Forces Airmen completed the Military Police Investigators Course in FY10, which covered topics such as interviewing and interrogation, evidence collection, and report writing.

Healthcare Personnel

As of the end of FY10, DoDI 6495.02 requires timely, accessible, and comprehensive healthcare for beneficiaries of the military healthcare system who have been sexually assaulted. Healthcare provided to victims may include the assessment and treatment of injuries, a SAFE, pregnancy testing and care, testing and prophylaxis for sexually transmitted infections, Human Immunodeficiency Virus prophylaxis, and mental health counseling.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO worked closely with the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (OASD) HA Sexual Assault Integrated Policy Team (SAIPT) to discuss providing emergency medical care to sexual assault victims; draft revisions to SAFE Kit and victim and suspect accompanying instructions; and draft revisions to training requirements for healthcare providers who treat victims of sexual assault. OASD(HA) established the HA SAIPT in October 2009 to facilitate effective and efficient coordination of sexual assault response matters in the DoD medical community. The creation of the HA SAIPT institutionalized a link that will ensure SAPR Policy changes are translated into HA policy and procedures and that HA initiatives for sexual assault patients appear in the SAPR Policy.

The Military Services conducted SAPR training for healthcare personnel in FY10. In the USA, all healthcare personnel who train at the USA Medical Center and School received initial basic training for sexual assault response. In FY10, USA trained 95,429 military and civilian healthcare personnel. In addition, sexual assault clinical providers and sexual assault care coordinators conduct follow-on and refresher response training for healthcare personnel at their assigned military treatment facility (MTF).

USN SARCs trained 5,913 military and 1,427 civilian medical personnel on their roles in the USN SAPR program. In addition, the DON Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) reported that 20,462 first responders and 115 forensic examiners were trained in FY10.<sup>77</sup> In January 2010, BUMED hired a full-time instructor to provide training to commands that provide SAFE services in an MTF; 98 students at 11 sites received this training in FY10.

In the USAF, 6,026 medical personnel received first responder training as an annual requirement in FY10. In addition, the USAF updated sexual assault computer-based training for all personnel in an MTF. This training provides updated information on how to handle any patient who has made a Restricted or Unrestricted Report. It will be included in the annual training for all medics.

Judge Advocates

In FY09, the Military Services jointly reviewed trial counsel (prosecutor) training. OSD SAPR proposed revisions to the SAPR Policy to ensure training requirements reflect the needs of military commanders, attorneys, and investigators handling sexual assault cases in the military justice system.

Beginning in FY09, OSD SAPRO secured funding to assist the Military Services in developing and implementing a specialized training program for JAs involved in sexual assault cases. This training program employs joint resources from the DoD legal community and expert civilian and military instructors. In FY10, OSD SAPRO continued to fund the Sexual Assault Trial Counsel Electronic Training System, an interactive DVD program that provides e-learning and simulated training for each of the 22 modules. This system supports DoD and JA sexual assault training and response objectives.

In addition to this joint training effort, the Military Services have taken advantage of other innovative training opportunities for JAs.

In the USA, the Judge Advocate General's School and Legal Center provided first responder training to 565 USA JAs in the JA Basic Course, the JA Graduate Course, and two other courses. Additional training expanded through the Trial Counsel Advocacy Program included outreach programs and regional conferences, the Sexual Assault Trial Advocacy Course, and the Sexual Assault Expert Symposium.

The USN Judge Advocate General (JAG) continued to train prosecutors and defense counsel in trial advocacy and special techniques for litigating sexual assault cases. Installation SARCs reported 1,370 staff JAs attended training on their roles and responsibilities. In addition, the Prosecutor's Resource on Violence Against Women developed a new advanced trial advocacy course on prosecuting alcohol-facilitated sexual assault for USN, which OSD SAPRO funded.

All 41 USMC student JAs who trained at the Naval Justice School's (NJS) Basic Lawyer Course in FY10 received initial SAPR training. An additional 63 USMC student JAs, prosecutors, and military justice supervisors received detailed courses of instruction on the investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases through Joint MTT courses and the NJS Prosecuting Sexual Alcohol Facilitated Sexual Assault Course.

In the USAF, the Judge Advocate General's School (TJAGS) primarily conducted training for JAs in FY10. It provided training through a number of courses, including a Judge Advocate Staff Officer Course (JASOC), which introduces new JAs to the career and to the JAGC. In all, 165 JAs took the JASOC. TJAGS also provided a Trial and Defense Advocacy Course (TDAC), which gives JAs the opportunity to develop their trial advocacy skills through practical demonstrations and role-playing exercises. In all, 76 USAF JAs took the TDAC. In this course, experts from within and outside the DoD community provide insight into how JAs can overcome the unique challenges of sexual assault cases.

Chaplains

In FY10, OSD SAPRO proposed revisions to the training requirements for chaplains in collaboration with representatives from all Military Services.

All first-term Active component, ARNG, and USA Reserve chaplains receive initial training through the Chaplain Basic Officer Leader Course, which educates chaplains on topics such as reporting classifications and reporting requirements, ministry response and spiritual support to sexual assault victims, sexual assault dynamics, and installation and unit victim advocacy services and referral resources. In FY10, the USA trained 1,110 chaplains on the Unity Ministry Team role in supporting the USA SHARP program. USA also updated its chaplain training in FY10 to align with USA's "Sexual Harassment and Assault Prevention" campaign.

USN SARCs trained 154 chaplains on SAPR roles and responsibilities in FY10.

USMC provided training for 171 chaplains in FY10.

In the USAF, the subjects covered in the Basic Chaplain Course include counseling skills and the role of Chaplain Corps personnel in the USAF SAPR program; 57 chaplains received SAPR training through this course. In all, 873 Active Duty chaplain and chaplain assistants took annual refresher training and 1,038 Air National Guard and USAF Reserve Chaplain Corps personnel took the training in FY10. In addition, as a Chaplain Corps initiative, the USAF Chaplain Corps College contracted Loyola University's Pastoral Counseling Department to develop and teach a 5-day course titled "Spiritual and Pastoral Care Response for Military Members Affected by Sexual Assault." In all, 31 chaplains and 31 chaplain assistants attended the course, conducted at Loyola's Columbia, Maryland, campus in August 2010.

National Guard Bureau Training Initiatives

In FY10, OSD SAPRO continued to support the NGB in its response efforts by providing nearly $6 million for its SAPR program initiatives, policies, and training. This support included funding for the following:

- Development and execution of a 16-hour distance learning course for NGB SARCs and SAPR VAs on prevention and response before the required in-person training course.

- NGB 2-day SAPR Senior Leadership Summit for approximately 250 senior enlisted leaders and their SARC's to enhance leadership understanding and SAPR program development.
- Provision for an assistant SARC for each state and territory to assist in program management and unit training.
- 26 contracted assistant SARC's across the NGB in 54 states, territories, and the District of Columbia to increase prevention and reporting initiatives.

Also, the NGB Joint Force Headquarters (JFHQ) SARC's oversaw annual SAPR training conducted for the Army National Guard and Air National Guard within each of their states. In FY10, JFHQ SARC's reported 197,466 Soldiers and 52,381 Airmen who participated in annual training. Those numbers reflect approximately 55 percent of the total strength of the Army and Air National Guard.

Defense Equal Opportunity Management Institute Sexual Assault Prevention and Response 101 Course

In August 2010, USD(P&R) approved OSD SAPRO's request to explore opportunities for collaboration between OSD SAPRO and the Defense Equal Opportunity Management Institute (DEOMI). The first of these collaborative initiatives was a "SAPR 101" training course conducted by OSD SAPRO staff for personnel serving as equal opportunity advisors (EOA).

In its report, DTF-SAMS noted that Service members often have difficulty understanding the complexity of the definitions, potential interrelationships, and different reporting and response mechanisms associated with sexual assault and equal opportunity.<sup>78</sup> The report found that most of the Military Services discourage combining the equal opportunity and sexual assault functions and, accordingly, conduct separate training.<sup>79</sup> Thus, the primary goal of the "SAPR 101" course was to increase awareness among EOAs about the SAPR Program, available resources, and reporting options available to victims of sexual assault and to alleviate confusion regarding the differences between sexual harassment and sexual assault programs and policies.

Following the training course, OSD SAPRO staff administered a feedback survey to course participants. After participating in the course, 80 percent of survey respondents agreed or strongly agreed that the course increased their knowledge of the SAPR Program, and 93 percent of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that they understood the difference between sexual assault and sexual harassment.

RESPONSE CAPABILITY IN DEPLOYED ENVIRONMENTS

The delivery of comprehensive care to sexual assault victims requires training providers with the right skills and having the appropriate equipment at the right time and place.

The unique and unpredictable circumstances in deployed environments can make it difficult for SAPR responders to deliver comprehensive and consistent care to victims. These uncertainties could also discourage victims from reporting a sexual assault incident, as discussed in the Increase a Climate of Victim Confidence Associated With Reporting section of this report. Tracking victim services accurately and consistently can also be challenging in deployed environments. Unit rotations and re-deployment make it difficult for SAPR responders to track services provided to victims of sexual assault. OSD SAPRO, with the Military Services, worked to respond to these challenges in FY10.

None of the Military Services reported any gaps in supplies, trained personnel, or transportation resources; reported any cases in which lack of an available SAFE Kit or other medical supplies hindered care; or had any verifiable reports of victims for whom timely access of laboratory testing resources hindered care. USMC reported one case in which a victim had to be transported 90 minutes to undergo a SAFE and was addressing the matter at the end of FY10.

In addition, at the request of the Deputy Secretary of Defense, U.S. Central Command (CENTCOM) recommended changes to the OSD and Military Department policies and procedures that CENTCOM believed may hinder theater operations in a deployed environment. CENTCOM submitted a memorandum entitled Results of Deputy Secretary of Defense Directed Regulatory Review. One of its recommendations was for USD(P&R) to issue enduring guidance describing the SAPR services a combatant command must provide to contractor staff when contractors deploy with U.S. Armed Forces. In response to this request, OSD SAPRO proposed revisions to the SAPR Policy that will fulfill this recommendation when the SAPR Policy is reissued. To read the full memorandum, please see Appendix D, CENTCOM Memorandum Results of Deputy Secretary of Defense Directed Regulatory Review.

Barriers to Care

The FY10 NDAA required the Department to review the provision of SAPR services in deployed areas and report its findings to Congress. In July 2010, OASD(HA) submitted its report entitled Care for Victims of Sexual Assault in Combat Zones, which found that:<sup>80</sup>

- Not all healthcare providers who were otherwise deployment ready possessed the requisite training to conduct a SAFE;

<sup>80</sup> DoD. (2010). Improved Prevention and Response to Allegations of Sexual Assault Involving Members of the Armed Forces and Availability of Care for Victims of Sexual Assault. Washington, DC: DoD.

- SAFE training is lengthy and can sometimes delay the deployability of healthcare providers;
- In a deployed environment, providers may be unable to employ the required skills with the frequency (and supervision) necessary to develop desired proficiency;
- Access to timely victim-to-provider (or vice versa) transport is limited; to address competing threats to life, limb, or eyesight, access must be balanced against demand;
- Specialized equipment that may be needed to conduct a SAFE and preserve evidence of the assault lacks standardization at all levels of care, especially in remote areas;
- Protocols for handling SAFE Kits for Restricted Reports vary between the Military Services, but collaboration among Military Service SARCs has helped the Military Services more effectively manage victims of sexual assault; and
- Victims may also be particularly hesitant to seek care because of the close-knit atmosphere that can develop among Service members in deployed environments, which may raise victims' concerns about maintaining confidentiality and unit cohesion and readiness.

In FY10, the Military Services identified specific barriers related to personnel, transportation, supplies, equipment, policies, and processes while in deployed locations, including:

- Facilitating person-to-person transfers between the Military Services when departing joint environments;
- Training adequate numbers of SAPR VAs when faced with limiting operational schedules;
- Accessing trained personnel and SAFE Kits in remote locations; and
- Obtaining toxicology results on suspected drug-facilitated sexual assaults.

Despite the multiple barriers for providing care to sexual assault victims in deployed environments, the Department is committed to ensuring access to timely, comprehensive quality care by:

- Establishing a policy prioritizing sexual assault as an emergency, thereby giving victims the same priority as emergency cases;
- Developing processes and procedures to survey in-theater MTFs' availability of appropriate equipment and supplies;
- Facilitating a standardized annual assessment of MTF capabilities to provide comprehensive, timely, and accessible care;
- Continuing to enhance and optimize coordination and collaboration efforts among OSD SAPRO, the Military Services, and other key stakeholders; and
- Revising training requirements to help ensure all healthcare personnel servicing in a deployed environment are adequately prepared to respond to sexual assault victims regardless of their location.

The Department will continue to strengthen collaboration and coordination with unit leadership and SAPR personnel. Victims are often encouraged to seek necessary medical care through these channels.

For statistical information regarding FY10 Combat Areas of Interest (CAI) reports, please refer to the Statistical Data section of this report.

Innovative Practice

The Department is committed to maintaining timeliness and a high quality of care for Service members in all environments. Sometimes, overcoming unexpected obstacles requires an innovative approach, such as USA's initiative that serves sexual assault victims in Germany.

In coordination with the USA Medical Command (MEDCOM) and European Regional Medical Command, USAREUR initiated a pilot program in Bavaria (southern Germany) in March 2010 to provide medical care and SAFEs to victims and subjects of sexual assault 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Under this initiative, patients receive care and SAFEs through a medical team comprising one forensic examiner and one medic located at the closest MTF. This program precludes patients from having to use host nation facilities and thus safeguards the Restricted Reporting option. At the end of FY10, overall patient feedback was very positive, and USA MEDCOM leadership continued to review the program.

OUTREACH AND COLLABORATION

In FY10, the Department led a number of valuable outreach initiatives aimed at improving response to sexual assault both within and outside of the DoD community. The Military Services also continued to build community coalitions and networks and strengthen DoD stakeholder partnerships.

- Overall, 75 percent of USA installations reported having MOUs or memoranda of agreement (MOA) with civilian agencies serving sexual assault victims, such as rape crisis centers, hospitals, and law enforcement.
- USN SARCs reported working with 12 schools, universities, and other civilian community groups on SAPR awareness and prevention programming.
- In an ongoing effort to improve the USMC Victim Witness Assistance Program (VWAP), which provides rights and services for victims of sexual assault, the USMC Judge Advocate Division Military Justice Branch (JAM) sponsored the first USMC-wide VWAP training conference in June 2010. This conference placed special emphasis on caring for victims of sexual assault. JAM plans to host another VWAP conference in spring 2011.
- USAF continued to foster strong partnerships with other first-responder agencies and collaborate with key community providers at the installation level, which promoted effective response to victims of sexual assault.

Presentations to Recovery Care Coordinators

OSD SAPRO staff continued to connect other parts of the DoD community in FY10 by leading three presentations on the Department's SAPR Program, resources, and procedures for local recovery care coordinators.<sup>81</sup> The presentations not only increased awareness and understanding of the SAPR Program but also improved the Department's ability to respond to Service member victims of sexual assault.

THE IMPACT OF EFFORTS TO IMPROVE SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE

The Department seeks sexual assault response improvements through programs, policies, and activities that advance victim care and enhance the military criminal justice process. SARCs and SAPR VAs are responsible for referring victims of sexual assault to medical, counseling, and legal support services.

The Department has substantially increased the training and resources of military professionals working in sexual assault response since launching the SAPR Program. Each year, thousands of investigators, attorneys, healthcare providers, chaplains, commanders, SARCs, and SAPR VAs participate in state-of-the-art training about how to best engage and care for sexual assault victims.

In areas for which the Department has data, the majority of female victims who have used sexual assault advocacy services, counseling, and medical care indicated they were satisfied with their quality, according to the DMDC 2010 WGRA.<sup>82</sup> Department case disposition statistics indicate that most victims of sexual assault who make an Unrestricted Report participate in the military justice process. However, a few hundred victims each year ultimately decline to participate in the military justice process. In addition, most female victims surveyed indicate experiencing some kind of retaliation (either professional or social) or administrative action against them associated with their reporting the sexual assault.<sup>83</sup>

Although the Department has improved its response system substantially, it must continue to improve the professionalism, capabilities, and resources of all who support victims seeking assistance. In addition, the Department must continue its endeavor to create a culture where victims of crime are treated fairly by those with whom they serve.

IMPROVE SYSTEM ACCOUNTABILITY

OSD SAPRO is the single point of responsibility for sexual assault policy matters within the Department, except for the legal processes provided for under the UCMJ and criminal investigative matters.<sup>84</sup> As part of its policy responsibilities, OSD SAPRO engages in several annual internal and external oversight activities.

REVIEW BY EXTERNAL AGENCIES

In FY09 and FY10, the Department's SAPR Program was the subject of intense review by several internal and external oversight bodies. The following sections discuss the reviewing bodies.

Government Accountability Office

Since the inception of the SAPR Program in 2005, GAO has conducted three reviews of the SAPR Program and made 22 recommendations for the Department's SAPR Program. A fourth GAO review was underway in late FY10.

As outlined below, all of the Military Services worked with OSD SAPRO to provide input for the DoD response to all GAO report recommendations.

Recent Investigations

In January 2008, GAO issued a report recommending that the Department enhance data reporting requirements related to terminology, establish evaluative program performance measures, and provide a more comprehensive program assessment.<sup>85</sup> At the end of FY10, two of the three recommendations had been completed and work on the remaining recommendation was ongoing.<sup>86</sup>

In August 2008, GAO issued a report indicating that although the Department had taken positive steps to prevent and respond to sexual assault, several factors hindered program implementation.<sup>87</sup> In that report, GAO made several recommendations to improve prevention and response-related DoD programs through training and senior leader involvement, development of an oversight program, and creation of measures of effectiveness. The Department concurred with all of the recommendations in GAO's report and incorporated them into items for action. Of those recommendations, seven of the nine recommendations were completed by the end of FY10.

The GAO's February 2010 report found that the Department had taken steps to implement GAO's August 2008 recommendations. However, GAO indicated that opportunities exist for further program improvements. GAO provided the Department with 10 recommendations primarily related to the Department's oversight framework and the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID).<sup>88</sup> Of the 10 February 2010 recommendations provided by GAO, 9 were ongoing and 1 was completed.<sup>89</sup>

As noted in GAO's 2008 and 2010 reports, the Department has spent considerable time, attention, and resources assisting victims, preventing sexual assault, and implementing the SAPR Program. At the end of FY10, the Department had completed 10 of the 22 recommendations from the January 2008, August 2008, and January 2010 reports. It continues efforts to implement the remaining 12 recommendations.

Investigation and Prosecution of Sexual Assault

In the spring of 2010, GAO initiated a fourth Department review on sexual assaults. In this review, GAO is studying the Military Services' investigation and adjudication of alleged sexual assault incidents. Specifically, GAO is assessing policies and procedures for investigating alleged sexual assault incidents in deployed environments, determining whether personnel investigating alleged sexual assault incidents are receiving sexual assault-specific training, and identifying the level of resources allocated to the investigation of alleged sexual assault incidents.

Although these matters lay outside its purview, OSD SAPRO will continue collaborating with GAO to provide information for this investigation and for GAO's 2011 brief to Congress on its findings.

Government Accountability Office Review of Sexual Harassment Programs

In FY10, GAO continued a review of the DoD Sexual Harassment Program. Although the OSD ODMEC currently oversees policy addressing sexual harassment, OSD SAPRO contributed responses to GAO inquiries regarding the relationship between sexual harassment and SAPR programs.<sup>90</sup>

Inspector General

In FY09, a DoD IG report recommended that the Department modify SAPR Policy to include DoD contractors who are both U.S. citizens and contingency contractor personnel authorized to accompany U.S. Armed Forces stationed OCONUS.<sup>91</sup>

In February 2010, an additional DoD IG report recommended that the Department establish, and the Military Services implement, policy that will provide an immediate response by trained personnel for all sexual assaults involving U.S. personnel reported to DoD facilities.<sup>92</sup>

In response to these reports and an internal Deputy Secretary of Defense Directed Review, OSD SAPRO worked with the Military Services to consider expanding SAPR services to U.S. citizen DoD contractor personnel when they are authorized to accompany the U.S. Armed Forces in a contingency operation OCONUS.

For additional information on SAPR Policy expansions, please see the Improve Sexual Assault Response section of this report and Appendix D, CENTCOM Memorandum Results of Deputy Secretary of Defense Directed Regulatory Review.

In FY10, each Military Service engaged in internal oversight activities through its IG. For details, please refer to the individual reports of the Department of the Army, Department of the Navy, and Department of the Air Force in Enclosures 1, 2, and 3, respectively.

Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services

DTF-SAMS submitted a report on its year-long assessment of the DoD SAPR Program to Congress and the Secretary of Defense on December 1, 2009. Although a full recounting of the 91 recommendations made by DTF-SAMS is beyond the scope of this report, the report divided significant recommended changes to the SAPR Program into four topics: strategic direction, prevention and training, response to victims, and accountability.

For a complete copy of the DTF-SAMS Report, see <http://www.dtic.mil/dtfsams/reports.html>.

Department's Response

In early 2010, OSD SAPRO collaborated with the Military Services to conduct a thorough review of the DTF-SAMS Report's findings and recommendations. In May 2010, the Department submitted a response to Congress with its assessment of the DTF-SAMS recommendations. The assessment generally agreed with a majority of the DTF-SAMS Report recommendations and expressed that those agreed-upon recommendations would greatly advance the Department's vision to enable military readiness by establishing a culture free of sexual assault.

The Department's response noted that many of the report recommendations were either previously implemented, currently in progress, or under consideration. The Department is currently working on 55 recommendations, including the following:

- Develop meaningful standards that will work within the respective missions and structures of the Military Services concerning SARC and SAPR VA certification.<sup>93</sup>
- Conduct Military Service senior-level summits.<sup>94</sup>
- Create Service Secretaries committees paralleling the DoD Sexual Assault Advisory Council (SAAC).<sup>95</sup>
- Include SAPR VA within OSD SAPRO functions and structure.<sup>96</sup>
- Enact privileged communication between the SAPR VA and victim.<sup>97</sup>
- Expand the SAPR Policy to include contractors and DoD civilians deployed in contingency operations and military dependents over 18 years of age.<sup>98</sup>
- Establish a universal hotline to facilitate victim reporting.<sup>99</sup>
- Implement a database on sexual assault incidents in an expedited manner.<sup>100</sup>
- Conduct a follow-up review by military justice experts of the effectiveness of Article 120, UCMJ.<sup>101</sup>
- Review commanders' oversight in joint environments and continue to allow component commanders the opportunity to exercise jurisdiction to dispose of alleged offenses on a case-by-case basis.<sup>102</sup>

Throughout the remaining part of FY10, OSD SAPRO continued to work with the Military Services to prioritize actions, develop executable plans where needed, and address resourcing for many of the recommended changes.

At the end of FY10, OSD SAPRO requested that the Military Services provide the status of each recommendation's implementation or implementation plan. The Military Services will provide this response in early FY11.

OVERSIGHT FRAMEWORK

OSD SAPRO defines oversight as monitoring, analyzing, and reporting on policies, processes, and performance to improve sexual assault prevention and response capabilities throughout the Department. To ensure the SAPR Program was functioning as it was designed, OSD SAPRO conducted an environmental scan and developed strategic goals and objectives for the SAPR Program in October 2008. Based on this research, the office drafted a strategic plan and presented it to the Military Services at an offsite meeting in July 2009.<sup>103</sup> Based on input from this meeting, OSD SAPRO developed the SAPR Program Oversight Framework. In FY10, it was further refined.

The Oversight Framework is a structured approach to managing the sexual assault-related change within the Department brought about by the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan. The Oversight Framework was constructed to derive meaningful information about the SAPR Program's functions, compare the information to desired standards, and report those findings and recommendations in a way that drives program improvement and greater understanding to stakeholders.

As previously mentioned, the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan contains five priorities for achieving the Department's vision. The structure of this report reflects that vision, and the five priorities are as follows:

- Institutionalize prevention strategies in the military community.
- Increase the climate of victim confidence associated with reporting.
- Improve sexual assault response.
- Improve system accountability.
- Improve stakeholder knowledge and understanding of SAPR.

The OSD SAPRO Strategic Plan offers a detailed account of OSD SAPRO strategies and tactics needed to develop and track the following five goals, which will help accomplish the five DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan priorities:

- The first goal is to develop, maintain, and disseminate policies, programs, and standards for SAPR, including conducting oversight of SAPR policies and programs to ensure compliance with DoD policy and consistency in the quality and effectiveness of the programs.
- The second goal is to establish and maintain a rigorous data collection process and research agenda.
- The third goal is to engage in activities that enhance the quality of care and support provided to victims, as well as promote prevention and reporting of sexual assault within a Total Force.

<sup>103</sup> More details about the plan, strategic goals, objectives, and actions are available in the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO) DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office Strategic Plan 2009–2014, last revised May 2009.

- The fourth goal is to ensure all stakeholders understand that the Department is dedicated to eliminating sexual assault within its ranks and is executing ambitious programs to prevent this crime, respond to victims, and ensure system accountability.
- The fifth goal is to achieve consistently superior results that maintain a world-class, fully resourced SAPR Program and maximize stakeholder value, integrity, and credibility by ensuring the right people are in place to carry out the mission.

Moving forward, OSD SAPRO will take a phased approach to implementing new SAPR oversight capabilities. At the end of FY10, the implementation plan projected that targeted improvement initiatives will be executed over three phases.

Phase I will occur from FY10 to FY11. As mentioned above, DTF-SAMS delivered its findings and recommendations to Congress and Department leadership in December 2009. On May 27, 2010, USD(P&R) signed the Department's response to the DTF-SAMS Report. This response outlined which recommendations would be adopted. GAO also finished its third of four SAPR program reviews in 2009. As a result, a number of oversight improvement initiatives were addressed by one or more DTF-SAMS, GAO or other programmatic recommendations that were expected to be adopted by the Department. Many of these improvement initiatives will be managed through the SAPRO Tracker, described in the next section. Phases II and III will involve improvement opportunities designed to build off of the work completed in Phase I.

The Department completed two of three required Milestone A activities in FY10, including improving the annual report process and re-structuring senior leadership oversight of the SAPR Program, described in the Internal Oversight Structure section of this report. The final Milestone A activity will be to develop and execute a comprehensive communications plan for the Oversight Framework that will incorporate proactive communication strategies and key messaging for stakeholders.

The Military Services also improved their oversight capabilities in FY10.

- USA developed a comprehensive SHARP Concept Plan, which documents and increases unit-level personnel, resulting in additional full-time assets to manage all aspects of the SHARP Program, including the preparation and conduct of Sexual Assault Review Boards.
- In 2009, the Secretary of the Navy established the DON SAPRO. He also appointed its first Director, a Senior Executive Service civilian who reports directly to the Secretary. DON SAPRO also changed the name of the Sexual Assault Victim Intervention (SAVI) Program to SAPR to align with the mission of the program, highlighting the importance of both prevention and response. In September 2009, USN directed that the Navy 1 (N1), Office of Manpower, Personnel, Training, and Education, become the executive agent of the Navy's SAPR program, thus elevating the program. In FY10, USN continued to establish this program under the N1.
- USMC developed a SAPR Campaign Plan, which comprises five planks: prevention, risk reduction, victim care, offender accountability, and program administration. Also, USMC aligned its initiatives with the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan.

- USAF conducted an annual offsite strategic review of the balanced scorecard and strategic roadmap for the USAF SAPR program. For FY10, the Vice Commander at Hill Air Force Base, Utah, hosted the review, which evaluated key themes, perspectives, objectives, and measures.

SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE OFFICE TRACKER

As described above, the SAPR Program continued to receive a great deal of attention from Congress and the public in FY10. Since the Program's inception, eight congressional hearings, five investigative body reviews, and four GAO investigations have been held. Six NDAs legislated additional program requirements.

To more effectively organize and consolidate the tracking of OSD SAPRO initiatives pertaining to the internal and external coordination of these oversight recommendations and tasks, OSD SAPRO developed and implemented an online tracking tool: the SAPRO Tracker.

OSD SAPRO began work on the SAPRO Tracker in March 2010 to capture and consolidate recommendations made by oversight bodies—specifically those made by DTF-SAMS and GAO. Once it combined the recommendations, OSD SAPRO identified sub-tasks, designated action officers, and established timelines for completion. In addition, it mapped the recommendations back to the DoD SAPR Program Oversight Framework through the P&R Strategic Plan and SAPR Strategic Plan. By July 2010, OSD SAPRO prioritized items in the SAPRO Tracker and developed an action plan.

This tool will give the Department unprecedented oversight of the SAPR Program. By using a “spotlight” method, the Department can monitor and assess the progress of oversight initiatives on a regular basis, including DoD leadership taskings, external taskings, and internal project development. As of the end of FY10, the SAPRO Tracker listed 130 tasks and almost 700 sub-tasks.

Similarly, USN developed a Plan of Action and Milestones to track the status of the Navy Sexual Assault Study recommendations during FY10.

INTERNAL OVERSIGHT STRUCTURE

In FY10, the Department also made considerable efforts to review, revise, and implement effective oversight for the SAPR Program.

Sexual Assault Advisory Council

From May 2007 to November 2009, the SAAC, chaired by the USD(P&R), served as the primary oversight body for the SAPR Program. The SAAC was a senior executive-level decisionmaking body that provided advice and counsel to the Secretary of Defense on all SAPR matters. Four SAAC subcommittees developed and reviewed SAPR Policy and programming in the areas of policy and oversight, research, outreach, and training. OSD SAPRO staff members and representatives from the Military Service SAPR programs co-chaired the SAAC subcommittees.

The SAAC met for the final time in November 2009 and considered the following topics: HA SAIPT, DSAID, DTF-SAMS, GAO investigations, the DoD IG Report, the DoD Annual Report on Sexual Harassment and Violence at the U.S. Military Service Academies, and a new approach to the OSD SAPRO oversight structure.

Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Integrated Product Team

Based on a recommendation from DTF-SAMS, OSD SAPRO developed and implemented a new oversight body structure for the SAPR Program, taking over much of the role of the SAAC as outlined above.<sup>104</sup> DoD leadership signed charters for both the SAPR Integrated Product Team (IPT) and the SAPR Working IPTs in September 2010. Copies of these charters are located in Appendix E, SAPR IPT Charter; and Appendix F, Working IPT Charter.

Like the SAAC, the SAPR IPT will advise the Secretary of Defense through the USD(P&R) across the full range of SAPR policies, programs, and practices. In particular, the SAPR IPT will discuss and analyze SAPR issues generated by targeted topics in the Working IPTs. Topics may come from a variety of sources, including DoD leadership; SAPR Program needs; and external reports, recommendations, and requests. Unlike the SAAC, SAPR IPT membership will only comprise representatives from DoD and Military Service leadership to ensure candid dialogue. Other DoD component representatives will be invited to SAPR IPT meetings when specific expertise is needed. The SAPR IPT will meet bimonthly and hold ad hoc meetings as necessary.

Working IPTs will be called together to address a single policy topic. The Director, Requirements and Strategic Integration (RSI), as Chair of the SAPR IPT, will approve the topics, which will be drawn from policy recommendations made by DTF-SAMS, GAO, DoD IG, and OSD SAPRO's own policy initiatives and oversight activities. Once leadership approves topic ideas, a Working IPT charter will be developed on a specific issue. The Working IPT Work Plan will further define the issue's focus, enumerate goals, and identify a definitive timeline for the accomplishment of the stated goals. Each Working IPT will have a chair, a co-chair as needed, and representation from OSD SAPRO and the Military Services. Once work on an issue is complete, the Working IPT will present findings to the Director, RSI, as Chair of the SAPR IPT. If a Working IPT cannot resolve an issue, it will present the issue to the SAPR IPT for resolution and recommendations. In the event the SAPR IPT cannot resolve issues identified by the Working IPT, the SAPR IPT will elevate the issue to the USD(P&R) for a decision.

A third body, the DoD SAPR Summit, will comprise DoD SAPR Program representatives and external partners and will meet at least once a year. Attendees at the SAPR Summit will discuss best practices and sexual assault-related topics affecting the military, civilian, and international community. Starting in FY11, DoD leadership; civilian experts on criminal law and sexual assault prevention, response, and training; and representatives from other federal agencies (e.g., Department of Veterans Affairs, HHS, DOJ, Department of State, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention) will meet.

Several Military Services have established their own advisory councils to share best practices, collaborate on program issues, and elevate issues to senior leadership.

- USA has the General Officer Steering Committee and a supporting Council of Colonels to provide strategic oversight of the SHARP Program. The committee recommends management strategies, policies, plans, processes, and resources necessary to adequately prevent and respond to incidents of sexual assault.
- USN has the SAPR CFT, which a Navy Flag Officer (N13) chairs. It comprises key stakeholders. The CFT established sub-working groups and meets monthly to collaborate and coordinate on program issues, provide program updates, and continue to mature and improve USN's SAPR program.
- USMC has the SAPR Executive Steering Committee and a Senior Leader Working Group, which were established to direct actions associated with the SAPR Campaign Plan and to advise the Commandant of the Marine Corps of the strategic communication requirements and plan status.
- DON SAPRO also hosts a weekly leadership meeting with the Chief of Naval Personnel and USMC SAPR program leaders to discuss and plan the DON-wide SAPR program and future initiatives. In addition, both USN and USMC senior leadership are members of the DON SAAC.
- USAF has an Executive Steering Group, chaired by the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and Reserve Affairs, to review and advise the Secretary of the USAF regarding the USAF SAPR program.
- ARNG has a SAPR Advisory Council, which meets at least two times each year to discuss program oversight information and regional issues state personnel face.

OVERSIGHT ACTIVITIES

In general, oversight is a means by which an organization ensures a program is functioning the way it was designed to function. The Department defines oversight as monitoring, analyzing, and reporting on policies, processes, and performance to improve SAPR capabilities throughout the Department.<sup>105</sup> In FY10, OSD SAPRO engaged in several oversight activities.

Based on a recommendation by DTF-SAMS, the Department began to review Reserve component SAPR programs and policies to ensure their compliance with DoDI 6495.02 requirements in FY10. Initial efforts included meeting with DMDC to begin developing survey questions and identifying dates for site visits with the Military Services. This review is anticipated to officially begin in FY11.<sup>106</sup>

OSD SAPRO also oversees Military Services activities by reviewing high-interest cases after their closure. These reviews allow OSD SAPRO to evaluate how the SAPR Policy has been applied and executed. In addition, OSD SAPRO works with the Military Services to resolve victim inquiries and general inquiries made through the OSD SAPRO website. This information is used to inform policy, resolve conflicts that arise through policy application, and enhance program implementation.

The Military Services also provided oversight in FY10.

- USA conducted Army Community Service Accreditation visits at 36 installations; 100 percent of the installations passed the SAPR standards.
- DON SAPRO made numerous site visits to USN and USMC installations and gathered insights from commanders, key stakeholders, and Sailors. These parties also provided feedback regarding training and helped identify gaps in policy. Out of 26 accreditation site visits conducted in FY10, only one negative finding was identified in a SAPR-related area, and it was corrected within 90 days.
- USAF sponsored oversight visits to four major commands and nine installations, which found that overseas installations experienced high turnover rates as their military SARCs deployed; alcohol is a more significant issue for specific locales, and therefore issues such as underage drinking and instances of sexual assault become more prominent; more emphasis is needed to ensure the location of SARC offices provides privacy and victim accessibility; the majority of installations have excellent MOAs and agreements with local hospitals for SAFEs; and case management meetings have great senior leader support.<sup>107</sup>

REPORTING

Before submitting the final report, all of the Military Services submit quarterly statistics to OSD SAPRO. In FY10, OSD SAPRO worked with the Military Services to ensure submission of quarterly data and successful resolution of discrepancies throughout the year, which ensured data accuracy.

Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database

Section 563 of P.L. No. 110-417, the Duncan Hunter NDAA for FY09, directs the Secretary of Defense to implement a centralized case-level database that collects and maintains information regarding sexual assaults involving members of the U.S. Armed Forces.

To accomplish this task, an Integrated SAPR Data Collection and Reporting Working Group led by senior USAF representatives worked collectively from FY08 to FY09 to define and design the database in accordance with federal acquisition milestones. The database will have three major functions and will receive data from all four of the Military Services and NGB. These functions will be:

- Ad hoc query and reporting to meet congressional reporting requirements;
- Case management, which enables SARCs to input and maintain sexual assault cases; and
- Business management in support of SAPR PM administration and case management.

DSAID continued to be a top priority in FY10, and OSD SAPRO made great progress toward the system's development. On January 15, 2010, OSD SAPRO released a request for proposals (RFP). From February 2010 through March 2010, OSD SAPRO chaired the Technical Evaluation Board to review the submitted bids. In August 2010, the contract for development was awarded. Also in August 2010, the developer delivered a project management plan, initiating the construction of the database.

In addition to successfully releasing the RFP and awarding the contract, the Department continued to refine system requirements for operational and system-wide functionality. It incorporated additional reporting requirements mandated in Section 567 of P.L. No. 111-84, the NDAA for FY10. Also, OSD SAPRO worked closely with Military Service representatives to identify installations and other geographic locations around the world to be incorporated into DSAID.

Once operational, the Department will be able to use DSAID for data collection, provide accurate data points for analysis, and serve as a case management tool. The Military Services have agreed to update their own data systems to support DSAID, as a source for sexual assault reporting and analysis once established.

OSD SAPRO will continue to work with the Military Services and other stakeholders to further develop DSAID in FY11. Areas of particular collaboration include the following:

- Resolve existing issues and complete mapping between the USA Sexual Assault Data Management System and DSAID.
- Resolve interfacing data challenges between the USN SAVI Case Management System, Consolidated Law Enforcement Operations Center, and DSAID.
- Resolve interfacing data challenges between the USMC Sexual Assault Incident Response Database and DSAID.
- Resolve mapping and interfacing issues with the USAF Investigative Information Management System and DSAID.

If left unresolved, these issues could result in the absence of key data collection and in overlapping data in the Military Services' sexual assault data source systems.

Along with development, the Department submitted three reports to Congress on DSAID's progress in FY10. The Department will continue to submit reports as required.<sup>108</sup>

Data Standardization

OSD SAPRO further standardized the statistical data collection of sexual assault reports by automating repetitive portions of the data matrices, adding detailed instructions for data input, and providing definitions in each data cell in FY10. To ensure the Military Services were educated on these changes, OSD SAPRO developed a guide for annual reporting.

In addition, OSD SAPRO further refined the programmatic matrices with instructions and automated the case synopses template with dropdowns and columns that can be sorted by offense. Also, Sections 561 and 562 of P.L. 110-417, the NDAA for FY09, requested that the Department begin tracking the issuance and violations of MPOs. In FY10, OSD SAPRO successfully incorporated this data point in both the programmatic and statistical matrices and tracks it in the Military Service statistical matrices of this year's report.

OSD SAPRO achieved another milestone toward data standardization in FY10. It successfully gathered quarterly data from the Military Services and provided feedback each quarter about inconsistencies in submitted data. Improved quarterly data ensured data reliability over the course of the FY.

Also, based on a DTF-SAMS Report recommendation and congressional interest, OSD SAPRO began establishing the definitions for the investigative terms "founded" and "unfounded" as they pertain to investigations of sexual assault.<sup>109</sup> In August 2010, the USD(P&R) requested that the DoD IG develop definitions of these terms in collaboration with MCIOs.

In support of data standardization, USN funded a full-time position at NCIS to support data collection on sexual assault cases.

RESEARCH

FY10 marked the fifth year since the inception of the SAPR Program. Currently, it is unknown if or how the SAPR Policy has affected victims' experience with reporting sexual assaults and participating in the military justice system. Recognizing the important role of research and measurement, OSD SAPRO launched an effort to conduct a research study in FY10 to:

- Measure and analyze rates of victim satisfaction with the quality of care and response provided by their respective Military Service's SAPR programs;
- Measure if the policies the DoD has put in place to serve sexual assault victims have positively affected victims' rates of satisfaction with the level of support provided by the SAPR Program; and
- Provide empirical data that describes and measures victims' current experiences with the military criminal justice system and levels of satisfaction with the SAPR Program.

The study would also draw valid and reliable comparisons to the experiences of victims who reported before the SAPR Policy was implemented in 2005. If funded, the study will be conducted in FY11. Its findings will be used to inform policy development and training initiatives to further enhance SAPR programs at installations around the world.

Defense Equal Opportunity Management Institute Climate Survey

For several years, DEOMI has provided unit commanders with a real-time assessment of their command climate through use of the Defense Equal Opportunity Climate Survey (DEOCS). The DEOCS—a pen and paper or online questionnaire—measures climate factors associated with military equal opportunity and civilian equal employment opportunity (EEO) issues, as well as organizational effectiveness factors. To further supplement this information, DMDC conducts the Survey of Gender Relations every 4 years; however, the survey does not provide detailed information that may be useful to commanders.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO and DMDC began work with DEOMI to integrate vetted sexual assault questions pertaining to evaluation of the Program from the WGRA into the DEOCS. In the future, the Department will be able to use the answers to provide commanders with a more complete picture of their command climate.<sup>110</sup>

Military Service Research

As outlined below, the Military Services conducted several research initiatives in FY10.

USA conducted surveys of Soldiers in conjunction with the FY10 Sex Signals tour to gauge current attitudes and behaviors regarding bystander intervention and any impact the training may have had on such attitudes. Results demonstrated that nearly 29 percent of Soldiers who responded cited an “improved/much improved understanding” regarding Soldiers’ higher level of responsibility to intervene when they witness sexually aggressive behavior, on base or off. Over 20 percent of Soldiers cited an “improved/much improved understanding” of the definition of rape and what constitutes consent. In addition, over 90 percent of Soldiers said they were “certain/very certain” they would “do something to help if they see a Soldier who is surrounded by a group of people at a party and appears uncomfortable.”

USN communicated the results of the Navy Personnel Research, Studies, and Technology SAPR Quick Poll in September 2010. The Quick Poll indicated positive trends regarding military awareness of the USN SAPR program across all ranks and gender. Results will be used to brief senior USN leadership on SAPR program effectiveness and to provide information for program improvement in FY11. In addition, a bystander intervention pilot study to test the effectiveness and sustainability of bystander intervention training was initiated in FY10. Data from the project is now being collected and analyzed and will be used to develop future programming.

USMC, including USN, conducted the Judge Advocates Office: Case Review Project I and II. Case Review Project I was completed at the beginning of FY10. Using the results of the first Case Review Project, DON developed a training curriculum to respond to the training needs identified during the review. Case Review Project II began at the end of FY10 and will include the use of an improved case review tool created by a team of prosecution and defense experts. It will be used to analyze both convictions and acquittals in sexual assault cases. The findings from the project will be used to evaluate current training criteria and assist in enhancing prosecutor training. In addition, the project will assist in developing future training and resources to support trial and defense counsel.

USAF contracted with Gallup, Inc., to conduct a prevalence and incidence survey in FY10. The survey will provide a baseline of statistical occurrence of sexual assault and will analyze the probability of occurrence within the USAF. The results from the study will provide a baseline for occurrence of sexual assault, quantify under-reporting, and enable leaders to implement effective policies. This survey is scheduled to be completed in early FY11.

CONGRESSIONAL ENGAGEMENT

In FY10, Congress requested official testimony on the SAPR Program at two hearings. On February 24, 2010, Dr. Whitley testified at the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee, National Security and Foreign Affairs Subcommittee hearing entitled “Sexual Assault in the Military: Are We Making Progress?” On May 20, 2010, Dr. Whitley gave testimony at the House Committee on Veterans Affairs, Subcommittees on Disability Assistance and Memorial Affairs hearing entitled “Healing the Wounds: Evaluating Military Sexual Trauma Issues.” On both occasions, Dr. Whitley gave an update on the SAPR Program and the steps the Department is taking to make process improvements identified by Congress.

As follow-on to these hearings, Dr. Whitley and OSD SAPRO staff met several times with members of Congress and committee professional staff on a wide variety of topics related to the SAPR Program.

In addition, OSD SAPRO answered many reporting requests from Congress in 2010. In April 2010, the Department's response to reporting requirements legislated in P.L. No. 111-84, the NDAA for FY10, included the following topics:

- New initiatives aimed at reducing the number of sexual assaults, including timelines for implementing those initiatives;
- Requirements for monitoring and reporting on the progress of implemented initiatives to measure SAPR Policy effectiveness;
- Training programs for JAs, criminal investigators, commanders, prospective commanding officers, senior enlisted members, and personnel with fewer than 6 months of Active Duty service;
- Information about the status of implementation, funding requirements and budgetary implications, and overall utility of data reporting systems;
- Actions taken to implement recommendations on DTF-SAMS;
- Information about the funding needed to fully implement SAPR initiatives; and
- Explanation of the measures being taken to fully ensure the person who requests an MPO is informed in a timely manner of his or her option to request transfer for his or her assigned command.

Congress also requested an update on the following points related to SAFE Kits, which OASD(HA) answered:

- Current availability of sexual assault medical forensic examination protocols, trained personnel, and requisite equipment in combat zones;
- Assessment of the barriers to providing timely sexual assault medical forensic examinations to victims of sexual assault at all echelons of care in combat zones; and
- Recommendations regarding improved capability to conduct timely and effective sexual assault medical forensic examinations in combat zones.

OSD SAPRO provided three updates to Congress regarding DSAID in February, April, and August 2010, per Sections 567 and 598 of P.L. No. 111-84, the NDAA for FY10. These updates provided information on the progress of the acquisition process and compliance with DoD and federal regulations.

In addition, all of the Military Services participated in hearings, met with professional staff, and continued to engage Congress on Military Service-specific issues.

Military Service Academy Report

The DoD Annual Report on Sexual Harassment and Violence at the U.S. Military Service Academies is due to Congress annually in December, in accordance with Section 532 of P.L. No. 109-364, the NDAA for FY07. The Department will provide this year's report to Congress in December 2010.

THE IMPACT OF EFFORTS TO IMPROVE SYSTEM ACCOUNTABILITY

For the first time, this annual report integrates both programmatic accomplishments and military research findings to highlight program strengths and areas for improvement. Consequently, this year's report, as an oversight tool, will be used to drive progress in all five DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan priorities and in future research into the issue of sexual assault in the military.

External reviews of the SAPR Program have recommended that the Department use the Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military as its chief resource for communicating with external stakeholders. In addition, as the Department further develops its Oversight Framework, other more concise methods may be developed to improve stakeholder knowledge of the SAPR Program.

IMPROVE STAKEHOLDER KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDING OF THE SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE PROGRAM AND POLICY

Building on past outreach efforts, OSD SAPRO continued to expand its communications activities to include a wider array of audiences in FY10. In addition to maintaining a focus on "internal" Department audiences, such as Service members and senior leadership, the Department also engaged in outreach activities to reach a broader network of organizations.

The goal of this outreach is to educate external organizations, such as veterans groups, that can shape internal attitudes and behaviors. In particular, communication with veterans groups provides an invaluable two-way dialogue about veterans' experiences within the Department; this dialogue in turn informs the Department's practices. In addition, other military-affiliated groups are often active in their communities and thus convey their insights on how the Department is currently addressing sexual assault issues to policymakers, interest groups, and potential recruits.

All of the Military Services engaged in SAPR outreach with their local communities in FY10. Examples of activities in FY10 include hosting educational workshops, establishing MOUs with medical and rape crisis centers, and hosting SAPR training for responders.

SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE COMMUNITY OUTREACH

SAPRline of Courage

In conjunction with FY10 Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM), OSD SAPRO worked with the Military Services to draw on the concepts offered in the “Clothesline Project,” a visual display to denote sexual violence (see Figure 12). The Department’s “SAPRline of Courage” displayed 189 shirts that SARCs around the world created and submitted. Shirts represented an individual’s direct or indirect experience with sexual assault and the Service members who take a stand against sexual assault in the military. The SAPRline of Courage was displayed at the Pentagon in Washington, DC. It furthered the Department’s goal of raising awareness of sexual assault in the military, educating leadership on sexual assault, and encouraging Service members to prevent sexual assault. Additional pictures of the SAPRline of Courage are located in Appendix G, SAPRline of Courage Pictures.

SAPR Source

For several years, OSD SAPRO has used a newsletter to convey program and policy updates and SAPR events to the SAPR community. In FY10, OSD SAPRO began converting the newsletter from a hard copy to an electronic format. Once launched in early FY11, the SAPR Source will aid OSD SAPRO in reaching a larger audience of both public and private organizations on current efforts. Each edition will feature an article highlighting work done by a particular Military Service and will highlight a SARC from that Military Service.

SAPR.mil and Myduty.mil

In FY10, OSD SAPRO also reconfigured its online presence to enhance its usefulness to those seeking assistance or information. It divided the website into two new, separate sites.

First, www.myduty.mil was designed as a resource for victims of sexual assault. This site features prevention information and advice for friends and supervisors of victims. The site debuted in December 2009.

The second site, www.sapr.mil, supports the needs of SARCs, SAPR VAs, and other sexual assault responders seeking information about SAPR programs and policies. This site was launched in the second quarter of FY10.

Sexual Assault Awareness Month

In April 2010, the Department observed its sixth annual SAAM, which occurs nationally in April. SAAM activities are designed to raise awareness and promote sexual violence prevention through special events and public education. Participation in SAAM provides an annual opportunity to join in a national effort to promote the prevention of sexual assault and publicize the Department's SAPR Program.

During SAAM 2010, the Department unveiled its Hurts One. Affects All. campaign to publicize how sexual assault degrades mission readiness and impedes a unit's ability to accomplish its mission. To kick off the month's events, Dr. Clifford Stanley, USD(P&R), signed a memorandum to the Secretaries of the Military Services and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff requesting their support for SAAM and the Department's SAPR Program. A copy of the SAAM support memorandum can be found in Appendix H, Sexual Assault Awareness Month Memorandum.

Throughout SAAM 2010, commanders and senior enlisted leadership repeatedly demonstrated their support of the SAPR Program. They echoed its important message that sexual assault has no place in a military unit; however, if it does occur, victims are encouraged to report the matter and get the care they need.

As shown by the list of SAAM events attended below, senior leaders continued to confirm their level of support and commitment to SAAM in FY10 (see Figures 13, 14, and 15):

- USA kicked off SAAM with the SHARP Summit in April 2010, which was attended by over 100 sergeants major, 50 general officers, and over 600 attendees.
- USN conducted more than 180 SAAM activities worldwide, including forums, events, news events, runs and walks, and training events. Several USN installations hired leading civilian SMEs to conduct workshops and make presentations.<sup>111</sup>

- USMC held multiple events in support of SAAM, such as conducting a 5K Fun Run and issuing a Marine Administrative Message, an announcement to which all Marines have access. SAAM events continue to grow in scope each year, with themes, plans, and marketing campaigns in development to heighten awareness.
- USAF utilized the input given at the SAPR Summit to develop SAPR posters to raise support for SAAM activities. In addition, USAF installations engaged in a variety of events to formally launch the annual campaign messaging and provide members with additional information about sexual assault. Examples of these events included senior leader proclamation signings, 5K runs, Clothesline projects, and informational displays and presentations.

EXTERNAL OUTREACH

In addition to working with internal audiences, the Department was active in reaching out to numerous external organizations that have an interest in the Department's efforts to prevent and respond to sexual assault.

For example, the Department briefed the White House Council on Women and Girls and the White House Advisor on Violence Against Women on the SAPR Program in FY10.<sup>112</sup> Dr. Whitley and OSD SAPRO staff also attended regular meetings with the White House Interagency Policy Group on issues related to domestic violence, sexual assault, and children.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO was invited to become a member of the Engaging Women in Security, Defense, and Peacekeeping in Southeastern Europe—Working Group sponsored by the Naval Post-Graduate School. SAPRO's purpose in participation was to provide input on curriculum development pertaining to sexual assault. Efforts will be used to increase women's security, defense, and peacekeeping abilities for the Bosnia-Herzegovina Peace Support Operations Training Centre.

<sup>112</sup> The purpose of the Council is to ensure that each of the executive agencies take into account the needs of women and girls in the policies they draft, the programs they create, and the legislation they support.

All of the Military Services engage federal organizations and Congress to provide information and education on the SAPR Program. Particularly, USA continued to work with the DOJ and the U.S. Marshals Service to help identify and track registered sex offenders. As a member of the DOJ International Working Group (IWG), USA is assisting in the development of an international tracking system for registered sex offenders when they leave the United States. USA will continue to participate in the IWG to determine if USA sex offender data can be tracked in this new international tracking system.

BRIEFINGS, CONFERENCES, AND WORKSHOPS

The Department's participation in various briefings and conferences allowed for increased education of wide variety of key audiences in FY10. The following are key highlights of OSD SAPRO's outreach.

In April 2010, OSD SAPRO staff attended the 2010 National Guard Health Promotion and Annual Prevention Training Workshop and briefed the NGB Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Advisory Council (SAPRAC). SAPRAC was established to advise and assist the NGB in executing the SAPR mission. It provides recommendations to NGB leadership on promoting cultural change that leads to an environment free of sexual assault. SAPRAC focuses on a dynamic, victim-centered process for facilitating information flow throughout the NGB. During this time, OSD SAPRO staff built relationships with NGB counterparts and found areas for collaboration. As a result of briefing the SAPRAC, OSD SAPRO plans to increase outreach to the Reserve component community in FY11.

In June 2010, OSD SAPRO briefed the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services (DACOWITS). The briefing focused on the SAPR Program and Policy, the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan, and the way ahead for future collaboration. OSD SAPRO plans to brief DACOWITS again in FY11.

In 2000, the United Nations Security Council unanimously passed Resolution 1325, Women and Peace and Security, designed to encourage member states to increase the roles of women in decision making positions, including their roles in the military. In support of the latter, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council on Gender Perspectives met in May 2010 to identify next steps for each NATO member. OSD SAPRO staff attended to share best practices on how SAPR could be incorporated into international military planning.

In FY10, OSD SAPRO met with the following organizations to provide information on steps the Department is taking to prevent sexual assault in the military, as described in the third level of the Spectrum of Prevention (fostering coalitions and networks):<sup>113</sup>

- Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America;
- Stop Military Rape;
- Veterans of Foreign Wars;
- National Center on Domestic and Sexual Violence;
- National Organization for Women;
- National Women's Law Center;
- Women's Research and Education Institute;
- Alliance for National Defense;
- Shelia Wellstone Institute;
- National Center for Victims of Crime;
- Women Organizing Women (VetWoW); and
- Service Women Action Network.

OSD SAPRO attended and presented briefs at the following conferences in FY10. The purpose of these briefings was to educate veteran, civilian, and international organizations on the progress the Department has made to improve the SAPR Program and Policy:

- American Legion Conference;
- Veterans of Foreign Wars Conference;
- Department of Veterans Affairs Military Sexual Trauma Conference;
- National Sexual Assault Conference;
- National Victims of Crime Conference;
- Department of Veterans Affairs Advisory Committee on Disability Compensation; and
- 36th National Organization for Victim Assistance Conference.

In addition, in response to the House Committee on Veterans Affairs, Subcommittees on Disability Assistance and Memorial Affairs hearing in May 2010, OSD SAPRO scheduled outreach meetings with the following panel members and identified opportunities for continued collaboration:

- Society on Women's Health Research;
- The American Legion;
- Disabled Veterans of America; and
- American Urological Association.

Emerging Media Tools

As shown by both the Department's sexual assault reporting statistics and anonymous Department surveys, sexual assault is more prevalent among Active Duty Service members between the ages of 18 to 24. In continuation of the social media campaigns "My Strength is For Defending" and "Hurts One. Affects All.," OSD SAPRO is implementing additional research-based initiatives to reach at-risk groups with prevention messages in a social media format.

Research states that 18–24 year olds are more likely to receive and accept messages sent through peer-to-peer communications using social media.<sup>114, 115</sup> To reach this community of Service members in the mediums they use most, in FY10 OSD SAPRO began developing social media tools to aid SARCs and SAPR VAs in sending messages of prevention and information on available resources and support. Through contracts with prevention experts, such as MCSR, OSD SAPRO will develop focus group-tested messages, videos, PSAs, and graphics that speak to young Service members. These types of campaigns are easily implemented at the installation level and can be customized for each Military Service if needed. In this way, SARCs and SAPR VAs will have new communications channels to reach a larger audience.

MEASURING SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE AWARENESS

Sexual assault in the military can have a wide range of impacts. Recruiting individuals with the Department's values of honor and integrity is key for the Department's future success. This year, the Department laid the groundwork to determine if—and how—the issues of sexual assault in the military may affect recruiting. The Department will continue its efforts in FY11.

THE IMPACT OF EFFORTS TO IMPROVE STAKEHOLDER KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDING OF SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE

The Department's goal is to educate its stakeholders about progress in SAPR programs and policies. Greater stakeholder knowledge results when military and civilian leadership communicate SAPR Program successes and challenges; disseminate SAPR-specific research drawn from the military environment; and deploy effective messaging through a variety of outreach channels.

In FY10, the Department used every communication channel available to inform stakeholders of the progress being made in the SAPR Program. Given the DMDC 2010 WGRA findings, it appears the SAPR Program is effectively reaching its greatest stakeholders—Service members. According to the DMDC 2010 WGRA, one of the most well-known communication channels appears to be an installation's SAAM observance. As a result, the Department should continue to prepare and disseminate materials for use at these events. However, this finding also suggests that base-level events at other times of the year may be equally useful in reaching Service members.<sup>116</sup>

The Department also communicated SAPR Program information in a variety of venues, including congressional hearings and briefings, press interviews, PSAs, and organizational meetings. Improvements in stakeholder knowledge resulting from these activities are more difficult to assess because the information recipients are outside the Department's current measurement authority.

STATISTICAL DATA ON SEXUAL ASSAULT

The Department's sexual assault statistics include all sexual contact crimes by adults against adults, as defined in the UCMJ. These crimes include rape, aggravated sexual assault, nonconsensual sodomy, aggravated sexual contact, abusive sexual contact, wrongful sexual contact, and attempts to commit these offenses. For incidents that occurred prior to the changes made to the UCMJ on October 1, 2007, sexual assault included rape, nonconsensual sodomy, indecent assault, and attempts to commit these acts. Under the SAPR Policy, there is no time limit as to when someone can report the commission of a sexual assault to a SARC. Thus, the Department may have received reports in FY10 on assaults that occurred prior to October 2007.

In FY10, there were a total of 3,158 reports of sexual assault involving Service members, which represents a 2-percent decrease from FY09.

- The Military Services received 2,410 Unrestricted Reports involving Service members as either the subject or victim of sexual assault (a 4-percent decrease from FY09).
- The Military Services initially received 882 Restricted Reports involving Service members and U.S. civilians as victims of sexual assault (a 5-percent increase from FY09).<sup>117</sup> 134 (or 15 percent) of the initial Restricted Reports later converted to Unrestricted Reports, leaving 748 Restricted Reports remaining.
- 2,617 Service members reported they had been the victim of a sexual assault. 1,870 Service members made (1,736) or converted to (134) an Unrestricted Report; 747 Service members made and maintained Restricted Reports.

As stated in the Increase a Climate of Victim Confidence Associated With Reporting section of this report, sexual assault is one of the most underreported crimes in the United States. Research indicates that only a fraction of sexual assaults that occur each year are ever reported to law enforcement by victims. This reporting behavior is mirrored in the U.S. Armed Forces. Research shows that reporting the crime is most victims' primary link to getting medical treatment and other forms of assistance.<sup>118</sup> The Department's 2005 policy on this subject encourages increased reporting of sexual assault, improves response capabilities for victims, and encourages victims to participate in military justice actions, if they so desire. Since 2005, there has been an upward trend in reporting behavior. However, as stated earlier, total reports of sexual assault in FY10 showed a small decrease from the previous FY.

Although one sexual assault is too many, the overall increase in reporting behavior since 2005 is encouraging. The more Service members who report sexual assaults, the better able the Department is to provide resources to victims and hold perpetrators accountable. Exhibit 1 shows the total number of sexual assault reports made to the Department over the past four FYs.

FY10 UNRESTRICTED REPORTS OF SEXUAL ASSAULT

Data from Unrestricted Reports is collected and reported to the Department by the MCIOs (Army Criminal Investigations Command, NCIS, and AFOSI).<sup>119</sup>

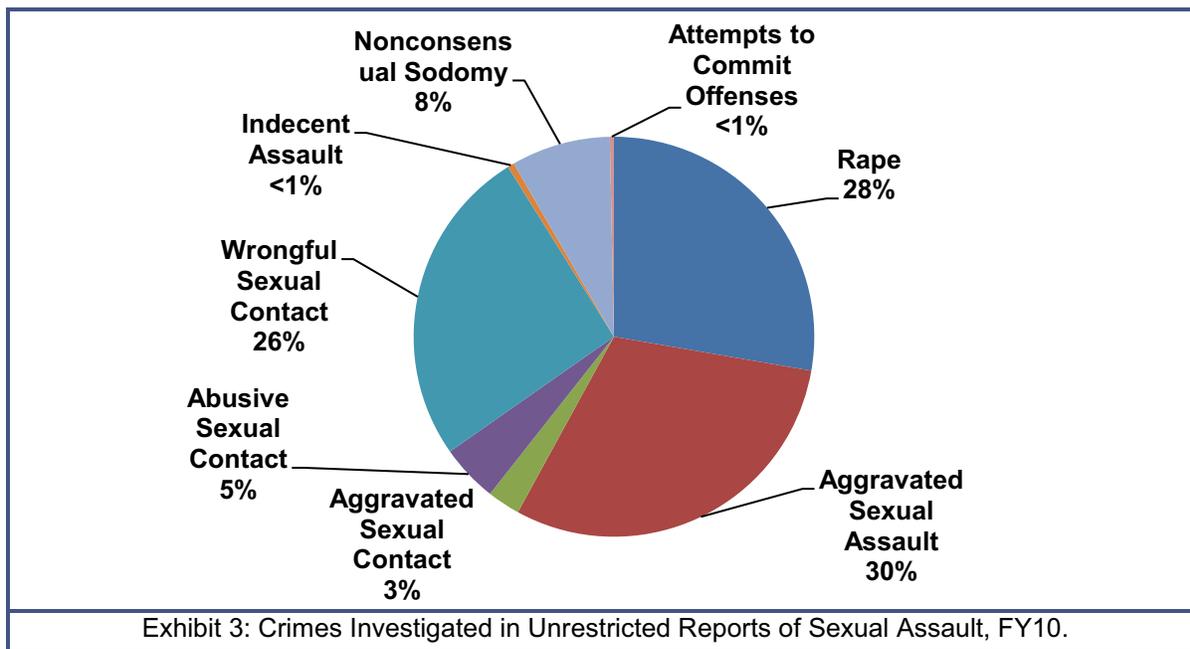

In FY10, there were 2,410 Unrestricted Reports of sexual assault involving Service members as either the subject or victim of a sexual assault.<sup>120</sup> Exhibit 3 and Table 1 provide a breakdown of the types of crimes investigated in Unrestricted Reports of Sexual Assault in FY10.

- 1,719 (71 percent) of Unrestricted Reports involved Service members as victims. Because some incidents involved multiple victims, 1,870 Service member victims were involved in the 1,719 reports of sexual assault.
- The USA reported that 11 victims made an Unrestricted Report for an incident that occurred prior to their enlistment or commissioning. The USN, USMC and USAF did not report data in this category in FY10.

<sup>119</sup> An Unrestricted Report of sexual assault is provided to command and/or law enforcement for investigation.

<sup>120</sup> The term “subject” is used in the Military Services to denote the suspected perpetrator of an offense.

- 2,410 criminal investigations were initiated and 2,594 criminal investigations were completed in FY10.

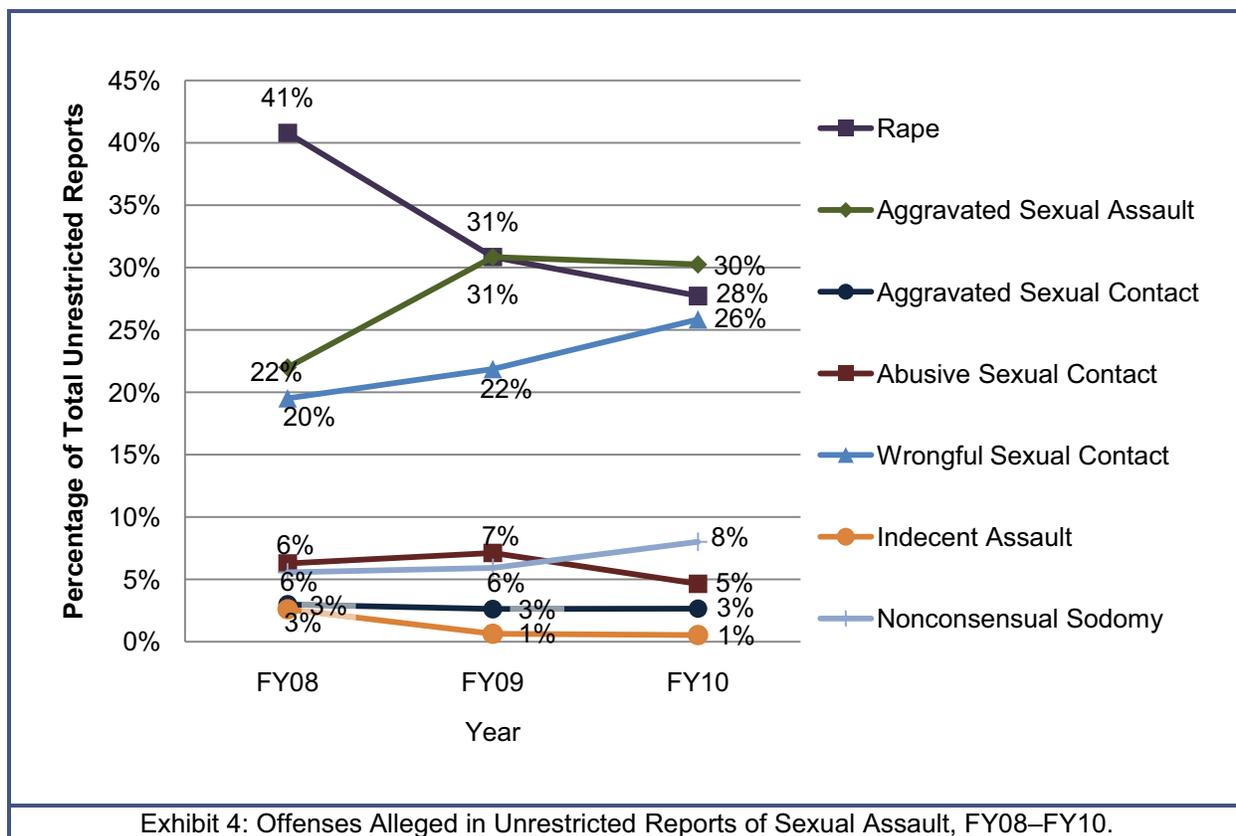

- 1,614 of the criminal investigations initiated in FY10 were completed by the end of FY10; the results of the other 796 investigations will be reported in forthcoming years' reports.
- 980 criminal investigations from prior reporting periods (opened in FY09 or earlier) were also completed during FY10.

Substantial revisions to Article 120 of the UCMJ took effect in FY08, giving commanders new options for charging sexual assaults. Exhibit 4 illustrates the types of offenses alleged in Unrestricted Reports of sexual assault over the past three FYs.

Each year, the majority of sexual assault reports received by the MCIOs involve the victimization of Service members by other Service members. In FY10, 1,358 Unrestricted Reports (or 56 percent) involved allegations of Service member-on-Service member sexual assault. Exhibit 5 illustrates how Service members are involved in sexual assault reports.

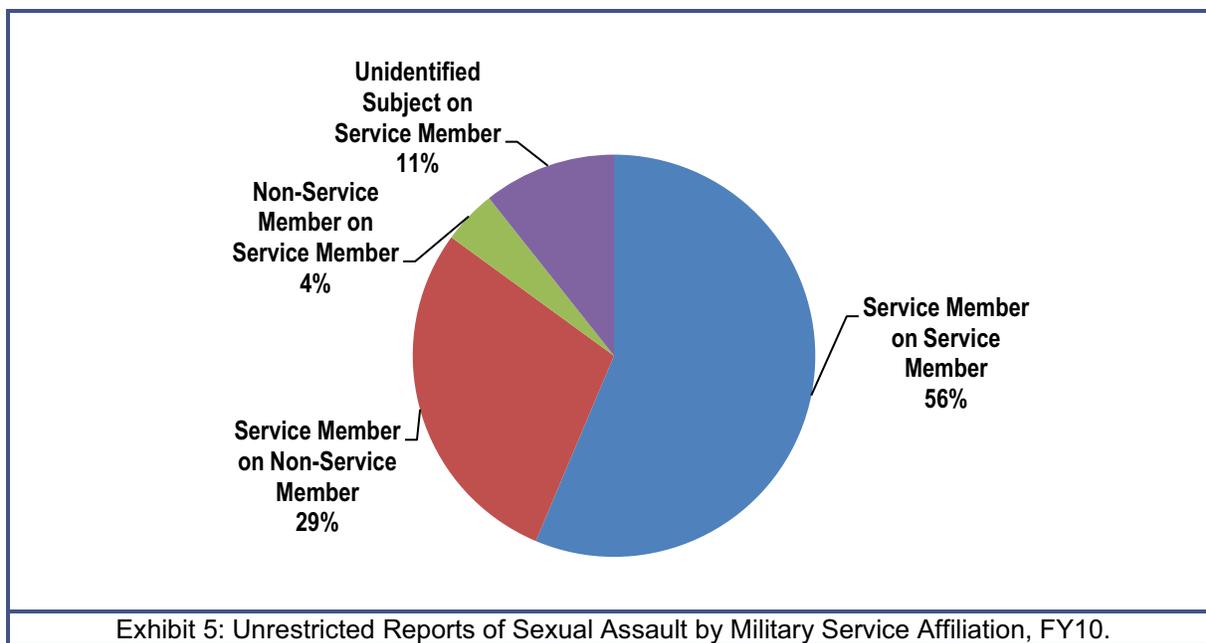

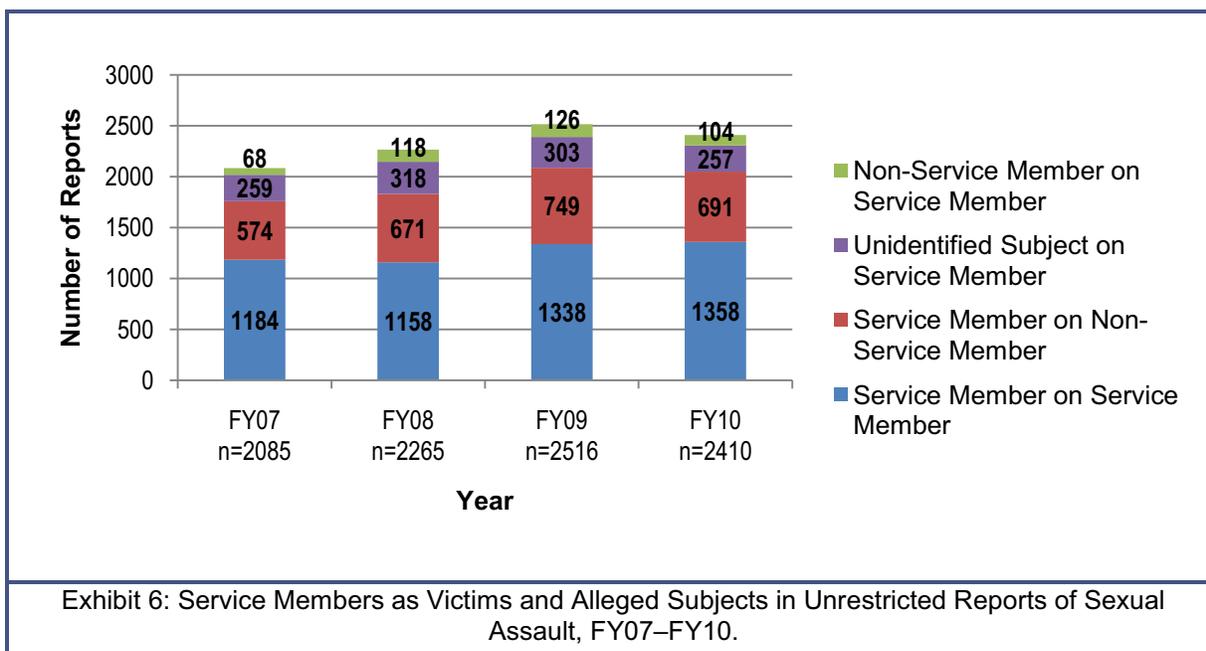

Exhibit 6 illustrates how Service members have been involved in sexual assault reports over the past four reporting periods.

Disposition of Completed Investigations

An Unrestricted Report of sexual assault is usually referred to an MCIO for investigation. Depending on the complexity of the allegation, the investigation can take a few weeks to several months to complete. Consequently, sexual assault investigations and their outcomes can cross reporting periods. Table 2 includes data about investigations of sexual assault that were opened and completed in FY10, investigations that were opened in prior years and completed in FY10, and data about pending investigations from prior years as well as FY10. 2,594 investigations of sexual assault were completed during FY10.

Investigations Completed in FY10	Reports Made Prior to FY10	Reports Made During FY10	Total FY10

Investigations Completed as of 30-Sep-10 (involving one or more subjects)	980	1,614	2,594
Investigations Still Pending as of 30-Sep-10	45	796	841
Table 2: Investigations Opened in FY10 and Prior Years That Were Completed in FY10.

The goals of a criminal investigation are to identify what crimes have been committed, who has been victimized, and who may be held accountable for the crime. The Department intends to hold offenders accountable when available evidence supports such action. The 1,614 criminal investigations opened and closed in FY10 involved 1,759 subjects.<sup>121</sup> 980 investigations from FY09 and prior years were closed in FY10. At the end of FY10, 1,464 subjects were awaiting disposition from prior years' investigations. Although many of these 3,223 subjects were Service members under the legal authority of the Department, 48 subjects were civilians and foreign nationals not subject to military law, 47 were Service members being prosecuted by a civilian or foreign authority, and 74 were not identified despite a thorough investigation. In addition, MCIOs determined that allegations against 101 of the subjects were unfounded.

In FY09, the Department implemented new disposition categories to better account for the outcomes of investigations and actions taken against offenders. Exhibit 7 shows the flow of sexual assault reports from initial allegation through final disposition. These categories assist the Department in identifying areas for additional research.

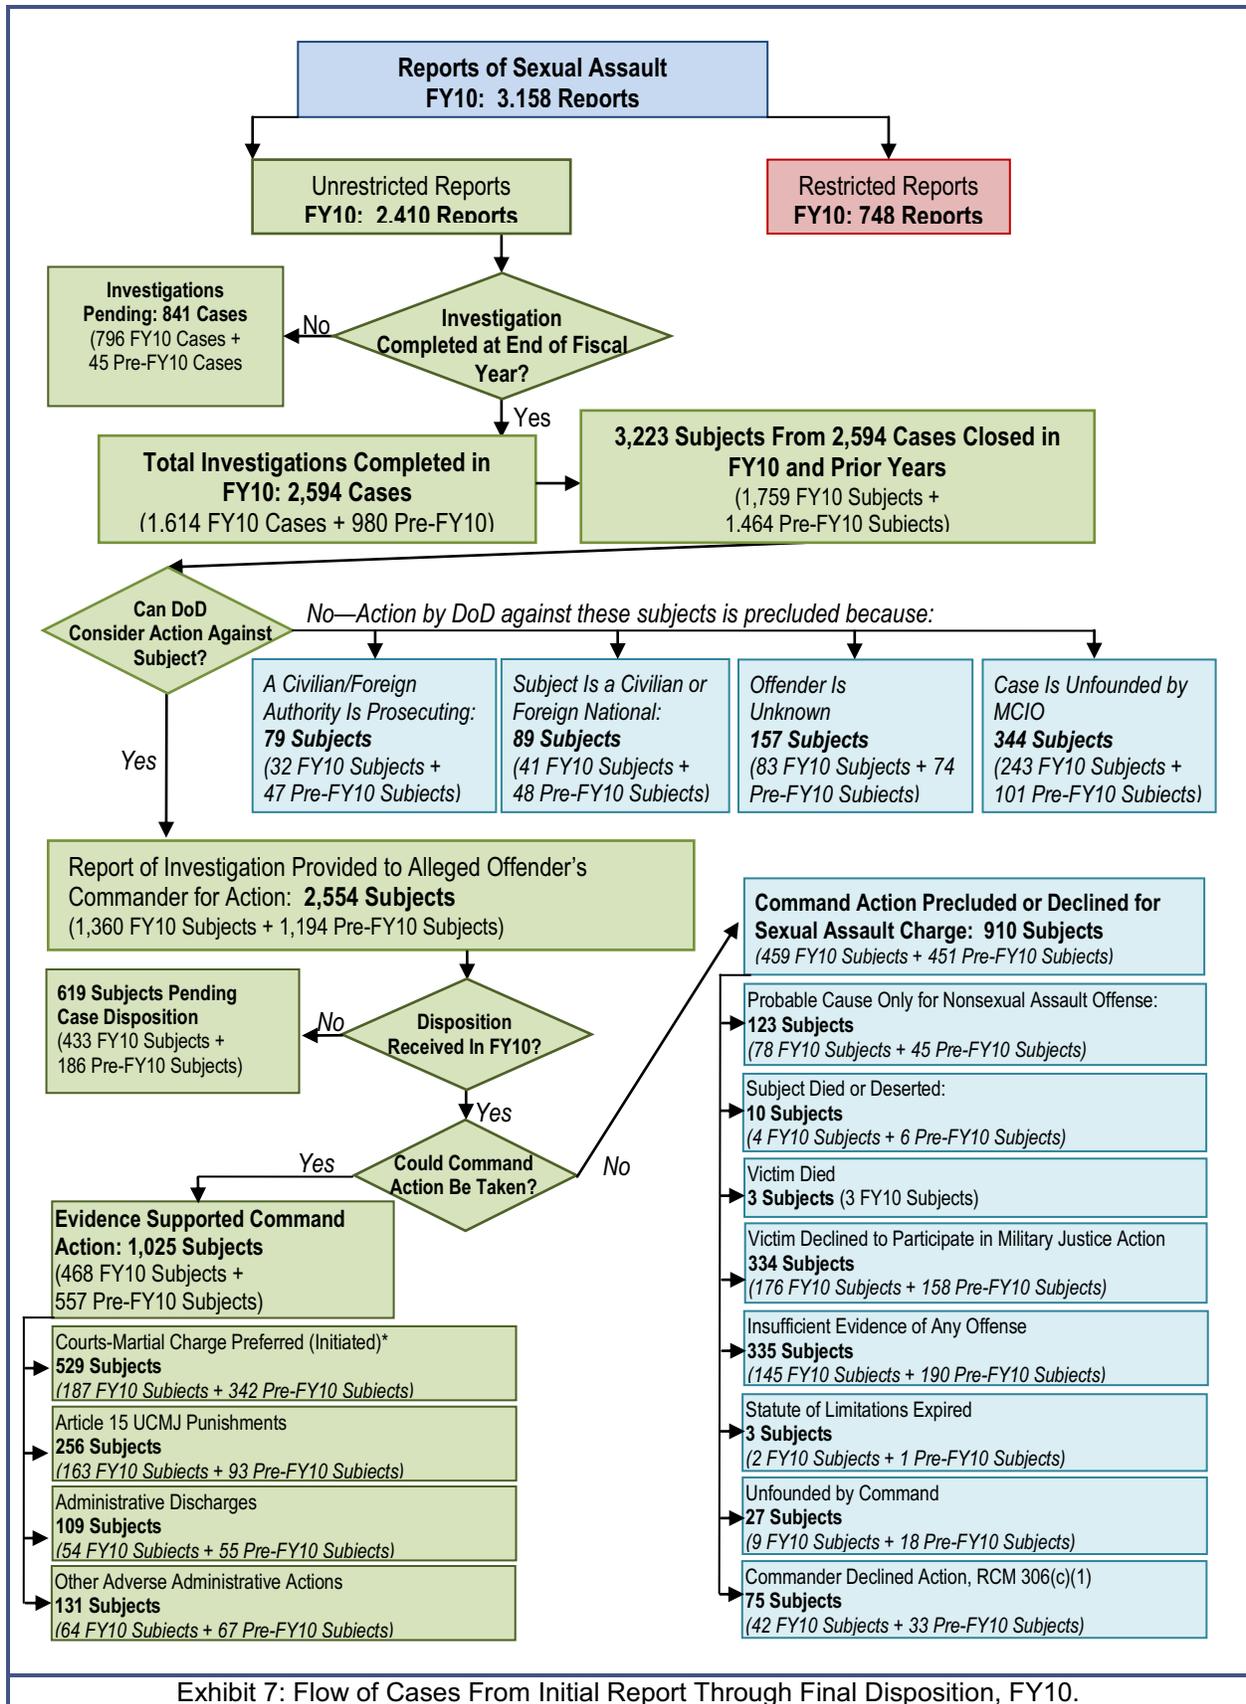

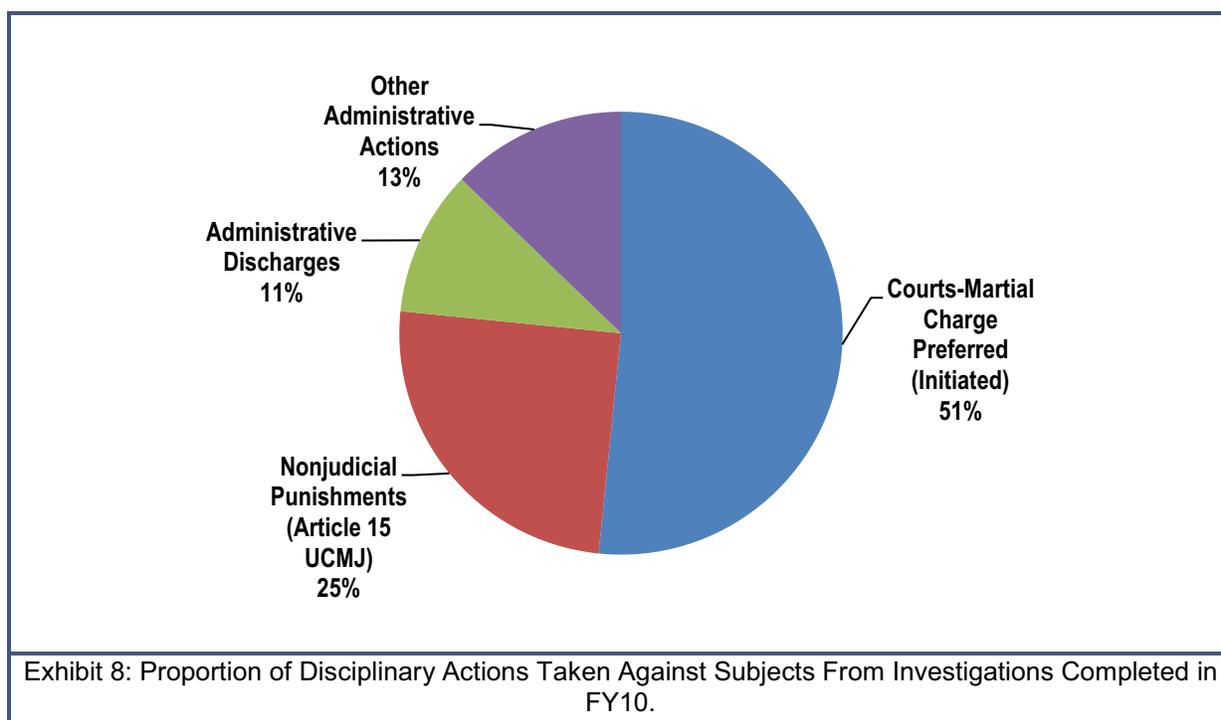

Exhibit 7: Flow of Cases From Initial Report Through Final Disposition, FY10.

Reports of investigation on 2,554 subjects were provided to military commanders for action in FY10. At the close of the reporting period, 619 subjects had yet to receive a final disposition. Action against these subjects will be reported in a future annual report.

For investigations completed in FY10, commanders had jurisdiction and sufficient evidence of a crime to support taking disciplinary action against 1,025 subjects. The actions taken are shown in Exhibit 8 and are as follows:

- 529 courts-martial charges preferred (initiated);
- 256 nonjudicial punishments (Article 15, UCMJ);
- 109 administrative discharges; and
- 131 other adverse administrative actions.

The Department's goal is to hold offenders accountable for crimes committed when the evidence supports such action. In FY08, the Secretary of Defense directed the Secretaries of the Military Departments to ensure investigators and attorneys handling sexual assault cases were sufficiently trained and resourced to investigate and try these crimes. In FY10, 51 percent of the case dispositions on completed investigations involved court-martial proceedings (refer to Exhibit 8), as compared to 30 percent in FY07. Exhibit 9 illustrates that the percentage of subjects entered into courts-martial proceedings has been steadily increasing over the past 4 years.

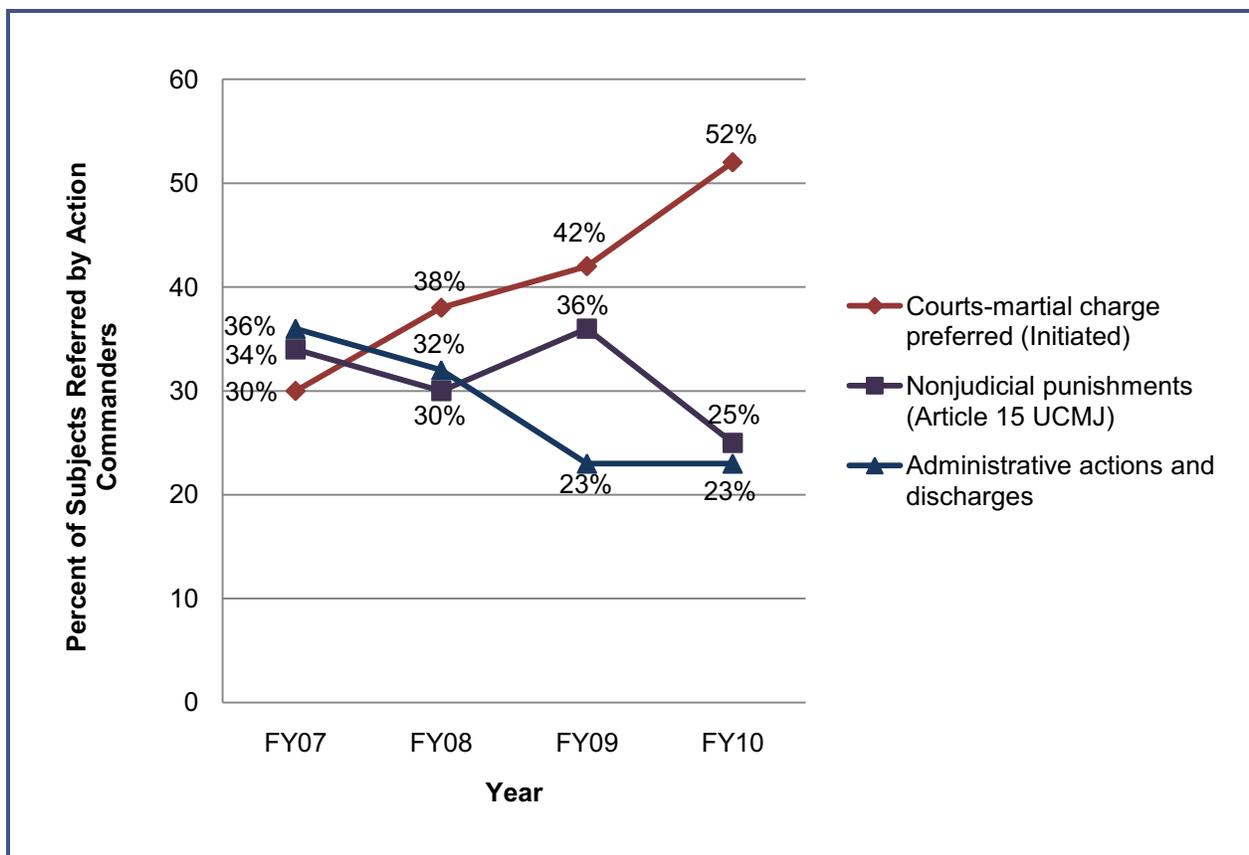

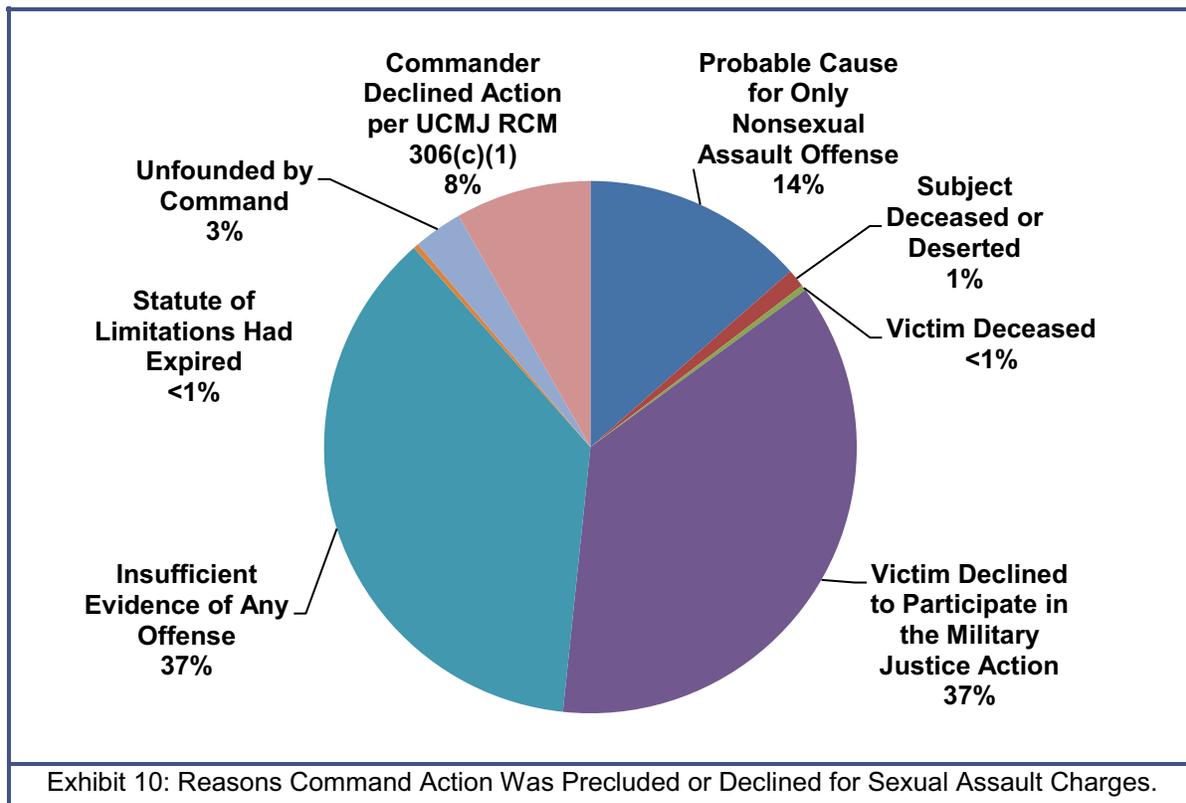

Exhibit 9: Proportion of Command Actions Taken Against Subjects of Completed Sexual Assault Investigations, FY07–FY10.

Note: In FY07 and FY08, the Department tracked only three categories of outcomes, as listed in the graph above. In FY09, the Department began tracking administrative discharges and adverse administrative actions separately. For comparison purposes across the four years, data from the four categories in FY09 and FY10 were collapsed into three categories. As a result, percentages listed for FY09 do not total to 100 due to rounding.

For 910 subjects whose cases were completed in FY10, command action for sexual assault charges was precluded or declined for the following reasons (see Exhibit 10 and Table 3):

- Investigation of the allegations against 123 subjects disclosed probable cause for only a nonsexual assault offense.
- 10 subjects died or deserted before action could be taken against them.
- For 3 subjects, the victim involved in their case died, which precluded military justice action against them.
- Victims declined to participate in military justice actions against 334 subjects.
- Investigation of the allegations against 335 subjects disclosed insufficient evidence of any offense.
- 3 subjects could not be prosecuted because the statute of limitations expired.
- Review of the investigations by command found that the allegations against 27 subjects were unfounded.

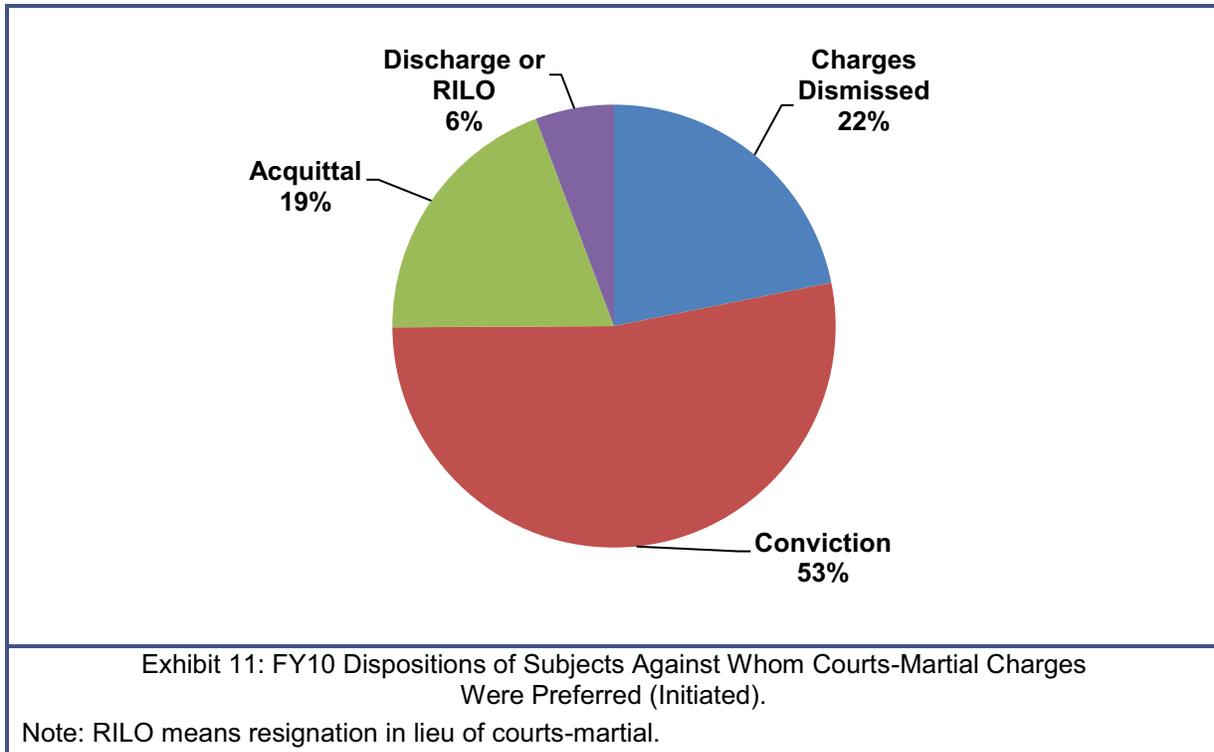

- Commanders of 75 subjects declined taking action in accordance with Rules for Courts-Martial, Section 306, Paragraph (c)(1).

Table 3: Dispositions of Subjects From Investigations Completed in FY10.

The Military Services provided additional information about the subjects who had courts-martial charges preferred against them. Exhibit 11 illustrates the proportionate breakdown of case dispositions at the end of the military justice process. Exhibit 12 shows the case dispositions and the sentences imposed by courts-martial during FY10.

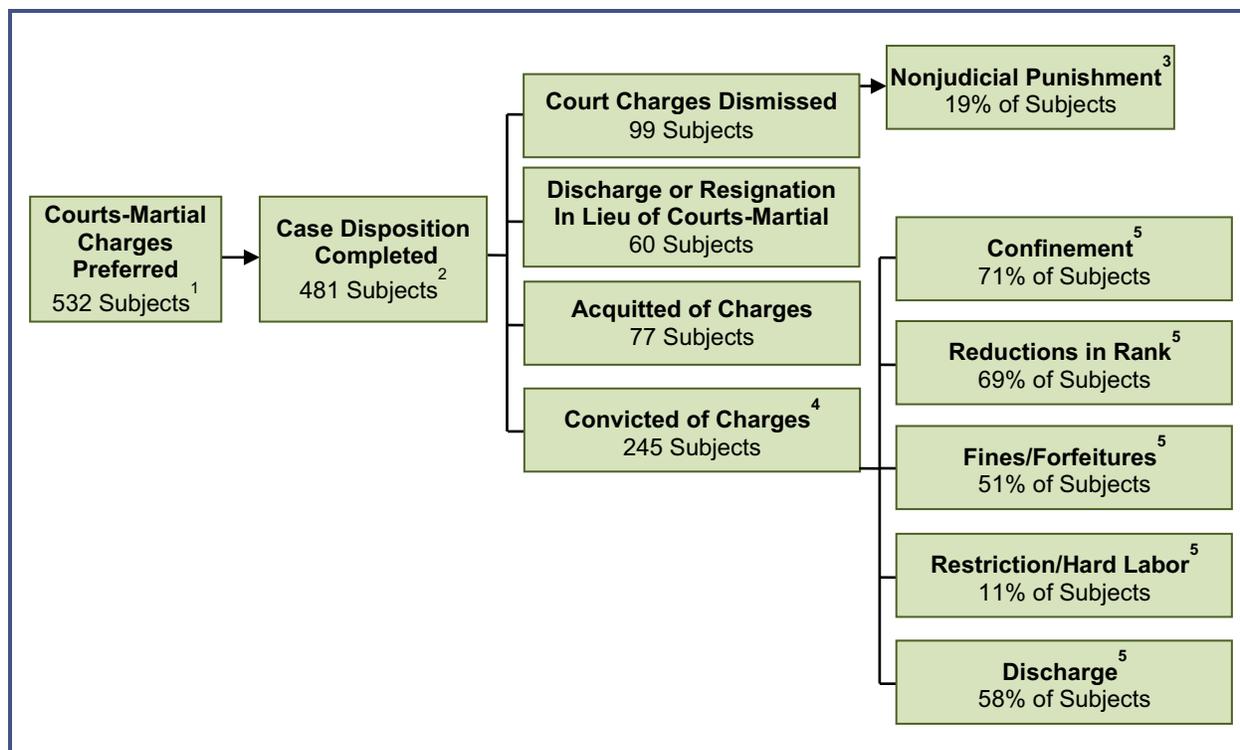

Exhibit 12: Dispositions of Subjects Against Whom Courts-Martial Charges Were Preferred, FY10.

Notes:

1. The Military Services reported that a total of the 532 subjects of sexual assault investigations disposed in FY10 had courts-martial charges preferred (initiated). This includes the 529 listed in Table 3 and 3 other subjects who, upon review of submitted information by the Department, were mistakenly left out of the total.
2. Of the 532 subjects who had courts-martial charges preferred against them, 47 subjects were still pending court action at the end of FY10, 3 subjects died before courts-martial proceedings could be completed, and 1 subject was found to be mentally unfit to stand trial.
3. Of the 99 subjects whose courts-martial charges were dismissed, 19 subjects were subsequently administered nonjudicial punishment.
4. Subjects were convicted of the charged sex crimes and/or other charges based on the evidence against them (e.g., Adultery, Making False Official Statements, Burglary, Indecent Exposure).
5. Conviction by courts-martial may result in a combination of punishments. Consequently, convicts could be administered one or more of the punishments listed. However, in most cases, convicts received four kinds of punishment: confinement, a reduction in rank, a fine/forfeiture, or a discharge. Discharges adjudged by courts-martial were either Bad Conduct Discharges or Dishonorable Discharges. Some convicts that were not adjudged a Bad Conduct or Dishonorable Discharge by a courts-martial were later administratively discharged.

Demographics of Unrestricted Reports

The following demographic information was gathered from the 1,614 investigations of sexual assault that were initiated and completed during FY10. These investigations involved 1,741 victims and 1,759 subjects. Of these investigations, 238 involved more than 1 victim, more than 1 subject, or multiple victims and subjects.

Victims

Exhibits 13, 14, and 15 show that the vast majority of victims tend to be female, under the age of 25, and from junior enlisted ranks, respectively.

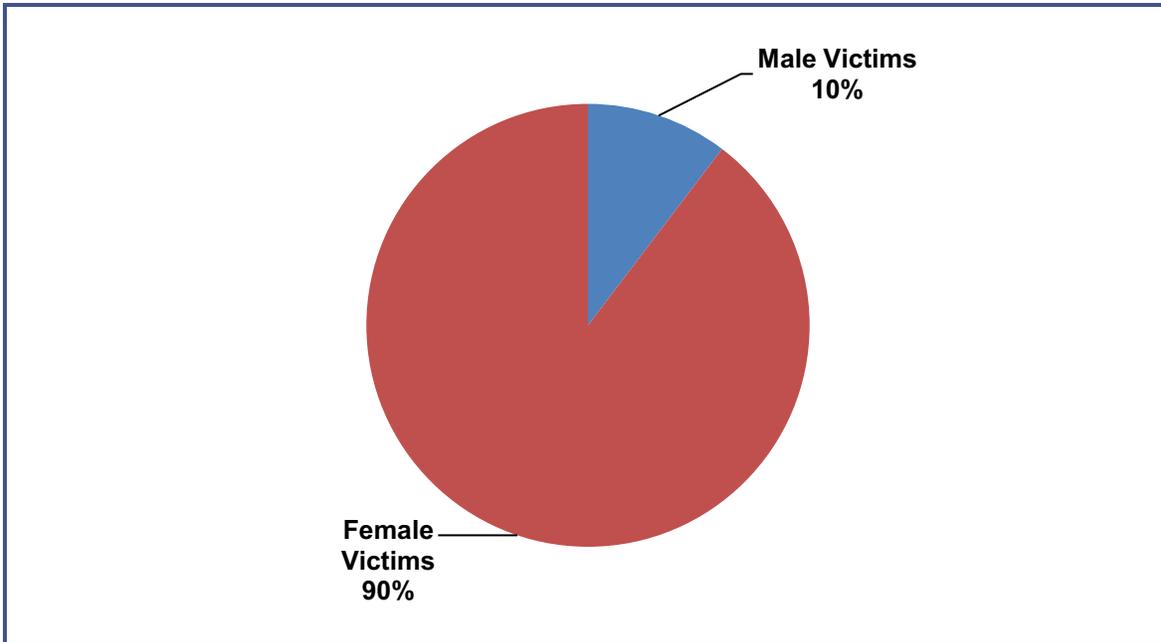

Exhibit 13: Gender of Victims in Completed Investigations of Unrestricted Reports, FY10.

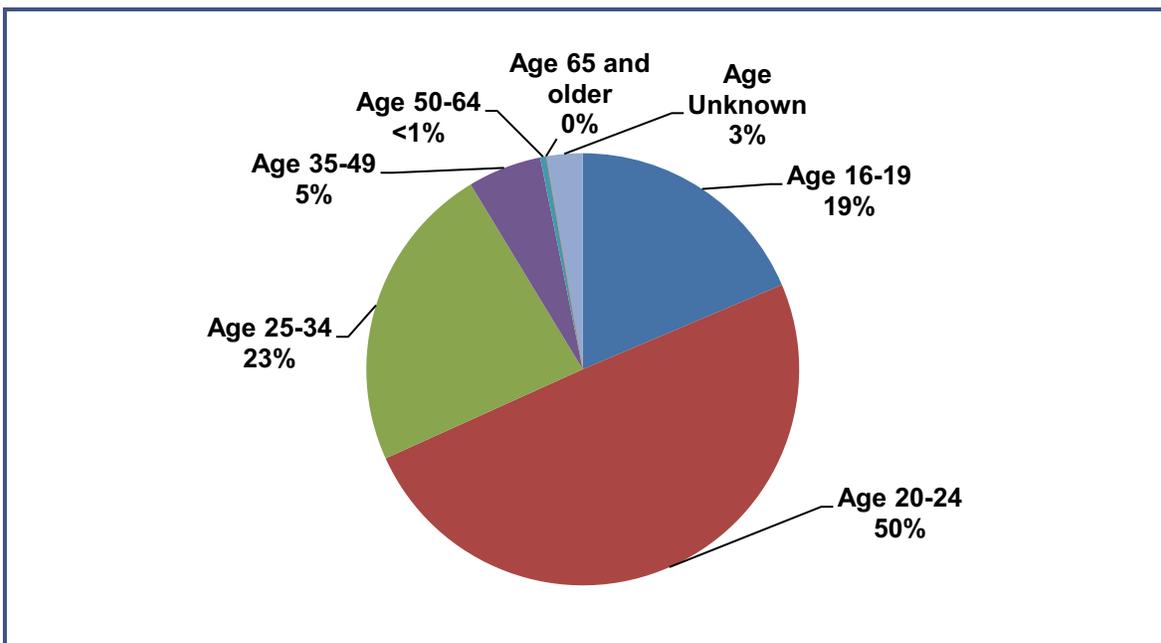

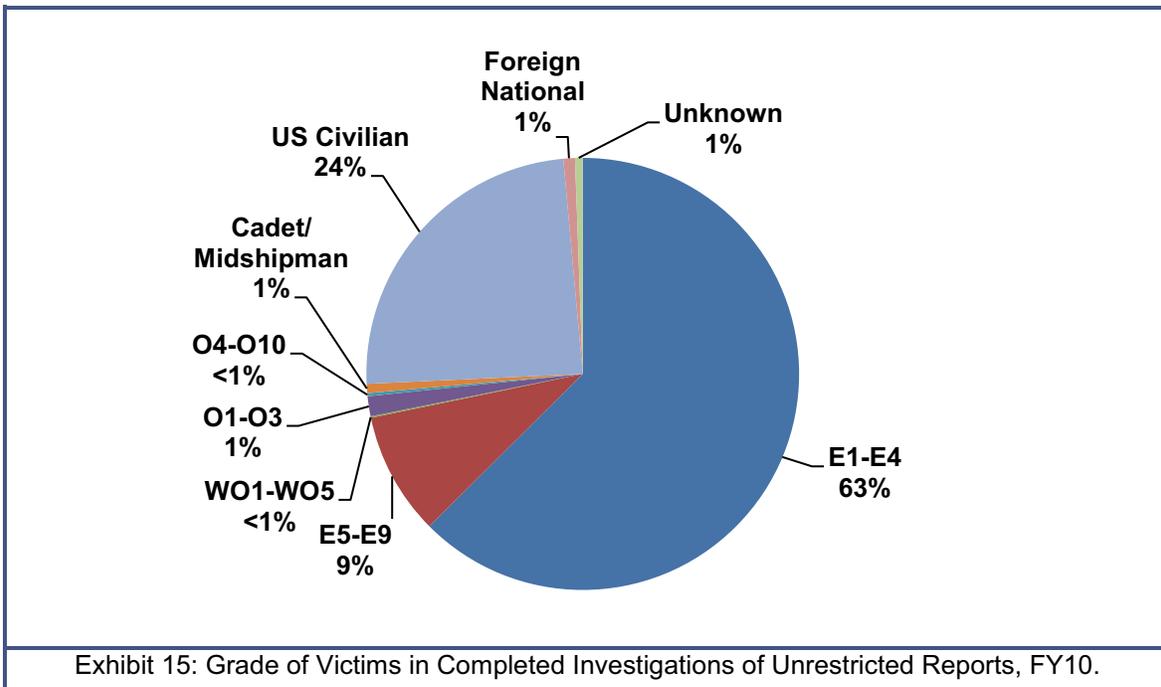

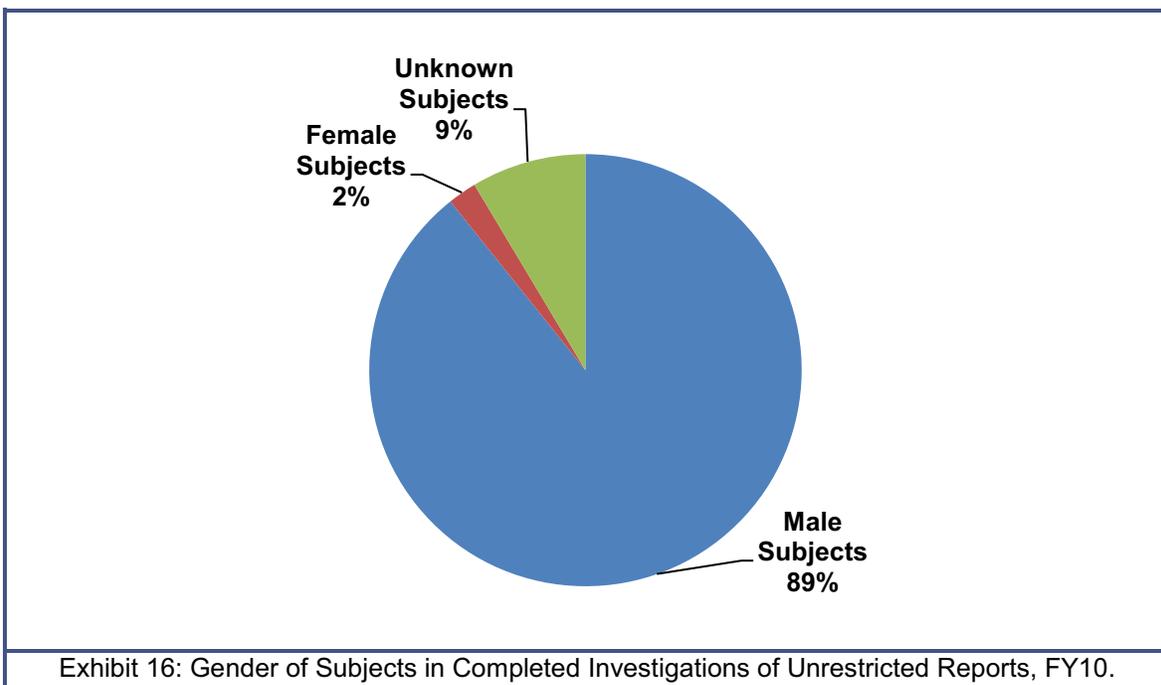

Exhibit 14: Age of Victims in Completed Investigations of Unrestricted Reports, FY10.

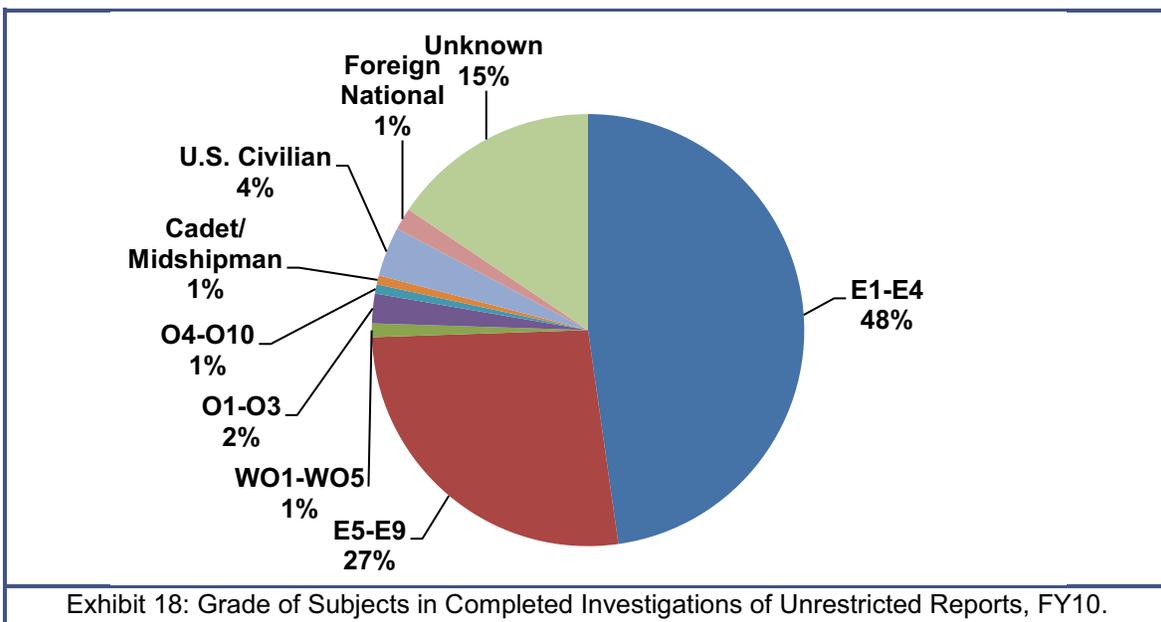

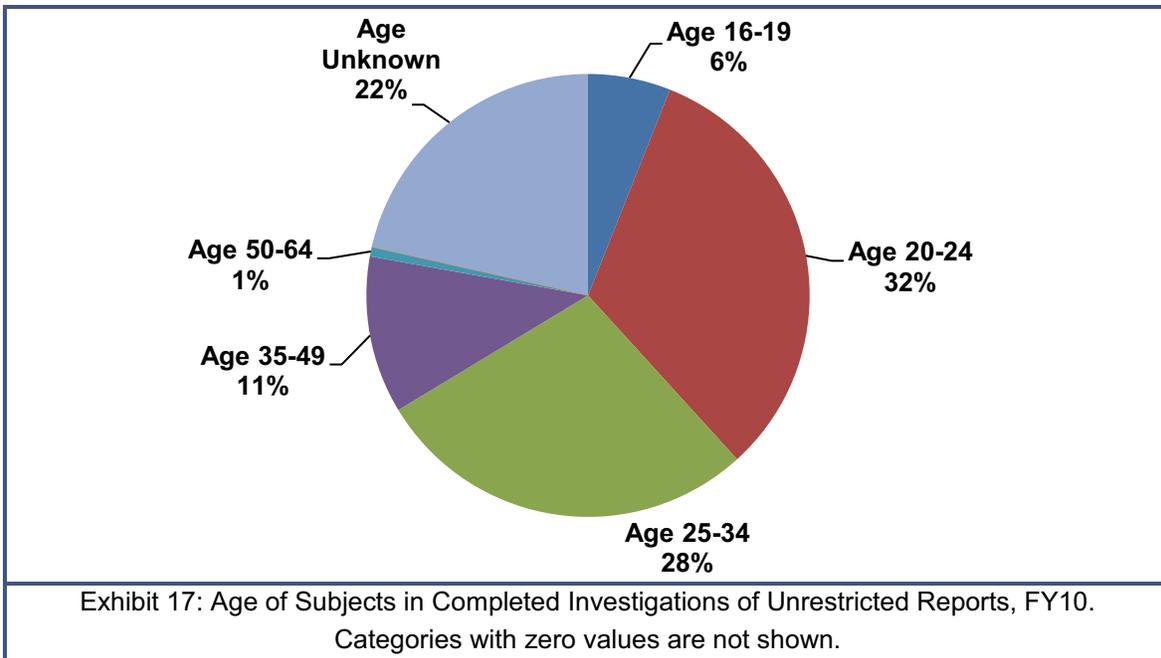

Note: The category “Age 16–19” is used because the relevant UCMJ sex crimes apply to victims aged 16 and older.

Subjects

Exhibits 16, 17, and 18 show that the vast majority of subjects tend to be male, under the age of 35, and from junior enlisted ranks, respectively.

FY10 RESTRICTED REPORTS OF SEXUAL ASSAULT

SARCs and SAPR VAs ordinarily collect information about Restricted Reports. Because Restricted Reports are confidential, covered communications as defined in Department policy, SAPR personnel only collect limited data about the victim and the allegation being made. As with Unrestricted Reports, Restricted Reports can be made for incidents that occurred in prior reporting periods and incidents that occurred prior to military service.

In FY10, there were 882 initial Restricted Reports of sexual assault.

- Of the 882 reports, 134 (or 15.2 percent) converted to Unrestricted Reports at the request of the victim.
- At the close of FY10, 748 reports remained Restricted.<sup>122</sup>

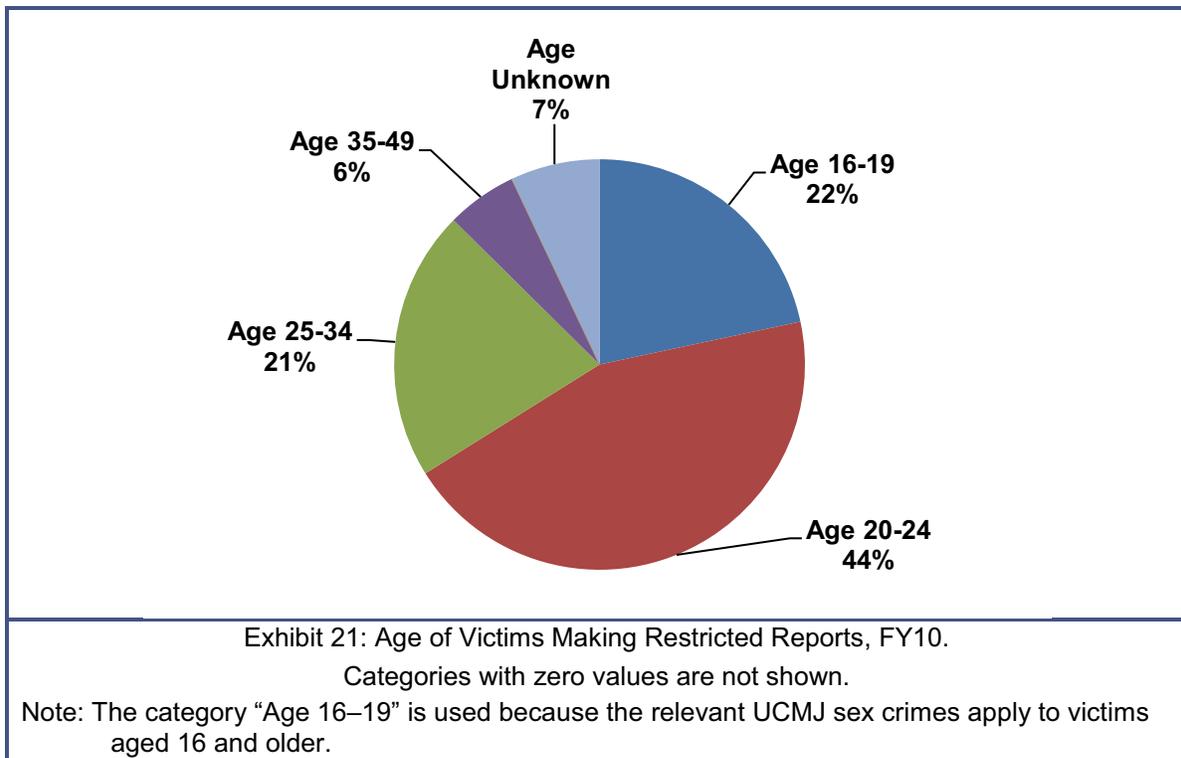

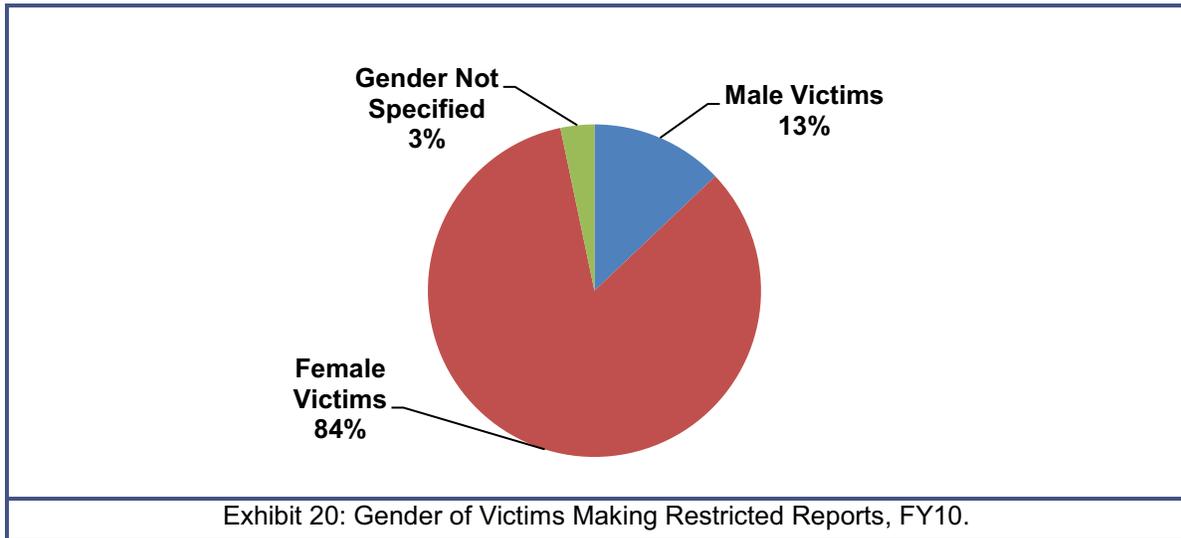

The percentage of victims desiring to convert their Restricted Reports to Unrestricted Reports has remained relatively stable at about 15 percent. Exhibit 19 shows the Restricted Reports and conversion rates for the past four FYs.

Demographics of Restricted Reports of Sexual Assault

The following information pertains to Service members who made a Restricted Report of sexual assault. Exhibits 20, 21, and 22 show that victims who made a Restricted Report are primarily female, under the age of 25, and in a junior enlisted rank, respectively.

FY10 REPORTS OF SEXUAL ASSAULT IN COMBAT AREAS OF INTEREST

For the purposes of this year's report, combat areas of interest (CAI) include Bahrain, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Syria, Yemen, Egypt, Djibouti, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, Iran, Pakistan, Afghanistan, and Kyrgyzstan. Arduous conditions in CAIs make sexual assault response and data collection very difficult. However, SARC, SAPR VAs, and other SAPR personnel are in place in all of these areas. SAPR personnel are diligent in getting requested services and treatment to victims. The data reported below is included in the total number of Unrestricted and Restricted Reports described in previous sections.

In FY10, there were 268 reports of sexual assault in CAIs. This number reflects a 4-percent decrease in overall reporting in CAIs from FY09. The 238 Unrestricted Reports in FY10 represent an increase of 6 percent over FY09. 30 reports remain Restricted. Exhibit 23 illustrates the history of Unrestricted and Restricted Reporting in CAIs since FY07. Exhibits 24 and 25 show reporting patterns in Iraq and Afghanistan.

- Of the 238 Unrestricted Reports, 128 (or 54 percent) were made in Iraq and 62 (or 26 percent) were made in Afghanistan. The remaining 48 were made in Kuwait (18), Qatar (8), Bahrain (7), United Arab Emirates (7), Djibouti (3), Egypt (3), Jordan (1), and Pakistan (1).
- There were 46 initial Restricted Reports, which reflects a 21-percent decrease over FY09. 16 reports (or 35 percent) were converted to Unrestricted Reports, leaving 30 reports as Restricted. 26 (or 57 percent) of the 46 initial Restricted Reports were made in Iraq, and 9 (or 20 percent) were made in Afghanistan. The remaining 11 Restricted Reports were made in Kuwait (3), Qatar (3), Djibouti (2), Bahrain (1), United Arab Emirates (1), and Kyrgyzstan (1).

Demographics of Unrestricted Reports in Combat Areas of Interest

Demographic information about the Unrestricted Reports made in CAIs was drawn from the investigations opened and closed during FY10. These 187 investigations involved 194 victims and 204 subjects. 15 investigations involved more than 1 victim, more than 1 subject, or multiple victims and subjects.

Victims

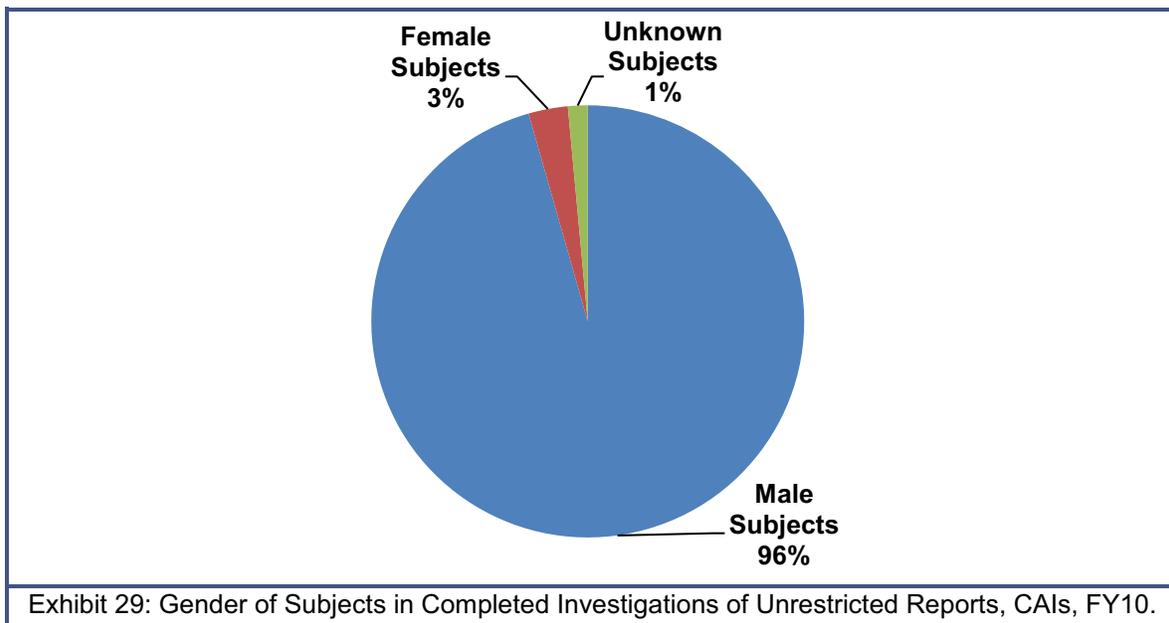

Exhibits 26, 27, and 28 show that victims in CAIs who made Unrestricted Reports are mostly female, under the age of 25, and in a junior enlisted rank, respectively.

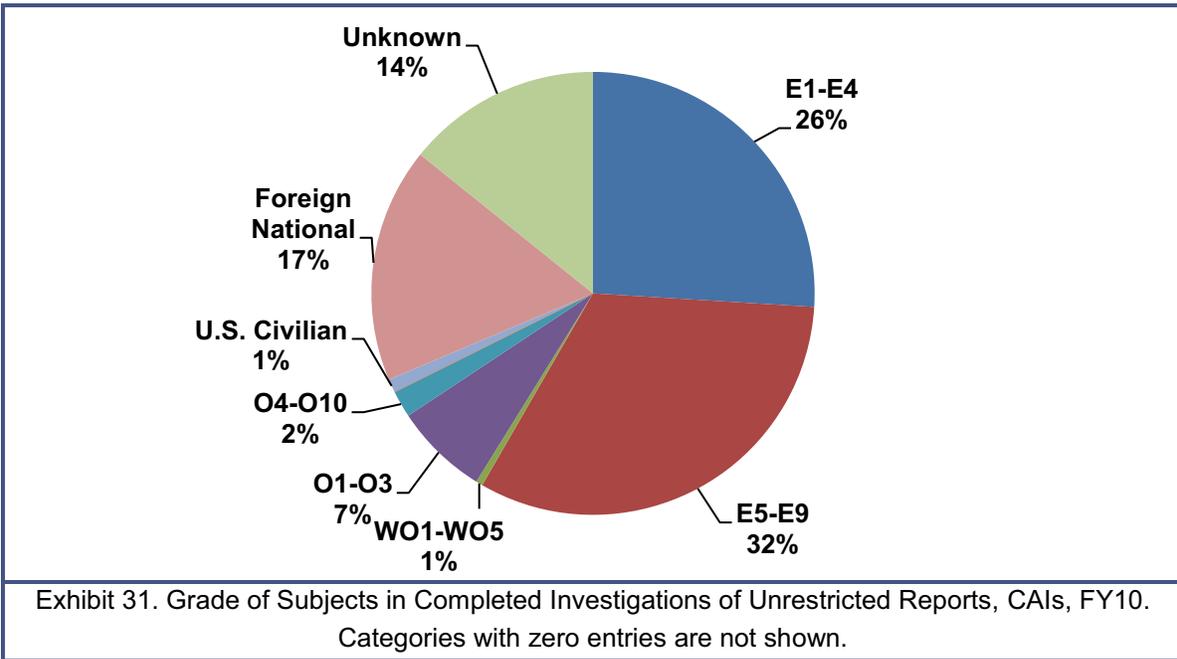

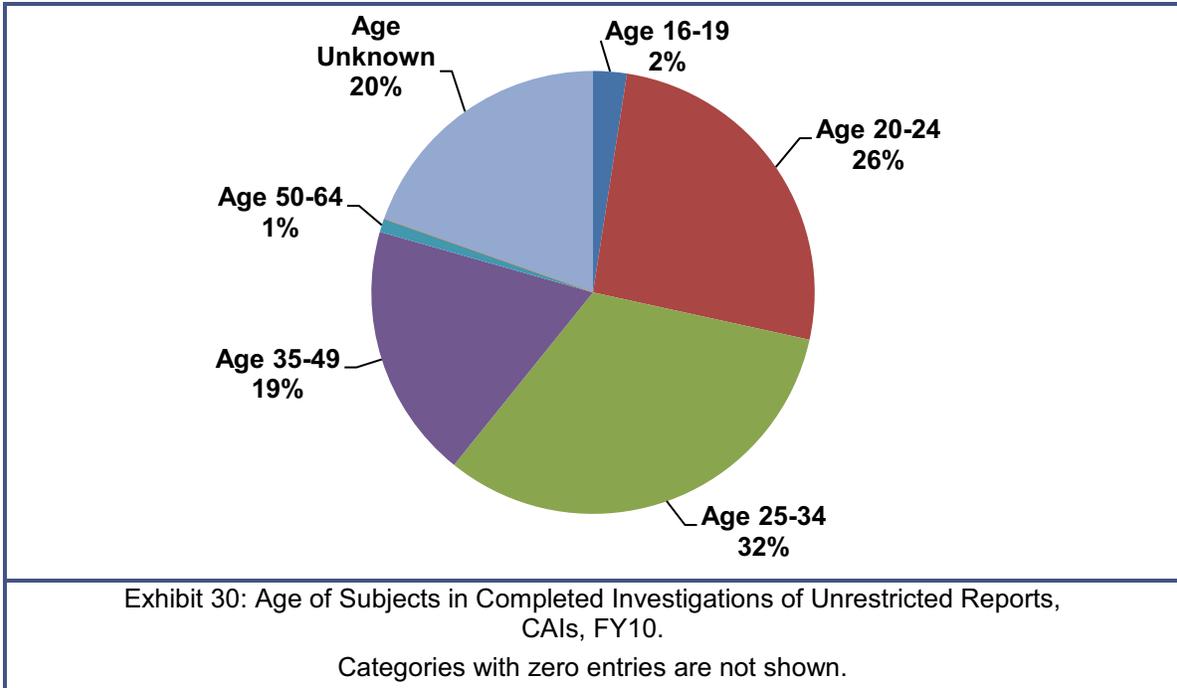

Subjects

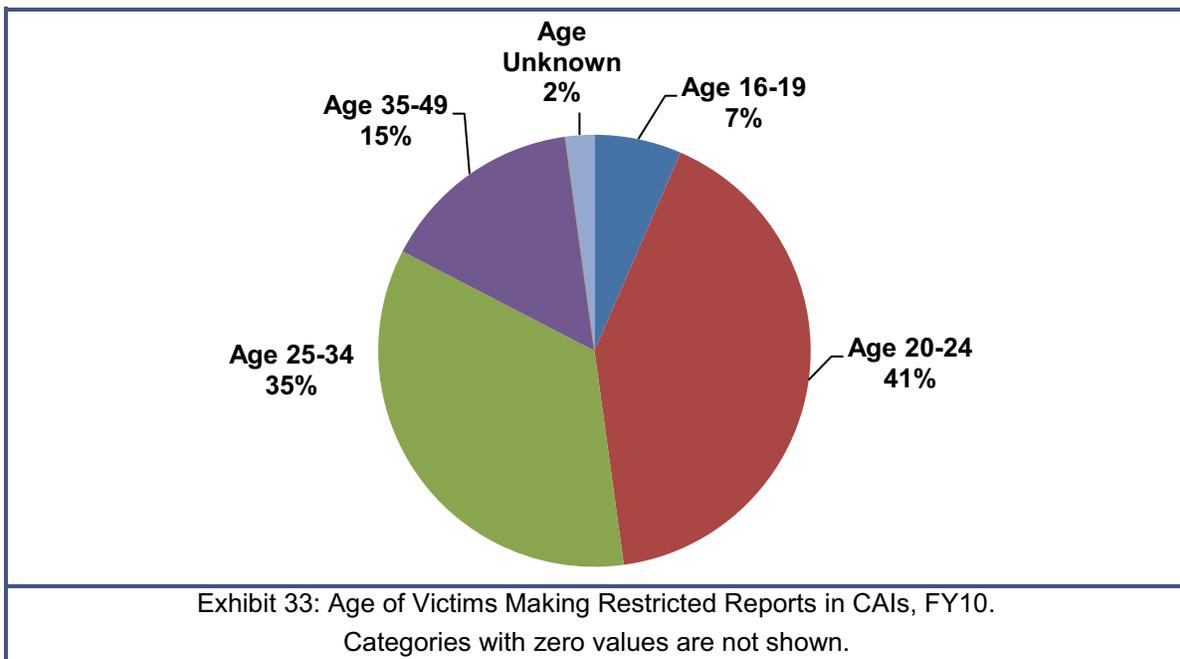

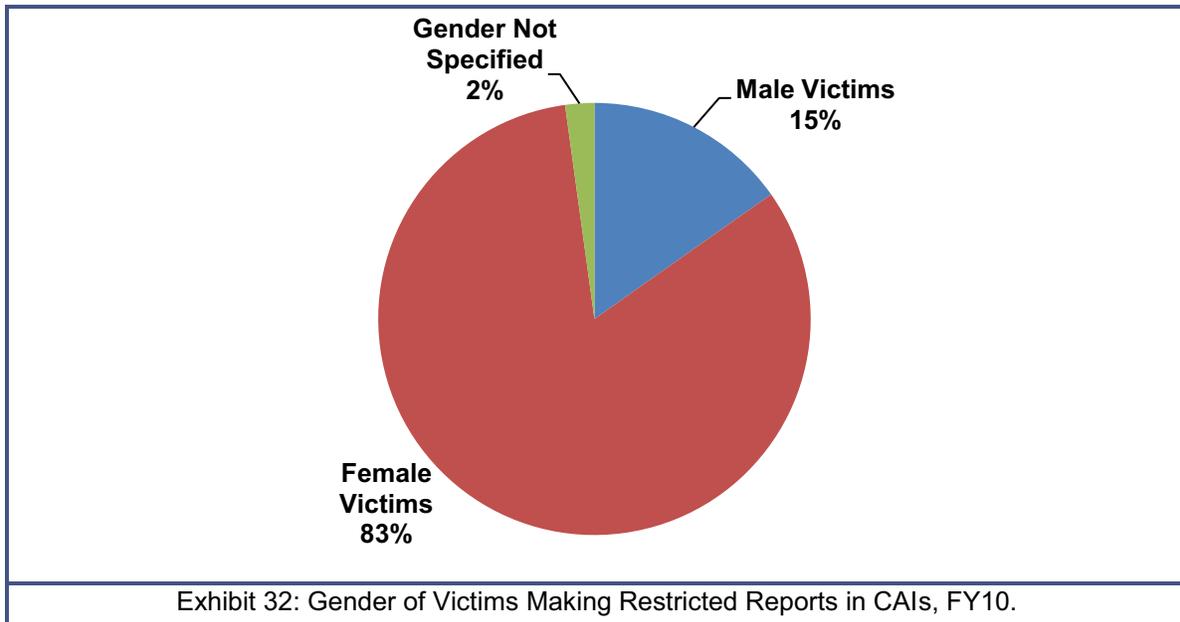

Exhibits 29, 30, and 31 show that the vast majority of subjects in Unrestricted Reports made in CAIs tend to be male, under the age of 35, and from an enlisted grade, respectively.

Demographics of Restricted Reports in Combat Areas of Interest

Exhibits 32, 33, and 34 show that the 46 victims initially making Restricted Reports of sexual assault in combat areas of interest were mostly female, under the age of 35, and from a junior enlisted rank, respectively.

FY10 SERVICE REFERRAL INFORMATION

SARCs and SAPR VAs are responsible for ensuring victims have access to medical treatment, counseling, and legal advice. Referrals for these services are made to both military and civilian sources. A referral for service can happen at any time while the victim is receiving assistance from a SARC or SAPR VA and may happen several times throughout the military justice process. This year, SARCs and SAPR VAs made an average of 1.4 service referrals to victims making Unrestricted Reports. For victims making Restricted Reports, SARCs and SAPR VAs provided an average of 1 service referral per case. The Military Services varied in the average number of referrals per victim:

- The USA provided an average of 0.3 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 0.5 referrals per victim making a Restricted Report.
- The USMC provided an average of 1.8 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 1.0 referrals per victim making a Restricted Report.
- The USN provided an average of 2.3 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 1.8 referrals per victim making a Restricted Report.
- The USAF provided an average of 4.2 referrals per victim making an Unrestricted Report and 1.3 referrals per victim making a Restricted Report.

INTEGRATED ANALYSIS OF SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE PROGRAM PROGRESS

Institutionalize Prevention Strategies in the Military Community: Assessment

The Department seeks to prevent sexual assaults through institutionalized efforts that influence the knowledge, skills, and behaviors of Service members to reduce sexual assaults in the DoD community.

OSD SAPRO worked with DMDC to create and incorporate several questions into the DMDC 2010 WGRA that would help assess the effectiveness of the Department's prevention efforts.<sup>123</sup> New questions in the 2010 survey specifically address the prevention of sexual assault and Service member involvement in sexual assault prevention programs.

The Incidence of Sexual Assault in the Department of Defense

The Department officially measures the incidence (or occurrence) of sexual assault for a given year using the WGRA. The ability to calculate annual incident rates of unwanted sexual contact is a distinguishing feature of the survey. Like the term "sexual assault," "unwanted sexual contact" refers to a range of activities the UCMJ prohibits, including uninvited and unwelcome completed or attempted sexual intercourse, sodomy (oral or anal sex), penetration by an object, and unwanted touching of genitalia and other sexually related areas of the body.

The 2006 survey found that 6.8 percent of Active Duty women and 1.8 percent of Active Duty men indicated experiencing at least one episode of unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the survey.<sup>124</sup> In 2010, the survey found that the annual incidence of sexual assault had decreased significantly: 4.4 percent of Active Duty women and 0.9 percent of Active Duty men indicated experiencing an episode of unwanted sexual contact in the year prior to the survey.<sup>125</sup> Using population estimates of each Military Service by gender provided by DMDC, OSD SAPRO is able estimate the number of sexual assaults that occur for the previous year using calculations based on the weighted survey counts. Based on these estimates, the Department believes approximately 14,880 fewer sexual assaults of Active Duty members occurred in 2010 than in 2006. Exhibit 35 illustrates the estimated change in sexual assault incidents.

The ultimate goal of any sexual assault prevention program is to reduce the number of sexual assaults occurring in a target population. However, most researchers who study prevention acknowledge that measuring progress in this way is extremely challenging, largely because the people whom this crime affects do not live in a controlled laboratory environment. Given all of the competing influences and messages in society, it is difficult to say with any confidence that one particular intervention—or series of interventions—is responsible for reducing sexual assault. With that in mind, the Department is cautious about attributing any change in the sexual assault incidence rate to its prevention programs alone. Many factors likely affected the rate of sexual assault perpetration within the DoD since 2006. Unfortunately, identifying each factor and its contribution to the rate of sexual assault is currently beyond scientific capability.

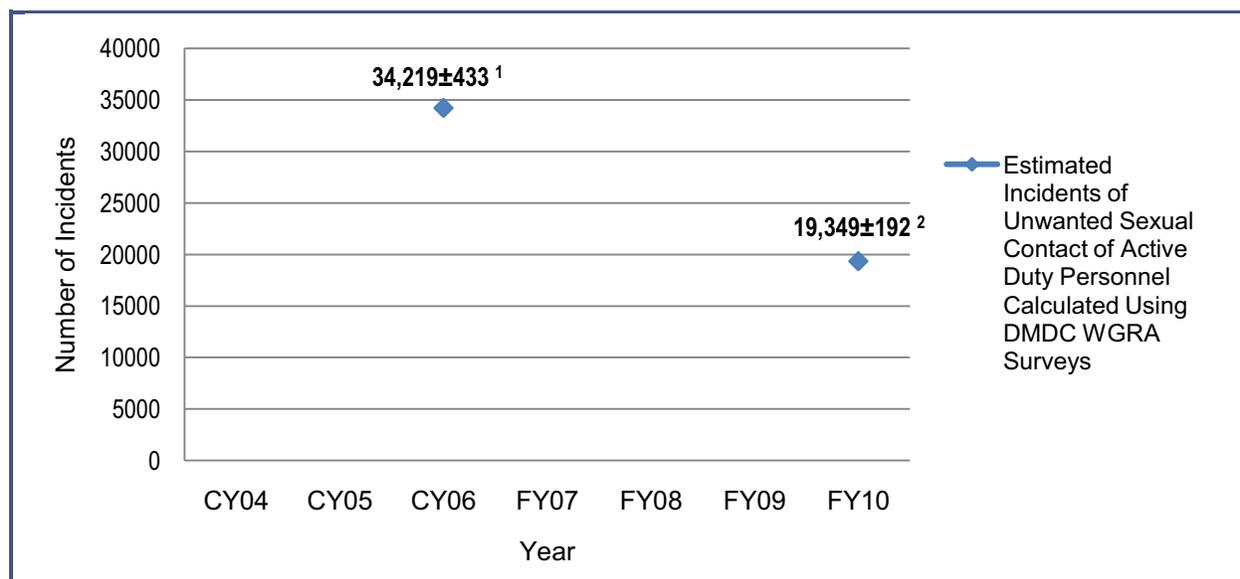

Exhibit 35: The Estimated Incidents of Unwanted Sexual Contact Calculated Using the DMDC Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members in 2006 and 2010.<sup>126,127</sup>

Notes:

1. This estimate is computed using weighted population estimates of the 6.8 percent of DoD women and 1.8 percent of DoD men who indicated they experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the DMDC 2006 WGRA.
2. This estimate is computed using weighted population estimates of the 4.4 percent of DoD women and 0.9 percent of DoD men who indicated they experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the DMDC 2010 WGRA.
3. The difference between the point estimates in 2006 and 2010 is 14,880. However, because of the confidence intervals of each estimate, the change in incidents may have been as large as 15,495 and as small as 14,245. Weighted population estimates of each of the Services are found in Table 1 of the Tabulation Volume of each year's survey.

In addition, the overall decrease in sexual assault within the Department may not hold true for all forms of sexual assault. In other words, the occurrence of some crimes may not have decreased as much as other crimes. For example, it is possible that, hypothetically, the crime of rape may not have decreased over the past 4 years as much as the crime of wrongful sexual contact. Data from the WGRA suggests that this might have been the case, but the differences between the two surveys in the proportions of criminal behaviors experienced by victims were not statistically significant.<sup>128</sup>

The Department is currently developing interim measures to assess the incidence of sexual assault more frequently than every 4 years. OSD SAPRO and DMDC are evaluating a range of questions for use in existing and proposed surveys to maximize consistency and minimize variance between measurements.

Service Members' Impressions of DoD Prevention Programs

In 2010, 93 percent of Active Duty men and women indicated on the WGRA that they received training during the 12 months preceding the survey on topics related to sexual assault. Of those who received training, 85 percent of women and 88 percent of men indicated their training was at least moderately or very effective in actually reducing or preventing sexual assault.<sup>129</sup> 87 percent of women and 89 percent of men indicated their training taught how to intervene when they witness a situation involving a fellow Service member. In addition, the vast majority of women and men who received sexual assault training indicated their training provided a good understanding of what actions were considered sexual assault (both 92 percent), taught how consumption of alcohol might increase the likelihood of sexual assault (both 92 percent), and taught how to avoid situations that might increase the risk of sexual assault (both 91 percent).<sup>130</sup>

Service Members and Bystander Intervention

Having the information about how to prevent sexual assault does not necessarily mean an individual knows how to apply the information or is motivated to do so. As a result, the survey asked respondents a variety of questions to identify their intentions about prevention. The survey called on Service members to answer a general question to gauge whether they understand it is their duty to intervene in a social setting when a fellow Service member may receive or engage in harmful behavior. Although the survey question did not specify the type of harm and did not address gender, the majority of women and men (both 93 percent) indicated it was their duty to stop fellow Service members from doing something potentially harmful to themselves or others. As noted earlier in this report, a similar proportion of Service members endorsed this item on the DMDC 2010 Status of Forces Survey of Active Duty Members.

The survey also asked Service members what they would do if they saw a female Service member, whom they did not know very well, getting drunk at a party and were told that a guy from their work group was going to lead her off to have sex. Members were provided a list of responses to the scenario that involved intervening (e.g., find someone who knows the woman and can help her, talk to the woman/try to get her out of the situation, stop the guy from leaving with the woman) or not intervening (e.g., do

nothing or leave to avoid any kind of trouble). Members who indicated they would either do nothing or leave to avoid any kind of trouble were asked why they would not intervene. Respondents could indicate they did not see the situation as a problem, it was none of their business, they could be picked on or made fun of, they would not want to become the focus of the guy's attention, nothing they could do or say would make a difference, or another reason.<sup>131</sup>

The majority of women (93 percent) indicated that they would intervene in the situation. 41 percent of women indicated they would talk to the woman/try to get her out of the situation, 30 percent would stop the guy from leaving, and 22 percent would find someone who knows the woman and could help her. Very few women indicated they would either leave or do nothing (less than 1 percent and 1 percent, respectively). 5 percent indicated they would do something else. Although the majority of men (93 percent) indicated they would step in to stop a fellow Service member from harm in the previous question, when asked specifically about a party situation where a fellow member could be the victim of a sexual assault, the percentage of men who would actively intervene dropped to 83 percent. Specifically, 39 percent of men indicated they would stop the guy from leaving, 30 percent would find someone who knows the woman and could help her, and 14 percent would talk to the woman/try to get her out of the situation. Few men indicated they would either leave or do nothing (1 percent and 5 percent, respectively). 11 percent indicated they would do something else.

Of the 2 percent of women and 6 percent of men who indicated they would either do nothing or leave the party to avoid any kind of trouble, most indicated they would not intervene because it was none of their business or indicated the situation was not a problem.

The Impact of Efforts to Institutionalize Prevention Strategies in the Military Community

Since 2007, the Department has invested considerable resources in the prevention of sexual assault. No other institution the size and scope of the Department has implemented such a comprehensive, wide-reaching program. Few other organizations in the world have the U.S. Armed Forces' ability to strategically develop evidence-based curricula, train millions of people, invest resources, and measure outcomes. Every 4 years, the Department officially measures the incidence (or occurrence) of sexual assault in the military using the DMDC WGRA of Active Duty members. In 2006, the survey found that 6.8 percent of women and 1.8 percent of men experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the survey.<sup>132</sup> In 2010, the survey found that 4.4 percent of women and 0.9 percent of men experienced unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the survey.

The survey is designed so that its results accurately represent the Active Duty force. This design allows the Department to roughly estimate the number of sexual assaults that occur in the years for which data is available. This most recent survey indicates that there were nearly 15,000 fewer incidents of sexual assault in 2010 than there were in 2006.<sup>133</sup> A change this size in the sexual assault incidence rate is welcome news, but it is quite surprising. Consequently, the Department will be looking to measure sexual assault incidence with other, more frequent surveys to more closely monitor how the rate changes over time. However, other supporting findings in the WGRA suggest the decrease in sexual assaults is not a mistake. In 2010, 93 percent of the Active Duty force received SAPR training in the prior year, and nearly all who received training indicated that it taught them how to intervene when confronted with a situation where someone was at risk for sexual assault. In addition, most all Service members believed that preventing harm to others was their duty and, when presented with a hypothetical situation, could identify how they would intervene to prevent someone from being sexually assaulted. Consequently, the Department believes its prevention programs are making a difference and contributed, at least in part, to the reduction in sexual assaults against Service members in 2010.

Increase Climate of Victim Confidence Associated With Reporting: Assessment

The Department seeks to increase victims' confidence in reporting sexual assault by publicizing its two reporting options, identifying and addressing the challenges associated with reporting, and reducing the stigma and other barriers that deter reporting.

Among the performance objectives outlined by the USD(P&R) in the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness Strategic Plan for Fiscal Years 2010–12 is the objective of ensuring “an environment where victims of sexual assault feel free to report and know how to report the assault...”<sup>134</sup> To achieve this objective, the Strategic Plan calls for surveying Active Duty Service members. In FY10, OSD SAPRO worked with DMDC to develop survey questions that address reporting. These questions were designed to be inserted in existing surveys of Active Duty members.

Training on Reporting Options

In the DMDC 2010 WGRA, the majority of Active Duty women and men (both 93 percent) indicated they received training during the 12 months preceding the survey on topics related to sexual assault. The percentages of women and men who indicated they received training were significantly higher in 2010 (93 percent) than in 2006 (89 percent).<sup>135</sup> The vast majority of men and women indicated the training they received explained the reporting options available if sexual assault occurs (both 91 percent), taught how to obtain medical care following a sexual assault (both 89 percent), identified POCs for reporting sexual assault (both 90 percent), explained the resources available to victims (women: 90 percent; men: 91 percent), and explained the role of the chain of command in handling sexual assaults (women: 88 percent; men: 90 percent).<sup>136</sup>

<sup>133</sup> The 2006 estimate (34,219±433) used weighted population counts of the 6.8 percent of DoD women and 1.8 percent of DoD men who indicated they experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the 2006 WGRA. The 2010 estimate (19,349±192) used weighted population counts of the 4.4 percent of DoD women and 0.9 percent of DoD men who indicated they experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact in the 12 months prior to the 2010 WGRA. The rough difference between these two numbers is about 14,880. However, because of the confidence intervals of each estimate, the change in incidents may have been as large as 15,495 and as small as 14,245. Weighted population estimates of each of the Services are found in the Tabulation Volume of each year's survey.

<sup>134</sup> DoD. (2009). Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness Strategic Plan for Fiscal Years 2010–12. Performance objective 2.4.4.

Most women and men were positive in their assessment of the effectiveness of their training. 91 percent of women and 92 percent of men indicated their training was moderately or very effective in explaining the difference between Restricted and Unrestricted Reporting.

Based on this data, the Department concludes that most Active Duty members receive effective training on sexual assault reporting and the options available to do so.

Knowledge of Reporting Options

For 2010, a new survey question relates to Restricted Reporting knowledge. With certain exceptions, victims have the choice of Unrestricted or Restricted Reporting.<sup>137</sup> To better understand Service members' current level of knowledge of this option, the Department fielded a survey question to a representative sample as part of the DMDC 2010 Status of Forces Survey of Active Duty Members.<sup>138</sup> 66 percent of Service member respondents knew that they could decide whether their sexual assault report would go to their commander, depending on which reporting option they chose to elect. DMDC included a similar question in the 2010 WGRA, which found comparable results: over two-thirds of women and men (67 percent and 65 percent, respectively) were aware that if they told a SARC or SAPR VA they were sexually assaulted, the SARC and SAPR VA are not always required to provide their name to their commander.<sup>139</sup>

The DMDC 2010 WGRA also found that three-fourths of women and men (76 percent and 74 percent for both types of reports, respectively) indicated they were satisfied with the availability of information on how to file a Restricted or Unrestricted Report of sexual assault. Few women and men (both 4 percent and 3 percent for both types of reports, respectively) were dissatisfied with the availability of information.<sup>140</sup> As previously noted in this section, of the respondents who experienced an incident of unwanted sexual contact, relatively few Active Duty women (15 percent) and Active Duty men (8 percent) endorsed lack of knowledge about how to report as a reason for not reporting.

<sup>137</sup> When there is an immediate safety threat, victims of sexual assault may only file an Unrestricted Report so that law enforcement and command become involved to protect the victim from the subject.

Thus, within the 5 years the SAPR Program has been in existence, most Service members have gained the understanding that they have an option in sexual assault reporting. The Department will continue to track this kind of program knowledge to better target education and training resources.

Freedom to Report

A key component in building a climate of confidence associated with reporting is that Service members feel free to report without reprisal. In the DMDC 2010 WGRA, 65 percent of women and 73 percent of men indicated, to a large extent, that members of their work group would feel free to report sexual assault without fear of reprisals. For women, this perception appears to be growing, as rates of women who endorsed this item increased significantly in 2010 (65 percent) from 2006 (59 percent). However, the same cannot be said for men. Men endorsed this item at a slightly lower rate in 2010 (73 percent) than they did in 2006 (75 percent).

Other factors that may affect one's sense of freedom to report is a perception that privacy, safety, and respect remain intact following a sexual assault report. The majority of women and men indicated that if they were sexually assaulted, they could trust the military to protect their privacy (65 percent of women and 74 percent of men), ensure their safety following the incident (73 percent of women and 80 percent of men), and treat them with dignity and respect (73 percent of women and 80 percent of men). Both women and men were more positive in their assessment of the SAPR Program's ability to keep them safe and treat them with respect than they were in the Program's ability to protect their privacy.

Although the perceptions that are likely to contribute to a member's sense of freedom to report are largely favorable, additional work must be done in this area. Given that over half of women (54 percent) and 27 percent of men who experienced unwanted sexual contact and did not report the situation cite fear of retaliation or reprisals from the perpetrator or his or her friends as a reason for not reporting, it appears victimization may change one's perceptions about the freedom to report, at least for some women and men. Enhanced training about safety and privacy precautions, accompanied by oversight review of systems designed to protect Service members, may encourage more victims to report the crime.

Reporting Behavior

Given that most Service members are trained in reporting, know their reporting options, and feel free to make a report, the next area of assessment is to examine how many Service member victims of sexual assault actually report the crime. In civilian society, sexual assault is an underreported crime.<sup>141</sup> Essentially, this means that very few of the sexual assaults that occur in a population, usually estimated by an anonymous survey, are ever reported by victims to an authority. In U.S. society, estimates indicate that only 19 percent of rapes, the most serious form of sexual assaults, are reported to police.<sup>142</sup> In younger samples, such as college women, about 12 percent of rapes are reported.<sup>143</sup> This same pattern of underreporting holds true in military society. In 2010, of the 4.4 percent of women and 0.9 percent of men who indicated they experienced unwanted sexual contact, 29 percent of women and 16 percent of men reported the incident to an authority, military, civilian, or both.

As measured by the DMDC 2010 WGRA, there is still marked underreporting of unwanted sexual contact by Service members. However, Unrestricted and Restricted Reports of sexual assault to military authorities (law enforcement and SARCs) have increased substantially since the initiation of the SAPR Program. The reports of sexual assault made to the Department annually show an overall trend for increased reporting by Service member victims since CY04. As illustrated by Exhibit 36, the numbers of Service member victims coming forward in reports of sexual assault to military authorities in FY10 are 105 percent of what they were in CY04. About one-third of the increase in reports each year is a result of the addition of Restricted Reporting in 2005.

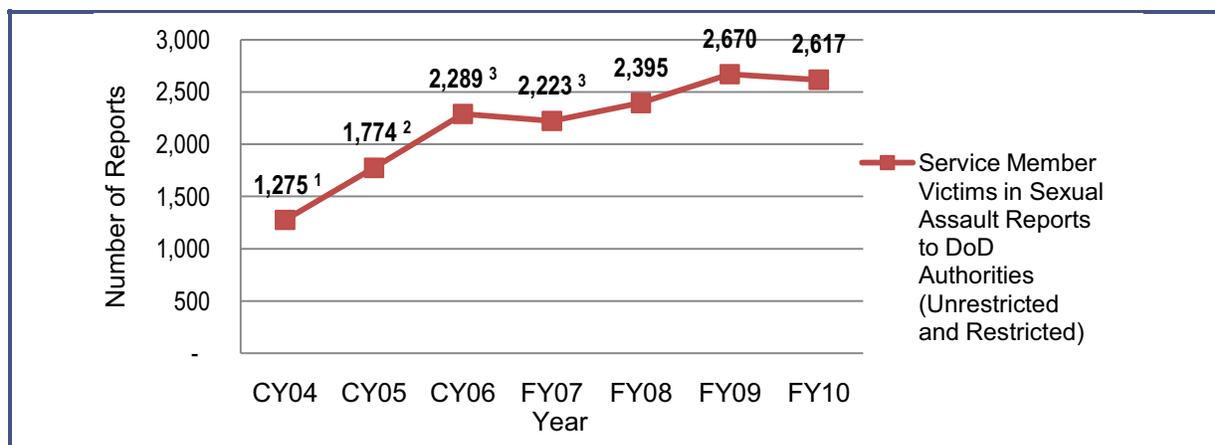

Exhibit 36: Service Member Victims in Sexual Assault Reports to DoD, Including Both Unrestricted and Restricted Reports, CY04–FY10.

Notes:

1. CY04 was prior to the implementation of Restricted Reporting. The 1,275 reports for the year are Unrestricted Reports by Service victims only.
2. The 1,774 reports of sexual assault in CY05 contain both Unrestricted and Restricted Reports by Service member victims; however, Restricted Reporting was initiated in June. Therefore CY05 has only half a year of Restricted Reports.
3. CY06 and FY07 share one quarter's worth of data (October through December 2006) because of the change from CY to FY reporting. For reporting analysis purposes, both CY06 and FY07 contain 12 months' worth of sexual assault reports.

Not only has the number of reports to military authorities increased; in FY10, the Department had visibility over a greater proportion of sexual assaults against military Service victims as well. As Exhibit 37 shows, the 2,289 reports of sexual assault to DoD authorities in CY06 account for approximately 6.7 percent of the 34,000 incidents of unwanted sexual contact estimated to have occurred that year (as calculated using data from the DMDC 2006 WGRA). The 2,617 reports of sexual assault to DoD authorities in FY10, account for approximately 13.5 percent of the 19,000 of incidents of unwanted sexual contact estimated to have occurred that year (as calculated using data from the DMDC 2010 WGRA). In sum, the proportion of sexual assaults reported to the Department grew by nearly 7 percent from CY06 to FY10 (see Exhibit 38). Although this proportion is never expected to approach 100 percent (i.e., reports to military authorities are never expected to approach the number of incidents estimated by the WGRA within a given year), the Department’s goal is to increase the proportion in forthcoming years.<sup>144</sup> Optimally, the proportion of sexual assaults the Department oversees can grow by decreasing the incidents of unwanted sexual contact (e.g., sexual assault) through prevention work and by continuing to encourage victims to report the crime.

The Impact of Efforts to Increase the Climate of Victim Confidence Associated With Reporting

The Department has employed policy changes, education, and messaging to encourage more victims to report sexual assault. Given that most sexual assaults in military and civilian society are not brought to the attention of authorities, the Department identified improved reporting as the key to better visibility of the crime, improved victim care, and better accountability of perpetrators. WGRA data indicates that, in the past year, most Active Duty members received effective training on sexual assault reporting, the options available to do so, and the resources available for victims. Two-thirds of Service members could identify their options about sexual assault reporting, and just about as many felt that members of their work group would feel free to report sexual assault without fear of reprisal. However, it appears victimization may change one's perceptions about the freedom to report, at least for some women and men. Enhanced training about safety and privacy precautions, accompanied by oversight review of systems designed to protect Service members and their privacy, may encourage greater victim reporting of the crime.

With the launch of the Restricted Reporting option in 2005, reports by Service member victims the following year increased by nearly 30 percent. Except for a small decrease in FY10, Service member victim reports have grown steadily. Not only have the number of reports to military authorities increased but also in FY10 the Department had visibility over a greater proportion of sexual assaults against military Service victims. In 2006, reports to DoD authorities accounted for about 7 percent of the sexual assaults estimated to have occurred that year.<sup>145</sup> In 2010, reports by victims accounted for about

14 percent of the sexual assaults estimated to have occurred.<sup>146</sup> Although reports to DoD authorities will never capture all of the sexual assaults in a given year, it is the Department's intent to reduce the underreporting of sexual assault in the military community.

The DoD SAPR Program has contributed to the increased total reporting of the crime by 86 percent in 6 years. The SAPR Program has also expanded the Department's visibility over a greater proportion of the sexual assaults that occur each year. Despite these accomplishments, much remains to be done to improve reporting. The majority of sexual assaults against Service members each year remain unreported. The Department must continue its efforts to knock down barriers that prevent victims from reporting and work toward the goal of eliminating the stigma that accompanies victimization.

Improve Sexual Assault Response: Assessment

The Department seeks sexual assault response improvements through programs, policies, and activities that advance victim care and enhance the military criminal justice process. SARCs and SAPR VAs are responsible for referring victims of sexual assault to medical, counseling, and legal support services.

Victim Referrals for Support Services

As noted above, in FY10, the Military Services reported that SARCs and SAPR VAs made an average of 1.4 support service referrals for victims making Unrestricted Reports and an average of 1 support service referral for victims making Restricted Reports. The number of referrals made to victims this year is down slightly from those made in FY09 (1.8 referrals per Unrestricted Report; 1.4 service referrals per Restricted Report). The Military Services have a differential capability to collect and report SARC and VA referrals for victims. In FY11, the Department will establish additional reporting guidelines for collecting and reporting this data. In the future, referral data will be incorporated into DSAID.

The DMDC 2010 WGRA provides information about victim service referrals and other assistance provided to victims by the Department. However, results are only reportable for women because there were too few male respondents in this category (i.e., males who experienced unwanted sexual contact, reported the matter, and received services from the DoD). Of the women who experienced unwanted sexual contact and reported to a DoD authority, 65 percent were offered counseling services, 57 percent were offered sexual assault advocacy services, 50 percent were offered legal services, and 46 percent were offered medical services.<sup>147</sup>

Victim Satisfaction With Response Services

Of the women on the DMDC 2010 WGRA who experienced unwanted sexual contact and reported it to a DoD authority, about a half or more were satisfied with the quality of sexual assault advocacy service, counseling services, and medical care they received (50 percent, 57 percent, and 57 percent, respectively). Less than one-third were satisfied with the amount of time the investigation took and how well they were kept informed about the progress of their case (28 percent and 27 percent, respectively). 44 percent of these women were satisfied with the reporting process overall. Of the women who made either an Unrestricted Report or converted report, 49 percent were satisfied with the VA assigned to them and 27 percent were dissatisfied. 51 percent of women were satisfied with the SARC assigned to them and 19 percent were dissatisfied.<sup>148</sup>

Victim Perceptions of Retaliation From Others

Of the women on the DMDC 2010 WGRA who experienced unwanted sexual contact and made an Unrestricted Report to a DoD authority, 38 percent indicated they experienced no retaliation, either professional or social, or administrative action against them. Less than a quarter (23 percent) experienced a combination of administrative action, professional retaliation, and social retaliation. 9 percent of women experienced administrative action only, 3 percent experienced professional retaliation only, and 27 percent experienced social retaliation only. For more information about victim perceptions of retaliation, see the DMDC 2010 WGRA.<sup>149</sup>

Sexual Assault Forensic Examinations Performed

The Department has required the Military Services to report the number of SAFEs performed annually for both Unrestricted and Restricted Reports since FY08. This year, 378 SAFEs were performed in support of sexual assaults reported to the Department. Exhibit 39 shows the SAFEs performed both in FY10 and prior years. The decision to undergo a SAFE lies solely with the victim.

Victim Participation in the Military Justice System

Another indicator of improved system response is the tendency of victims to stay involved in the military justice system following their report to law enforcement. Ultimately, without continued victim participation in justice actions, perpetrators of sexual assault are unlikely to be held accountable. In FY10, victims participated in military justice actions such that commanders found sufficient evidence to take action against 983 subjects of investigation.

In FY09, the Department implemented case disposition definitions to provide greater visibility over sexual assault case outcomes. There are a variety of reasons command action against a subject may be precluded or declined (see Exhibit 7 for a full list of reasons action may be precluded or declined against a subject). One reason is that the victim has declined to participate in the military justice system. In FY09, the Military Services reported that, of the cases where command action against a subject was precluded or declined, 21 percent of these cases involved victims who had declined to participate in the military justice system. In FY10, 37 percent of action precluded or declined cases involved victims who had declined to participate in the military justice system. It is reasonable to expect that some victims who make Unrestricted Reports of sexual assault find continued participation in the military justice system too challenging. However, it is the Department's intent that the response system facilitates the participation of victims and supports them through justice actions. The Department will continue to monitor victim participation in the military justice system and declinations in forthcoming years.

Areas in Need of Further Measurement

As indicated by all of the efforts to improve system response, the Department is committed to providing victims of sexual assault the best response possible. However, the measurement points discussed above do not capture many of the improvement efforts underway. In addition, the Department has not assessed the proficiency of professionals in applying their training to the real world. In FY11, the Department will conduct a Military Sexual Assault Victim Experience Study to better assess victim satisfaction with the SAPR Program. The Department will use the results of this study to develop best practices and measurements for:

- Medical and mental healthcare;
- Investigator interactions with victims;
- Trial counsel interactions with victims;
- Victim support by SARCs and SAPR VAs; and
- Spiritual support.

The Impact of Efforts to Improve Sexual Assault Response

The Department has substantially increased the training and resources of military professionals working in sexual assault response since launching the SAPR Program. Each year, thousands of investigators, attorneys, healthcare providers, chaplains, commanders, SARCs, and SAPR VAs participate in state-of-the-art training about how to best engage and care for sexual assault victims. In areas for which the Department has data, the majority of female victims who have used SAPR Program services have rendered mostly favorable opinions about the services' quality. Although most victims of sexual assault who make an Unrestricted Report participate in the military justice process, a few hundred each year ultimately decline to participate in the military justice process. In addition, most female victims surveyed still report some kind of retaliation or administrative action against them associated with their reporting the sexual assault. The Department has improved its response system substantially, but it must continue to improve the professionalism, capabilities, and resources of all who support victims seeking support. In addition, the Department must continue its endeavor to create a culture where victims of crime are treated fairly by those with whom they serve.

The Impact of Efforts to Improve Knowledge and Understanding of Sexual Assault Prevention and Response: Assessment

The Department's goal is to educate its stakeholders about progress in SAPR programs and policies. Greater stakeholder knowledge results when military and civilian leadership communicate SAPR Program successes and challenges, disseminate SAPR-specific research drawn from the military environment, and deploy effective messaging through a variety of outreach channels.

Service Member Awareness of Outreach Modalities

In the DMDC 2010 WGRA, respondents were asked about their awareness of three of the Department's resources for preventing and responding to sexual assault. 31 percent of women and 40 percent of men indicated they were aware of the "My Strength Is for Defending" social marketing campaign. 48 percent of women and 57 percent of men indicated they were aware of the SAPR website (www.myduty.mil). 60 percent of women and 64 percent of men indicated they were aware of their installation's SAAM programs.<sup>150</sup>

Service Member Assessment of the Problem of Sexual Assault

Sexual Assault in the Military

In the DMDC 2010 WGRA, Active Duty members reported their perception of the prevalence of sexual assault in the military and in the nation in 2010. Although there are no norms or standards available from the private sector, the items in this section of the survey provide information about Active Duty members' perception of sexual assault in the military and the nation today compared to 4 years ago. Active Duty members who had been in the military for 4 years or more were asked if sexual assault in the military had become more or less of a problem over the last 4 years.

Of women who had been in the military for at least 4 years, nearly one-third of them (32 percent) indicated that sexual assault is more of a problem than 4 years ago. The percentage of women who indicated that sexual assault in the military was more of a problem today than 4 years ago was higher in 2010 than in 2006 (32 percent vs. 25 percent). Of men who had been in the military for at least 4 years, 21 percent of men indicated that sexual assault is more of a problem than 4 years ago. The percentage of men who indicated that sexual assault in the military was more of a problem today than 4 years ago was higher in 2010 than in 2006 (21 percent vs. 15 percent).<sup>151</sup>

Service member opinions about sexual assault in the military being more of a problem now than 4 years ago are concerning. However, the Department believes that, given the other findings of the WGRA and the FY10 statistical data, these opinions reflect greater awareness of sexual assault as a problem. Factors that likely contributed to this greater awareness are the SAPR Program annual training, SAPR Program outreach events, DoD social marketing messaging, and media accounts of sexual assault in the military.

Sexual Assault in the Nation

Service members were also asked on the DMDC 2010 WGRA if sexual assault in our nation has become more or less of a problem over the last 4 years.

42 percent of women indicated that sexual assault in our nation is more of a problem today than 4 years ago. The percentage of women who indicated that sexual assault in the nation is more of a problem today than 4 years ago was higher in 2010 than in 2006 (42 percent vs. 39 percent). Nearly one-third of men (31 percent) indicated that it is more of a problem today than 4 years ago. The percentage of men who indicated that sexual assault in the nation is more of a problem today than 4 years ago was higher in 2010 than in 2006 (31 percent versus 28 percent).

Although the percentage of women and men who indicated that sexual assault was more of a problem in the military and the nation today than four years ago was higher in 2010 than in 2006, Service members were more positive overall in their assessment of the climate in the military than in the nation. One interpretation of this finding is that military women and men have greater confidence in the ability of the military to effectively address the problem of sexual assault.

The Impact of Efforts to Improve Knowledge and Understanding of SAPR

In 2010, the Department used every communications channel available to it to inform stakeholders of the progress being made in the SAPR Program. Given this year's survey findings, it appears the program is effectively reaching its greatest stakeholders—Service members. One of the most well-known communication channels appears to be an installation's SAAM observance. As a result, the Department should continue to prepare and disseminate materials for use at these events. However, this finding also suggests that base-level events at other times of the year may be equally useful in reaching Service members.

In 2010, the Department also communicated SAPR Program information in a variety of venues, including congressional hearings and briefings, press interviews, PSAs, and organizational meetings. However, improvements in stakeholder knowledge as a result of these activities are more difficult to assess because the recipients of the information are currently outside the Department's measurement authority.

For the first time, this annual report integrates both programmatic accomplishments and military research findings to highlight program strengths and areas for improvement. Consequently, this year's report, as an oversight tool, will be used to drive progress in all five strategic program priorities and future research into the problem of sexual assault in the military. External reviews of the SAPR Program have recommended that the Department use the Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military as its chief resource for communication with external stakeholders. However, as the Department further develops its Oversight Framework, other more concise methods may be developed to improve stakeholder knowledge of the SAPR Program.

WAY AHEAD

FY11 will provide many opportunities for the Department to make further progress on each of the five priorities outlined in the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan. The following sections highlight some of the efforts the Department plans to undertake.

For details regarding the Military Services' plans for FY11, please refer to the individual reports of the Department of the Army, Department of the Navy, and Department of the Air Force in Enclosures 1, 2, and 3, respectively.

FY11 PLANS TO INSTITUTIONALIZE PREVENTION STRATEGIES IN THE MILITARY COMMUNITY

Recognizing the detrimental impact the crime of sexual assault has on victims, the Department's core values, and unit mission readiness, the Department will continue to implement the DoD Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy. Utilizing valuable input from the Military Services, OSD SAPRO will work to further develop key messaging components. Specifically, OSD SAPRO expects to roll out a jointly produced training video, new PSAs, and Military Service-specific prevention campaign posters in FY11.

FY11 PLANS TO INCREASE A CLIMATE OF VICTIM CONFIDENCE ASSOCIATED WITH REPORTING

In FY11, the Department will continue to engage leadership and utilize innovative media channels to publicize reporting options and reduce the stigma associated with reporting. The Department also will continue to refine and clarify training to ensure all Service members and first responders understand the difference between Restricted and Unrestricted Reporting. In addition, the reissuance of the SAPR Policy will further explain the services and protections associated with the two reporting options.

FY11 PLANS TO IMPROVE SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE

The Department will also work to further improve its response capability and address the unique challenges associated with providing care in joint and deployed environments. The updated DD Form 2911, Forensic Medical Report: Sexual Assault Examination and its accompanying instructions will be issued in FY11, thus ensuring victims are aware of their rights to all SAPR services from the servicing SARC. Another significant program enhancement to improve response to victims of sexual assault will be the launch of the DoD Safe Helpline, which is expected to take place in the spring of 2011. In FY11, the broad outreach campaign for this initiative will include a variety of launch events with congressional and senior government officials in interested organizations. OSD SAPRO also plans to implement Phase II of its Strengthening Military-Civilian Community Partnership to Response to Sexual Assault initiative with PCAR, which will involve designing a regional training program for civilian partners to be conducted by DoD SAPR Program SARCs and civilians.<sup>152</sup> Also in FY11, OSD SAPRO will help DEOMI incorporate SAPR training into EEO counselor, EEO specialist, and EOA courses by identifying SMEs and providing guest speakers to present additional "SAPR 101" courses. Lastly, and in addition to the benefits listed above, the SAPR Policy reissuance will clarify that the SAPR policy is victim focused and will require sexual assault victims to be considered a priority for emergency care.

FY11 PLANS TO IMPROVE SYSTEM ACCOUNTABILITY

In FY10, OSD SAPRO engaged several internal and external oversight activities. The Department will continue efforts to improve system accountability and program effectiveness in FY11. Specifically, OSD SAPRO will continue collaborating with GAO to provide information for GAO's review of the Military Services' sexual assault investigation and adjudication processes and for GAO's 2011 brief to Congress on GAO's findings. In early FY11, OSD SAPRO also expects to receive the Military Services' responses regarding implementation of the DTF-SAMS recommendations. The Department plans to officially begin its review of the Reserve component SAPR programs and policies as recommended by DTS-SAMS. As part of the new SAPR Program oversight structure, the DoD SAPR Summit body will begin meeting in FY11 to discuss sexual assault-related topics and best practices in the military, civilian, and international community. Finally, OSD SAPRO will continue to work with the Military Services and other stakeholders to further develop DSAID in FY11.

FY11 PLANS TO IMPROVE STAKEHOLDER KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDING OF THE SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE PROGRAM AND POLICY

The Department will also continue to expand its communications efforts to reach a greater variety of stakeholder groups and increase Service members' and the public's knowledge of the SAPR Program. Having begun the conversion of its newsletter from hard copy to electronic format, OSD SAPRO plans to launch the SAPR Source in early FY11. The SAPR Source will help OSD SAPRO inform a larger audience of both public and private organizations about its efforts. As a result of briefing the NGB SAPRAC, OSD SAPRO plans to increase outreach to the Reserve component community in the next FY. Finally, as detailed in the Improve Stakeholder Knowledge and Understanding of the SAPR Program and Policy section of this report, the Department participated in briefings, conferences, and workshops with several organizations in FY10 and will continue to foster further education of and collaboration with key stakeholders in FY11.

CONCLUSION

Many of the cultural attitudes and pressures that allow sexual assault to continue and that stigmatize military victims are the same as those that affect U.S. society as a whole. However, sexual assault in the military is particularly detrimental because it undermines core values and degrades mission readiness. For this reason, the Department remains dedicated to preventing sexual assault, supporting victims with appropriate and timely care, and executing effective system accountability.

One sexual assault in the military is too many. To reduce the number of victimized Service members, the Department developed its five strategic SAPR priorities to address the crime of sexual assault on multiple fronts: institutionalizing prevention, encouraging reporting, improving response, enhancing system accountability, and increasing SAPR understanding and awareness. Achieving the necessary shift in attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors embedded in the Armed Forces and society requires substantial effort and resources. Nonetheless, the Department stands committed to its goal of ensuring military readiness by establishing a culture free of sexual violence. The men and women of the Armed Forces deserve nothing less.

RESPONSE PROGRAM OVERVIEW

APPENDIX C: DoD SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE PROGRAM OVERVIEW

SEXUAL ASSAULT IN THE MILITARY ENVIRONMENT

In the U.S. Armed Forces, sexual assault degrades individual resilience and erodes unit integrity. Service members risk their lives for each other and seek to keep fellow Service members out of harm's way. Sexual assault breaks this important bond and tears apart military units. An effective fighting force cannot tolerate sexual assault within its ranks. Leading studies indicate that most sexual assaults that occur in America are not reported to law enforcement.<sup>1, 2</sup> The Department's own statistics indicate that approximately 20 percent of unwanted sexual contacts are reported to a military or civilian authority.<sup>3</sup> Underreporting poses a serious challenge to military readiness because the potential consequences and human costs of sexual assault are extremely high. Chronic psychological consequences may include depression, post-traumatic stress disorder, and substance abuse.<sup>4</sup> Sexual assault is incompatible with military culture, and the costs and consequences for mission accomplishment are unbearable.

SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE OFFICE HISTORY

In 2004, the Department aggressively changed its approach to sexual assault prevention and response (SAPR) after learning of reports of sexual assault from Service members deployed to Iraq and Kuwait. On February 5, 2004, then-Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld directed the Department to undertake a 90-day review of all sexual assault policies and programs and recommend changes to increase prevention, promote reporting, enhance the quality of support provided to victims, and improve accountability for subject actions. The Department of Defense (DoD) Care for Victims of Sexual Assault Task Force was created, and it later identified 35 key findings relevant to sexual assault policies and programs among the Military Services. The Task Force proposed nine broad recommendations for immediate, near-term, and long-term corrective action.

The Department established the Joint Task Force for Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (JTF-SAPR) in October 2004 to develop a comprehensive SAPR Policy for the Department based on the recommendations of the Care for Victims of Sexual Assault Task Force. The JTF-SAPR authored 13 Directive-Type Memoranda (DTM) that fundamentally changed the SAPR Policy, including the addition of a confidential reporting option for Service member's who are victims known as Restricted Reporting. The DTMs are the foundation of the two policy documents used today: DoD Directive (DoDD) 6495.01, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program; and DoD Instruction (DoDI) 6495.02, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Procedures.<sup>5, 6</sup> DoDI 6495.02 was modified in Fiscal Year (FY) 2008 to strengthen initial policy by closing DoD-identified gaps and clarifying Military Service responsibilities. Further revisions were proposed in FY10.

The DoD-wide change in policy was also intended to address events at the Military Service Academies (MSA). In 2003, after receiving reports from cadet victims, former Representative Tillie Fowler was appointed to lead a review of the treatment of women at the U.S. Air Force Academy (USAFA). Based on the findings of the Fowler Commission at the USAFA, the Task Force on Sexual Harassment and Violence at the MSAs was launched in 2004. Congress directed this task force to assess and make recommendations concerning how the Departments of the Army and the Navy could more effectively address sexual harassment and assault at the U.S. Military Academy and the U.S. Naval Academy. Congress later passed legislation requiring the Department to assess the MSAs' SAPR programs annually.

In October 2005, the Department established the Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO) to take over as the single point of responsibility for SAPR Policy in the Department. However, medical care, legal processes, and criminal investigations remained the responsibility of the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (OASD) for Health Affairs (HA), the Offices of the Judge Advocates General (OTJAG) of the Military Departments, Military Criminal Investigative Organizations of the Military Departments, and the Office of the DoD Inspector General (IG), respectively. In the last 6 years, the Department has developed a prevention strategy, increased reporting, improved care and response to victims, implemented program oversight, and expanded knowledge of the SAPR Program among Service members and other key stakeholders.

MILITARY DEFINITION OF SEXUAL ASSAULT

The military definition of "sexual assault" does not refer to one specific crime; rather, it encompasses a range of sex crimes that represent a broad spectrum of offenses from rape to nonconsensual sodomy to wrongful sexual contact, as well as attempts to commit these offenses. Consequently, the definition of sexual assault in the military is broader than rape. In its current form, DoDD 6495.01 defines sexual assault as follows:

For the purpose of this Directive and SAPR awareness training and education, the term 'sexual assault' is defined as intentional sexual contact, characterized by use of force, threats, intimidation, abuse of authority, or when the victim does not or cannot consent. Sexual assault includes rape, forcible sodomy (oral or anal sex), and other unwanted sexual contact that is aggravated, abusive, or wrongful (to include unwanted and inappropriate sexual contact), or attempts to commit these acts. 'Consent' means words or overt acts indicating a freely given agreement to the sexual conduct at issue by a competent person. An expression of lack of consent through words or conduct means there is no consent. Lack of verbal or physical resistance or submission resulting from the accused's use of force, threat of force, or placing another person in fear does not constitute consent. A current or previous dating relationship by itself or the manner of dress of the person involved with the accused in the sexual conduct at issue shall not constitute consent.<sup>7</sup>

Sexual assault is also defined in military law, as laid out in the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ). The sexual crimes that fall under SAPR Policy are included in Article 120, Rape, Sexual Assault, and Other Sexual Misconduct; and Article 125, Sodomy.<sup>8 9</sup> Article 120 includes the crimes of rape, aggravated sexual assault, aggravated sexual contact, and abusive sexual contact. For incidents that occurred before the UCMJ changes on October 1, 2007, sexual assault included rape, nonconsensual sodomy, indecent assault, and attempts to commit these acts. Article 125 includes the crime of forcible sodomy. Attempts to commit these crimes are also included under the SAPR Policy.

Other misconduct actions, such as indecent exposure and stalking, are not included in this report because they do not fall within the SAPR Program as it was chartered in 2005. However, the Military Services investigate and prosecute these and other sex crimes whenever possible. Incidents of sexual harassment are also not in this report because they fall under the purview of the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) Office of Diversity Management and Equal Opportunity (ODMEO). Sex crimes against children and spouses are not contained in this report because they fall under the purview of the OSD Family Advocacy Program (FAP).

VICTIM CARE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

When the Department adopted the SAPR Policy in 2005, it used existing promising practices from the civilian community as a framework to shape the military's response system. This system comprises professionals from several disciplines who work as a team to provide expert care for victims worldwide 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Victim care begins immediately upon the report of a sexual assault. At the heart of the sexual assault response system are the Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARC) and SAPR Victim Advocates (VA). Every military installation in the world, both in garrison and deployed, has SARCs and SAPR VAs who provide a human element to the Department's response. They assist victims by providing them with three fundamental principles of victim care: safety and security, a place to communicate and to be validated, and the ability to be prepared.

First, victims need to feel safe. SARCs and SAPR VAs work with victims to identify and address issues related to their physical safety, as well as concerns about re-victimization by the perpetrator or others who might retaliate against the victim for making a report. Second, victims need to talk about what happened. Although they are not therapists, SARCs and SAPR VAs are trained to be attentive listeners. Their job is not to gather details about the assault but rather to validate victims' reactions to and feelings about the incident in a non-judgmental way. Finally, victims need to know their options, their legal rights, and what actions will likely follow. SARCs and SAPR VAs explain the reporting options and how they may affect the victim's future. SARCs and SAPR VAs listen to victims' needs and then connect victims with appropriate resources, including medical care, mental healthcare, legal advice, and spiritual support. They ensure Service members are not left alone to navigate the potentially daunting process of reporting a sexual assault. They also support victims in decision making. Victims who elect to make an Unrestricted Report, which involves command notification, also remain informed of the progress of their report via information the SARC gathers at monthly multidisciplinary case management meetings. These meetings allow the SARC to coordinate care and remain aware of the case status as the case progresses through investigation and prosecution, as needed. As a result of the dedication of SARCs and SAPR VAs, victims have access to information about how their case is proceeding and what will happen next.<sup>10</sup>

SARCs manage an installation or unit's SAPR program, serving as the single point of contact to coordinate victim care and track the services provided to each victim. While the SARC primarily provides management and oversight of victim services, SAPR VAs provide direct assistance to victims. SAPR VAs also help victims navigate the military's response network. SARCs and SAPR VAs are the core of the response system, but they receive a great deal of help from other members of the team, including healthcare and mental healthcare providers, chaplains, commanders, investigators, judge advocates (JA), and Victim and Witness Assistance Program (VWAP) personnel.

Healthcare providers treat sexual assault victims both physically and psychologically. Physicians, physician assistants, and nurses all contribute to treating injuries, managing the risk of sexually transmitted infections, and sometimes gathering evidence during a Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE). Psychologists, psychiatrists, social workers, and other mental health professionals assist the victim in restoring the function and resilience lost in the sexual assault.

<sup>10</sup> The fundamental principles of victim care are commonly used by practitioners in federal victim assistance agencies, such as the Department of State.

Chaplains provide spiritual support to victims of sexual assault. Generally, information communicated to chaplains during spiritual counseling is privileged and, therefore, kept confidential.<sup>11</sup> Chaplains may be an additional resource for victims of sexual assault in both Restricted and Unrestricted Reports. The definitions of Restricted and Unrestricted Reports are discussed briefly in the Increase a Climate of Victim Confidence Associated With Reporting section of this report and below.

Law enforcement, criminal investigators, VWAP personnel, and JAs also support victims. While a case is being investigated and prosecuted as needed under an Unrestricted Report, VWAP personnel help victims understand their legal rights, understand and participate in the military criminal justice process, and obtain needed resources. This support helps minimize the risk of secondary victimization and increases the likelihood that victims will stay with the investigative process through its conclusion.<sup>12 13</sup> This support also helps the victim through the recovery process.<sup>14</sup>

Commanders at all levels have a unique responsibility to support sexual assault response because they set the tone and expectations in their units. Through a commander's commitment to SAPR policies and programs, he or she can demonstrate firsthand the Department's resolve to preventing sexual assaults while working to reduce the fear and stigma associated with reporting.

At the policy level, the Department continues to strengthen internal and external partnerships with organizations that help care for victims, as discussed in the Improve Sexual Assault Response section of this report.

DEPARTMENT'S REPORTING OPTIONS AND PROCEDURES

As discussed briefly in the Increase a Climate of Victim Confidence Associated With Reporting section of this report, the Department offers two sexual assault reporting options: Restricted and Unrestricted Reporting. The creation of the Restricted Reporting option in June 2005 was a critical addition to the program. Restricted Reporting allows Service member victims of sexual assault to confidentially access medical care and advocacy services without initiating an official investigation. DoDD 6495.01 defines Restricted Reporting as:

A process used by a Service member to report or disclose that he or she is the victim of a sexual assault to specified officials on a requested confidential basis. Under these circumstances, the victim's report and any details provided to a healthcare provider, the Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC), or a [SAPR] Victim Advocate (VA) will not be reported to law enforcement to initiate the official investigative process unless the victim consents or an established exception is exercised under this Directive.<sup>15</sup>

The Department further defines Restricted Reporting as a confidential reporting method that:

Allows a Service member to report or disclose to specified officials that he or she has been the victim of a sexual assault. This reporting option gives the member access to medical care, counseling, and victim advocacy, without requiring those specific officials to automatically report the matter to law enforcement or initiate an official investigation.<sup>16</sup>

This covered communication is defined as:

Verbal, written, or electronic communications of personally identifiable information concerning a sexual assault victim or alleged assailant provided by the victim to the SARC, [SAPR] VA, or healthcare personnel related to his or her sexual assault.<sup>17</sup>

Restricted Reporting does more than allow victims to confidentially access medical care. It preserves the possibility of future prosecution by allowing victims to anonymously receive SAFEs. Following the examination, military law enforcement holds the evidence under an anonymous alphanumeric identifier for 1 year. Victims may convert their Restricted Report to an Unrestricted Report at any time and participate in the military justice process, but evidence obtained during a SAFE is only maintained for 1 year in reports kept Restricted. One month before the evidence expires, the SARC contacts the victim to determine if he or she would like to convert to an Unrestricted Report and participate in the military criminal justice process. Restricted Reporting allows for the preservation of evidence that would be otherwise unavailable.

Although Restricted Reporting does not disclose the identity of the victim or trigger the investigative process, commanders receive limited information about the incident, which allows them to address force protection concerns. In this way, the Department is able to honor a victim's privacy while taking steps to keep others safe. The Department is also able to offer victims care and treatment that victims may have not accessed without this confidential option.

As noted in the Increase a Climate of Victim Confidence Associated With Reporting section of this report, sexual assault victims who seek medical care or SAFEs in the state of California cannot make a Restricted Report because of the state laws that mandate reporting by healthcare providers.<sup>18</sup>

Although SAPR Policy allows for confidential Restricted Reports, it encourages victims to make Unrestricted Reports that allow the Department to investigate and hold subjects accountable. Victims who initially make a Restricted Report may change their selected reporting option and participate in an official investigation at any time. In addition, if information about a sexual assault comes to a commander's attention or to the attention of law enforcement independent of a victim's report, an investigation will be initiated.

Under Unrestricted Reporting, when a victim reports an incident of sexual assault, the matter is referred for investigation and victim's rights apply.<sup>19</sup> As in Restricted Reporting, victims may receive healthcare, counseling, and advocacy services. However, in an Unrestricted Report, details of the incident are reportable to command and law enforcement.

DoDD 6495.01 defines Unrestricted Reporting as:

A Service member who is sexually assaulted and desires medical treatment, counseling, and an official investigation of his or her allegation should use existing reporting channels (e.g., chain of command, law enforcement, or report the incident to the SARC). When notified of a reported sexual assault, the SARC will immediately assign a [SAPR] VA. Additionally, at the victim's discretion or request, the healthcare provider shall arrange a SAFE to be conducted, which may include the collection of evidence. Details regarding the incident will be limited to only those personnel who have a legitimate need to know.<sup>20</sup>

SARCs and SAPR VAs work with victims to help them understand the reporting options described above. To ensure victims make informed choices, the Department developed Department of Defense (DD) Form 2910, Victim Reporting Preference Statement, which fully explains the benefits and the limitations of each reporting option. In every case, the victim completes this form with the assistance of the SARC or SAPR VA.

SUBJECT: Results of the Deputy Secretary of Defense Directed Regulatory Review

At the request of the Deputy Secretary of Defense, United States Central Command recommended changes to DoD and Military Department policies and procedures that have hindered theatre operations in a contingency environment (attached).

For each recommendation, request the OSD and DoD Components identified as the lead Component provide a recommended course of action with a projected completion date and identify a point of contact by COB November 18, 2009. The Deputy Secretary set a date of April 16, 2010, for these changes to be implemented. Since several of the changes will require significant coordination with the Office of Management and Budget or Congress, some may not be completed by April 2010. In these instances, the Component must submit a waiver request to the Deputy Secretary through the OSD Director of Administration and Management.

SUBJECT: Sexual Assault Awareness Month – April 2010

The Department of Defense is observing its sixth annual Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM), which provides us an opportunity to raise awareness and promote prevention of sexual violence through special events and public education. SAAM also helps us further the evolution of our military into an environment that collectively works to prevent sexual assault.

The SAAM 2010 theme is "Hurts one. Affects all," which focuses on mission readiness. As is readily understood throughout the military, mission readiness defines a unit's ability to deploy quickly and efficiently, and to protect the security of our country. A sexual assault in a unit can have devastating consequences to mission readiness by devastating the life of the victim, and the military's ability to work effectively as a team. Commanders and senior enlisted leadership must set the tone in their units to prevent this crime, and not damage the trust that our Military members have in their leaders and their peers.

Sexual Assault Response Coordinators and Victim Advocates in the Services are professionals who can assist with the effective transmission of this message. However, commanders and senior enlisted personnel are key to the successful implementation of the Department's efforts. I ask you to support and take part in your Service's sexual assault prevention and response programs. Additional information is available at www.myduty.mil. Your participation in April's SAAM activities demonstrates the Department's worldwide commitment to the safety, welfare and readiness of its personnel.

Part 1 - Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Review: Army

Executive Summary

American Soldiers are a band of brothers and sisters, bound by common values, with duty and loyalty to each other that sets them apart from society. It is in this context that the Army considers the crime of sexual assault and the enabling offense of sexual harassment; and the duty of every Soldier to intervene and stop incidents before they occur. Soldiers who commit the crime of sexual assault not only betray their victims, they violate the sacred trust of the band of brothers and sisters who count on them. Soldiers who fail to intervene and protect one another from harassment or the risk of assault, have also forsaken their fellow comrades.

The Secretary of the Army and the Chief of Staff continue to provide personal leadership, support and guidance, as the Army is completing the second year of a comprehensive sexual assault prevention strategy. This multi-year strategy focuses on leaders establishing a positive command climate which encourages Soldiers to personally execute peer-to-peer intervention and not tolerate behavior that, left unchecked, may lead to sexual assault.

The Army's Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Strategy focuses on stopping assaults before they occur. Specific actions under the Prevention Strategy address secondary and tertiary prevention efforts directed at supporting victims, reducing the stigma of reporting and holding offenders accountable for their actions.

Inasmuch as behavior such as sexual harassment sets the foundation for sexual violence and a potential continuum for sexual assault, part of the Army's prevention strategy includes an initiative that combines the Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program with the Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) and response to military sexual harassment. The result is an overarching program called Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention, or SHARP.

The Army's goal is to eliminate sexual assault and harassment by creating a climate where sexual misconduct is recognized and addressed in a way that respects the dignity of every member of the esteemed band of brothers and sisters.

The cornerstone of the Army's prevention strategy is the "I. A.M. Strong" Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Campaign where the letters I. A. M. stand for Intervene – Act – Motivate. The "I. A.M. Strong" messaging features Soldiers as influential role models; provides peer-to-peer messages and outlines the Army's intent for all team members to personally take action to set a respectful standard of conduct and protect their fellow community members.

While increasing emphasis to prevent sexual assaults before they occur, the Army continues to emphasize victim services and response capabilities, to include enhancements to investigation and prosecution resources.

This annual report complies with content and formatting requirements in the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness (USD P&R) memorandum dated August 2, 2010 (SUBJECT: Data Call for the FY2010 DoD Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military). Per the USD P&R memorandum, this report is in two parts:

- Part 1 (Program Review) contains the Army's Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program initiatives, accomplishments, challenges for FY10, and plans for FY11.
- Part 2 (Statistical Report) contains data and analysis of the Unrestricted and Restricted Reports of sexual assault which were reported during FY10 as well as a brief profile (Synopsis Report) of sexual assault cases investigated by the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command (CID).

This report contains input from Army Commands, Army Service Component Commands, and Direct Reporting Units. The reporting elements cited continued program improvements, effective training, integrated response capabilities, and an increased emphasis on prevention measures in alignment with the Army's prevention strategy.

1. Program Overview

1.1. Please provide a general overview of your Service's SAPR program. This overview should include such information as:

- Authorizing Service regulations and/or instructions and dates of publication
- General organizational structure of your Service SAPR program and personnel (e.g. Installation Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) and Victim Advocate (VA) structure, mid-level program management [if any], and program management) as well as a brief description of how this structure changes in deployed environments
- Other personnel involved and their roles in your Service's SAPR Program
- Other (Please explain)

Chapter 8, and Appendices F-K, of Army Regulation (AR) 600-20 (Army Command Policy) formalizes the Army's SAPR Program. The Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower and Reserve Affairs has oversight of the Army's SAPR Program, while the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-1 (through the Army SHARP Office) is responsible for program implementation and assessment.

As the SAPR program is a command responsibility, commanders are required to: foster a command climate of prevention to eliminate the crime of sexual assault; treat all allegations of sexual assault seriously and ensure investigations occur; treat victims with dignity and respect; and take appropriate action against offenders. Significant elements of the current Army program include:

- Installation commanders and deployed senior mission commanders (or their representatives) have overall responsibility for the SAPR program implementation and 24/7 execution. As a critical element of their program execution, these leaders conduct required monthly Sexual Assault Review Boards (SARB). The SARB provides executive oversight, procedural guidance and feedback concerning local implementation of the SAPR Program and case management.

- The Assistant Chief of Staff for Installation Management (ACSIM) is responsible for the implementation of an Army-wide Victim Advocacy Program led by Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs) and supported by a cadre of professional Installation Victim Advocates (IVA). These SARCs and IVAs are available 24 hours a day/7 days a week to interact directly with victims of sexual assault and other installation response agencies (medical, legal, law enforcement, investigative, and chaplain).
- Command SAPR Program Managers, Deployable Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (DSARCs) and Unit Victim Advocates (UVA) are Soldiers (or civilians assigned to military units) who receive specialized training and assist their commanders in executing their SAPR programs and coordinating sexual assault response efforts (legal, law enforcement, chaplaincy, and medical).
  - DSARCs and UVAs provide/support advocacy services in deployed environments and for geographically dispersed units in CONUS and OCONUS not serviced by an installation. They also augment advocacy services in a garrison environment, as needed.
  - Army policy requires each brigade level unit and higher echelon to have one trained DSARC. UVAs are Soldiers (or civilians assigned to military units) trained to provide victim advocacy as a collateral duty. Army policy requires two UVAs for each battalion sized unit. (Some units may require more than two due to geographical dispersion).
- All levels of Army institutional Professional Military Education (PME), from initial entry to senior service college, use a comprehensive set of training support packages to conduct required training. Annual unit level sexual assault awareness and pre- and post-deployment SAPR training is also mandatory per AR 350-1 (Army Training and Leader Development).

2. Institutionalize Prevention Strategies in the Military Community

2.1. Under the Department’s adopted “The Spectrum of Prevention,” and its 6 components, describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to prevent sexual assault

2.1.1. Identify efforts by your Service to promote prevention-related policy

The most significant program initiative of FY10 was the continued roll-out of the Army’s Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Strategy and Campaign, which is in line with the Secretary of the Army and the Chief of Staff, Army intent to eliminate sexual assault from the Army.

The cornerstone of the prevention strategy is the “I. A.M. Strong” campaign where the letters I. A. M. stand for Intervene – Act – Motivate. The purpose of “I. A.M. Strong” is to encourage Soldiers to take action to prevent sexual assault and to actively foster respectful treatment of others.

2.1.2. Identify the ways your Service is changing organizational prevention-based practices

The Army’s Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Strategy consists of four integrated phases and has policy, procedure, training and assessment components, which will continue through 2016, and beyond. Each phase is cyclical, requiring continuous training of Soldier and leaders, as well as periodic assessment, revision, improvement and refinement:

- I. The Secretary introduced the “I. A.M. Strong” Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Campaign at the initial Sexual Assault Prevention Summit in September 2008. The Summit served as a platform to launch Phase I (Committed Army Leadership) by providing training on best practices and allowing command’s the opportunity to develop prevention plans to support the Army strategy.
- II. Phase II of the prevention strategy (Army-wide Conviction) includes educating Soldiers to understand their moral responsibility to intervene and stop sexual assault and harassment. Phase II began at the 2009 Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Summit (April 2009) during which the Secretary, the Chief of Staff, and Sergeant Major of the Army addressed the attendees which included over 100 Sergeants Major and 50 General Officers. The Army held its third annual Summit in April 2010 with over 650 attendees, including brigade and battalion leaders and Army SHARP Program Managers.
- III. Phase III culminates the dedicated effort of leaders and Soldiers under Phase I and Phase II by “Achieving Cultural Change” that truly reflects Army Values and fosters an environment free from sexual harassment and sexual assault.
- IV. The final phase is “Sustainment, Refinement and Sharing”, during which the prevention program continues to grow while motivating national partners to support our efforts to change generally accepted negative social behaviors; thus eliminating the crime of sexual assault.

The Army's prevention strategy strives to reduce the stigma of reporting, thus increasing a victim's propensity to report incidents for one of the nation's most unreported crimes. We expect therefore that this increase in cases will require more sexual assault responder support, specifically; victim advocates, healthcare personnel, investigators, and prosecutors.

2.1.3. Describe the methods used to foster prevention-related coalitions and networks (i.e., Name prevention subject matter experts consulted and involved at the Service level)

The Army continues to partner with several nationally recognized subject matter experts in order to help develop and validate the components of our Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy and “I. A. M. Strong” Campaign. These noteworthy experts include:

- Dr. David Lisak, a clinical psychologist whose research focuses on the motives and behaviors of rapists, the impact of childhood abuse on adult men, and relationship between child abuse and later violence. He consults nationally with law enforcement, prosecutors, judges and the U.S. military.
- Anne Munch, an attorney with over twenty years of experience as a career prosecutor and advocate for victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking. As a subject matter expert, she has worked extensively on the development of the Sexual Assault Prevention and Response programs in the military.
- David Lee and Robert Coombs of the California Coalition against Sexual Assault (CALCASA) where they manage “Prevention Connection”, the online community to advance primary prevention of sexual assault and domestic violence.
- Alan Berkowitz, an independent consultant who helps colleges, universities, and communities design programs that address health and social justice issues. He frequently consults for institutions of higher education, the Federal government, public health agencies, and military academies.
- Christian Murphy and Gail Stern founded Catharsis Productions in 2000. Their program, “Sex Signals”, incorporates humor and audience participation to foster greater understanding about the nature and impact of interpersonal violence.
- Jackson Katz is the creator of Mentors in Violence Prevention (MVP). MVP is a gender violence prevention approach focused on an innovative "bystander" model that empowers individuals to take an active role in promoting a positive climate.

Additionally, several Army commands, including US Army Forces Command (FORSCOM) and US Army, Europe (USAREUR) have tapped into other nationally recognized resources in order to locally augment their support of the Army’s prevention campaign and strategy. Some of these include:

- Can I Kiss You? Created by Mike Domintz, Can I Kiss You? is an interactive, skills-based presentation addressing dating, consent, respect, bystander intervention, and sexual assault.
- One in Four. One in Four provides presentations, training, and technical assistance to men and women, with a focus on all-male programming targeted toward colleges, high schools, the military, and local community organizations.

2.1.4. List the prevention education and training initiatives and programs your Service offers for responders, particularly those that impart individual skills associated with bystander intervention or appropriate risk reduction that does not blame victims

The following initiatives were conducted during FY10 in support of the Army's Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy and the "I. A.M. Strong" Campaign:

- The Army held its 3rd Annual Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Summit in Arlington, Virginia from 29 Mar - 1 Apr 2010. The primary target audience was Brigade and Battalion Leaders (Commanders, CSM/1SG) and their SAPR/SHARP Program proponents. Additionally, the more than 600 attendees included national subject matter experts, representatives from OSD, other Services, Federal Agencies and the White House.
- Three Sexual Assault Prevention Training videos debuted at the 2010 Summit. The videos complement annual, pre- and post-deployment training by promoting "I. A.M. Strong" prevention initiatives.
  - The first DVD is a 32-minute Soldier training video which depicts real-life situations that Soldiers may face in garrison and deployed. This DVD, designated to become part of annual mandatory unit training, helps to educate Soldiers about warning signs associated with sexual harassment and sexual assault.
  - The second DVD, also designated to be part of annual mandatory training, is a 12-minute video to help leaders properly train Soldiers on the subject of sexual harassment and sexual assault prevention.
  - The third DVD, titled Amateur Night, highlights sexual harassment situations, demonstrates how they can escalate to a sexual assault, and provides examples of how Soldiers can intervene to stop sexual harassment. This video complements installation inprocessing well as unit refresher training.
- The Army contracted to continue the "Sex Signals" training tour in FY10. This 90-minute, live, two-person, audience interactive program includes skits dealing with dating, rape, consent and other associated topics such as body language, alcohol use and intervention. Created by Catharsis Productions, "Sex Signals" uses innovative methods to educate audiences (mainly 18-24 year olds) on social issues. During FY10, the Army contracted for more than 450 presentations of "Sex Signals" (approximately 100,000 audience members) Army-wide, including Iraq, Korea and Europe. Feedback from Soldiers and leaders cites "Sex Signals" as very effective training.
- In order to establish the proper focus on prevention early in each Soldier's tour in the Army, TRADOC continues to allocate several different times for new recruits to receive sexual assault training. Specifically, new Soldiers receive training during reception, during the first week of basic training, prior to their first overnight pass, and upon entering advanced individual training.

2.1.5. Identify your Service's efforts to promote community education in the area of prevention (i.e., Communications, social marketing, and media initiatives)

Community outreach and education is a key component of the Army sexual assault prevention strategy and "I. A.M. Strong" campaign. In FY10, efforts to promote, communicate and market the Army's prevention campaign, encourage open community discussion and reduce the stigma of reporting include the following:

- A continuing partnership between the Army SHARP Program and the Better Opportunities for Single Soldiers (BOSS) Program has proven to be a very effective way to spread the sexual assault prevention and "I. A.M. Strong" messaging. BOSS Soldiers immediately connect with community members and other Soldiers to reinforce the peer-to-peer accountability and bystander intervention.
- The Army SHARP Office sponsored and presented the "I. A.M. Strong" Tour featuring the popular singer Leigh Jones. The tour performed from Jan - Mar 10 at 24 venues around the Army (in CONUS and Europe) providing uplifting entertainment while emphasizing the "I. A.M. Strong" message of sexual harassment and sexual assault prevention. The tour distributed music DVDs featuring "I. A.M. Strong" songs and included performances by hip-hop band Animate Objects, select comedians, and Soldiers.
- For the second year in a row, the Army SHARP Program co-sponsored the U.S. Army Concert Tour, a summer concert series that brings top name artists to Soldiers, their Families and people from the surrounding community. Local BOSS Soldiers manned "I. A.M. Strong" booths and passed out sexual assault prevention literature to over 50,000 attendees at six concerts.
- The Army SHARP Program continued its sponsorship of the U.S. Army Soldier Show. The Soldier Show is a high-energy ensemble production, offering a wide range of popular music and stage spectacle to Soldiers and Families on Army Garrisons worldwide. Three motivational "I. A.M. Strong" commercials appeared during each performance, featuring songs written and performed by Soldier/rap artist SGT Daniel "Danny Bee" Bullock.
  - More than 66,000 people at 41 installations attended the 75 performances during FY10.
  - BOSS Soldiers and Soldier Show personnel distributed approximately 61,000 pieces of SHARP literature and educational items.
- The Army SHARP Program Office also developed new promotional materials to support a pilot program in USAREUR, offering restricted reported to eligible adult civilians and family members.

2.1.6. Describe the ways that your Service is strengthening Service member knowledge and skills (i.e., Bystander intervention)

All of the entries described in this section (2.1) support the Army's efforts to implement its comprehensive strategy and the "I. A.M. Strong" campaign in order to strengthen leaders' and Soldier's knowledge and skills to prevent sexual assault. The Army's strategy and campaign moves focus of prevention to the left by targeting not just sexual assault, but behavior such as sexual harassment and sexual innuendo, which left unchecked can lead to sexual assault. Motivated Soldiers are volunteering to actively participate in command and community prevention events.

2.1.7. Other (Please explain)

Several other initiatives (noted in Section 2.3 below) that were under development in FY10 are scheduled for full implementation in FY11. These include the Army-wide implementation of the SHARP Program, an overhaul of institutional and unit training, and the development of an 80-hour SHARP training curriculum with an introductory senior leader training module.

2.2. List all studies of sexual assault prevalence and/or prevention programming effectiveness supported or performed by your Service

The U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI) published two technical reports in July 2010 as part of a recurring Human Relations Study. Section 5.4 discusses results and findings from these reports, as they relate to sexual assault prevalence and prevention.

2.3. Describe any plans in place for Service actions in FY11 related to the prevention of sexual assault

The Army will continue to implement several training initiatives in FY11 to facilitate Army-wide implementation of the SHARP Program.

- SHARP Mobile Training Teams (MTT). The SHARP Program Office will conduct MTTs for command selected SARC/SHARP personnel throughout FY11. As many as 24 MTTs will conduct the 80-hour classes around the Army (including the Army National Guard and Army Reserve) in order to train more than 24,000 unit SARC/SHARP personnel by FY12.
  - In support of the Secretary's directive to implement the SHARP program Army-wide, the Army developed an 80-hour prevention training curriculum which integrates prevention and response to military/civilian sexual harassment and assault, and the "I. A.M. Strong" Campaign.
  - This comprehensive SHARP training is for command selected SARC/SHARP personnel from Army Command down to company level. The SHARP Office partnered with III Corps and Fort Hood to pilot the training in July 2010 and began executing training across the Army in September 2010.
- Professional Military Education (PME) and Civilian Education System (CES). In coordination with TRADOC and Cadet Command, the Army SHARP Office will revise all SHARP PME/CES training in order to upgrade and integrate previous Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) and Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) programs of instruction.

- The Army will fully implement the Initial Entry Training (IET) revisions which were pilot tested in FY10. The revised training introduces the Army’s newly developed “Sex Rules” messaging targeted for new recruits (Sex Rules - Follow Them) and includes a pocket guide with scenarios for Drill Sergeants (Sex Rules - Teach Them) to use during IET.
  - To educate new Soldiers in an attention-getting and intriguing manner, the Army SHARP Office developed a set a set of ten “Sex Rules” which break down the multiple elements of sexual harassment and sexual assault and defines them in simple, relatable terms.
  - By linking each Sex Rule to an Army Value, they help establish the social behavior expected of all Soldiers. The revised curriculum challenges Soldiers to "Know the Rules. Live the Values."
- In coordination with Cadet Command, new Basic Officer Leader Course (BOLC) A training will be implemented in ROTC after an initial pilot test is conducted and assessed. The new training incorporates “Sex Rules” messaging, an ROTC Cadre SHARP Guide, critical decision making, and uses on-line products developed by nformed.net.
- Revisions to the Officer Basic Course (BOLC B) will include the addition of the live, two-person, audience interactive “Sex Signals”. The SHARP Program Office is working with TRADOC and Catharsis Productions to coordinate necessary contract and scheduling details.
- Training revisions also include changes to the Drill Sergeant and Recruiter Training Support Packages (TSP), as well as the Unit Refresher TSPs for mandatory annual training, pre-deployment training and post-deployment training.
- Victory University, Junior ROTC and the United States Military Academy (USMA) will also add new training in FY11.
- The Army will also incorporate a sexual assault and sexual harassment self-study requirement into mandatory annual training in FY11. “Team Bound” is an interactive, multiple scenario video in which Soldiers, in a self-study mode, become the lead character and must make choices in realistic situations dealing with sexual harassment and sexual assault.

The Army is finalizing development of the GTSY.com social network, intended to engage in conversations about prevention and intervention. GTSY.com will use internal Army social networks to:

- Host forums where users can discuss issues – such as sexual harassment/assault response and prevention – in more depth, encouraging reporting activities by reducing the stigma of these issues.

- Showcase videos that focus on reaching potential interveners, in an engaging manner, to encourage action.
  - Each video has a complementary poll that asks questions related to the video. The polls tally and display the results in real time – helping to establish and validate perceptions of social norms.
  - Each video appears several times throughout the year to measure changing social norms.

The National Guard will conduct its first Sexual Assault Prevention Leadership Summit in FY11, designed to help officers and enlisted leadership further develop their state's prevention programs.

3. Increase Climate of Victim Confidence Associated with Reporting

3.1. Provide major steps taken to publicize reporting options (Restricted and Unrestricted) and/or encourage the reporting of sexual assault by Service members (i.e., Local command initiatives that demonstrate the commanders role in creating a climate of confidence)

The Army's comprehensive sexual assault prevention and response training emphasizes the restricted and unrestricted reporting options and encourages reporting by all Soldiers. Training is required for all new Soldiers in Initial Entry Training and at each level of PME for officers and NCOs. Reporting is a key topic in all training, including mandatory annual unit training and pre- and post-deployment training. Additionally, sexual assault prevention and response, to include reporting, is presented during newcomer orientations at each Army installation.

One significant reporting initiative occurred in U.S. Army Europe (USAREUR) during FY10. At the request of the USAREUR Commanding General, the Army G-1 facilitated DoD approval of a pilot program which extended restricted reporting to eligible adult civilians in USAREUR. Serving as a pilot for the potential expansion of services within DoD, this Army initiative helped demonstrate respect for the well-being of all Civilians and Family members. The pilot, which began on 1 Mar 10, will run through Feb 11.

Local commands, program leads, and Soldiers throughout the Army have also taken the initiative to encourage reporting and ensure community members are aware of sexual assault reporting options, including:

- Re-emphasizing sexual assault reporting options, verbally and with additional handouts, at local (over 450) presentations of "Sex Signals".
- Adding sexual assault after-hour numbers to ACS brochures, magnets, posters, and announcements. (During FY10, ACSIM/IMCOM spot checked these hotline numbers on a quarterly basis).
- Posting sexual assault prevention and response information on LED boards at entrances to installations.
- Placing posters, banners and brochures throughout installations, which include points of contact and reporting options.

- Placing articles in local newspapers and public service announcements on local radio stations to encourage reporting.
- Using HQDA provided marketing materials for the “I. A.M. Strong” Campaign to publicize within units.
- Issuing pocket cards with phone numbers and restricted/unrestricted policy.
- Providing information on Army and installation websites.

3.2. Discuss Unrestricted and Restricted Reporting process challenges encountered, as well as the solutions your Service developed and implemented during FY10 within the context of:

3.2.1. Joint environments

Challenges in Joint environments primarily exist among deployed units as detailed in Section 3.2.2, below.

3.2.2. Combat Areas of Interest

The primary Combat Areas of Interest (CAI) are Iraq and Afghanistan, where Army command elements are predominantly responsible for executing sexual assault prevention and response services, including conducting criminal investigations and courts-martial.

Army SAPR/SHARP Program elements assigned to USF-I and ISAF align their sexual assault reporting procedures with CENTCOM Regulation 600-16, DoD Directive 6495.01, DoD Instruction 6495.02, as well as AR 600-20.

The challenges in a combat zone differ from those in a garrison environment. Maintaining confidentiality of the restricted option is difficult not simply because of privacy of information, it also is difficult because command teams function as the support network for deployed victims.

The reporting challenges faced by these deployed units also relate to the geographical dispersion and remoteness of many units, which necessitates creative and adaptive measures to ensure reporting resources are readily available. Training and retaining sufficient numbers of Deployable SARCs (DSARCs) and UVAs is essential, as are monthly Sexual Assault Review Boards (SARBs) and command/staff updates which help ensure SAPR/SHARP Program management continuity.

3.2.3. Tracking victim services

The Army’s Sexual Assault Database Management System (SADMS) serves as the primary database used to track victim services. SARCs and DSARCs populate SADMS with input from via an interim reporting solution. Per victims’ requests, the losing unit SARC transfers advocacy/case data to the gaining unit SARC. SADMS also includes data input from healthcare, legal and law enforcement sources.

Facilitating a warm-handoff of re-deploying victims, and those moving between installations, remains challenging. Deployed commands, Installation SARCs, and Reserve Component program managers remain vigilant to mitigate this challenge through monthly Sexual Assault Review Boards (SARBs) while the Army G-1 SHARP Program Office tracks cases and follows up on a monthly basis with Installations and Command Program Managers to reconcile cases and victim services.

Additional challenges exist with tracking victim services when Soldiers elect to seek assistance at off-post agencies. To enhance coordination with off-post agencies installations have successfully implemented MOUs/MOAs with local agencies, including rape crisis center, local hospitals and law enforcement, and facilitated cross-training.

3.2.4. Restricted Reporting in any environment

Despite extensive training, and feedback that training is effective, some Soldiers still do not fully understand the Restricted Reporting option. Specifically, some Soldiers are not clear whether Restricted Reporting can be retained if the assault is disclosed to a third party (spouse/family member/friend), or if the commander finds out about the sexual assault through another source. Army policy and training addresses these issues, as well as the requirement for law enforcement and the chain of command to respect a victim's choice not to participate with a criminal investigation.

The Army is currently revising all PME training as well as unit refresher training and pre/post-deployment training. These revisions include continued emphasis on restricted reporting.

3.2.5. Other (Please explain)

Challenges continue regarding restricted reporting for Army National Guard (ARNG) Soldiers who are on active duty and return to state status. In an effort to clarify these reporting options for ARNG Soldiers, and to encourage communication between Army Installation SARCs and State SARCs, the National Guard hosted six training conference calls during FY10 for more than 77 Army Installation SARCs.

3.3. Describe efforts, polices, and/or programmatic changes taken to improve Service member confidence and/or victim participation in the investigative and military justice processes

Thorough, fair and competent investigations and appropriate prosecution of sexual assault cases are necessary to help maintain a positive culture and climate that does not tolerate sexual assault, and encourages victims to report without fear of reprisal. Accordingly, the Army continues with the following actions to improve confidence in the Army's investigation and prosecution capabilities:

- Hired 12 Highly Qualified Experts to advise leadership, and to support the coordination and improve/increase training of sexual assault investigators, prosecutors and defense counsel.
- Hired 26 special investigators and added 14 special victim prosecutors at major Army installations to focus nearly exclusively on sexual assault cases, similar to civilian Special Victims Units.

- Hired 33 additional examiners at the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Laboratory (USACIL) who, despite increased sexual assault workload, have been instrumental in meeting the congressionally mandated DNA turnaround time of 60 days.

3.4. List initiatives and programs implemented to reduce the stigma associated with reporting sexual assault

As previously noted, the most significant program initiative to reduce the stigma of reporting sexual assault, was the continued roll-out of the Army’s Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Strategy and “I. A.M. Strong” Prevention Campaign.

In alignment with the Army’s primary prevention focus (stopping offenders and assaults) “I. A.M. Strong” encourages Soldiers to take action to prevent Sexual Assault, fosters a culture of respect, and helps reduce the stigma of reporting. During FY10, this Army-wide campaign included more than 450 presentations of “Sex Signals” and partnered with the BOSS program to raise awareness at multiple venues, including the Army Soldier Show, the Army Concert Series, and the “I. A.M. Strong” concert tour.

Additional initiatives include all the items cited in Section 3.1 above, and most notably the restricted reporting pilot program in USAREUR for adult civilians which helps demonstrate the Army’s respect for the well-being of all its civilians and Family members.

Another innovative initiative developed by the U.S. Army Military Police School (USAMPS) is a new sexual assault victim interview technique called “Forensic Trauma Experiential Interview”. This interview technique has transformed investigators and prosecutors ability to obtain more evidence of a crime while reducing stigma, trauma and victim blaming. This new interview technique drastically reduces victim recantations, increases victim cooperation and prosecution efforts.

4. Improve Sexual Assault Response

4.1. Describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to respond to, or improve the response to, allegations of sexual assault

The Army’s effective sexual assault response capabilities are the result of an integrated coalition of command, advocacy, law enforcement, investigative, medical, legal, and chaplain resources. Chapter 8, AR 600-20 documents the Army’s SAPR policy and its integrated partnerships necessary to provide a coordinated response to victims of sexual assault. The Army is combining sexual harassment and sexual assault prevention and response in order to ensure Soldiers seeking assistance for incidents of sexual violence understand the difference between harassment and assault, and the options for reporting and support services in each area.

Collaboration among all response groups, including combined training and awareness events, has resulted in increased teamwork and cohesion. For example, the implementation of special investigators and special prosecutors at the larger Army installations has increased those response capabilities and demonstrated the Army’s commitment to improving response to and care for sexual assault victims. Additionally, the European Regional Medical Command (ERMC) conducted a pilot in FY10 to expand medical services on nights and weekends to provide patients an alternative to host nation facilities.

Additionally, Army installations and organizations continue to partner with local civilian agencies to ensure every victim of sexual assault receives the best possible response services. During FY10, three-fourths of Army installations reported having Memoranda of Understanding (MOUs) or Memoranda of Agreement (MOAs) with civilian agencies serving sexual assault victims, to include rape crisis centers, hospitals and law enforcement. The majority of installations that do not have an MOU/MOA with the civilian community are OCONUS installations which, by regulation, can not engage in MOUs/MOAs with host nation facilities. Other CONUS installations are in the process of developing MOUs/MOAs, as required.

4.2. List the number of new SARCs (include Deployable) and VAs (include Deployable) trained; the types of training received, which must include refresher training; and if the training was received prior to deployment

4.2.1. SARCS (include Deployable)

4.2.1.1. List the number of new personnel trained

The Army's Installation Management Command (IMCOM) trained 55 newly hired/appointed Installation SARCs, 3748 UVAs and 266 DSARCs in FY10.

IMCOM also dispatched a SAPR Program Mobile Training Team (MTT) for geographically dispersed locations. During FY10, the MTT facilitated two trainings for 212 newly appointed UVAs/DSARCs in the ARNG/Army Reserve.

Additionally, the Army's new SHARP MTT trained 176 personnel by the end of FY10 using the newly developed 80-hour curriculum.

4.2.1.2. Provide the types of training received (i.e., initial, refresher)

The majority of SARCs/DSARCs received the initial training which in either 8 hour (quarterly) or 40 hour (annual) format using the Army's approved Training Support Packages (TSPs). Existing SARCs/DSARCs receive annual continuing education training (32 hours/per year).

Beginning in the 4th Quarter FY10, all SHARP personnel will attend the initial 80-hour SHARP training and 16-hour refresher training (under development).

4.2.1.3. Indicate if training occurred prior to deployment

All reported training occurred prior to deployment. Approximately one-third of these DSARCs deployed.

4.2.2. VAs (include Deployable)

The Army trained 3,748 UVAs during FY10.

4.2.2.1. List the number of new personnel trained

2,534 new UVAs received training in garrison during FY10.

4.2.2.2. Provide the types of training received New UVAs received the initial training, offered in either 8 hour (quarterly) or 40 hour (annual) format using the Army's approved TSPs. Existing UVAs receive annual continuing education training (32 hours/per year). Beginning in the 4th Quarter FY10, all SHARP personnel will attend the initial 80-hour SHARP training and 16-hour refresher training (under development).
4.2.2.3. Indicate if training occurred prior to deployment Training for UVAs occurred prior to deployment. Approximately one-third of these UVAs deployed.
4.3. List the number of personnel who received sexual assault training:
4.3.1. Commanders (i.e., Pre-command, Flag and General Officer) During FY10, the Army School of Command Preparation (Pre-Command Course) trained 197 Brigade Commanders, 542 Battalion Commanders and 195 Command Sergeants Major. Additionally, the Army Reserve reported training 400 Brigade and Battalion Commanders.
4.3.2. Criminal investigators During FY10, all CID agents who investigate, or supervise agents who investigate, sexual assault allegations received training developed and fielded by the United States Army Military Police School (USAMPS). Additionally, USAMPS conducted Special Victims Unit (SVU) training in conjunction with their attendance at the California Coalition Against Sexual Assault (CALCASA) National Sexual Assault Conference. USAMPS presented a daylong training seminar to CID SVU agents and supervisors highlighting new research and newly developed investigative techniques.
4.3.3. Law enforcement In FY10, USAMPS also provided specialized law enforcement sexual assault training to 2,985 military law enforcement investigators and first responders in several professional development courses including all CID Special Agent and MP Investigation courses. USAMPS also conducts training for Marine CID, Air Force Office of Special Investigations, and Naval Criminal Investigative Services.
4.3.4. Medical personnel All healthcare personnel that train at the Army Medical Center and School receive initial/basic training for sexual assault response. Sexual Assault Clinical Providers (SACP) and Sexual Assault Care Coordinators (SACC) conduct follow-on and refresher healthcare/response training for healthcare personnel at their assigned Military Treatment Facility (MTF). All Army medical units implement annual training requirements and continue to improve upon refresher responder training. The Annual Sexual Assault Medical Management (SAMM) Conference assists the SACP and SACC with the development of their local mandatory training requirements. The overall conference participation included 105 Army, Air Force, Navy, Veterans Administration, National Guard, and

Department of the Army Civilian healthcare providers.

During FY10, 23 Physicians, Physician Assistants, Advance Practice Nurses and Registered Nurses attended the sexual assault medical forensic examiner 40 hour didactic track. Also, 27 healthcare providers in ERM completed training conducted by a MEDCOM mobile training team consisting of a SANE SME, a nationally known SME in forensic examinations, and a CID Highly Qualified Expert (HQE).

4.3.5. Judge Advocates

The Judge Advocate General's School and Legal Center (TJAGLCS) provides first responder training to Army Judge Advocates. In FY10, TJAGLCS provided first responder training to 565 Army Judge Advocates in the Judge Advocate Basic Course, the Judge Advocate Graduate Course (Advanced Course) and two other courses. All field offices conduct annual JAG refresher training using standardized training posted to the internal JAG network.

During FY10, the Army expanded Judge Advocate sexual assault training under the Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP). This expanded training included:

- Outreach Programs (21). Two and one-half day training events where an HQE and TCAP Training Officer conduct training at various military installations, focusing on basic military justice and new developments, sexual assault and special victim prosecutions, advocacy training and case review.
- Regional Conferences (5). TCAP's regional conferences are sexual assault and special victim prosecution focused and conducted by two TCAP Training Officers, all three of TCAP's HQEs, and varied civilian and military experts in the field of sexual assault and special victim prosecutions.
- Military Institute(s) on the Prosecution of Sexual Violence (MIPSV) Programs (2). The MIPSV is an Army led training event, to provide Trial Counsel of all experience levels with an offender focused approach to prosecuting sexual assault cases.
- National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) Conference (2). The NCMEC conference specializes on training law enforcement personnel and prosecutors in the prevention, investigation, prosecution, and treatment of cases involving missing and exploited children. The training focuses specifically on child pornography and child sexual assault/abuse allegations in child cases.
- Sexual Assault Trial Advocacy Course (SATAC). A two-week trial advocacy course focusing on the fundamentals of trial advocacy in the context of litigating special victim cases. The course includes numerous advocacy exercises, culminating in a full-day trial for each participant. The course is a follow on to The Judge Advocate General's Legal Center and School's Criminal Law Advocacy Course.
- Sexual Assault Expert Symposium. Introduces the scientific disciplines encountered while litigating special victim cases, led by leading experts in their fields. The experts include: Forensic Pathologist; Forensic Psychologist; Forensic Psychiatrist; Sexual Assault Forensic Examiner; Forensic Toxicologist.

- Advanced Advocacy (Karton) Courses (4). The Advanced Advocacy course explores challenges for trial counsel when dealing with courtroom dynamics and focuses on improving the attendee's ability to more effectively present their cases to military court members (and Military Judges in judge alone cases). This course occurred four times in FY10.
- USACIL Courses (2). This course focuses on the capabilities of the varied disciplines within the United States Army Criminal Investigation Laboratory (USACIL), to include but not limited to DNA Processing, Serology, Trace Evidenced, Tool Marks, Handwriting, and Ballistics,
- Informal training. In addition to the above formal training opportunities available in the area of sexual assault and special victim prosecutions, each Special Victim Prosecutor conducts local training, ranging from formal, pre-scheduled classes to ongoing training that occurs between a seasoned litigator and a young counsel preparing to prosecute a case.

4.3.6. Chaplains

All first-term Active Component, Army National Guard, and Army Reserve Chaplains receive initial training at the Chaplain Basic Officer Leader Course (BOLC), which includes: reporting classifications and reporting requirements; ministry response and spiritual support to sexual assault victims; dynamics of sexual assault; installation and unit victim advocacy services and referral resources. All supervisory Chaplains receive training at the Chaplain Captain Career Course to provide supervision of pastoral response and spiritual support to sexual assault victims.

Installation and unit Family Life Chaplains provide training to Unit Ministry Teams composed of Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants. This annual training includes: pastoral response to victims of sexual assault; collaborative relationships with unit and installation treatment facilities and Sexual Assault Response Coordinators.

The Chaplain School updated training in FY10 to align with the Army's Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Campaign.

4.4. Describe efforts to provide trained personnel, supplies, and transportation to deployed units to provide appropriate and timely response to reported cases of sexual assault

As noted in Sections 4.1-4.3 above, the Army ensures units deploy with trained sexual assault response personnel. Deployed SAPR/SHARP Program personnel use organic transportation assets and/or coordinate for external assets as needed.

All deployed Level III, Combat Support Hospitals maintain adequate supplies on hand to treat victims of sexual assault. The Army Central Command Surgeon reported caring for thirty sexual assault patients during FY10. The staff designated to care for these patients consist of three Sexual Assault Clinical Providers (SACP), one Sexual Assault Care Coordinator (SACC) and three Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (SANE).

4.4.1. Provide information regarding any existing gaps in supply inventory results, as well as the shortage of supplies, trained personnel, and transportation resources to support deployed units in responding to cases of sexual assault
There were no reported gaps in supplies, personnel or transportation resources.
4.4.2. List the number of victims, if any, whose care was hindered due to lack of available Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits or other needed supplies, and describe how this information is collected
Reports from installation SARCs and the Army Medical Command cited no instance in which a lack of SAFE kits or other medical supplies hindered the ability of Army healthcare personnel to provide care to sexual assault victims. One hundred percent of the MTFs provide testing and treatment for sexually transmitted infections and diseases, including HIV, and testing for pregnancy.
4.4.3. For any lack of available SAFE kit cases reported in 4.4.2., describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation at those locations
N/A
4.4.4. List the number of victims, if any, whose care was hindered due to the lack of timely access to appropriate laboratory testing resources and describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation
The USACIL processes SAFE kits for evidence for all U.S. military forces, including units deployed to the CENTCOM AOR. There were no reports of sexual assault cases during FY10 in which processing issues at USACIL hindered an investigation.
4.5. Other (Please explain)
In addition to the Army's primary initiative to develop an integrated SHARP Program which increases Soldiers' access to unit level sexual harassment and sexual assault response resources, other proponents have their own initiatives, including: USAMPS continues development of a two-week Special Victims Unit (SVU) training course enhancing victim impact, alcohol facilitated sexual assaults, trauma and memory, and male on male sexual assaults. This includes a completely new investigation process pertaining to the collection of forensic physiological evidence. OTJAG sent 57 Victim/Witness Liaison personnel for training with the National Center for Victims of Crime. This training included workshops concerning victim impact, communicating with victims, and working with victims of sexual assault. In coordination with MEDCOM and the European Regional Medical Command (ERMC), USAREUR initiated a pilot program to extend medical care and Sexual Assault Forensic Exams (SAFE) to victims and perpetrators of alleged sexual assault to 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Under this new initiative, the Military Treatment Facility (MTF) closest to the patient provides the SAFE exams and/or care using a medical team consisting of one forensic examiner and one female medic. The model of response in this pilot provides access to the SAFE exam via MTF rather than a host nation facility, thus safeguarding the restricted reporting option.

5. Improve System Accountability

5.1. Provide a description of how your Service executes its oversight of the SAPR program. Please include a synopsis of the formal processes, participants, etc. that support oversight of the program

The Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (ASA M&RA) has direct oversight of the Army's SHARP Program, while the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-1 is responsible for program implementation and assessment. The day-to-day operation of the Army SHARP Program is the responsibility of the Army SHARP Office which reports to the Director of Human Resources Policy in the Office of the Army G-1.

Since establishing a special sexual assault task force in 2004, the Secretary and the Chief of Staff have continuously taken a personal interest in the implementation and improvement of the Army's SAPR Program. In 2008, the Chief of Staff directed the Army establish a General Officer Steering Committee (GOSC). The SHARP Program GOSC, and a supporting Council of Colonels, provides strategic oversight of the Army SHARP Program and recommends management strategies, policies, plans, processes, and resources necessary to adequately prevent and respond to incidents of sexual assault within the Army.

The Army SHARP Office executes the Army SHARP Program through a network of Program Managers at the major unit level (Army Command through Division) who work with first response organizations and personnel as well as installation resources. Installations and deployed Commands (Brigade and higher) also exercise local SAPR Program oversight using Sexual Assault Review Boards (SARB) to review sexual assault cases, issues, and processes. In accordance with Chapter 8, AR 600-20, the senior mission commander, or designated representative, chairs the monthly SARBs.

Commands play a key role in implementing the SAPR Program throughout the Army. Commands are responsible for victim advocacy program management, training, and ensuring that each installation has a coordinated twenty-four hours a day/seven days a week victim advocacy response system in place. The Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) works with the senior commander, and all unit commanders, to ensure that Unit Victim Advocates (UVAs), and Deployable SARCs (DSARCs) receive training prior to providing services to victims and prior to deployment.

As of Jul 10, the Army began implementing new Command SARC/SHARP Specialists with responsibilities in alignment with the Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Campaign.

5.2. Describe the oversight activities that have taken place during FY10 with the methods or approaches you use to perform oversight, including but not limited to the documentation and outcomes of:

5.2.1. Program management reviews

AR 600-20 charges commanders and SAPR/SHARP Program proponents at all levels with oversight of program implementation. Organizations reported conducting reviews/inspections/assessments during FY10. For example:

- USAREUR utilized its SAPR Program Task Force and the USAREUR IG inspections to provide system accountability of the program.
- Throughout FY10, the CID Inspector General (IG) completed evaluations of investigative services related to sexual assault investigations. General findings verified, with few exceptions, that CID conducted investigations of sexual assault in a thorough and timely manner, and met the investigative standards of the command.
- OTJAG conducts several reviews/evaluations annually, including: an evaluation of the Victim/Witness Liaison (VWL) Program; evaluations of the Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP) training, the Victim/Witness Liaison (VWL) training, and training at the Judge Advocate General's Legal Center and School; and inspections of field legal offices pursuant to Article 6(a), UCMJ.
- The Army Medical Command conducted assessment of 46 Army Medical Treatment Facilities ranging in size from medical centers to health clinics and three deployed facilities in the FY10.
- IMCOM has incorporated SAPR Program requirements into the Army Community Service (ACS) Accreditation Standards. During FY10, IMCOM conducted ACS Accreditation visits at 36 installations (100% passed the SAPR standards).
- The ARNG SAPR Advisory Council meets at least two times each year to discuss program oversight information and regional issues faced by state personnel.

5.2.2. IG inspections of the program

The Department of the Army Inspector General (DAIG) conducts inspections at the direction of the Secretary of the Army. The Army SHARP Program Office works closely with the DAIG to help the inspection team prepare for inspections of the SHARP Program, to include identifying subject matter experts to augment the team. The Army Inspector General (DAIG) conducted a special inspection of the Army SHARP Program, completing its report in early FY10.

5.2.3. Other (Please explain)

Sexual Assault Review Boards (SARB) continue to serve as the primary forum to share best practices, identify lessons learned and locally assess program implementation. Installations and brigade level and higher deployed units conduct monthly SARBs. These forums allowed commanders and first responders to review cases and refine/improve program practices and procedures.

During FY10, Army installations reported holding SARB meetings on a monthly basis as required by AR 600-20 Chapter 8.

5.3. Describe steps taken to address recommendations from the following external oversight bodies:

5.3.1. Government Accountability Office

The GAO report published in Feb 2010 cited the status of progress made by DoD in addressing recommendations from the 2008 GAO review. These recommendations did not specifically recommend Army actions, however, the Army continues to work with DoD regarding its oversight role and to support its development of the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID).

5.3.2. DoD/Military Service IG

At the direction of the Secretary, the Army Inspector General completed an inspection report of the SAPR/SHARP Program during FY10, citing only minor observations requiring action:

- Establish an Appropriate Grade and Position Description for an Installation SARC. The Army G-1 SHARP Office, in coordination with US Army Manpower Analysis Agency (USAMAA), developed a Concept Plan which documents Army civilian billets (approximately 766) at Brigade and higher echelons in order to manage command SHARP programs. These AUG TDA positions are projected to be effective by 1 Oct 11. To bridge the gap until the TDA is established, the SHARP Program Office is using a Mobile Training Team (MTT) to train collateral duty personnel to perform SHARP duties.
- Continue to Emphasize Restricted and Unrestricted Reporting in Army Training. Army institutional and unit training continues to emphasize reporting options. Recent "Sex Signals" and "I. A.M. Strong" tours also reinforced reporting options. Integrated Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) and Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) training was developed and constitutes the new SHARP curriculum taught via MTT. TRADOC is also in the process of revising current SAPR/POSH training support packages throughout Professional Military Education (PME) and the Civilian Education System (CES) to reflect the integrated SHARP Program.
- Refine Sexual Assault Review Board (SARB) Operating Procedures. Policy revisions for the SHARP Program are underway and are dependent on the approval of the SHARP Concept Plan, results of the ongoing DoD SAPR Policy re-write, and final Congressional language addressing some of the recommendations in the Defense Task Force Report on Sexual Assault in the Military Services (DTF-SAMS), including the standardization across DoD. This action is also facilitated by the SHARP Concept Plan which will document and increase unit level personnel, resulting in additional full-time assets to manage all aspects of the SHARP Program, including the preparation and conduct of Sexual Assault Review Boards (SARB).

5.3.3. Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services (DTF-SAMS)

The Army conducted a thorough, General Officer level review of the DTF-SAMS Report. Many of the recommendations, when implemented, will improve the Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Programs within DoD. The Army is very supportive of those recommendations which call for an integrated prevention strategy that highlights the importance of leadership involvement, and recognizes the relationship between sexual harassment and sexual assault on the continuum of sexual misconduct.

Although the Army concurred or partially concurred with all but three of the Task

Force's recommendations, the Army also noted concerns that some recommendations:

- As opined by the Office of the Judge Advocate General, contained legal and/or military operational objections.
- May reduce the Services' operational control of their programs. The Army position is that Services should maintain responsibility for training of personnel and response to victims of sexual assault.
- Suggest DoD should prescribe Service force structure requirements related to SAPR Program implementation. DoD should implement their objectives via policy, which the Services must implement with appropriate force structure, given our unique organizations and missions.

The Army continues to work with DoD regarding implementation of DTF-SAMS recommendations. During FY 10, the Army's actions to sustain the "I. A.M. Strong" sexual assault prevention campaign and establish full-time unit level resources in the expanded SHARP Program helped address and support several DTF-SAMS recommendations. For example:

- Commander/leader involvement in the SAPR Program is a constant theme in Army guidance found in Chapter 8, AR 600-20 (Army Command Policy) and as part of the "I. A.M. Strong" campaign. The Secretary of the Army and the Chief of Staff personally launched Phase I (Committed Army Leadership) of the Army's Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy. They reinforce this guidance routinely, and specifically during the Annual Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Training Summits, attended by leaders from around the Army.
- Additionally, under the Army's emerging Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Program, additional personnel will assist commanders in managing and assessing their sexual assault prevention and response efforts. Training for these additional personnel began in FY10.
- The Army continues to have a standing General Officer Steering Committee.
- AR 600-20 (Army Command Policy) documents DSARC (and Unit Victim Advocate) selection, appointment, and training requirements.
- The Army has developed a plan to implement the SHARP Program in all units. Once implemented, each commander at brigade and higher echelons will have a designated, full-time, deployable SARC. Implementation of this model will occur incrementally across the Army during 2010-2012. The 80-hour SHARP training began in September 2010 using Mobile Training Teams.
- The Army has formal, progressive and sequential SAPR training programs of instruction for use in Professional Military Education (PME) and unit training. During FY10, the Army SHARP Program Office and TRADOC began to revise PME training to incorporate increased prevention initiatives associated with the SHARP Program and the "I. A.M. Strong" sexual assault prevention campaign.
- Peer education is an integral part of the Army's "I. A.M. Strong" sexual assault prevention campaign. Since 2008, the Army has contracted for over 1000 performances (approx 300,000 Soldiers) of "Sex Signals". The Army SHARP Office and TRADOC are working on plans to perform "Sex Signals" in all Initial Entry Training (IET) and Officer Basic Courses throughout the Army.

- The Army SHARP Program Office is also working with TRADOC and Cadet Command to develop new training for IET and ROTC. This new training incorporates "Sex Rules" messaging, a guide, and critical decision making.
- AR 600-20 requires installation commanders to seek Memoranda of Agreement/Understanding (MOA/MOU) with local civilian agencies (e.g., rape crisis facilities, hospitals, law enforcement), as needed.
- AR 600-20 requires each Army installation commander, and deployed unit commanders (brigade and higher), to establish and chair a monthly Sexual Assault Review Board (SARB). SARB membership includes the SARC, chaplains, medical and behavioral health representatives, and unit commanders, as required. The SARBs help identify and resolve issues relating to sexual assault prevention and response procedures. This includes any counseling which Soldiers may need.

5.3.4. Other (Please explain)

The Army also continues to monitor several versions of draft legislation which serve to direct the implementation of portions of the DTF-SAMS report recommendations.

5.4. Provide a summary of your research and data collection activities

5.4.1. Describe the research and data collection activities that have taken place within your Service during the past fiscal year

In addition to the required DoD data collection and reporting requirements to support this annual report, the Army conducted, or reported, other research and data collection activities during FY10.

The Army's primary research and survey organization is the U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI). As one of the lead research institutes for training, leader development, and Soldier research, ARI conducts survey research and occupational analysis. ARI provides valuable trend data and analysis of Soldier and leader attitudes and concerns. Two of ARI's recurring efforts provide valuable research/data to the Army SHARP Program.

The first is the Sample Survey of Military Personnel (SSMP), which ARI conducts bi-annually on a range of issues concerning Soldiers. Since 1996, the SSMP has periodically examined gender related issues.

The second effort is the Human Relations Operational Troops Survey. Following incidents of sexual misconduct at Army training centers in 1996, the Army G-1 and ASA M&RA tasked ARI to assess the Army human relations climate in operational units. To meet this goal, ARI conducted assessments in 2000, 2003, 2006, and 2009.

5.4.2. Provide the initiation or execution of any survey for the purpose of informing or improving Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

ARI conducted the Fall 2009 SSMP as an online web survey during the 1st Quarter of FY10 (from 14 Oct - 7 Dec 09) among officers (2LT-COL, WO1-CW5) and senior-level enlisted Soldiers (SSG-CSM) who were not currently deployed in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom (OIF) or Operation Enduring Freedom (OEF). ARI used a traditional paper/pencil questionnaire to survey junior enlisted Soldiers (PV2-SGT), at 33 CONUS installations, including Hawaii and Alaska.

The Fall 2009 SSMP addressed Soldiers' perceptions of command climate in their units using 29 factors, including the degree to which sexual assault is a problem.

- Among officers, 95% said sexual assault was no problem in their units, (compared to 96% in 2008 and 93% in 2007).
- Among enlisted Soldiers, 89% said sexual assault was no problem in their units, (compared to 90% in 2008 and 88% in 2007).

Although the vast majority of officers and Soldiers do not cite sexual assault as a problem, the data from the Fall 2009 SSMP does not show a statistically significant change from previous years.

5.4.3. Provide the initiation or execution of any empirical research or evaluation project to inform or improve Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

ARI published comprehensive results of the Human Relations (HR) 2009 Operational Troop Survey in July 2010. ARI used an online survey to collect self-reported data on Soldiers' perceptions and experiences with sexual harassment and sexual assault in the Active Army. Results are presented on 11,718 respondents (5,611 females and 6,107 males; PFC-SSG and 2LT to MAJ) in the operational Army.

The report concluded that the Army has taken significant steps to prevent and respond appropriately to sexual harassment and sexual assault.

The report noted that recently implemented initiatives, including improved and increased training, and the presence of sexual assault response teams at Army installations should result in more effective responses to complaints and improve human relations climate in operational units.

The majority of Soldiers surveyed expressed confidence that their chain of command will do the right thing when confronted with sexual harassment and sexual assault. However, over half of all female respondents cited some form of sexual harassment in the workplace, and the large majority continues to be reluctant to report sexual harassment and sexual assault incidents. A key reason victims cited for not reporting sexual harassment or sexual assault is that they took care of the problem themselves. Additionally, almost two-thirds of sexual assault victims said they did not report because they thought it would make their work situation unpleasant.

5.4.4. Other (Please explain)

The Army also conducted surveys of Soldiers in conjunction with the FY10 “Sex Signals” tour in order to gauge current attitudes and behaviors regarding bystander intervention, as well as any impact the training may have had on such attitudes. Significant results include:

- Nearly 29% of Soldiers who responded cited an improved/much improved understanding that Soldiers have a higher level of responsibility to intervene when they witness sexually aggressive behavior, on base or off.
- Over 20% of Soldiers cited an improved/much improved understanding of the definition of rape, and what constitutes consent.
- Over 90% of Soldiers said they were certain/very certain they would “do something to help if they see a Soldier who is surrounded by a group of people at a party and appears uncomfortable”.

5.5. Provide an update on how your Service has aligned its strategic planning documents to the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan

Launched in 2008, the Army’s Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy, with its “I. A.M. Strong” Campaign, remains aligned with DoD’s strategy. The Army’s strategic goal is to eliminate sexual assault and harassment by creating a climate where sexual misconduct is recognized and addressed in a way that respects the dignity of every member of the esteemed band of brothers and sisters.

While increasing emphasis to prevent sexual assaults before they occur, the Army continues to emphasize victim services and response capabilities, to include enhancements to investigation and prosecution resources. This also includes reducing the stigma of reporting, so that those who are victims of sexual assault can come forward, without fear, and receive the help they need and deserve.

During FY10, the Army developed a comprehensive SHARP Concept Plan which documents the resources necessary to ensure success of the Army and the DoD complementary strategies. Pending approval and funding, the SHARP Concept Plan provides full-time, trained and accessible SHARP personnel who are able to help commanders establish and maintain positive command climates, while simultaneously serving as SARCs and VAs to manage comprehensive response capabilities.

5.6. Describe what measures are taken by your Service to ensure that Service members protected by a military protective order are informed in a timely manner of the member’s option to request transfer from the command of assignment

Commanders’ use of military protective orders (MPO) and consideration of transferring sexual assault victims (and/or subjects) is documented in Army policy in Chapter 8, AR 600-20 (Army Command Policy), and included in pre-command training. Additionally, the current SHARP MTT discusses MPO use in the senior leader portion of the training.

Locally, training for commanders (to include some installation level Commander/First Sergeant courses), reinforces how military protective orders (MPO) can be used. In addition, SARCs and VAs inform the victim of their rights regarding separation from the offender, MPOs, and temporary restraining orders.

5.7. Describe what steps are being taken to improve the collection of sexual assault data, particularly how your Service is preparing data systems to interface with the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database

In FY10, the Army began the development of a web-based application to replace the current case reporting spreadsheet application with an automated tool that utilizes interfaces with authoritative data sources. This application, called SHARP, will assist SARCs with data entry accuracy, victim and offender demographic data, and data completeness through the information retrieved from authoritative sources. The data entered through SHARP will provide a viable case file for integration into the Army's Sexual Assault Data Management System (SADMS). The data case file links the criminal investigative data from CID, Army Court's-Martial data from OTJAG, and sexual assault related medical appointment dates into a complete and accurate holistic SADMS case.

Additionally, in preparation for the upcoming DoD Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID) system, the Army continues to work with DoD personnel to accommodate data requirements for DSAID that are not in SADMS. The Army agreed to add more than 70 new data elements to the SHARP web-based tool and SADMS, and coordinated a mapping strategy to ensure that SADMS data can load into DSAID.

5.8. Explain how your Service is reviewing military justice processes to improve investigations and prosecutions

In order to ensure that the Army most effectively addresses allegations of sexual assault, the Army Judge Advocate General Corps (JAGC) continues to implement the Special Victims Prosecutor (SVP) and Highly Qualified Experts (HQE) programs. These efforts are intended to establish the best practices available in regard to disposition of sexual assault allegations and to ensure the Army's ability to most effectively prosecute and defend sexual assault and special victims cases.

The Army's 14 SVPs focus nearly exclusively on the prosecution of sexual assault and special victims cases and train and assist other prosecutors on the same types of cases. The Army assigned SVPs to most effectively serve not only their installation but also their entire geographic area of responsibility. This mission requires SVPs to maintain excellent working relationships with the CID sexual assault special investigators and those professionals working to meet the physical, spiritual, and emotional needs of the victims. SVPs also develop sexual assault and family violence training programs for investigators and trial counsel in their areas of responsibility, using local, state, and federal resources in conjunction with information provided by JA organizations. SVPs coordinate with the Chiefs of Military Justice to provide this training.

The Army has seven OTJAG HQE in support of the SHARP Program. Three are devoted exclusively to the support and training of Army prosecutors from within the Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP), two to the support and training of Army defense counsel, one to improve the sexual assault advocacy at The Judge Advocate General's Legal Center and School and one to the supervision of the entire sexual assault program implementation within the Army JAG Corps.

5.9. Describe the policies, procedures, and processes implemented by your Service to monitor sexual assault cases in which the victim is a deployed member of the Armed Forces and the assailant is a foreign national Deployed CID elements notify the Army CID headquarters within 24 hours of the initiation of any sexual assault report in a deployed environment. CID monitors investigations on a monthly basis to ensure completion in a timely and thorough manner. The reporting, investigation, forensic examinations, and all other policies, procedures and processes related investigative actions for cases occurring in deployed environments are identical with cases occurring in the United States. Further, CID also monitors action taken against the offender on a monthly basis until there is a final disposition. This includes engaging with host nation authorities as necessary to get updates and status on cases involving foreign nationals.

6. Improve the Knowledge and Understanding of SAPR

6.1. Provide examples of your Service's efforts to leverage senior leadership and unit commanders support of the SAPR program (i.e., Held briefings, attended summits, etc.) to raise Service member's awareness of sexual assault matters

As previously noted, the Secretary, Chief of Staff and Sergeant Major of the Army continue to be personally involved in sustaining the momentum created by the Army Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy and "I. A.M. Strong" Campaign. Each uses their position to help shape the Army's sexual assault prevention and response efforts and ensure all Army leaders and unit commanders remain committed as well.

- The Annual Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Summits continue to feature the Secretary, Chief of Staff, Army and/or Sergeant Major of the Army involvement. In FY10, both the Secretary and Chief of Staff, Army delivered remarks at the 3rd Annual SHARP Summit which was held in Arlington, VA from 29 Mar - 1 Apr 10. The primary target audience was Brigade and Battalion Leaders (Commanders/CSM) and their SHARP Program proponents.
- The Sergeant Major of the Army appeared in two videos produced during FY10. "All of Us" (new recruit video) and "Protect and Teach" (Drill Sergeant video) were developed to convey to new Soldiers and intermediate leaders that the Army does not tolerate sexual assault, that reports of sexual assault are taken seriously, that offenders are held accountable, and those who intervene are doing the right thing.

Additionally, units, organizations and installations across the Army (including deployed units) conducted town hall meetings and other sexual assault awareness activities (walks, runs, etc).

Finally, in conjunction with Army-wide SHARP Program implementation, the SHARP MTT is conducting Senior Leader Training at each installation. This training, which began in the fourth quarter FY10, is for Battalion Commanders and above. The training begins with a video introduction from the Chief of Staff, Army and presents a candid examination of the “continuum of behavior” associated with sexual violence along with the roles, responsibilities and resources available to leaders and their SHARP personnel.

6.2. Describe the expansion or creation of response-related SAPR communication and outreach activities in FY10, including specific audiences and related goals

Continuing its partnership with the Better Opportunities for Single Soldiers (BOSS) program, the Army SHARP Office presented an “I. A.M. Strong Tour” and sponsored the Army Soldier Show and the Army Concert Tour during FY10. These events provided entertaining venues for BOSS Soldiers to engage with members of Army communities to reinforce sexual assault response and prevention awareness.

- The “I. A.M. Strong” Tour featured singer Leigh Jones. The tour performed at 24 venues around the Army (from Jan - Mar 10), in CONUS and Europe, providing uplifting entertainment while emphasizing the “I. A.M. Strong” message of sexual harassment and sexual assault prevention.
- The Soldier Show ran from May through November and visited over 50 Army installations in CONUS and Europe. It was a high-energy ensemble production, offering a wide range of popular music and stage spectacle to Soldiers and Families on Army Garrisons worldwide. Three motivational “I. A.M. Strong” commercials appeared during each performance, featuring songs written and performed by Soldier/rap artist SGT Daniel “Danny Bee” Bullock.
- The Army Concert Tour is a summer concert series that brings top name artists to Army installations. For the second year in a row, the SHARP Program and “I. A.M. Strong” sponsored the tour, which had eight concerts, beginning at Fort Knox on 29 May and concluding 11 Sep at Fort Benning.

6.3. Describe the measures of effectiveness for your Service’s outreach efforts (i.e., Surveys) and detail results

The SHARP Program conducted on-line surveys in conjunction with the “I. A.M. Strong” Tour and the Soldier Show. Taking the “I. A.M. Strong” Tour survey on-line allowed respondents to download three free songs performed by Leigh Jones. Taking the Soldier Show survey allowed respondents to register for a gift card at their installation as well as a grand prize vacation.

Total survey responses for the “I. A.M. Strong” Tour and Soldier Show revealed that Soldier and Army Community personnel enjoyed the performances, understood the SHARP messaging, and acknowledged their responsibility to intervene to prevent sexual assault and sexual harassment.

6.4. List active partnerships with other federal agencies, non-federal agencies, and/or organizations for the purpose of research and evaluation in conjunction with SAPR program activities

In addition to Section 2.1.3, which cites the Army's partnerships with nationally recognized subject matter experts and organizations, the Army continues to work with the Department of Justice (DOJ) and the U.S. Marshal Service to help identify and track registered sex offenders.

As a member of the DOJ International Working Group (IWG), the Army SHARP Program Office is assisting in the development of an international tracking system for registered sex offenders when they leave the United States. The Army will continue to participate in the IWG to determine if it is possible to track Army sex offender data in this new international tracking system.

6.5. List participation in congressional hearings, briefings, and congressional staff assistance meetings

Throughout FY10, the Army SHARP Program Office continued to support a variety of congressional activities. These activities included providing written testimony, papers and briefings to various House and Senate committees, as well as individual engagements with members of Congress.

- During their testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee in Feb 10, both the Secretary and Chief of Staff answered questions regarding the Army's commitment to end sexual assault, the "I. A.M. Strong" Campaign and current funding in the President's Budget to support the program.
- The Secretary met with Rep. Harman (CA) to discuss the Army's initiative for dealing with sexual assault.
- The ASA M&RA met with Rep. Tsongas (MA) to discuss Army initiatives with regards to sexual assault prevention and response.
- Army personnel, to include the SHARP Program Manager, met with several members of Congress and committee staff to review new Army sexual assault prevention videos.

6.6. Other (Please explain)

Communications and marketing are key elements to improve understanding of the Army's Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy. The Army continues to operate Communications Planning Group (CPG) that meets regularly to map out communications, media, and public affairs activities regarding sexual assault prevention and response. A SHARP Program representative co-chairs the CPG with a representative from the Office of the Chief, Public Affairs (OCPA).

7. Lessons Learned and Way Ahead

7.1. Provide a summary discussion of the progress made and challenges confronted by your Service's SAPR program in FY10

The Army made important progress in implementing its Sexual Assault Prevention

Strategy and “I. A.M. Strong” Campaign during FY10. Much of the visible progress was the marketing and messaging activities that served to implement Phase II of the Prevention Strategy: Army-wide Conviction. Examples of these activities include the “I. A.M. Strong” Tour, sponsorship of the Army Soldier Show and Army Concert Tour, and new videos to complement current training.

Other progress was less visible as some SHARP Program improvement actions were still ongoing, or just completed, at the end of FY10, with implementation pending for FY11. Examples of these actions include: SHARP Concept Plan; GTSY.com; the Team Bound self-study program; SHARP Mobile Training Team; and the Initial Entry Training and ROTC/BOLC training revisions.

The primary challenges include the oversight and implementation of a comprehensive and complex program which relies primarily on collateral duty personnel at the unit level, where the problem of sexual assault and sexual harassment are most prevalent. The Army remains steadfast in its commitment to address this challenge by implementing a fully resourced SHARP Program as documented in the pending Concept Plan.

7.2. Supply the status of FY10 plans described in last year’s report, including but not limited to:

7.2.1. Prevention

- The Army finalized development of GTSY.com in FY10. However, additional legal reviews and testing must still occur in FY11 prior to a full implementation of this social media platform for Soldiers and the entire Army Family.
- The Army SHARP Office distributed two versions of a training video in FY10, to promote “I. A.M. Strong” prevention initiatives among Soldiers and leaders. The Army intends to incorporate these videos will into annual unit training beginning in FY11.
- The Army completed the development of pre-accession training for Junior Reserve Officer Training Course (ROTC) students, Senior ROTC Cadets, and Future Soldiers in FY10. The Army plans to fully implement this training in FY11.
- TRADOC began revising curricula for Professional Military Education (PME) training, beginning with Initial Entry Training (IET) courses to focus on preventing sexual assault and harassment. The Army plans to fully implement this training in FY11.
- The interactive, decision-making, training DVD, “Team Bound” was completed in FY10. Beginning in FY11, “Team Bound” becomes a mandatory, annual self-study resource for all Soldiers.

7.2.2. Response

- During FY10, the Army continued the development of a comprehensive sexual assault and sexual harassment response and prevention program structure. This Army-wide structure provides increased prevention and response capabilities down to the small unit level, with full-time personnel at Brigade and above.

- To bridge the gap until full-time manning in FY11/12, the SHARP Program will continue to employ collateral duty personnel to perform SHARP duties.

7.2.3. Oversight

- Pending the approval of the Army SHARP Program Concept Plan, by the end of FY11, full-time Army civilian positions at Brigade and higher echelons will begin to help commanders manage their command SHARP Programs.
- The Army SHARP Office drafted comprehensive revisions to the Army SHARP Program policy in FY10. Publication of the revised policy is planned for FY11, pending final approval of the SHARP Concept Plan and revisions to the DoD Directive and DoD Instruction.
- Development of a SHARP web-based data system continued in FY10. This system upgrade will provide increased data integrity of sexual assault reports and include Unit Identification Codes to provide unit level data to help commanders identify trends. The Army plans full implementation in FY11.

7.3. Describe your Service's plans for FY11, which may include the discussion of the following:

- Restricted Reporting
- Advocacy
- Prevention and training
- Research and surveys
- Oversight activities
- Medical Healthcare
- Mental Healthcare
- Forensic exams
- Investigative
- Legal
- Chaplains

The primary focus during FY11 is to continue to move forward with executing the Army's Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy and the "I. A.M. Strong" Campaign. Specific actions, already cited in this report, include:

- Approval of the SHARP Concept Plan and implement a smooth transition to a comprehensive SHARP Program throughout all Army organizations.
- Continue the SHARP MTT to train full-time and collateral duty unit SHARP personnel.
- Revise Army policy to comply with DoD policy revision and document an integrated, comprehensive SHARP Program.
- Implement the web-enabled SHARP application to improve integration of case files into SADMS.
- Revise SHARP unit refresher training and all PME SHARP training, to include the incorporation of Sex Signals into IET and Officer Basic Course (BOLC B).

- Implement GTSY.com.
- Conduct the 4th Annual Sexual Harassment/Assault Prevention Summit.

7.4. Other (Please explain)

The Army remains committed to eliminating sexual assault, and the enabling behavior of sexual harassment from its ranks. To do so requires a comprehensive program consisting of dedicated personnel with adequate resources. During FY11, the Army SHARP Program Office will continue to work with all of its partners to formally document and obtain the resources necessary to fulfill this commitment.

Part 2 - Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military: Army

1. Analytic Discussion

1.1. Provide an analytic discussion of your Service's Statistical Report. This section should include such information as:

- Notable changes in the data since FY09 (in percents)
- Possible explanations for changes, or lack of change, in data
- Implications the data may have for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Other (Please explain)

There were 1390 unrestricted reports and 299 restricted reports of sexual assault in the Army during FY10. The total number of reports (restricted and unrestricted) decreased 8% from FY09. The FY10 data equates to 2.5 reported cases per 1000 active duty Soldiers, compared to 2.6 per 1000 in each year from FY07 through FY09.

This decrease in reported cases is not in line with the Army's strategic goal which called for increasing Soldiers' propensity to report (to 50% in FY10) and causing a corresponding, near-term increase in reported cases. Indications are that the propensity to report remained at about 33% in FY10, unchanged from FY09. One explanation for this is that several of the Army's "I. A.M. Strong" Campaign initiatives were still in development and/or pending approval in FY10. These initiatives, planned for implementation in FY11, should have a positive effect on reducing the stigma of reporting.

Army Rate/1000	1.1	2.0	2.8	2.6	2.6	2.6	2.5
CENTCOM Rate/1000	0.6	0.9	1.2	0.8	1.4	1.4	1.7

Note 1: Includes restricted and unrestricted reports.

Note 2: Restricted reporting did not go into effect until June 2005.

Note 3: Beginning in 2007, DoD directed reporting be by fiscal year, not calendar year.

Additionally, as displayed in Figure 1 above, reported cases of sexual assault involving Soldiers in CENTCOM remain historically much lower than the rate of reported cases throughout the Army. The disparity between the Army-wide and CENTCOM rates/1000 calls into question whether sexual assaults actually occur at a much lower rate in CENTCOM, or whether sexual assaults are reported at a much lower rate than the rest of the Army. Current available survey data indicate that under-reporting is more prevalent among deployed Soldiers and that the rate of sexual assaults in CENTCOM could be comparable to the total Army rate. However, the reporting gap closed significantly in FY10, suggesting an increase in deployed Soldiers' propensity to report sexual assault.

Tabs 1 through 6 in the attached spreadsheet contain the detailed sexual assault data in the reporting formats required by DoD for restricted and unrestricted reports. These data represent cases reported Army-wide and in the CENTCOM Combat Area of Interest (CAI) during FY10.

2. Unrestricted Reporting

2.1. Victim Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Type of offenses
- Demographic trends
- Service referrals
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Military Protective Orders Issued as a Result of an Unrestricted Report (i.e., Number issued, number violated, etc.)
- Others (Please explain)

Figure 2 shows the breakout of victims (service members and non-service members) and each type of sexual assault investigated in the 1390 FY10 unrestricted reports. The proportion of assault type (e.g. 58% rape/aggravated sexual assault cases) and cases with service member victims (69%) are both comparable to the data reported in FY09.

Victim Status by Assault Type (all unrestricted cases)	Service Member Victim	Non-Service Member Victim	Total Cases	Percent of Total
Rape	272	202	474	34%
Non-Consensual Sodomy	75	45	120	9%
Aggravated Sexual Assault	227	99	326	23%
Aggravated Sexual Contact	25	12	37	3%
Abusive Sexual Contact	62	18	80	6%
Wrongful Sexual Contact	288	56	344	25%
Indecent Assault	6	3	9	<1%
Total	955	435	1390	100%

Some demographic trends have remained relatively consistent over the past few years. For example, 86% of Army victims in FY10 were in the grades E1-E4; compared to 88% in FY09. Also, the percentage of male Army victims reported in sexual assault cases was over 8% in FY10, compared to 10% in FY09; and 9% in FY08.

One demographic area that is trending downward is the victim age category. In FY10, only 64% of Army victims were 24 years old or younger, compared to 70% in FY09 and 74% in FY10. While there is no definite reason for this change, the Army's awareness and prevention efforts have specifically targeted this age group, suggesting a positive impact on peer-to-peer intervention.

Victims in reported sexual assaults in CENTCOM continued to be older and of higher rank than victims in Army-wide cases. Specifically, 74% of Army victims in CENTCOM reported cases in FY10 were E1-E4 compared to 86% of victims Army-wide. Similarly, 60% of victims in CENTCOM reports were 24 years old or younger, compared to 64% Army-wide.

Military Police Operations reported 157 Military Protective Orders (MPO) issued in FY10. None were reported to have been violated.

2.2. Subject Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Demographic trends
- Disposition trends
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

Trends regarding alleged Army offenders remained mostly unchanged in FY10. Identified alleged offenders were 97% male in FY10; compared to 99% in FY08 and FY09. The percentage of alleged offenders who were E1-E4 remained at 59% in FY10. Also, 47% in of alleged offenders in FY09 were 24 years old or younger; down from 47% in FY09 and 48% in FY08.

Figure 3 shows the breakout of subjects (alleged offenders) and each type of sexual assault investigated in FY09 unrestricted reports. The proportion of FY10 cases with service member subjects (84%) is slightly higher than the 81% reported in FY09 cases. The percentage of unidentified offenders in FY10 was 11% compared to 16% in FY09.

Offender Status by Assault Type (all unrestricted cases)	Service Member Offender	Non-Service Member Offender	Unidentified Offender	Total Cases	Percent of Total
Rape	396	19	59	474	34%
Non-Consensual Sodomy	93	4	23	120	9%
Aggravated Sexual Assault	287	6	33	326	23%
Aggravated Sexual Contact	32	1	4	37	3%
Abusive Sexual Contact	70	5	5	80	6%
Wrongful Sexual Contact	289	24	31	344	25%
Indecent Assault	6	0	3	9	<1%

Subjects in reported sexual assaults in CENTCOM during FY10 also tended to be older and higher rank than subjects in Army-wide cases. Specifically, 38% of Army subjects in CENTCOM reported cases were E1-E4 compared to 59% of subjects Army-wide. Similarly, 33% of subjects in CENTCOM reports were 24 years old or younger, compared to 44% in Army-wide reports.

Under the provisions of AR 600-20, paragraph 8-5(m)(5), the authority to dispose of a sexual assault allegation is withheld to the Battalion commander level and above. A commander authorized to dispose of sexual assault allegations may only do so after receiving the advice of the servicing judge advocate. The time it takes to make a disposition decision depends on many factors, including the complexity of the allegation, the availability of evidence, continued investigation, the continued cooperation of victims and witnesses, and coordination with civilian authorities.

A commander may employ more than one disciplinary tool, including administrative actions, to fully address an allegation. Although the format of this report requires the Army to place each allegation into a single disposition category, the explanations provided below and in the synopsis report (Tab 7 of the attached spreadsheet) reflect that several disposition categories may be appropriate for a single allegation.

There were 1414 subjects in allegations of sexual assault, ranging from rape to indecent assault (wrongful touching), pending disposition in FY10. This includes subjects from reports made in FY10 and subjects from reports in prior fiscal years that were still pending disposition on 30 Sep 09.

Of the 1414 subjects pending disposition, 1028 were disposed of in FY10:

- 300 allegations were disposed of through the preferral of court-martial charges.
- 94 allegations were disposed of through an administrative discharge of the subject. Of those 94 subjects that were administratively discharged, 31 were also given non-judicial punishment prior to separation.
- 179 allegations were disposed of through non-judicial punishment.
- 98 allegations were disposed of through other adverse administrative actions.
- 131 allegations were complicated by the refusal of the victim to cooperate. In some cases, disciplinary action was still taken. Of the 131 cases in which a victim declined to participate: court-martial charges were preferred against one subject; 12 were administratively discharged; 26 were given non-judicial punishments; and 8 were given adverse administrative actions.
- 47 allegations were disposed of by a civilian or foreign authority because the accused was not subject to the jurisdiction of the military.
- 18 allegations were disposed of by civilian or foreign authority although the accused was a subject to military jurisdiction. In these cases, the commander waited to impose discipline until after the civilian case concluded.
- 161 allegations were determined to have insufficient evidence of any offense. Although the allegations made against the offender met the standard for a criminal investigation of at least one offense, there was not enough evidence to legally prove those elements beyond a reasonable doubt.

Of the 386 cases that were not disposed of:

- 90 allegations involved an unknown subject.
- 8 allegations involved a subject who was deceased or had deserted.
- 3 allegations involved a victim who was deceased.

- One allegation involved an expired statute of limitations.
- 284 allegations were still pending disposition by commander at the end of FY10.

2.3. Reporting Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Unrestricted Reports (i.e., Did more reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc.)
- Investigations
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

The unrestricted reports of sexual assault discussed above, and detailed in Tab 1 of the attached spreadsheet, represent all cases reported to CID during FY10 in which either the victim or alleged offender was a service member, but neither was a juvenile. CID thoroughly investigates and documents each unrestricted report, regardless if the case is later determined to be unfounded.

While other jurisdictions may dispose of reports of sexual assault before opening an investigation, the Army's practice is to formally investigate every allegation. Although this practice may contribute to a seemingly higher number of cases, it demonstrates the Army's commitment to thoroughly investigate all unrestricted reports of sexual assault.

The length of time to complete a sexual assault criminal investigation during FY10 averaged 93 days, slightly lower than 95 days in FY09. Each case is unique and the amount of time it takes to complete an investigation is dependent on several factors, including: type of complaint, delays in reporting the incident, ages and types of victims, amount of physical evidence, and cooperative or uncooperative witnesses. As a result, 520 of the 1390 investigations started during FY10 were pending completion at the end of the fiscal year.

The amount of time it took victims to file an unrestricted report following an incident was comparable to FY09. 41% of victims filed their unrestricted report within 3 days, compared to 42% in FY09; whereas 7% of victims waited over a year to file an unrestricted report, compared to 6% in FY09. Additionally, 65% of unrestricted reports occurred on a military installation in FY10, compared to 68% in FY09.

3. Restricted Reporting

3.1. Victim Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Demographics trends
- Service referrals
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

During FY10, the Army recorded 373 restricted reports, of which 74 reports later changed to unrestricted. This includes 37 restricted reports in the CENTCOM Combat Area of Interest, of which 14 reports later changed to unrestricted.

Restricted report victim demographics yielded some differences from unrestricted reports. For example, 57% of restricted report victims were 24 years old or younger, compared to 64% in unrestricted reports. (Note: Both were 70% in FY09).

Similar to the demographics in CENTCOM unrestricted reports, victims in FY10 restricted reports among deployed units tended to be older and higher rank than victims in Army-wide restricted reports. Specifically, 64% of Army victims in CENTCOM reported cases were E1-E4 compared to 76% of victims Army-wide. Also, 44% of victims in CENTCOM restricted reports were 24 years old or younger, compared to 66% in Army-wide restricted reports.

3.2. Reporting Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Restricted Reports (i.e., Did more occur reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc)
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

There are some similarities between restricted and unrestricted reports. For example, most (42-43%) of reports (restricted and unrestricted) occurred on Saturday or Sunday. Additionally, a similar percentage (8-9%) of victims filing either a restricted or unrestricted report waited over a year to file their report. However, there was no predominant day of the week pattern for either report in the CENTCOM CAI. Also, the percentage of deployed restricted reports waiting over a year to file (14%) was significantly higher than unrestricted reports (8%).

There was one notable contrast between restricted and unrestricted reports. Only 45% of restricted reports were for alleged assaults that occurred on a military installation, compared to 65% for unrestricted reports. The percent of reports on installations in the CENTCOM CAI were much higher; but still showed a disparity between restricted (86%) and unrestricted (96%) reports.

4. Service Referrals for Victims of Sexual Assault

4.1. Unrestricted Report Referral Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

Soldiers and other service members receiving victim services related to unrestricted reports of sexual assault continue to overwhelmingly use military facilities (greater than 99%) rather than civilian facilities. This includes 11 victims who received services for an incident that occurred prior to joining the military. Additionally, there were 151 SAFE exams conducted for unrestricted reports.

All (100%) victims receiving services related to unrestricted reports of sexual assault in CENTCOM did so in military facilities, including 7 SAFE exams.

4.2. Restricted Report Referral Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

All (100%) of Soldiers and other service members receiving victim services related to restricted reports of sexual assault did so in military facilities. This includes 15 victims who received services for an incident that occurred prior to joining the military. Additionally, there were 55 SAFE exams conducted for restricted reports.

All (100%) victims receiving services related to restricted reports of sexual assault in CENTCOM did so in military facilities, including 2 SAFE exams.

4.3. Service Referrals for Non-Military Victims Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

There were 82 non-military personnel who received victim services related to unrestricted reports of sexual assault during FY10. Most of these victims (75) received services in military facilities, including one in the CENTCOM AOR.

WASHINGTON DC 20350-1000

MEMORANDUM FOR UNDER SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
(PERSONNEL AND READINESS)

SUBJECT: Department of the Navy Submission to the Secretary of Defense's Report to Congress on Sexual Assaults Involving Members of the Armed Forces for Fiscal Year 2010

As requested by your memo of 2 August 2010, TAB A is provided as Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 input from the Department of the Navy (DON) for your annual Report to Congress on Sexual Assaults Involving Members of the Armed Forces, that is mandated by Public Law 108-375, Section 577(f)(4), as expanded by Public Laws 109-63 and 109-364.

The DON and its two Military Services - the United States Navy and the United States Marine Corps - continue our commitment to reduce the incidence of sexual assault, provide compassionate support to sexual assault survivors, and focus on prevention. Throughout FY10, senior Department leadership provided a consistent top-down message, underscored by their own actions, in multiple venues, that sexual assault is incompatible with our core values; it is corrosive to morale; and it undermines operational and combat readiness. Examples of the many initiatives taken by the Department include DON Bystander Intervention pilots, the first-ever DON-wide summit for Sexual Assault Response Coordinators, two DON Sexual Assault Advisory Council meetings, the establishment of "Sexual Assault Investigation and Prosecution" training for Naval Criminal Investigative Service and Navy/Marine Corps Judge Advocates, and the hiring of a Highly Qualified Expert, Dr. Alan Berkowitz to support the Department-wide focus on prevention.

Should you need additional information, my point of contact for this action is Ms. Jill Loftus, who may be reached at (703) 697-2180 or jill-loftus@navy.mil.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military: Department of the Navy

Executive Summary (Department of the Navy)

Sexual assault is incompatible with our core values, it is corrosive to morale, and it undermines both operational and combat readiness. During Fiscal Year (FY) 2010, the Department of the Navy (DON) and its two Military Services – the United States Navy (USN) and the United States Marine Corps (USMC) actively demonstrated, through senior-level support from the Secretary of the Navy, the Chief of Naval Operations, the Commandant of the Marine Corps, and others throughout the Fleet, that combating sexual assault is a high priority of the Department of the Navy. The Secretariat-level strategy focuses on a consistent top-down leadership message, the development of updated large-scale training tools in collaboration with recognized experts, and site specific collaborations to explore sexual assault prevention and response solutions. Our priority is to engage key stakeholders in simultaneous data-driven prevention strategies to achieve a significant, measurable DON-wide reduction in the incidence of sexual assault.

The Secretary of the Navy established the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (DON-SAPRO) in September 2009. The new organization is led by a Senior Executive Service civilian who reports directly and regularly to the Secretary. Its staff is a hand-picked cadre of experienced and senior Navy and Marine Corps officers and DON civilians. The Department's objective is to cultivate a culture of gender respect where sexual assault is never tolerated. DON-SAPRO has been active in maintaining the visibility of DON-wide SAPR activities; ensuring cross-organizational communication and coordination; providing expert advice to SECNAV and Navy and Marine Corps stakeholders; developing official DON-level policy; promoting pilot initiatives toward preventing sexual assaults; and applying advanced data analysis to outcomes-based assessments of program effectiveness.

In its first full year of operations, DON-SAPRO has had major impacts through oversight and information gathering visits to Navy and Marine Corps installations, both CONUS and OCONUS. DON-SAPRO also sponsored the first-ever DON-wide summit for Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs) of both the Navy and Marine Corps. Presenters included the Under Secretary of the Navy, the Vice Commandant of the Marine Corps, the Deputy N1 of the Navy, the Master Chief Petty Officer of the Navy, a representative of the Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps, and other key military and civilian Subject Matter Experts (SMEs). DON-SAPRO facilitated two DON Sexual Assault Advisory Council (DON-SAAC) meetings, each personally chaired by the Secretary of the Navy and attended by senior Navy and Marine Corps leaders along with other key SAPR stakeholders. DON-SAPRO released two new SAPR instructions, with comprehensive updates to Secretariat policy planned for FY11 after pending reissuance of the relevant DoD Directive and Instruction.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

The Director of DON-SAPRO and her Deputy met three times with Congressional staff and have responded to numerous Congressional questions on SAPR issues. In addition, Congressional staff made two site visits to Naval Station Great Lakes and to the United States Naval Academy to meet with local SAPR personnel.

Strategic communication and media coverage for DON-wide SAPR activity was a priority throughout FY10. The Director of DON-SAPRO was interviewed repeatedly by Navy Times and other national media, and she made presentations to senior leaders at multiple venues throughout the year. DON-SAPRO staff participated in panel discussions at a National conference, and a Navy legal SME reviewed SAPR issues in presentations at several national conferences.

One DON-SAPRO responsibility is to maintain visibility of Navy and Marine Corps SAPR Programs world-wide. We conducted nine site visits to Navy and Marine Corps commands in Bahrain, ISA Air Base (also in Bahrain), Djibouti, Sigonella (Italy), Naples (Italy), Rota (Spain), Souda Bay (Greece), Guam, and Hawaii in an effort to tap the unique insights of field level Commanders, Program Managers and key stakeholders, and to hold focus groups with junior enlisted Sailors and Marines (E1-E4), who represent those at highest risk for sexual assaults. These insights assist the Department in formulating Departmental policy guidance and in structuring prevention strategies in collaboration with DON's two Services. We also used this opportunity to simultaneously promote small group training on Bystander Intervention, as part of the DON prevention strategy, and to get feedback on the lessons learned from our sponsored Mentors in Violence Prevention (MVP) pilot initiatives and Fleet SAPR Leadership Workshops. In addition, DON-SAPRO staff visited multiple Navy and Marine Corps installations in Southern California to assess the impact on restricted reporting processes due to state-mandated reporting of all sexual assaults by medical personnel. Visits to training sites nation-wide helped us assess patterns of sexual assaults in schoolhouse environments.

DON-SAPRO has initiated and resourced several key initiatives for the Navy and Marine Corps SAPR programs in FY10. Specifically DON-SAPRO funded a full-time position at Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) to support data collection on sexual assault cases, funded MVP Bystander Intervention pilots for Navy and Marine Corps, funded the NCIS and Navy/Marine Corps Judge Advocate General Mobile Training Team "Sexual Assault Investigation and Prosecution", and hired a Highly Qualified Expert (HQE), Dr. Alan Berkowitz – well known for Bystander Intervention and Social Norms theory to support the Department-wide focus on prevention. The resourcing of these key initiatives enables the Navy and Marine Corps to expand their training and determine effective prevention measures.

The Department of the Navy continues its commitment to reduce the incidence of sexual assault, provide compassionate support to sexual assault survivors, and its focus on prevention. In FY11 we are planning a 2nd DON Sexual Assault Prevention Summit for senior leadership and SARCs, and DON and USN are in the planning stages for a site-specific prevention pilot, and a large scale DON survey. Combating sexual assault remains a top priority for the Secretary of the Navy.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military: United States Navy

Executive Summary (United States Navy: Executive Agent/OPNAV N1)

In September 2009, the Chief of Naval Operations (CNO) directed that the Deputy Chief of Naval Operations (DCNO), Manpower Personnel Training and Education (N1) become the Executive Agent (EA) for the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) program. CNO further directed the Navy Sexual Assault Victim Intervention (SAVI) program be renamed to SAPR, in order to reflect the Navy emphasis on prevention and response and to align Navy with OSD guidance.

As Navy's SAPR EA, DCNO (N1) directed the stand-up of a SAPR Cross Functional Team (CFT) chaired by a Navy Flag Officer (N13) and comprised of key stakeholders. The CFT established sub-working groups for Policy, Training, and Prevention. The SAPR CFT meets monthly to collaborate and coordinate on program issues, provide program updates and continue to mature and improve Navy's SAPR program.

During FY10, Navy's SAPR CFT developed a Strategic Communications Plan (Chief of Information -CHINFO), an Executive Agent Charter (Office of the Chief of Navy Operations -OPNAV), and a SAPR Action Plan (Key Stakeholders) that included tracking of actions and milestones. VCNO approved a POM-12 budget submission for five (5) additional staff at OPNAV N135 to provide oversight for the Navy SAPR program.

Throughout FY10, the Navy's SAPR program's current status and way ahead was briefed by N13 (2-Star Flag) to senior Navy leadership, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff, 3/4 Star Symposia, CNO Executive Boards (CEB), New Flag/Senior Executives (NFLEX), and several Fleet-wide Senior Leadership Workshops. A weekly SAPR program update was provided at the CNO's Morning Meeting and a weekly meeting with the Director and staff of the Department of the Navy (DON) SAPR Office was established.

The Navy operating instruction (OPNAVINST 1752.1B) was revised by the Policy working group to ensure Navy's compliance with revised OSD/DON SAPR office guidance and Naval Inspector General (NAVINSGEN) recommendations. The SAPR CFT also engaged in development of research requirements for an effective and sustainable pilot Bystander Intervention (BI) training model which was begun with selected Fleet units in March 2010 and is currently under evaluation by NETC for Navy wide use.

Other projects included reviewing all SAPR-related training conducted throughout the Navy career continuum and engaging civilian SMEs to conduct workshops and briefs to increase Sexual Assault Prevention knowledge and commitment to prevention. Strong leadership messages were also developed and provided through social marketing media channels.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Commander, Naval Installations Command (CNIC) implements the Navy SAPR program through installation Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs). CNIC is the only Navy agency with a direct funding line using the SECDEF required program element codes for the SAPR program.

A primary focus for CNIC in FY10 was to ensure Navy-wide standardization in SARC service delivery and implementation of the SAPR Case Management System (CMS). SARCs attended 54 CNIC webinars covering eight different topics ranging from their new roles in data collection and case management, to facilitating SAPR annual general military training (GMT) and training for key SAPR personnel at command levels. 55 SARCs attended the first annual DON SAPR SARC Conference in March 2010 which included five days of Navy specific training by Navy and civilian subject matter experts (SMEs).

CNIC staff served as SMEs for several Naval Education and Training Command (NETC) Center for Personal and Professional Development (CPPD) products to include: the FY10 SAPR GMT and new SAPR supervisory-level training applications.

SARCs were provided a CNIC standardized SAPR training brief for use at Fleet workshops and a revised SAPR Commander's Toolkit, provided to Commanding Officers during SARC in-briefs. CNIC also launched a new SARC web-based training, required for all new SARCs, revised several SAPR brochures, and revised the Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) Accreditation Standards for the SAPR program.

In April 2010, Navy conducted over 180 Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) activities worldwide to include forums, events/booths, news events, runs/walks, training events and "denim" events.

1. Program Overview – United States Navy (USN)

The Deputy Chief Naval Operations (DCNO) (N1) as Executive Agent (EA) of the Navy SAPR program establishes policy and provides oversight to Navy agencies. N135 (Navy Flag Officer) chairs the SAPR CFT that collaborates and coordinates on program issues, provides program updates and continues to mature and improve Navy's SAPR program. The CFT is comprised of:

- Office of Chief of Naval Operations (OPNAV N135 )
- Commander, Navy Installations Command (CNIC N91)
- United States Fleet Forces Command (USFFC)
- Commander, Pacific Fleet (PACFLT)
- Naval Education and Training Command (NETC)
- U. S. Navy Chief of Information (CHINFO)
- Office of the Judge Advocate General (OJAG)
- Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED)
- Chief of Chaplains Corps (CHC N097)
- Navy Personnel Research, Studies, and Technology (NPRST)
- Naval Criminal Investigative Services (NAVCRIMINSERV)
- MCPON'S Office
- Commander, Naval Reserve Forces Command (CNRFC)

CNIC (N91) serves as the program manager for Navy SAPR execution and is responsible for managing, implementing and overseeing installation programs. Echelon 2/3 commands establish and maintain the SAPR program and ensure subordinate commands support and maintain effective SAPR programs. Regional Commanders promulgate guidance to installation commanders who implement, fund, and support effective SAPR programs as outlined in OPNAV instructions and referenced senior level guidance. Commanders, CO's and Officers in Charge are tasked to work with and support the Installation SARC's who are the SAPR subject matter experts for commands.

Key Navy agencies (NETC, BUMED, OJAG, NCIS, CNIC) are tasked to develop program standards and ensure their agency personnel work together and support commands, COs and victims of sexual assaults as outlined by specific instructions, directives and policy guidance.

Policy Guidance:

OPNAVINST 1752.1B "Sexual Assault Victim Intervention (SAVI) Program," 29 Dec 06 was the Navy's comprehensive SAPR policy. An updated instruction, OPNAV

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

1752.1C, is currently in coordination and chop through the OPNAV chain of command. This revision includes all DoD directive and instruction requirements (DODD 6495.01, DODI 6495.02).

OPNAVINST 3100.6J “Special Incident Reporting Procedures,” 22 Dec 09, outlines Command sexual assault situation reporting (SITREP) requirements. Navy messages (NAVADMIN) were released to clarify updated procedures, including a requirement for Commanding Officers to consult a Staff Judge Advocate (SJA) prior to adjudication of any Sexual Assault or Sexual Harassment cases.

SECNAVINST 1752.4A “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response,” 01 Dec 05. Provides direction/guidance for the establishment of a sexual assault prevention and response program within the Department of the Navy (DON).

SECNAVINST 5430.108 “DON Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office,” 10 Jun 10, outlines the mission and functions of the DON SAPR Office (DON SAPRO).

CNIC policy implementation directives (content included in revised OPNAVINST):

- SAVI-001 “SARC Position Guidance” of 10 May 05
- SAVI-003 “Navy Confidentiality Policy for Victims of SA and Collection of Forensic Evidence” of 30 Nov 05

FY10 released Navy Administrative Messages (NAVADMIN):

- “SAPR” (282/09)
- “Personal For - Sexual Assault” (315/09)
- “SAPR Quarterly Update” (096/10)
- “GMT” (098/10)
- “Sexual Assault Awareness Month: (119/10)
- “Personal For - Sexual Assault Special Incident Reporting Procedures” (019/10)

Navy SAPR is a command program consisting of multiple key stakeholders and first responders. CNIC structure is hierarchical from HQ level (3 Star) through Fleet and Family Readiness Programs (FFRP) (N9) to Regional Commanders (2 Stars), through FFRP Directors to Installation Commanders, Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) Directors/Site Managers and installation SARCs.

Commands are required to have the following SAPR positions:

- Victim Advocates, trained and supervised by SARCs.
- Command Points of Contact (POC), trained by SARCs, responsible for Command SAPR training/prevention program.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- Command Liaisons, trained by SARCs, are responsible for liaison between victims and CO's and they attend monthly SA case management group (SACMG) meetings.
- Data Collection Coordinator (DCC), trained by SARCs to assist command in data collection for SITREPs.

Deployed Environments - The structure of the Navy SAPR program is consistent both afloat and ashore. VAs deploy with commands and are trained and supported by installation SARCs (reach back for support). Victims are supported by trained VAs and the installation SARCs. If a Sailor serving as an Individual Augmentee (IA) or is assigned to a non-Navy installation, support is provided by the affiliated/lead Military Service SARC and VA in that installation/environment (e.g. Iraq, Marine Base, etc.).

Navy Medicine is governed by BUMEDINST 6310.11 of 23 Jun 2009. The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) Office of Women's Health provides oversight to Navy Medicine personnel and commands, to include Navy Medicine Regions, Military Treatment Facilities (MTF) and branch clinics. In Jan 2010, BUMED hired a full time instructor to provide training to those commands providing sexual assault forensic exam (SAFE) services within the MTF. Navy Medicine also participates in collaborative training with NCIS, OJAG, SARCs, and Chaplain Corps to provide comprehensive services to victims. Navy Medicine commands who do not provide SAFE services in-house utilize local community facilities (i.e., civilian hospitals/clinics) to provide SAFE services to ensure a 24/7 response capability.

2. Institutionalize Prevention Strategies in the Military Community

2.1. Under the Department's adopted "The Spectrum of Prevention," and its 6 components, describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to prevent sexual assault

2.1.1. Identify efforts by your Service to influence prevention-related policy

CNIC SAPR representatives serve on the Navy SAPR CFT and its various working sub-groups that review prevention, policy and relevant legislation. CNIC staff worked closely with DON and OSD SAPRO to develop initiatives that enhance prevention policy.

SAPR CFT stakeholders including CNIC, provided input and recommendations for the total revision of the Navy SAPR OPNAVINST. Specifically, CNIC provided detailed input on the roles of the SARC, the Sexual Assault Case Management Group (SACMG), SAPR training and guidance on "restricted" and "unrestricted" reporting options. CNIC provided feedback/input on Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services (DTF-SAMS) and the DON Sexual Assault Study recommendations, the Naval Audit Service (NAVAUDSVC) request for information and Government Accounting Office (GAO) reports. CNIC also provided analyses and recommendations regarding changes in policy and legislation to DON, Navy and OSD leadership.

Several Navy Installations hired civilian SMEs to conduct workshops and make presentations during Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) which provided ample opportunities for Navy communities to learn more about the Bystander Intervention (BI) pilot project. Naval Base Guam sponsored Anne Munch, J.D to present workshops on "Naming the Unnamed Conspirator," which challenged Sailors to rethink societal trends of placing the blame on victims when a sexual assault occurs. The Mid-Atlantic Region sponsored Dorothy Edwards, PhD to present the "Green Dot Campaign" which includes a BI component and a social marketing campaign. In Florida, the "White House Violence against Women" Director, Ms. Lynn Rosenthal spoke about the White House's commitment to reducing sexual assaults in the military.

2.1.2. Identify the ways your Service is changing organizational prevention-based practices

CNIC staff networked with other CFT SAPR stakeholders in multiple efforts to create organizational change and to begin development on the Navy's Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy. CNIC SAPR staff collaborated with the National Guard, other Service SAPR programs, US Fleet Forces (USFF) Command, Pacific Fleet (PACFLT), the Navy Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program (NADAP), Military Equal Opportunity, Chaplains, OJAG, and NCIS to address and develop prevention-based practices.

USFF held SAPR workshops in eleven (11) Fleet concentration areas, providing command level prevention tools to commanders and program managers through SME briefs on sexual assault prevention and BI.

NETC/CPD partnered with USFF and PACFLT on a Bystander Intervention pilot program that was started in March 2010 and is scheduled to run until December 2010. This pilot includes five locations and is expected to result in over 5,300 sailors trained in BI skills. At the completion of the BI pilot program an assessment will be conducted to determine the effectiveness of the training by measuring attitudes towards intervention in SA related behavior and reductions in incidents of sexual assaults. A recommendation will then be made as to Fleet-wide rollout.

The Navy SAPR CFT addresses sexual assault prevention and response across all key Navy organizations to ensure program compliance and implementation of innovative prevention initiatives. A NETC led "Training WG" was also stood-up to identify the developmental continuum of training, across organizations and career paths that will build on awareness and prevention strategies to reduce risk and support BI. DON SAPRO hired a Highly Qualified Expert (HQE) who adds critical expertise to the development of the overall Navy Prevention strategy with the intent of identifying gaps across the continuum. Training for Officers and Enlisted alike was addressed both in and out of the classroom environment. Participants on the Training WG include the US

Naval Academy, Naval Support Training Command, OPNAV (N135), USFFC, CNIC, PACFLT, and USMC, with overall coordination by NETC (N7).

2.1.3. Describe the methods used to foster prevention-related coalitions and networks (i.e., Name prevention subject matter experts consulted and involved at the Service level)

Navy personnel continue to work closely with DON leadership, Alcohol and Drug Control Officers, CNIC, NCIS, BUMED, USFF, PACFLT and other CFT members and associated working groups to improve Navy Prevention. CNIC staff served on several OSD SAPR Advisory Council subcommittees and ad hoc working groups to collaborate on creating and supporting a DoD-wide culture of prevention. Team participants included Health and Human Services, the Center for Disease Control and other Prevention-oriented researchers and organizations.

A DoD contract with “Men Can Stop Rape” includes an ongoing social marketing campaign that’s part of the Navy Prevention initiative. A DoD contract with Rape, Abuse, and Incest National Network (RAINN) is under development to provide additional SAPR support and after hour resources to the Navy. Ms. Claudia Bayliff, Esq. and Dr. Alan Berkowitz presented briefs at USFF SAPR workshops on Sexual Assault Prevention and Bystander Intervention procedures.

CNIC developed a standard prevention related brief for SARCs, presented at Fleet SAPR workshops worldwide. CFT members presented “Prevention” briefs at the ADCO Conference, the DON SARC Summit and at the annual MCPON Leadership Conference. CNIC staff participated in training on “Men Can Stop Rape,” attended other Services’ SAPR Leadership Summits/trainings and the National Sexual Assault Conference, sponsored by the National Sexual Violence Resource Center.

At installation levels, SARCs created local alliances with other Navy and DoD SAPR stakeholders as well as community coalitions and networks (e.g. local Rape Crisis Centers, etc). SARCs report memberships on 13 local Sexual Assault Response Teams (SARTs) and other community prevention committees. SARCs report working closely with over 30 Rape Crisis Centers and local state coalitions against sexual assault/ violence. SARCs also report collaborating with more than 16 legal/law enforcement agencies and an additional 16 medical facilities/organizations that handle Sexual Assault Forensic Exams (SAFE) or monitor accuracy/availability of trained Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) RN’s.

SARCs report working with 12 schools, universities or other civilian community groups and many SARCs report frequent collaboration with other military SARCs. CNIC staff found that meeting regularly with all SARCs in their local area keeps victim services efficient, allowing increased awareness and prevention programming.

Navy SARCs also report great success in collaborating with other Navy programs such as the Family Advocacy Program (FAP), Work and Family Life programs, Ombudsman Assemblies, Family Readiness Groups and Clinical Counseling service providers.

2.1.4. List the prevention education and training initiatives and programs your Service offers for responders, particularly those that impart individual skills associated with bystander intervention or appropriate risk reduction that does not blame victims

Navy staff used several training opportunities to inform Commanders/FFSC leaders as responders, about SAPR prevention and response initiatives/programs. These trainings included periodic Senior Shore Station Leaders (SSSL) courses for new installation CO's, Command Master Chiefs or Regional CO's; quarterly Regional Counseling, Advocacy, Prevention (RCAP) Manager meetings; Regional Advisory Board (RAB) meetings with Regional FFSP Directors; and FFSC New Director/Managers training.

Medical Treatment Facility (MTF) Prevention efforts line up with DON and SARC initiatives and Navy MTFs routinely provide education at command orientations for new personnel. This training is augmented with annual GMTs provided by installation SARCs or via Navy Knowledge Online (NKO). Training is keyed toward medical personnel/staff who might be first responders (e.g. MD's, RN's, Corpsman, etc).

CNIC continues to provide SAPR information/tools for SARCs to conduct SAPR training at installation levels, such as the revised CO Toolkit presentations, key SAPR Command personnel training, local base Police Academies/Security department trainings, Regional Command Master Chief meetings, Command Duty Officer (CDO) trainings and training for civilian medical first responders/staff at Naval Health Clinics. Annual SAPR GMTs were often delivered directly by SARCs, SAPR POCs or VA's who had been trained by installation SARCs.

Currently, over 1,200 NCIS Special Agents are trained to be "first responders" to sexual assault and other types of criminal activities. All NCIS Special Agents are required to complete annual in-service training on sexual assault awareness, prevention, investigative procedures and victim sensitivity.

In FY10, NCIS completed two advanced training courses designed to expand the capabilities of investigators. Specifically, the NCIS Advanced Family and Sexual Violence Training course and the NCIS/OJAG/JAM Mobile Training Team (MTT) on "Sexual Assault Investigation and Prosecution" provided comprehensive investigative training. Through the two courses, ninety-two (92) NCIS Special Agents received investigative theory and practice focused on offender behavior. While the primary role of NCIS is investigative, NCIS offers education and training to commands via specific briefs. The current sexual assault brief focuses on awareness, sexual assault prevention and bystander intervention. Additionally, NCIS Special Agents are encouraged to participate in local training opportunities such as Victim Advocate training, command stand-downs and other sexual assault focused events or training.

2.1.5. Identify your Service's efforts to promote community education in the area of prevention (i.e., Communications, social marketing, and media initiatives)

In FY10, there were approximately 22 SAPR related articles published in Navy media. The articles included descriptions of organizational changes, prevention initiatives, and publicized local events for Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM). Many of the articles provided education/knowledge about sexual assault in addition to information about SAPR program resources. CHINFO (Public Affairs) announcements included "Rhumb Lines" (a high level one page fact sheet distributed throughout Navy) released on 16 Mar, 18 Aug, and 22 Oct 2010.

Social Marketing of the SAPR program also increased in FY10. There were 19 SAPR specific discussion topics posted on the FFSP Facebook page, including two videos. Education was focused on increasing SARC skills as installation SMEs for prevention and response and in support of command prevention initiatives. SARC attendance at the DON SARC Summit and multiple CNIC webinars provided information and resources for outreach and prevention efforts.

At the installation level, SARCs provided community education by manning information tables and providing pamphlets and posters with 24/7 contact information. SARCs also:

- Worked with local base television stations to have (OSD SAPRO-contracted) SAPR Public Service Announcements (PSAs) aired
- Used Facebook/other websites to advertise 24/7 contact information and to promote prevention and outreach programs
- Worked with local PAOs to publicize the SAPR program and schedule events through all available forms of local media
- Collaborated with civilian organizations for events such as "Take Back the Night"
- Trained high school, college, and graduate students on SAPR
- Trained civilian SA responders on Navy SAPR procedures while inviting civilian organization SMEs to train Navy responders on local civilian programs

2.1.6. Describe the ways that your Service is strengthening Service member knowledge and skills (i.e., Bystander intervention)

NETC is currently conducting a Bystander Intervention (BI) Pilot Program to determine the best demographics and delivery methodologies for the Navy BI content. Following pilot evaluation, the NETC team will provide recommendations for BI strategies to implement throughout the Service.

Annually required General Military Training (GMT) has been revised to include new language and programmatic elements. Navy provides two levels of training, (1) Basic

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Awareness and (2) Application of Concepts, both which support continual learning. GMT is required for all uniformed members of the Navy and by direction, will be delivered face-to-face with the involvement of Command senior leadership.

CNIC provided 54 webinars to SARCs on eight different subjects including the new Case Management System (CMS) training and SAPR GMT “Train the Trainer” that equips SARCS with skills to provide standard Sexual Assault Awareness training across all levels of the Navy. This also includes BI intervention concepts and scenarios.

Discussion and interactions that occurred between newly hired SARCs and SARCs who’ve served in their position for a number of years, also improved learning effectiveness and ways to improve service members’ knowledge and skills. This interaction also helped SARCs create environments conducive to learning in their local military communities. SARCs provided annual GMT to commands and included BI intervention skills and knowledge. In addition to monthly webinars, CNIC revised/delivered Navy SAPR pamphlets that covered prevention, reporting and resources. The SAPR Victim Advocate Quick Series Desk Reference Guide, a tool for service members to gain knowledge about Navy’s SAPR program, was revised in FY10. The guide has been ordered and copies will be distributed to SARCs in FY11. These tools strengthen the knowledge base of service members and assist SARCs and VAs in providing support to victims.

USFF Command provided SAPR workshops in eleven (11) fleet concentration areas that included policy requirements, resources and SMEs in sexual assault prevention and BI. Command leaders and program managers took the training concepts and SAPR information back for implementation at the command level.

Members of the SAPR CFT “Training” WG were involved in designing research to identify the “best” delivery system for a sustained BI training model. SAPR staff also attended an Air Force Bystander Training follow-up conference that will help form the development of effective, future Navy BI type projects.

SARCs reported large numbers of different types of SAPR training for Sailors in FY10. In three (3) regions (Korea, Mid-Atlantic and Naval District Washington), SARCs presented training to Junior Enlisted Sailors, where in some cases these Sailors were part of a larger training, such as Deck Plate Resource Training. One SARC reported having to separate Navy personnel by rank/gender to limit the number of attendees in order to promote open, honest discussion among participants.

A number of SARCs reported utilizing email ‘blasts’ to reach large numbers of personnel with BI information and ideas. Many SARCs also reported submitting information into local command plans of the day, plans of the week, and plans of the month, via electronic command publications.

Through coordination and collaboration with civilian agencies, SARCs report they are often able to advertise support services and workshops conducted in their local civilian communities, to service members interested in obtaining more information about sexual assault related issues.

2.1.7. Other (Please explain): Not applicable

2.2. List all studies of sexual assault prevalence and/or prevention programming effectiveness supported or performed by your Service

The 2009 DON Sexual Assault Study (SAS) findings comprehensively compare the Navy's SAPR program with the 2005 Naval Inspector General survey. CNIC funded two (2) studies that reviewed Prevention Training effectiveness for both male and female recruits. NETC research reinforces "face-to-face" training is much more effective than GMTs.

Navy Personnel Research, Studies, and Technology (NPRST) completed an OPNAV (N135) sponsored SAPR Quick Poll (follow-up to 2004, 2005 & 2008 Quick Polls) in September 2010 which shows a positive trend increase of Military awareness of the Navy SAPR program across all ranks, male and female. NPRST also completed the 2009 Behavioral Health Quick Poll (sponsored by N135) that assessed perceptions of stress and suicide prevention and the 2010 Character Quick Poll that determined Sailor attitudes and opinions on Navy Core Values, Ethical behavior, and character development, comparing the results with the 2007-2009 results.

2.3. Describe any plans in place for Service actions in FY11 related to the prevention of sexual assault

DON SAPRO hired a (Highly Qualified Expert) HQE and Navy plans to use his expertise to support the Navy's Sexual Assault prevention strategy, weaving BI principles into current course content and developing new curricula where appropriate. The goal is to identify and develop a continuum approach to BI training and application.

The HQE will provide consultation on the development of a prevention pilot program tentatively slated for the Great Lakes area in early calendar 2011. This program will focus on local prevention strategies developed in collaboration with local leadership.

The link between alcohol and sexual assault is indisputable. The Naval Safety Center will work closely with the SAPR program and the Navy Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention program on alcohol and sexual assault messaging to ensure a cohesive and consistent drumbeat, which all leaders must emphasize.

The Navy SAPR CFT "Prevention" WG will continue work on effective prevention initiatives/strategies. After completion of the BI pilot project, Navy will integrate a more effective, sustainable prevention strategy focusing on BI concepts. Navy is also reviewing lessons learned from the US Air Force BI program, to include feedback from civilian SMEs working with the military, a review of best practices and successful university and civilian community projects.

CNIC will continue collaboration with the National Guard Bureau and the Navy Reserve Component to improve availability of SAPR services and prevention training. Additionally, CNIC will continue working with NETC to ensure Navy ROTC programs have access to SAPR services and effective prevention and awareness training. The SAPR CFT is reviewing “best” practices to ensure Recruiting Commands (most often located away from military installations) receive SAPR services and effective prevention and awareness training.

Additionally, installation SARCS are planning to:

- Collaborate on prevention programs with local civilian communities
- Collaborate and conduct joint prevention training with other Military Service SARCS
- Provide prevention outreach to retirees, reservists, and family members
- Increase use of technology (i.e., VTC, webinars) to provide refresher training opportunities for key SAPR command personnel
- Collaborate with other Navy programs regarding themed months such as Domestic Violence Awareness (October)
- Increase SAPR presentations, such as Sex Signals, Sailors Challenging Reality and Educating Against Myths (SCREAM), or comedy events with focus on safety, prevention, and risk reduction.

USFF will continue to provide SAPR workshops in Fleet concentration areas, in both CONUS and OCONUS, on program requirements and prevention efforts with a focus on Bystander Intervention.

3. Increase Climate of Victim Confidence Associated with Reporting

3.1. Provide major steps taken to publicize reporting options (Restricted and Unrestricted) and/or encourage the reporting of sexual assault by Service members (i.e., Local command initiatives that demonstrate the commanders role in creating a climate of confidence)

A recent finding by the Naval Audit Service (NAVAUDSVC) to ensure accuracy in the publicized 24/7 reporting phone numbers at every installation successfully engaged Navy leadership, regional and installation Commanders to ensure reporting options were available and publicized. OSD has contracted with Rape, Abuse & Incest National Network (RAINN) for additional military program support.

Combined with strong support and messaging by Navy leadership, especially in Navy media and at local Fleet SAPR Summits, there is an ongoing Navy social marketing campaign to educate and remind personnel of available reporting options. By using professional posters and CNIC developed PSAs, a strengthened climate of confidence throughout Navy commands supports restricted and unrestricted reporting options.

Information specific to reporting options and the role of medical staff is included and emphasized in training for all medical personnel. Both, medical first responders and forensic examiners receive this training and information on reporting options. Navy Medicine Prospective COs and Prospective XOs are briefed on their roles and responsibilities within medical commands. Discussion includes privacy concerns for victims requesting a “restricted” report.

As SARCs brief new CO's and provide them with copies of the COs SAPR Toolkits, they also take the opportunity to help COs understand the importance of their role in creating a climate of prevention, where victims feel safe in reporting incidents of sexual assault. A positive command climate creates an environment intolerant of sexual assaults and improves the opportunity for Bystander Intervention actions that might prevent sexual assaults.

Navy wide SAPR NAVADMINs, SAAM events and command SAPR letters all demonstrate to local commands that Navy leadership supports SAPR reporting options. In FY10, reporting options were emphasized by Navy Leadership at the highest levels.

Strong messages as part of the Navy CFT Strategic Communications Plan will ensure Navy continues to build on this positive climate of confidence.

Chaplains and Religious Program (RP) Specialists are uniquely positioned and qualified to assist victims of sexual assault. While deployed members of the military always have access to Chaplains and RPs who deploy with them. As all communications with Chaplains are “confidential communication” (outlined in SECNAVINST 1730.9), some SA victims feel safer/more comfortable talking first with a Chaplain. Chaplains are often able to assist a SA victim’s access into military support services, either as a “restricted” or “unrestricted” report.

3.2. Discuss Unrestricted and Restricted Reporting process challenges encountered, as well as the solutions your Service developed and implemented during FY10 within the context of:

3.2.1. Joint environments

A major challenge is establishing reporting protocols that consistently meet the requirements of all Services at Joint Commands, Joint Bases or in Joint Regions. It is also challenging to ensure the ability to contact members of sister Services on a regular basis in order to do a “warm handoff” when departing joint environments. One solution that has been successful is the development of joint protocols and holding regular Joint SARC meetings that outline differences between SAPR program requirements. An additional key is to ensure standardized coordination of SAPR responses across all Services. SARCs find it helpful to have contact with deploying commands prior to Joint assignments in order to provide Service specific information on available services that can be accessed at deployed destinations. Utilizing local media resources for outreach to available community resources for reporting options and contact information is an additional solution.

3.2.2. Combat Areas of Interest

A major challenge is ensuring pre-deployment briefings for deploying Individual Augmentees (IAs) that include specific contact information for both reporting options. A solution involves SARCs collaborating with IA Support/Deployment Specialists at FFSC to ensure SAPR reporting options and contact information is provided at the pre-deployment process.

One SARC stated, “Many of my Victim Advocates who have been deployed as IA’s have indicated they were unaware of any available SAPR resources or how to contact a member of the SAPR program, should an issue arise while deployed.” CNIC is working with the other Services SAPR staff to investigate ways to address these issues in Combat Areas of Interest.

3.2.3. Tracking victim services

A major challenge in tracking victim services has to do with responders not fully comprehending their roles. The SAPR Case Management System (CMS) launched in December 2009, has made tracking victim services easier and more streamlined. CMS training is ongoing to include the education of new SAPR personnel.

CNIC is working with USFFC and PACFLT within the SAPR CFT, to develop solutions and improve communications between Installation SARCs, deployed VA's, other stakeholders and commands (ships, submarines, etc), so that SARCs can download SAPR related information into the CMS, as quickly as possible. At installation levels, SARCs have contacted local military and civilian stakeholders to hold meetings and responder-specific trainings, with the intent of developing protocols and clarifying roles of key players.

3.2.4. Restricted Reporting in any environment

Controlled Basic training educational environments and Brig “incarcerated” Sailors provides a challenge with regards to “restricted” reporting. Currently, access for restricted reporting is difficult for service member victims in basic training environments and solutions are being addressed. Navy CNIC has engaged the Brig and visited basic training to begin dialogue to find solutions.

In general, at most Navy work environments, SARCs that work closely with installation leaders, stakeholders and commanders, have developed ways to work the various environments (especially OCONUS), in order to maintain the restricted reporting option. As an example, Health Care Providers (HCP) that serve multiple roles besides SAPR and meet with victims, can offer the “restricted” reporting option then coordinate a meeting between a victim and SARC/VA away from the command, to diminish the likelihood of command notification of the incident.

California SARCs report, due to a state mandated reporting law for all medical personnel, there is confusion on who can receive “restricted” reports. California SARCs provide specific training for health care professionals, Command SAPR POCs and VA’s to include discussion on limitations to restricted reporting for military victims. Overall, continuous education for leaders and responders helps increase policy compliance and victim privacy when considering the “restricted” reporting as an option.

3.2.5 Other

When deployed, SAPR Command POCs are at times informed of both “restricted” and “unrestricted” cases and are often considered “SARCs.” In a few cases, the SARC was not informed of these deployed cases. CNIC is working with USFFC and PACFLT to ensure commands understand the role of the SAPR Command POC. It is primarily a training issue and guidance will emphasize the VAs requirement to coordinate cases as soon as possible with their respective SARC.

In an effort to close gaps in SAPR services, the AFRICOM SARC, will be training Africa Embassy staff on SAPR policies to ensure proper victim referrals even if a victim contacts the Embassy seeking emergency assistance.

Due to restrictions on electronic devices and assigned duty shifts, a 24/7 response capability is not possible at NSU Saratoga Springs, NY. The solution was to utilize the local rape crisis hotline to cover the 24/7 response capability. There is now a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) in place for individuals who self-identify as being related to the military, that they can be afforded an opportunity to work with a Navy VA or SARC. The local Rape Crisis agency receives training from the SARC on available Navy SAPR services so that local civilian community advocates understand how to access installation resources.

3.3. Describe efforts, policies, and/or programmatic changes taken to improve Service member confidence and/or victim participation in the investigative and military justice processes

OPNAVINST 1752.1C, the Navy’s Sexual Assault Prevention and Response policy was revised and is currently in the chop chain for signature. Two significant changes will improve Service member confidence in the Navy’s overall approach to addressing sexual assaults as well as improve the rate and depth of victim participation in the legal process. The proposed changes are (1) an enhanced collateral misconduct policy and (2) a new post incident communication protocol. The enhanced collateral misconduct policy includes various factors that must be balanced by commanders when required to determine how to fairly and objectively handle collateral misconduct by victims of sexual assault. The new post incident communication protocol requires information sharing at all levels of the chain of command following the resolution of sexual assault investigations and prosecutions.

Additional efforts/programmatic changes:

- Navy JAG continues to train both prosecutors and defense counsel in trial advocacy and also special techniques on the litigation of sexual assault cases. Enhancing the ability of JAs to litigate sexual assault cases will improve Service member confidence and victim participation in the investigative and military justice processes.
- In addition to the training efforts described above, Navy JAG continues to participate with other Services in the development of a joint DVD on prosecuting sexual assault. This interactive DVD program, funded by OSD SAPRO in FY09, will have 22 interactive modules that address topics required under DODI 6495.02. It will include virtual scenarios that simulate a direct examination of a victim and a cross examination of the accused. Completion in early FY11 is on schedule.
- Navy JAG worked with OSD SAPRO to develop a revised sexual assault forensic examination (SAFE) kit; release is expected in FY11. The competent provision of medical care and collection of forensic evidence will enhance confidence in the sexual assault response process.
- OPNAVINST 3100.6J was revised to require convening authorities to consult with a JAG prior to making a disposition decision in every sexual assault case. In order to ensure the guidance JAs provide to convening authorities was consistent; OJAG Code 20 (Criminal Law Division) created a briefing for JAs, located on Navy Knowledge Online, which provides world-wide access to all JAs to this important information.
- OJAG Code 20 partnered with Fleet Forces Command to train commanders and responders throughout the world on the legal aspects of sexual assault prevention and response.
- OJAG Code 20 provided training to NCIS agents at the Advanced Family and Sexual Violence Course. Addressed topics included the consent defense; alcohol facilitated sexual assault, multiple accused, intimate partner sexual assault and tips for testifying. The course was offered twice in FY10.

Navy JAG updated its Victim Witness Program Instruction, COMNAVLEGSVCCOM 5800.4, to ensure victims receive sufficient support throughout the process.

In FY10, the NCIS Crime Reduction Program (CRP) continued to publicly address criminal activity that impacts our military community. Partnering with DON agencies (OJAG, Public Affairs, Family Advocacy Program (FAP), SAPR, Chaplain Corps), the CRP uses meetings, rallies, speeches and briefs to raise sexual assault awareness, increase victim and service member confidence, promote BI, and ultimately reduce the occurrence of sexual assaults.

NCIS continues to evaluate and revise in-service training for NCIS personnel, focusing on victim sensitivity. In-service training includes Victim and Witness Assistance Program (VWAP) training to ensure NCIS personnel deliver respectful, compassionate service to victims/witnesses.

NCIS staff continues to participate in SAPR working groups/subgroups and the Navy SAPR Cross Functional Team (CFT). Working groups are involved in development and implementation of sexual assault prevention strategies focused on service member confidence and victim participation.

During this reporting period, NCIS and BUMED POCs participated in the OSD SAPRO working group which focused on revising the Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kit. The goal was to revise the SAFE kit in order to raise victim participation and confidence by simplifying the examination and removing antiquated procedures that might negatively impact victims.

3.4. List initiatives and programs that work to reduce the stigma associated with reporting sexual assault

Using the Navy Operational Stress Control (OSC) model, SAPR-CFT started discussion about reporting sexual assault and receiving available SAPR services and resources, while de-stigmatizing the impact of seeking/receiving services following any type of stressful or traumatic event.

Fleet SAPR Workshops and annual SAPR GMT programs emphasized the need to support victims and promoted seeking help in a non-stigmatizing way. Additionally, the following also help to reduce the stigma of reporting sexual assault:

- Strong senior leadership media messages (Reserve and Active Component leaders)
- Sexual Assault Awareness Month(SAAM) events
- Command policy guidance, pronouncements and regular safety stand-downs
- Executing components of the CHINFO SAPR Communication plan
- On-going efforts by the Suicide Prevention CFT to promote help-seeking and de-stigmatize the request for help and receipt of support and care

4. Improve Sexual Assault Response

4.1. Describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to respond to, or improve the response to, allegations of sexual assault

CNIC developed installation Sexual Assault Case Management Groups (SACMG) training for SARCs in order to improve the response to victims needs. CNIC also revised key SAPR Command Personnel Trainings to improve responses to sexual assaults. These were presented in webinars during FY10.

In January 2010, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) hired a full time SAFE Instructor. Eleven (11) sites received training (military and civilian MTF staff), including deploying personnel and Air Force personnel stationed in Guam and Okinawa. Training for medical personnel is collaborative with local stakeholders participating and instructing. Lectures from local SARCs, NCIS Agent, JAG, and Chaplains are included. Additionally, an interactive, computer based program is used to supplement instructor-led training and provide periodic refresher on exam specifics. With an adequate number of trained individuals to respond and provide care to victims of sexual assault, Military Treatment Facilities (MTF) report an improved response time as well as enhanced quality of care for victims.

BUMED initiatives in FY10 include revising local instructions, annual competency review, and periodic documentation review. One large MTF and subordinate branch clinics revised and standardized patient care policies to facilitate and ensure appropriate and timely care is provided.

Medical personnel routinely receive first responder training at command indoctrination classes, annually with GMT, and at various venues within the MTF such as unit level general medical education.

Navy Medicine Commands disseminate information on the program for beneficiaries via command websites, Facebook, posters, command newsletters, Ombudsman communication, and MTF health and wellness fairs.

Navy Medicine Prospective COs and XOs received briefings on the program and their roles to ensure appropriate and timely medical support for victims. Discussion includes the importance of medical care and support, forensic evidence collection, concerns with reporting options, and MTF requirement for a 24/7 response capability. In addition, site visit findings from DON, SAPRO were reviewed for potential corrections.

Navy Medicine Regional Chiefs of Staff also received briefings on the SAPR program and their role, to ensure appropriate and timely medical support for victims. Navy Medicine personnel routinely participated and collaborated with local SARC training for medical personnel and Victim Advocates.

4.2. List the number of new Deployable (D)/SARCs and D/VAs trained; the types of training received, which must include proficiency training; and if the training was received prior to deployment

4.2.1. D/SARCS: Not applicable

4.2.1.1. List the number of new personnel trained

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Navy currently has 64 SARCs - 29 (45%) were new employees in FY10. All SARCs received training during FY10. For Navy, only Victim Advocates (VAs) deploy, Navy SARCs do not deploy.

4.2.1.2. Provide the types of training received (i.e., Annual, refresher)

55 SARCs attended the Department of the Navy SARC Summit which provided both initial and refresher training. CNIC provides annual training for all SARCs to meet refresher training requirements. Navy SARCs participated in 54 webinar trainings offered this FY. Navy SARCs (currently on board) are in the process of taking the newly launched “New Navy SARC” web-based training course. They have access to an interactive SARC Resource Guide and each is scheduled to attend the mandatory 30-hour Victim Advocate (VA) training, also required for new SARCs.

4.2.1.3. Indicate if training occurred prior to deployment Navy SARCs do not deploy.

4.2.2. D/VAs: Not applicable

4.2.2.1. List the number of new personnel trained

There are currently 3,519 active Victim Advocates across the Navy - 2,193 (62%) of these VA's received initial training in FY10.

4.2.2.2. Provide the types of training received

Ten (10) hours of refresher training is required for each VA, annually. SARCs provide a variety of opportunities for refresher training, such as VA webinars and trips to local hospitals to prepare for escorting a victim to a forensic exam, at that location. In FY10, 2,734 Victim Advocates received the required 10 hours of refresher training.

4.2.2.3. Indicate if training occurred prior to deployment

One hundred forty-six (146) Victim Advocates received initial and/or refresher training prior to deployment as an Individual Augmentee (IA) during FY10.

4.3. List the remaining number of personnel trained to be “first responders” to sexual assaults to include the following:

4.3.1. Commanders (i.e., Pre-command, Flag and General Officer)

Installation SARCs reported they provided Roles and Responsibilities training for 1,807 Commanders, in FY10. NETC (CPPD) reports the following FY10 numbers:

- Major Command Leadership Course Graduations (O6-O7) – 170
- Prospective Commanding Officer Leadership Course Graduations (O5-O6) – 485
- Prospective Executive Officer Leadership Course Graduations (O4-O5) – 270

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- Command Master Chief/Chief of the Boat Leadership Course Grads (E8-E9) – 159

Sexual Assault Prevention is a recurring, required annual General Military Training (GMT) for all uniformed members. FY10 completions cannot be separated by commanders and subordinates.

BUMED reports 21 Prospective COs and 24 Prospective XO's received SAPR training along with standard Navy Medicine training.

4.3.2. Criminal Investigators

SARCs trained 131 military and 87 civilian criminal investigators on their roles for the Navy SAPR Program.

All NCIS agents are trained to be “first responders” to sexual assaults and other types of criminal activity. Currently, NCIS has more than 1,200 Special Agents. In FY10, ninety-two (92) NCIS Special Agents received advanced training on sexual assault investigations, thus expanding their ability to respond and investigate allegations of sexual assault. NCIS Special Agents are required to complete annual in-service training on sexual assault awareness, investigative procedures and victim sensitivity.

NCIS is participating in an OJAG case study project aimed at evaluating and improving the military justice process, as it pertains to prosecuting allegations of sexual assault. Currently, OJAG has initiated Phase 2 of the four phase case study project. Phase 1 reviewed investigatory effort and thoroughness, prosecutorial decisions and ascertained trends in investigations and prosecutions. NCIS anticipates results from the project will be used to improve investigative practices.

NCIS participated in the OJAG sponsored Prosecuting Alcohol Facilitated Sexual Assault course held at the Naval Justice School. The course, designed to improve the quality of sexual assault prosecutions and investigations, facilitated valuable interaction between NCIS and prosecutors. Instruction was provided by subject matter experts from diverse fields, to include; Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners, toxicology, DNA evidence and courtroom testimony.

NCIS participated in the NCIS/OJAG/JAM Mobile Training Team (MTT) on Sexual Assault Investigation and Prosecution. MTT courses held in Jacksonville, FL, Kaneohe Bay, HI and San Diego, CA utilized a format combining prosecutors and NCIS investigators in a shared classroom. The shared environment enhanced cross discipline understanding, improved communication and established unity between prosecutors and investigators. Fifty (50) NCIS Special Agents attended the course, each receiving instruction from nationally recognized subject matter experts on offender focused investigations and prosecutions.

NCIS continues to cooperate with external agencies tasked with reviewing the DON SAPR program. Specifically, NCIS is currently participating with an audit conducted by the Government Accountability Office (GAO). During the GAO’s audit, NCIS is providing case files for review and NCIS personnel whom the GAO interviews regarding sexual assault investigations.

4.3.3. Law enforcement

Law enforcement personnel attend installation-level SAPR training. Navy does not track statistics specific to law enforcement personnel. As SAPR is a command program, commands ensure annual SAPR training is completed. CNIC reports for FY10, SARCs trained 1,853 military and 212 civilian law enforcement personnel on SAPR program roles/responsibilities, although these numbers only reflect one component (SARC training) of law enforcement personnel.

4.3.4. Medical personnel

SARCs trained 5,913 military and 1,427 civilian medical personnel on their role in the Navy SAPR Program. BUMED reports the following:

Region	“First Responders”	“Forensic Examiners”
Navy Medicine West	7,183	59
National Capital Area	3,534	13
Navy Medicine East	9,745	43
Totals	20,462	115

4.3.5. Judge Advocates

Installation SARCs reported 1,370 Staff Judge Advocates attended training on their roles and responsibilities. OJAG (Code 20) reports the following:

Naval Justice School (NJS)

NJS provides the majority of Navy JA training and prepares JA’s for courtroom litigation through these training courses/classes:

- Basic Lawyer Class (BLC) – All JAs must complete this course in order to receive their Article 27(b), UCMJ certification. The course provides the initial training required by DODI 6495.02. In total, 72 Navy JAs attended BLC in FY10.
- Litigating Sexual Assault (26-30 Apr 2010). This course provided a basic overview of common issues encountered in sexual assault cases for both the prosecution and defense. Taught by a combination of experienced civilian and military attorneys and other experts, it covered topics required by DODI 6495.02, including forensic evidence, sexual assault forensic examination, sexual assault victim behavior, Military Rule of Evidence 412, and the use of experts, and alcohol facilitated sexual assault. The course was attended by 26 Navy JAs.
- PCO / PXO (2-6 Aug 2010). This class provided training for perspective CO’s and XO’s of Naval Legal Service Offices and Regional Legal Service Offices. It included lectures on sexual assault prevention and response and VWAP. 18 Navy senior JAs attended.

- Staff Judge Advocate courses – Both the basic and advanced SJA courses included training on sexual assault prevention and response and VWAP. These courses were attended by 57 Navy JAs.

Online Training

Lunchtime Learning – The Office of the Judge Advocate General, Criminal Law Division (Code 20) hosts a Lunchtime Learning that entails monthly litigation training delivered at the Navy Yard. All area JAs are invited to attend. The lecture is audio taped and placed on the Code 20 Navy Knowledge Online (NKO) webpage with the briefing to make it available to all JAs in the field. The topics that are posted include:

- Psychological Issues and Sexual Assault
- The Rape Shield Law
- The Use of Experts at Trial
- And Then There Were Three (multiple accused and witnesses sexual assault)

Prosecutor Training

- Prosecuting Complex Cases at NJS (18-23 Jul 2010) – This course included a lecture on the Victim Witness Assistance Program (VWAP). The course was attended by 11 Navy JAs.
- Prosecuting Alcohol Facilitated Sexual Assault at NJS (30 Aug- 3 Sep 2010). AEquitas: The Prosecutor's Resource on Violence Against Women developed this new advanced trial advocacy course for the Navy, which was funded by OSD SAPRO. The mock scenario used in the course was based on an actual military case. To ensure the training was effective, authentic experts, including toxicologists and sexual assault nurse examiners, participated in the trial advocacy exercises. In addition, victim advocates and NCIS agents served as the victim and accused respectively in the trial advocacy exercises. Faculty included military and civilian experts on sexual assault litigation. The course was attended by 22 Navy JAs.
- Mobile Training Teams - DON SAPRO provided money to the Navy and Marine Corps JAs and NCIS to provide joint training to prosecutors and investigative agents in three geographic locations. The training focused on the investigation and prosecution of sexual assault. These courses were held in Jacksonville (16-17 Aug 2010), Hawaii (14-15 Sep 2010) and San Diego (27-28 Sep 2010). The course included two nationally recognized experts, Anne Munch J.D. and David Lisak, Ph.D. who spoke about working with and understanding victims, and understanding offenders. In total, 40 Navy JAs attended.

Defense Counsel Training

Navy JAG provided equivalent training to Trial and Defense Counsel to ensure both sides remained fully trained and equipped to handle sexual assault cases. In addition to the courses described above, defense counsel were provided the following training:

- Defending Complex Cases at NJS (12-18 Jul 2010) - This course included a lecture on the Victim Witness Assistance Program (VWAP). The course was attended by 18 Navy JAs.
- Defending Sexual Assault Cases in Plano, TX (20-24 Sep 2010) - This training was provided by the Center for American and International Law (CAIL) and offset the prosecution course offered through AEquitas and the Mobile Training Teams. The training was focused on sexual assault cases and involved substantive lectures and trial advocacy exercises. The course was attended by 33 Navy Judge Advocates.

4.3.6. Chaplains

SARCs trained 154 Chaplains on SAPR “Roles and Responsibilities.” Eighty (80) personnel attended the Chaplains “Basic” course; 24 attendees the “Intermediate” course and 18 attendees the “Advanced” course, all of which provides SAPR training.

4.4. Describe efforts to provide trained personnel, supplies, and transportation to deployed units to provide appropriate and timely response to reported cases of sexual assault.

SARCs reported spending numerous hours reaching out to ships, submarines and other tenant commands to ensure compliance with SAPR Program requirements when deployed. SARCs report an improvement in contacts with commands since engaging them during the Fleet SAPR Summits conducted in FY10.

SARCs reported meeting with VAs prior to deployments to ensure they understand how to contact the SARC as soon as possible on all new incidents and during port stops if they need immediate SAPR services for a victim. Training on the sexual assault forensic exam was provided for medical personnel assigned to deploying fleet and Marine Corps units. Training reviewed the specifics of the forensic exam, evidence collection, reporting options, and concerns in providing care in deployed settings.

4.4.1. Provide information regarding any existing gaps in supply inventory results, as well as the shortage of supplies, trained personnel, and transportation resources to support deployed units in responding to cases of sexual assault

Navy Medicine commands have reported no gaps or concerns in supply inventory or shortage. Training for MTFs providing forensic exam services has been scheduled on a rotating basis to prevent any delayed availability of trained providers due to deployment and routine personnel turn-over. NCIS reports no documented cases for FY10 which indicated a victim did not receive services due to gaps or shortages in supplies, trained personnel or other resources.

a) Do your deployable units have sufficient numbers of VAs? If not, list the reasons.

Not always, some SARCs report that operational schedules and limited in-port time severely limits the ability to train adequate numbers of VA's. In addition, they report for some commands, especially single gender commands, it is challenging to have them send designated personnel to training or designate Victim Advocates.

In Africa the SARC reports that service members go “down range” in small numbers and for random time frames and they indicate all teams may not have access to trained personnel or SAFE kits while “down range.”

b) Do your deployable units have sufficient numbers of Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) Kits? If not, list the reasons.

SAFE kits are normally supplied by the Medical Treatment Facility (MTF) or occasionally by NCIS. In deployed settings the command/unit (i.e., Ship medical department) would supply the kit, not the MTF.

4.4.2. List the number of victims whose care was hindered due to lack of available Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits or other needed supplies, and describe how this information is collected

There were no verifiable reports of a victim whose care was hindered due to a lack of a SAFE kit. BUMED reports no victim cases where care was hindered due to the lack of available SAFE kits or supplies. MTF's that provide in-house SAFE services have kits on hand, maintained at the ER department or appropriate clinic.

4.4.3. For any lack of available SAFE kit cases reported in 4.4.2., describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation at those locations

No cases reported in 4.4.2.

4.4.4. List the number of victims whose care was hindered due to the lack of timely access to appropriate laboratory testing resources and describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation

There were no verifiable reports of victims whose care was hindered due to timely access of laboratory testing resources.

BUMED reports that timely access is available for all medical laboratory testing. In addition, patients are treated empirically for potential sexually transmitted infections prior to reported lab results.

NCIS uses the United States Army Criminal Investigations Laboratory (USACIL) and the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology (AFIP) for testing of submitted sexual assault evidence. Additionally, NCIS has the discretion to utilize an accredited private criminal forensic laboratory, if necessary. To date, NCIS' utilization of USACIL, AFIP or a private laboratory has not hindered an investigation. NCIS maintains open lines of communication with USACIL and AFIP, which assists in continuing positive process change and development of best practices.

4.5. Other (Please explain): Not applicable

5. Improve System Accountability

5.1. Provide a description of how your Service executes its oversight of the SAPR program. Please include a synopsis of the formal processes, participants, etc. that support oversight of the program

OPNAV N1 as Navy's SAPR Executive Agent has policy, oversight and assessment responsibility for the SAPR program. OPNAV provides high level oversight and assessment through regularly scheduled program reviews in which key stakeholders provide inputs on critical SAPR measures of performance and effectiveness. These measures include such categories as resources, policy, communications and strategic planning. Additionally, OPNAV leads the Navy SAPR CFT which provides an interactive forum for all stakeholders to discuss initiatives, areas for improvement and opportunities for collaboration.

CNIC executes oversight of the SARCs through developing program guidance standards, training and SAPR program materials. Implementation and quality assurance (QA) are under the purview of CNIC Regional and Installation commanders. Compliance with guidance and policy are reviewed regularly through a robust FFSC Accreditation process.

Monthly SARC webinar trainings, an annual SARC training conference and regular SAPR program updates/communication provides opportunities for oversight and reviews of local SAPR programs. All these efforts ensure standardization of SARC roles and responsibilities.

SAPR oversight is provided through regular FFSP Regional Counseling, Advocacy, Prevention (RCAP) Manager meetings, FFSP Regional Advisory Boards (RAB), data collection in the SAPR Case Management System (CMS), Fleet and Family Support Management Information System (FFSMIS), quarterly reports, and the Accreditation process.

Navy Inspector General area visits (CONUS and OCONUS) include intensive review of installation SAPR programs and discussion with SARC's on installation support.

Installation SARCs facilitate Sexual Assault Case Management Group (SACMG) meetings to review open "unrestricted" cases, providing oversight for responders and SAPR professionals with regards to individual cases. The Navy also implemented

Sexual Assault Coordinating Committees (SACC) in FY10 which provide local oversight on the systemic processes of the SAPR program at each Installation.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) Office of Women's Health provides oversight to Navy Medicine personnel and commands, to include Navy Medicine Regions, Military Treatment Facilities (MTF) and branch clinics. The BUMED operating instruction is BUMEDINST 6310.11 dated 23 Jun 2009.

To ensure appropriately trained medical providers are available to perform the SAFE, BUMED hired a full time (RN) instructor who provides training to all commands that provide sexual assault forensic exam (SAFE) services within the MTF.

Periodic BUMED data calls are conducted to evaluate program status and provide assistance, clarification and feedback as required. The Medical IG and DON SAPRO also conduct site visits to include medical facilities where information is shared.

5.2. Describe the oversight activities that have taken place during FY10 with the methods or approaches you use to perform oversight, including but not limited to the documentation and outcomes of:

5.2.1. Program management reviews

DON SAPRO made numerous site visits to Navy and Marine Corps installations (CONUS and OCONUS), and they provided feedback to the Navy which helped to identify gaps in policy, provide feedback regarding training, and gathered insights from Commanders, key stakeholders, and Sailors.

Out of 26 FFSC Accreditation site visits conducted in FY10, there was only one (1) negative finding in a SAPR related area and it was corrected within 90 days. Periodic data calls are conducted to evaluate program status and provide assistance as necessary.

5.2.2. IG inspections of the program

Navy MTFs are reviewed by the Medical Inspector General for program status and compliance. Results of all Medical IG evaluations are shared, discussed with the chain of command for ultimate correction and program compliance.

Area IG visits provided ongoing assessment of the SAPR program throughout the fleet.

5.2.3. Other (Please explain)

The Naval Audit Service (NAVAUDSVC) conducted a preliminary review of the Navy SAPR program, including review of publicized 24/7 reporting numbers in order to verify initial responses to sexual assault complaints were effective, efficient, appropriate, and that proper personnel were involved at an appropriate level in SAPR activities. Initial findings indicated wrong numbers or the need for correction. Navy responded immediately to preliminary findings and took corrective actions. Additional measures were also taken to ensure availability and access for services.

5.3. Describe steps taken to address recommendations from external oversight activities, including:

5.3.1. Government Accountability Office

The Navy (CNIC, OJAG, NCIS) has met with GAO staff and they have responded to all requests for information and data and provided a response to the continuing GAO reviews and recommendations made to date.

5.3.2. DoD/Military Service IG

The Navy SAPR CFT developed a Plan of Action and Milestones (POA&M) to track the status of Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Study (SAS) recommendations during FY10.

Recommendations:

- CNIC develop a standardized new SARC training. In FY10, CNIC launched new SARC web-based training to address the IG recommendation.
- CNIC implement a formal training curriculum for all SAPR Command Personnel. CNIC revised all SAPR trainings in FY10 to include, Command POCs, Command Liaisons and Data Collection Coordinators (DCCs). CNIC also held “Train the Trainer” SARC webinars to ensure standard, consistent Navy-wide training. CNIC also provided SARCs two days of additional training after the DON SARC Summit, on standardized delivery of SAPR GMT (world-wide).
- Each MTF treating sexual assault victims have at least one trained Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE). SANE refers to an RN who is certified in performing the sexual assault forensic exam (SAFE). To obtain certification, nurses must have special training and pass a SANE certification exam. Nurses who perform the exam in Navy Medicine Commands have difficulty obtaining enough cases to maintain eligibility for the certification exam. If BUMED relies solely on certified SANEs to care for SA victims, there would be a gap in caring for our beneficiaries, especially deployed personnel. Many of our deployed forces do not have assigned RNs, although physicians, physician assistants or independent duty corpsmen are assigned. For this reason BUMED is planning to train other providers and not limit this task to nurses alone. Since hiring our dedicated RN trainer, each Navy MTF performing forensic exams has providers trained on the SAFE kit. Due to frequent personnel turn-over, training is scheduled annually and on-going, to maintain the skills and adequate number of trained providers.
- BUMED conduct a feasibility study of providing SAFE exams “in-house” at all MTFs. For providers that can perform this service at a Navy MTF, it is difficult to maintain competency in the procedure due to the limited number of requested exams. Many victims decline the option to collect forensic evidence or do not report in time to collect evidence. BUMED is considering a review/study to determine why victims do not seek medical care and how we can influence this decision.

5.3.3. Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services

The SAPR CFT reviewed the DTF-SAMS recommendations and responded to OSD SAPRO with a written reply in FY10.

DTF-SAMS recommended that SAPR training emphasize the importance of contacting the SARC to preserve the restricted reporting option. In FY10, CNIC worked closely with NETC (N7) to update SAPR annual GMT to meet SAPR DoDI requirements. SARCs were subsequently trained that either the SARC or a VA should be contacted first, in order to preserve the “restricted” reporting option. This change was also made in revised Navy SAPR pamphlets/handouts.

DTF-SAMS recommended the creation of a universal hotline to facilitate victim reporting. CNIC worked with Military One Source (MOS) to ensure they have current contact information for SARCs at every location. CNIC is also working with OSD SAPRO in support of the new DoD contract with Rape, Abuse, & Incest National Network (RAINN) to provide an additional resource for military to use worldwide for reporting sexual assaults and to refer them to the closest military or civilian sexual assault resource.

5.3.4. Other (Please explain)

Although the NAVAUDSVC has not completed their review, CNIC has moved to address preliminary recommendations. CNIC is working with regional Base Communications Offices and SARCs to change 24/7 SAPR reporting numbers to one standardized number (i.e., XXX-SAPR (7277)) to standardize the reporting number and improve marketing to Navy world-wide. This action is currently in the planning stages.

5.4. Provide a summary of your research and data collection activities

5.4.1. Describe the research and data collection activities that have taken place within your Service during the past fiscal year

With regards to data collection for FY10, CNIC has consistently trained SARCs on the use of the automated SAPR Case Management System (CMS), emphasizing the “daily” requirement to improve timeliness and efficiency of SAPR data collection. CMS data, uploaded by Navy SARCs is used weekly, to brief senior Navy Leadership by way of the CNO’s Morning Meeting (CMM).

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

The results of the NPRST SAPR Quick Poll (follow-up to 2004, 2005 & 2008 Quick Polls) were briefed in September 2010 and indicate positive trends regarding Military awareness of the Navy SAPR program, across all ranks, male and female.

OPNAVINST 3100.6J, requires Commands to instigate an initial, follow-up and a final SITREP for SAPR unrestricted cases. SITREPs are collected, analyzed and reported to senior leadership as well. Quarterly SARC reports provide data for tracking the number of “restricted” and “unrestricted” reports, and when reports change from “restricted” to “unrestricted.”

5.4.2. Provide the initiation or execution of any survey for the purpose of informing or improving Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

Navy Personnel Research Studies and Technology (NPRST) is working the executive summary of the FY10 SAPR Quick Poll results, which will be used to brief senior Navy leadership on SAPR program effectiveness and to provide information for program improvement.

5.4.3. Provide the initiation or execution of any empirical research or evaluation project to inform or improve Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

A Bystander Intervention pilot study to test the effectiveness and sustainability of Bystander Intervention training was initiated in FY10. Data from the project is now being collected and analyzed. It will be used to develop future programming.

5.4.4. Other (Please explain): Not applicable

5.5. Provide an update on how your Service has aligned its strategic planning documents to the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan:

Combating sexual assaults is a high priority throughout the Department of the Navy. The Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (DON-SAPRO) was established in September 2009 as the primary DON resource for expert SAPR assessment and program support. DON-SAPRO vision is a DON culture of gender respect where sexual assault is completely eliminated and never tolerated.

The Department of the Navy and the Navy SAPR programs have incorporated Bystander Intervention and the Spectrum of Prevention into their training, their focus on prevention, and strategic communication plan on Sexual Assault Prevention and Response. DON and Navy have also hired many of the same Subject Matter Experts (SME's) used for the DoD-wide SAPR Strategic Plan for consultation. DON SAPRO recently hired Dr. Alan Berkowitz who is well-known for Bystander Intervention, Social Norms theory, and focusing on the impact of alcohol as a Highly Qualified Expert (HQE). The DON and Navy SAPR Prevention Strategy and goals are in alignment with the DoD-wide SAPR Prevention Strategy.

5.6. Describe what measures are taken by your Service to ensure that Service members protected by a military protective order are informed in a timely manner of the member's option to request transfer from the command of assignment

CNIC trained SARCs to discuss MPO's at CO/XO in-briefs on the Commander's Toolkit. SARCs also emphasized MPO use during SAPR Command Liaison initial and refresher training. Victim Advocates are trained to discuss MPO's when discussing the DD Form 2910 (Victim Preference Statement) at initial meetings with victims.

5.7. Describe what steps are being taken to improve the collection of sexual assault data, particularly how your Service is preparing data systems to interface with the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database

CNIC launched the CMS in Dec 09 to improve data collection. CNIC HQ staff worked with OSD SAPRO to develop requirements for the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID) currently under construction. CNIC staff met with OSD SAPRO and DON SAPRO to prep the interface between the CMS and DSAID.

5.8. Explain how your Service is reviewing military justice processes to improve investigations and prosecutions

During FY10, the Navy JAG Corps continued to actively work to improve the overall quality of military justice, specifically with regard to sexual assault litigation. We continued to expand the Military Justice Litigation Career Track (MJLCT), which enhances the ability to litigate all types of criminal cases, including those involving sexual assault. The MJLCT, established in 2007, refocused military justice as an essential Navy JAG Corps mission. The MJLCT improves the quality of military justice litigation in the Navy by keeping experienced counsel in the courtroom and providing leaders and mentors for new counsel. Enhancing the Navy's litigation practice in criminal cases improves the ability to litigate sexual assault cases.

In FY09, Navy JAG hired two nationally recognized experts on adult and child sexual assault and child physical abuse litigation to provide field-level legal training and case consultation, along with policy support for the Navy SAPR program. These civilians continue to provide training and case consultation and serve as subject matter experts on the development of all litigation training and other projects designed to improve military justice litigation.

Research/evidence based initiatives - OSD SAPRO provided Navy JAG with $200,000 for prosecutor training. A portion of this money was utilized to support research and an evidence based analysis of the actual state of current military justice litigation as well as to identify any potential shortcomings. The following projects were funded:

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- Case Review II Project – Navy JAG is partnering with Marine Judge Advocate Division, Military Justice and NCIS on the Case Review II Project. A case review tool created by a team of prosecution and defense experts will be used to analyze both convictions and acquittals in sexual assault cases. The findings from the project will be used to evaluate current training criteria and assist in enhancing Navy JA's training and better equipping them to litigate sexual assault cases. Additionally, the project will assist in developing future training and resources to support trial and defense counsel.
- Expert Witness Project – Navy JAG is partnering with Marine JAM and NCIS on a project which will analyze the use of expert witnesses in sexual assault trials and determine whether improvements in resources and / or training is needed. The project will produce a database of expert witness testimony, analyze strengths and deficiencies in litigation techniques used with expert witness and develop a course curriculum on utilization of expert witnesses in trial.
- Development of Performance Measures (Metrics) for Prosecutors and Defense Counsel – This project will provide research, development and delivery of criminal justice litigation performance measures and the development of training targeted to the identified performance measures.

5.9. Describe the policies, procedures, and processes implemented by your Service to monitor sexual assault cases in which the victim is a deployed member of the Armed Forces and the assailant is a foreign national

NCIS is bound by the provisions of existing Status of Forces Agreements (SOFA), which determines the role of law enforcement agencies investigating allegations of sexual assault and other crimes. In locations where a SOFA requires Host Nation law enforcement agencies serve as the primary investigating authority, NCIS procedures require NCIS offer investigative assistance to the primary investigating authority while serving as a liaison between the effected command and the investigating authority. In the absence of a SOFA, the Host Nation retains authority over investigations of their nationals, in the event of a criminal allegation. In locations where the Host Nation lacks an established judicial system or the ability to investigate, NCIS may assume primary jurisdiction of a sexual assault investigation, after coordinating with the local U.S. military commander. In all cases, NCIS will monitor the investigation and brief the command utilizing available documentation from the Host Nation and NCIS investigative efforts.

6. Improve the Knowledge and Understanding of SAPR

6.1. Provide examples of your Service's efforts to leverage senior leadership and unit commanders support of the SAPR program (i.e., Held briefings, attended summits, etc.) to raise Service member's awareness of sexual assault matters

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

During FY10 CNO, VCNO, DNS, CNP, MCPON and other Navy senior leadership were consistently briefed on the status of the Navy SAPR program. SAPR metric and program updates are briefed at the weekly CNO Morning Meetings (CMM).

SAPR Navy Administrative Messages (NAVADMIN) are released periodically throughout the year by senior leaders to provide program updates, trends and metrics. Personal for (PFOR) NAVADMINS are released to Flag officers, commanders and commanding officers emphasizing the critical role senior leaders play in creating a culture and environment that is intolerant of sexual assault. The PFORs also emphasize that sexual assaults in Navy are a safety and leadership issue the solution to which must have the attention and aggressive support of all senior Naval officers.

SARCs reported training 805 new Command POCs; 484 new Command Liaisons; and 681 new SAPR Data Collection Coordinators (DCC). The fleet conducted eleven (11) area SAPR workshops engaged leadership and clarified SAPR command roles within the SAPR Program. SARCs presented a standardized brief at each of these workshops.

SARCs/commands reported training 150,918 Sailors on the Annual Sexual Assault awareness GMT in FY10; 1,735 sailors were trained independently in their commands and 6,918 sailors completed the training on Navy Knowledge Online (NKO)

Beginning in FY10, delivery of Sexual Assault annual refresher and basic awareness training (GMT) moved from being available for online completion to face-to-face delivery. Policy stipulates that delivery include command senior leadership involvement.

Navy Medicine Prospective COs and XOs received briefings on the program and their role to ensure appropriate and timely medical support for victims. Discussion included the importance of medical care and support, forensic evidence collection, concerns with reporting options, and MTF requirement for a 24/7 response capability. In addition, site visit findings from The Department of Navy (DON), Office for Sexual Assault Prevention and Response were reviewed. Navy Medicine Regional Chiefs of Staff also received briefings on the program and their role to ensure appropriate and timely medical support for victims.

USFF held eleven (11) workshops in fleet concentration areas, CONUS and OCONUS, which reached 454 individual commands with 910 attendees. Each workshop held a session specific to unit commanders and senior leadership.

PACFLT hosted numerous SAPR prevention and awareness training events in CY10. To date, a total of 1,455 Sailors in the Pacific Area of Responsibility (AoR) were trained. Training venues included SAPR workshops targeted to senior leadership, "Naming the Unnamed Conspirator" sessions targeted to unit commanders and leadership, and "Sex Signals Production Shows" targeted to junior enlisted personnel. PACFLT is planning to conduct a similar variety of SAPR events in FY11.

6.2. Describe the expansion or creation of response-related SAPR communication and outreach activities in FY10, including specific audiences and related goals

CNIC is utilizing Facebook, Twitter, and internal Navy media (radio, television, web, blogs, etc) for SAPR communication to publicize SAPR and to provide opportunities to receive feedback.

CNIC HQ SAPR has encouraged installations/regions to conduct reporting procedures spot checks. These involve using mock sexual assault reports that review the entire SAPR process. There are also checks that simply review the effectiveness of the SAPR 24/7 Reporting number manned by VA's.

Additional FY10 Outreach Activities include:

- A SARC provided a teleconference for served SAPR Command POCs on how to assist respective COs establish an environment/culture of prevention.
- At an outreach activity, all Service Members signed a BI pledges
- Creation of “The P’s Program” used by VAs as a reminder to Prevent, Protect, and Participate
- SARCs connected with local ROTCs, Reserve Commands, and Navy Recruiting Districts to help stand up respective command SAPR programs
- A SARC held a spontaneous Command Duty Officer (CDO) mock response for several installations to capture accurate information on CDO knowledge – as a result CDOs identified required training for successful CDO watch standers
- A SARC created a Prevention plan distributed to all served commands which incorporates SAPR topics for Plans of the Day (POD) pubs, special training for personnel targeted to SAPR positions in the command structure and distribution of SAPR marketing materials
- SAPR VA’s at one installation identify themselves with “SAPR” nametags
- VA’s in one Region wear SAPR T-shirts provided by MWR
- A command purchased ID signs for VA barracks rooms so Sailors can more easily ID VAs as staff who can discuss SA in a ‘confidential’ manner

6.3. Describe the measures of effectiveness for your Service’s outreach efforts (i.e., Surveys) and detail results

Although no formal Measures of Effectiveness (MOEs) have been published to measure the effectiveness of the Navy's SAPR outreach efforts, 2010 SAPR Quick Poll results show trending upticks in Sailors knowledge and understanding of the SAPR program. In FY11, the SAPR-CFT will establish MOEs that review the effectiveness of the SAPR program.

6.4. List active partnerships with other federal agencies, non-federal agencies, and/or organizations for the purpose of research and evaluation in conjunction with SAPR program activities: Not applicable

6.5. List participation in congressional hearings, briefings, and congressional staff assistance meetings

DON-SAPRO staff members and Navy and Marine Corps Judge Advocate General staff have met with Congressional staffers three times in FY10. In addition, we have provided responses and SAPR information to Congresswoman Jane Harman and Congressman Turner and their staff members. The Director of DON-SAPRO was invited to and attended a Women's Caucus event. Two Congressional staff delegations have visited Navy locations in FY10 to review the SAPR program: Naval Station Great Lakes and the United States Naval Academy. Both visits were very positive and we provided additional materials for follow-on due outs.

Navy OJAG (3-Star Flag) briefed Congress on SAPR, 28 January 2010. OPNAV (N135) provided information to DON SAPRO regarding Congresswoman Jane Harman questions, March 2010.

6.6. Other (Please explain): Not applicable

7. Lessons Learned and Way Ahead

7.1. Provide a summary discussion of the progress made and challenges confronted by your Service's SAPR program in FY10

The SAPR-CFT made great strides toward improving the Navy SAPR program in FY10. Changes include development of the Executive Charter, a working SAPR Action Plan, weekly brief to the CNO and Navy Leadership, and revision of the Navy operating instruction. Challenges remain with movement toward recommended revisions to the SAPR program.

CNIC has greatly improved the data collection (Case Management System, trained SARCs) and standardization of service priorities during FY10. Challenges remain in sustaining the changes, and in continuous improvement and oversight. SARCs consistently reported that after NAVADMINS were released there was an increase in requests for more Commanders' Toolkit presentations and for GMT presentations.

SARCs have been encouraged to increase their recruiting efforts for volunteer Victim Advocates to ensure VA's are available to support commands worldwide.

Challenges:

- Continued command emphasis on OPNAVINST 1752.1B/C requirements and corrective actions to ensure program compliance
- SARCs inform some commands are not timely in notifying SARCs of cases

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- Some Commands are untimely in appointing personnel to fill key SAPR command positions (VA's, Command Liaisons/POCs, and Data Collection Coordinators)
- Maintaining staff competency on medical forensic exams with the limited # of exams provided by MTF providers
- DoD SAFE kits need revision – they do not include DoD required documentation or DD Form 2911 (obtained online)
- Obtaining toxicology on suspected drug facilitated assaults is difficult in OCONUS locations due to length of time for transporting specimens to AFIP for processing
- Unclear on the documentation location for SAPR medical services (i.e. SAFE) and still maintaining patient privacy

Progress:

- BUMED F/T SAPR instructor was hired to provide SAFE training to all MTFs. Eleven (11) sites and 98 students were trained in FY10
- Training for providers on the SAFE is collaborative with participation from NCIS, OJAG, SARCs, and the Chaplain Corps
- MTFs are revising local instructions, initiating annual competency assessments and periodic documentation reviews. One large MTF with subordinate branch clinics revised/standardized patient care policies to ensure appropriate/timely care
- Navy MTFs used computer media and social networking sites to disseminate information on the program for beneficiaries and potential victims. Facebook and command websites were used to increase communication efforts
- Navy Medicine Regional Chiefs of Staff and Prospective COs/XOs were briefed on the SAPR program and their specific roles/responsibilities to ensure a positive command climate and timely medical support for victims

7.2. Supply the status of FY10 plans described in last year's report, including but not limited to:

7.2.1. Prevention

Sexual assault is incompatible with our core values and it is corrosive to morale and to our operational and combat readiness. The Department of the Navy goals are to reduce the incidence of sexual assault, improve support for victims of sexual assault, and to focus on the prevention of sexual assault. Our priority is to engage key stakeholders in simultaneous data-driven prevention strategies to achieve a significant, measurable DON-wide reduction in the incidence of sexual assault.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

DON-SAPRO hired Dr. Alan Berkowitz, a civilian SME as a Department of the Navy HQE to provide consultation to Navy and Marine Corps SAPR programs and to enhance efforts on the prevention of sexual assault Department-wide.

CNIC provided Navy SARCs two full days of training following the DON SARC Summit to better equip them in the collection of data and standardized training for prevention, consistent with SAPR program revisions and changing focus.

The DON-SAPRO funded Bystander Intervention pilot project implemented by the Navy includes an evaluation component, and it will provide direction for future prevention training.

SARCs report increased communication with local responders which has provided for more opportunity to share knowledge about roles/responsibilities and develop more comprehensive prevention training.

7.2.2. Response

CNIC revised the SAPR Command position trainings and provided “train the trainer” webinars for SARCs to enable them to train personnel effectively and consistently across the Navy. A “New Navy SARC” web-based training course launched this fiscal year will further provide in-depth, clearly defined roles/responsibilities for all personnel. SARCs reported increased participation in the Sexual Assault Case Management Group (SACMG), which helped improve the reporting process.

Plans include:

- Training for additional SAFE personnel in MTF’s with in-house capability and provide a standardization of the exam in all facilities
- Training was accomplished at eleven (11) sites (98 providers), BUMED is reviewing SAPR training curriculum to ensure a standardize instruction by a certified Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE)
- BUMED will officially task facilities without in-house examination capabilities to have written Memorandum of Understanding (MOUs) with local civilian agencies that provide victim support
- Continuous review of medical MOUs will become an annual assessment

7.2.3. Oversight

The Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (DON-SAPRO) reports directly to SECNAV on related matters DON-wide. One of our taskings is to maintain visibility of Navy and Marine Corps SAPR Programs world-wide. DON-SAPRO conducts site visits in CONUS and overseas with the goal of hearing the unique insights of field level Commanders, Program Managers and key stakeholders as well as facilitating focus groups of E1 – E4, our high risk population for sexual assaults. These

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

insights assist DON in formulating SECNAV policy guidance and in structuring prevention strategies in collaboration with the Services. The site visits also provide the opportunity to provide insight and small group training on Bystander Intervention, as part of our prevention strategy, and to get feedback on the lessons learned from our sponsored BI and Fleet SAPR Leadership Workshops.

DON-SAPRO hosts a weekly leadership meeting with OPNAV N1 and Marine Corps SAPR Program to discuss and plan Department-wide SAPR program and future initiatives.

CNIC implemented the SAPR Case Management System (CMS) which requires SARCs to track victim services and cases. CMS allows CNIC the ability to report numbers of sexual assaults occurring on a weekly basis to Navy Leadership. SARCs also report the CMS and other supplemental documents provided by CNIC have assisted in providing consistent guidance to local key SAPR Command personnel.

Plans include:

- Continued stakeholder collaboration to ensure a coordinated, comprehensive response to victims of sexual assault
- Continued periodic data calls to evaluate status, provide feedback, and determine future plans for improvement and progress
- Continued SAFE training and site reviews of facilities and procedures

7.3. Describe your Service's plans for FY11, which may include the discussion of the following:

Restricted Reporting

CNIC HQ will continue to train SARCs on its importance and develop a communication plan that better publicizes this option and also for victims to contact a SARC or a Victim Advocate first to ensure having the restricted reporting option. SARCs plan to expand their use of social media to further disseminate information about the SAPR Program and the reporting options it offers.

Advocacy

CNIC HQ plans to revise the Victim Advocate training course to update the information and provide more bystander intervention training techniques. SARCs report that they are planning to expand their use of technology and coordinating more with fellow SARCs in their regions in order to provide more opportunities for SAPR Command Personnel to receive training.

Prevention and Training

CNIC is researching the possibility of creating and conducting a new, live "New SARC" training course to be delivered at a schoolhouse. Additionally, CNIC is planning to develop a bystander intervention training module to deliver to the SARCs for training the general population that will augment other prevention initiatives. SARCs also plan to integrate more local SMEs into their training and prevention programming.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Research and Surveys

DON SAPRO plans to develop and implement an anonymous survey in FY11 to evaluate incidence, program, and training effectiveness. Metrics will also be developed for evaluation purposes. The Department of the Navy will support DoD research and survey efforts.

OPNAV (N1) will continue to fund SAPR quick polls and surveys in order to evaluate the Navy SAPR program. CNIC will continue to fund recruit research that has information on sexual assault for one more year. The SAPR Quick Poll will be completed and the findings published in FY11.

Oversight Activities

OSD SAPRO, DON-SAPRO, and GAO are engaged in oversight activities that will include site visits and additional data collection during FY11. OPNAV (N1) will continue regular Navy SAPR program assessments and fine-tuning ways to gather and analyze useful and valuable SAPR metrics.

CNIC HQ SAPR site visits are being reviewed for better oversight of SARCs and Victim Advocates. Also, ways of increasing installation and regional oversight for quality assurance of the CMS are being investigated. SARCs report that they plan to conduct local Sexual Assault Coordinating Council (SACC) meetings quarterly.

Legal

Code 20 will continue the projects started in FY10 (Case Review II, Expert Witness Project and Development of Performance Measures for Prosecutors and Defense Counsel) as well as training efforts initiated in FY10 and earlier (joint DVD and training at NJS). Our two civilian attorneys will continue to provide training and case consultation and serve as subject matter experts on sexual assault, child abuse and military justice litigation. The MJLCT will continue to expand by increasing the number of litigators identified as having expertise in military justice and then by assigning them to key positions within the military justice arena. Finally, OJAG has created a Trial Counsel Assistance Program to aid trial counsel in prosecuting cases.

Medical

Medical will continue to train providers on the medical forensic exam to ensure adequate trained personnel are available to perform exam in MTFs. BUMED will engage Navy Medicine Support Command to determine means of sustainability for provider SAFE training and verify MOUs are in place for MTFs that use civilian facilities for medical care and forensic evidence collection. Patients will continue to be offered mental health services, available through Behavioral Health Departments at MTFs, Fleet and Family Support Centers, and Marine Corps Counseling Centers.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Chaplain Headquarters Command (CHC) Religious Ministry Team (RMT)

SAPR emphasis on training will include RMT's annual training with local SARCs on familiarization with the SAPR program and policies to include reporting options, roles and responsibilities for all "first-responders," and the Chaplain's role on the SA Case Management Team. RMT participation in local and regional SAPR training to build supportive relationships with other care givers/SAPR Stakeholders. CHC will ensure Initial, Pre-Deployment and Annual training will continue, to insure Chaplains and RPs continue to receive SAPR training at CHC Basic Course and RP "A" Schools. Pre-Deployment check lists will be distributed for deploying RMTs. And in coordination with N097 and NETC (CPPD), the Naval Chaplaincy School and Center (NCSC), the Professional Development Team is prepping a one-day course on SAPR specific pastoral/spiritual care and counseling for Spring 2011.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Executive Summary (United States Marine Corps)

During FY10, the Marine Corps received critical best practice advisement from renown academic subject matter experts and other professionals in the field of sexual assault prevention and response, and received the results of an Inspector General of the Marine Corps assessment of the SAPR program. As a result of this period of discovery, the Marine Corps developed its first SAPR Campaign Plan, initiated strategic communications and conducted essential senior leader training for General Officers and Sergeants Major. A SAPR Executive Steering Committee and Senior Leader Working Group were established to direct actions associated with the SAPR Campaign Plan and to advise the Commandant of the Marine Corps of the strategic communication requirements and plan status.

The SAPR Campaign Plan is comprised of five planks including: Prevention, Risk Reduction, Victim Care, Offender Accountability, and Program Administration. Actions are underway in each of the plank areas that will be completed in FY11 including: (1) Baseline training involving Bystander Intervention, Risks of Alcohol, Command Team training regarding SAPR policies, victimology and offender accountability, (2) our first Victim Standards of Care procedures, (3) enhanced SAPR personnel training for Program Managers (PMs), Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs), and Uniformed Victim Advocates (UVAs), and (4) enhanced prosecutor training.

At the installation level, this was the first full year of service for our newly established SAPR Program Managers (PM). They initiated innovative and awareness building prevention activities with the full support of command leadership.

1. Program Overview

The Marine Corps SAPR Program and the Navy SAPR Program are both part of the Department of the Navy and they share Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) and Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) for investigative and medical SAPR functions. The DON-SAPRO, NCIS, and BUMED responses in the United States Navy SAPR report apply to the Marine Corps SAPR Program. Please see the USN report for those applicable responses.

The Marine Corps SAPR Program is governed by Marine Corps Order (MCO) 1752.5A, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program, published 5 Feb 08. Additional guidance is published occasionally by the Commandant in the form of White Letters to commanders, or in All-Marine (ALMAR) message traffic to the Corps as a whole.

Pertinent White Letters currently in effect are:

- 03/05, Collateral Misconduct in Sexual Assault Cases

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- 03/09, Sexual Assault Guidance to Our Legal Community

Pertinent ALMARS currently in effect are:

- 013/04, Expectation of Ethical Conduct

Pertinent MARADMINs currently in effect are:

- 209/04, Marine Corps Criminal Offense Reporting and Disposition Policy
- 534/04, Chaplain Training on Sexual Assault Prevention and Response
- 248/05, Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) Training
- 490/05, Sexual Assault Case Disposition and Administrative Separation Review Level

- 0328/09, Inspector General of the Marine Corps (IGMC) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Review

Terminology used in the Marine Corps program is generally consistent with that used Department-wide: Program Managers (PMs) -- Appointed by Installation Commanders, PMs are full-time civilians who provide SAPR training, advocacy and oversight to victim care. PMs are located at the 18 Marine Corps installations. They serve as the chairmen for the case management review group, collaborate with SAPR related personnel and provide updates to their Commanding Officers.

Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs) -- SARCs have oversight responsibility for the UVAs, and serve as the focal point for ensuring that victims of sexual assault receive appropriate and responsive care.

Uniformed Victim Advocate (UVAs) -- UVAs provide direct victim (non-clinical) support and information on reporting options and resources. UVAs also assist deployed Marines who are victims of sexual assault.

Victim Advocates (VAs) -- Civilian Victim Advocates work for the Family Advocacy Program and provide non-clinical support to victims of sexual assault. VAs offer crisis intervention, safety planning and support during medical exams and court proceedings.

The Marine Corps SAPR Program is victim-centric, in that the direction each reported case takes depends in large part on the desires of, and choices made by, the victim. Commanders are responsible for effective execution of their SAPR program. At the General Court Martial Convening Authority (GCMCA) and/or installation commander level, this responsibility is discharged by the Command.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

PMs and SARCs work directly for their commanders. Upon report of a sexual assault incident, the assigned UVA reports directly to the SARC. The “chain of command” upon report of a sexual assault goes thusly: UVA to SARC to senior commander. The role of the PM will be updated in the revision to MCO 1752.5A.

Marine Corps victims’ reporting options and protections are the same in forward-deployed environments, to include combat zones, as they are in non-deployed environments. Due to the expeditionary nature, the Marine Corps does not deploy civilian victim advocates. Only UVAs/SARCs are deployed.

Chaplain support for the Marine Corps is provided via the US Navy Chaplain Corps. Chaplains are assigned to every Marine Corps installation, as well as to all deploying formations at the Special Court-Martial Convening Authority level and higher. Chaplains provide the full range of pastoral counseling and care that accompanies privileged communications.

Medical support for the Marine Corps is provided by the U.S. Navy’s Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED), which operates various Naval medical centers, hospitals, branch clinics and clinics at most Marine Corps installations. As with Chaplains, medical personnel are assigned to every Marine Corps command, including Marine detachments in the formal schools and most reserve commands.

The military criminal investigative organization (MCIO) that normally investigates felony crimes committed on Marines, by Marines or aboard Marine Corps Installations is the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS). The results of their investigations are generally used in a commander’s consideration of whether to refer a case to an Article 32 investigation or dispose of it in some other fashion such as Special or Summary Court-Martial, or non-judicially through Article 15, UCMJ (known as “non-judicial punishment” or NJP).

Crimes not immediately apparent as felonious may be investigated by the Criminal Investigation Division (CID) of the installation’s Provost Marshall’s Office (PMO). These reports may later be referred to NCIS, if so indicated during development of the fact pattern. Incidents investigated by CID may be disposed through non-judicial punishment, or adjudicated by Special or Summary Court-Martial, but are only very rarely sent to a General Court-Martial without first being referred to NCIS and the Article 32 process.

Counseling services for victims are provided via Clinical Counselors at Marine Corps Community Services.

2. Institutionalize Prevention Strategies in the Military Community

2.1. Under the Department’s adopted “The Spectrum of Prevention,” and its 6 components, describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to prevent sexual assault

2.1.1. Identify efforts by your Service to promote prevention-related policy *

As noted previously, the Marine Corps established the SAPR Campaign Plan. The plan action planks support the Department’s “Spectrum of Prevention”.

The Marine Corps Order 1752.5A is presently being revised, as is the Automated Inspection Reporting System (AIRS) checklist. The most significant revision is the inclusion of the 18 PMs, located at the major Marine Corps installations. PMs play a critical role in prevention, as they are responsible for training. The high visibility of this position, through briefs, workshops and events, augments the strong support of sexual assault prevention within the Marine Corps.

24/7 Helpline

In FY10, a 24/7 Helpline was established at each major installation. This resource has created additional visibility for the sexual assault prevention program. The Helpline is staffed by SAPR personnel and is intended to provide information, advocacy and provide resources to Marines.

Senior Leaders Seminar

This four hour course is designed for E-8s, E-9s, Chief Warrant Officers, and senior officers. It is a comprehensive review of the SAPR program and related policies. Subject matter experts from the Judge Advocates office and from Law Enforcement (NCIS) are part of the training program.

Distance Learning for Leaders

Understanding the nature of competing requirements, a web-deliverable distance learning product was developed for senior leaders to access anytime with internet connection.

2.1.2. Identify the ways your Service is changing organizational prevention-based practices – Use Spectrum

Behavioral Health

The SAPR program was placed under the Behavioral Health umbrella in FY10, alongside Suicide, Family Advocacy Program, Substance Abuse, and Combat Operational Stress Control. With common training needs shared by these programs,

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

SAPR is part of a more collaborative approach to prevention. This forward thinking approach will lead to more effective training in the coming year.

Mentors in Violence Program (MVP)

MVP is designed to give all Marines the tools required to effectively influence bystander behavior in potentially negative social situations, so that positive outcomes result. Collaborative efforts with Training and Education Command (TECOM) and the MVP training program staff, are underway to ensure the MVP curriculum has SAPR specific policies embedded into the training.

Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM)

SAAM continues to grow in scope each year, with themes, plans and marketing campaigns in development to heighten awareness.

Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps (SMMC) Sexual Assault & Family Support Conference

This conference was designed to examine ways that enlisted leadership can support the prevention strategy and advance the intervention and risk reduction training being conducted.

2.1.3 Describe the methods used to foster prevention-related coalitions and networks (i.e., Name prevention subject matter experts consulted and involved at the Service level)

The Marine Corps utilized several Subject Matter Experts in FY10 to include:

1. Anne Munch, Esq. (Faculty, American Prosecutors Research Institute)
2. Catharsis Productions (Gail Stern and Christian Murphy)
3. MVP Strategies (Jackson Katz, Darryl Fort and Jeff O'Brien)
4. Alan Berkowitz (Subject Matter Expert on Bystander Intervention and Social Norms Theory)
5. David Lisak, PhD (Associate Professor of Psychology, University of Massachusetts)
6. Mike Domitrz (Sexual Assault Prevention: "Can I kiss you?")
7. Bernie McGrehan ("Comedy is the Cure")

2.1.4. List the prevention education and training initiatives and programs your Service offers for responders, particularly those that impart individual skills associated with bystander intervention or appropriate risk reduction that does not blame victims

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

In FY10, the Marine Corps:

- Provided SAPR training to the following: Chaplains, Provost Marshall Office (PMO), Criminal Investigative Division (CID), Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS), and Staff Judge Advocates (SJAs)
- Coordinated Senior Leaders Sexual Assault Prevention Seminars for Commanders
- Coordinated SAPR training with the Marine Corps Family Advocacy Program (FAP) for victim advocates and counselors
- Implemented Bystander Intervention Training into UVA Training
- Collaborated with substance abuse counselors to incorporate SAPR training into the Alcohol Impact Class
- Provided SAPR training for the Naval Justice School Senior Leaders Course
- Provided resource materials such as “Binge Drinking” and “Date Rape Prevention” to command teams
- Incorporated SAPR training into the Basic Recruiting Course and Drill Instructor School
- Initiated UVA Sexual Assault Helpline training

2.1.5. Identify your Service’s efforts to promote community education in the area of prevention (i.e., Communications, social marketing, and media initiatives)

The Marine Corps was active in community education in FY10. The following initiatives were promoted at various installations:

- Collaborated with local Rape Crisis Centers to provide SAPR training
- Conducted a 5K Fun Run for SAAM
- Established SAPR web-pages for installations and units throughout the Marine Corps
- Started 24/7 Helplines for sexual assault victims at 18 installations
- Promoted the SAPR program and provided information at local events. (ex: Domestic Violence Awareness Month, “Walk a Mile in Her Shoes”, and “Taking Back the Night”)
- Distributed thousands of “Quick Series” guides on sexual assault prevention
- Created Public Service Announcements (PSAs) to promote SAPR awareness via Joint Command Television Network to include in person radio appearances
- Utilized local base newspapers to provide SAPR awareness
- Coordinated with Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) on implementing: “Can I Kiss You” by Mike Domitrz; The Date Safe Project, “Sex Signals” by Catharsis

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Production, Mentors in Violence Prevention (MVP) by Jackson Katz, and “Comedy is the Cure” by Bernie McGrenahan

- Placed teal ribbons on emergency vehicles for SAAM
- Staffed SAPR booths at the installation Commissaries and Exchanges
- Placed SAPR banners at installation gates

- Provided “Palm Cards” with SAPR information given to every Marine on board the installation
- Promoted the Marine Corps SAPR video “Choices”
- Networked with local prevention councils to disseminate SAPR materials

2.1.6. Describe the ways that your Service is strengthening Service member knowledge and skills (i.e., Bystander intervention)

- MVP has been incorporated at Marine Corps University to be taught at all levels (Corporals Course {E-4}; Sergeants Course {E-5}; Career Course {E-6}; and the Advanced Course {E-7})
- Senior leaders have been outspoken on the topic of bystander intervention during briefs, and summits, reminding Marines that sexual assault prevention is everyone’s responsibility
- PMs and SARCs were provided updates on bystander intervention and the training vision for all Marines, as they relate to SAPR
- SAPR pamphlets have been created and disseminated on all levels regarding bystander intervention
- The SAPR program contracted to create video-based bystander intervention training to be disseminated to NCOs and junior enlisted Marines in the next 12 months
- USMC Training and Education Command (TECOM) incorporated bystander intervention into their training (Value Based Training; Recruit Training Pilot; Cpl’s Course)

2.1.7. Other (Please explain): None.

2.2. List all studies of sexual assault prevalence and/or prevention programming effectiveness supported or performed by your Service

The Center for Naval Analysis (CNA) study – “Risk Mitigation and Response: Applying Best Practices from the Civilian Population to the Marine Corps.” The CNA study provides a comprehensive overview of sexual assaults within the Marine Corps. The results of that study are being utilized in the sexual assault prevention campaign and the five initiatives (Prevention, Risk Reduction, Accountability, Victim Services, and Administration) outlined for the upcoming year.

2.3. Describe any plans in place for Service actions in FY11 related to the prevention of sexual assault

The Marine Corps has a lengthy list of pending Service actions for FY11.

- Roll out the completed video-based Bystander Intervention training to all NCOs and junior enlisted Marines
- Roll out the new SAPR training curriculum for Program Managers to utilize as Master Trainers for UVA and SARC training
- Implement the revised Command Team Training
- Complete the MCO 1752.5A revision
- Disseminate the revised AIRS Checklist
- Create Public Service Announcement on the topics of alcohol and dispelling myths about sexual assaults within the Marine Corps
- Research and implement best practices for gender specific training
- Research and implement best practices for sexual assault prevention, as it relates to alcohol

3. Increase Climate of Victim Confidence Associated with Reporting

3.1. Provide major steps taken to publicize reporting options (Restricted and Unrestricted) and/or encourage the reporting of sexual assault by Service members (i.e., Local command initiatives that demonstrate the commanders’ role in creating a climate of confidence)

The Marine Corps believes its first priority is for victims to be protected and treated with dignity and respect and to receive the medical treatment, care and counseling they deserve. Every effort is made to ensure that Marines are aware of the restricted and unrestricted reporting options available for victims of sexual assault.

Below are a few of the steps taken at various installations to publicize reporting options:

- Provided command team training on SAPR roles and responsibilities to include commander led discussions during new-comer orientation

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- Developed command and installation websites, where SAPR reporting options were published
- Used installation billboards, all hand emails, fliers and posters such as “Let’s call the UVA” developed by Men Can Stop Rape
- Published policy letters and response Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) throughout the command
- Published articles of reporting options in the base newspaper
- Re-emphasized reporting options during SAPR and Bystander Intervention training
- Utilized PSAs on reporting options played at base theaters, cable networks and online
- Shared information on reporting options during safety stand downs
- Staffed information tables at exchanges, providing SAPR reporting options
- Released a monthly SAPR News Gram emphasizing different aspects of sexual assault prevention and the role of leadership

3.2. Discuss Unrestricted and Restricted Reporting process challenges encountered, as well as the solutions your Service developed and implemented during FY10 within the context of:

3.2.1. Joint environments

In joint environments, the issue is determining which Service SAPR program to follow. The solution for the Marine Corps was to draft a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) specifically stating Marines would fall under the Marine Corps policy with the understanding the host Service will provide victim support services.

3.2.2. Combat Areas of Interest See 3.2.4.

3.2.3. Tracking victim services

The challenge is tracking ongoing victim services for unrestricted and restricted cases after initial case entry. As a result, the SAPR program is collaborating with the Information Technologies Department to implement a Case Management System to be attached to the SAIRD program. Such a system will allow us to track status of mental health counseling, requests for legal support, and easier access to case status.

3.2.4. Restricted Reporting in any environment

A victim at a deployed remote location electing a restricted report will be challenged to maintain confidentiality due concerns to of accountability in terms of seeking a SAFE exam or medical services at a different location. The solution is more emphasis on training, highlighting those individuals who can accept a restricted report. In addition,

Command Team Training will focus on commanders' limited role in restricted reporting. California mandatory reporting by medical personnel presents a challenge to restricted reporting. The solution requires a change to California law. In the interim, Marine Corps is seeking an establishment of MOUs between military medical personnel and law enforcement to recognize victim requests for restricted reporting.

3.2.5. Other (Please explain): None.

3.3. Describe efforts, polices, and/or programmatic changes taken to improve Service member confidence and/or victim participation in the investigative and military justice processes

Judge Advocate Division (JA) has been actively engaged in improving victim participation and support in FY10. JA held a Marine Corps wide Victim and Witness Assistance Program Conference that emphasized the crimes of sexual assault and domestic violence. Trial counsel, legal support personnel and other personnel in the field of sexual assault prevention and response were trained on victim care/support and resources.

3.4. List initiatives and programs implemented to reduce the stigma associated with reporting sexual assault

The Marine Corps has taken strong action to identify and train Marines on the myths and facts associated with sexual assault. Dispelling commonly held myths regarding victims and their behaviors such as percentages of false reports, periods of vulnerability, etc., and offender behaviors such as most are non-strangers is helping to reduce the stigma associated with sexual assault reporting and elevating the awareness needed by all bystanders.

Training development and revisions are more victim-centered. A great deal of emphasis is placed on the mental health of Marines who have chosen to report or not to report their assault. This dialogue about stressors and the long-term impact of unmet mental health needs is just one way the Marine Corps is demonstrating a level of comfort with this topic. Commanders are being made aware of the impact on combat readiness for Marines who have acute and chronic stressors.

Briefs now contain the topic of male sexual assaults. While the percentage of male reported sexual assaults is low, the Marine Corps recognizes that these assaults do exist and are highly likely to remain unreported without due attention. Dispelling the myth that sexual assault is exclusively a crime against females is a priority.

In development, formal Standards of Care for use by UVAs and SARCs are intended to outline appropriate victim care. These guidelines will focus on preserving the respect and dignity of all victims.

4. Improve Sexual Assault Response

4.1. Describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to respond to, or improve the response to, allegations of sexual assault

A number of initiatives have been implemented to improve responses to allegations of sexual assault:

The 24/7 Helpline is available for victims of sexual assault and is only answered by SAPR personnel who have the authority to take a restricted report. The Helpline allows victims the opportunity to seek advocacy and information, while maintaining their privacy as they explore their reporting options. The Helpline is answered by PMs, SARCs, UVAs, or VAs. Unlike other Helplines, victims are supported by someone within the Marine Corps. Victims are provided advocacy and guidance as needed. Lastly, Helpline calls are answered live with a call-back response time of no more than 15 minutes.

Additional steps have been taken in FY10 to provide more comprehensive training to Commanders, as to their role in the investigative process. Commanders are advised to limit their inquiries, so as not to interfere with a formal investigation. Similarly, Commanders are provided training on the barriers to reporting from a victim's perspective and respecting an individual's right to decline a report, despite the commander's wishes to hold the offender accountable.

4.2. List the number of new SARCS (include Deployable) and VAs (include Deployable) trained; the types of training received, which must include refresher training; and if the training was received prior to deployment

4.3.5. Judge Advocates

All 41 Marine student judge advocates trained at the Naval Justice School’s (NJS) Basic Lawyer Course in FY10 received initial SAPR training. An additional 63 Marine SJAs, prosecutors and military justice supervisors received detailed courses of instruction on the investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases at the Joint Mobile Training Team courses and the NJS courses Prosecuting Alcohol Facilitated Sexual Assault.

4.3.6. Chaplains

171 Chaplains received training in FY10.

4.4. Describe efforts to provide trained personnel, supplies, and transportation to deployed units to provide appropriate and timely response to reported cases of sexual assault

Per MCO 1752.5A, all deploying squadrons and battalions are required to have trained UVAs prior to deployment. In addition, there is always a deployed SARC in theater. The Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) holds Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits for on-call use when necessary. In accordance with BUMEDINST 6310.11, continuous capability to provide victim services and perform SAFEs is required, regardless of location. Availability of transportation to support response for victims in deployed units is always contingent upon safety, operational necessity, environmental conditions, and tasking/sortie rate of platforms.

4.4.1. Provide information regarding any existing gaps in supply inventory results, as well as the shortage of supplies, trained personnel, and transportation resources to support deployed units in responding to cases of sexual assault

Navy Medicine commands have reported no gaps or concerns in supply inventory or shortage. Training for MTFs providing forensic exam services has been scheduled on a rotating basis to prevent any delayed availability of trained providers due to deployment and routine personnel turn-over. NCIS reports no documented cases for FY10 which indicated a victim did not receive services due to gaps or shortages in supplies, trained personnel or other resources.

4.4.2. List the number of victims, if any, whose care was hindered due to lack of available Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits or other needed supplies, and describe how this information is collected

No victim care was hindered due to the lack of availability of SAFE kits. There were no verifiable reports of a victim whose care was hindered due to a lack of a SAFE kit. BUMED reports no victim cases where care was hindered due to the lack of available SAFE kits or supplies. MTF's that provide in-house SAFE services have kits on hand, maintained at the ER department or appropriate clinic.

4.4.3. For any lack of available SAFE kit cases reported in 4.4.2., describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation at those locations

Not applicable

4.4.4. List the number of victims, if any, whose care was hindered due to the lack of timely access to appropriate laboratory testing resources and describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation

None reported.

4.5. Other (Please explain)

One case was reported where a victim had to be transported 90 minutes away in order to undergo a SAFE. That matter is being addressed.

5. Improve System Accountability

5.1. Provide a description of how your Service executes its oversight of the SAPR program. Please include a synopsis of the formal processes, participants, etc. that support oversight of the program

1. Command / Unit Inspection Program (CIP/UIP) conducted by the Inspector General of the Marine Corps (IGMC):

All Marine Corps reporting units are inspected with a fair degree of rigor. The inspections are conducted by subject matter experts drawn from throughout the Marine Corps.

2. Sexual Assault Incident Reporting Database (SAIRD):

Frequent reviews of submitted reports in SAIRD assist in validation of the data collected. Certain fields are mandatory, and reports are required to be submitted as "final" within 30 days, to allow for collection of information that may not be immediately available when an incident first occurs. A report of delinquency is forwarded monthly to each SARC with oversight responsibility for those reports.

3. Monthly Program Manager VTC:

The HQMC SAPR section conducts monthly VTC meetings with the PMs to provide updates and discuss SAPR related issues as a team.

4. Site Visits:

Site Visits were initiated at the end of FY10 and are scheduled to be completed in FY11. The purpose of these visits is to check-in with SAPR personnel, while providing direct 1:1 guidance on pertinent issues. With the addition of the SAPR Liaison in the coming months, more emphasis will be placed on a “programmatic” checklist, ensuring best practices for victim care and not just on policy.

5. Marine Corps Inspector General (MCIG) Status Updates:

The SAPR program has been held accountable for the findings outlined in the 2009 MCIG Report. Status updates and action plans for the set recommendations were required throughout FY10.

5.2.1. Program management reviews

The Naval Audit Service conducted a review of SAPR related information on Marine Corps websites and the response time for advocacy. As a result of that review process, the 24/7 Helpline was designed for immediate response to victims.

The MCIG’s Report identified a number of areas for improvement that are being addressed. In summary, the MCIG identified the need for

- More specific and relevant SAPR related training for all Marines;
- More integration and collaboration with behavioral health programs;
- More training with medical personnel as they related to SAPR; and
- More attention to the appointment and selection of UVAs.

The response to those findings is:

- Revise SAPR training for PMs, Command Team, SARCs and UVAs.
- Provide training that evolves over time, applying best practices that meet the annual training needs.
- Collaborate under the umbrella of behavioral health, identifying common trends and designing more effective training strategies collectively.
- Work with BUMED to ensure medical personnel are up-to-date on SAPR related policies and procedures. In addition, provide general oversight on victim care at medical treatment facilities.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- Outline the qualification of personnel to fill the billet of UVA during Command Team Training and ensure that each unit is properly staffed with two UVAs.

5.2.2. IG inspections of the program

17 Marine Corps IG inspections were conducted in FY10; 15 were Mission Capable (MC) and two were Non Mission Capable (NMC).

5.2.3. Other (Please explain): None.

5.3. Describe steps taken to address recommendations from the following external oversight bodies:

5.3.1. Government Accountability Office

The Marine Corps SAPR Program, Judge Advocate Division and NCIS met with GAO staff and they have responded to all requests for information and data and provided a response to the continuing GAO reviews and recommendations made to date.

The Marine Corps collaborated to help define the requirements for the proposed DSAID program. The DSAID Program will be utilized across all military Services and will have a case management component. Research was collected on those services and items that need to be tracked for a more comprehensive approach to data collection.

5.3.2. DoD/Military Service IG

The Marine Corps is waiting for guidance from OSD at this time.

5.3.3. Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military Services

DTF SAMS recommends there be more structural, organizational and strategic clarity. The recommendations cover the spectrum from strategic proposals to specific actions that would improve prevention, victim response and accountability. A number of findings and recommendations point to the fact that sexual assault programs must be given a more permanent place within the military organization and culture. The recommendations from DTF SAMS are being addressed.

5.3.4. Other (Please explain): None.

5.4. Provide a summary of your research and data collection activities

5.4.1. Describe the research and data collection activities that have taken place within your Service during the past fiscal year

Judge Advocates Office: Case Review Projects I and II.

The JAM continues to partner with Navy JAGs sexual assault experts and NCIS on the Case Review Projects. The first project was complete at the beginning of FY 10 and the second project began at the end of the FY10. The Case Review Project II will include the use of an improved case review tool created by a team of prosecution and defense experts, which will be used to analyze both convictions and acquittals in sexual assault cases. The findings from the project will be used to evaluate current training criteria and assist in enhancing prosecutor training. Additionally, the project will assist in developing future training and resources to support trial and defense counsel.

5.4.2. Provide the initiation or execution of any survey for the purpose of informing or improving Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

The Marine Corps is awaiting the results from the 2010 Command Climate Survey where seven questions pertaining to sexual assault were asked. In addition, collaborative efforts were made with HQMC Equal Opportunity personnel to permanently add six or seven questions to the command climate survey that goes out to new commanders within 90 days of assuming command. Those results when obtained would be received quarterly.

5.4.3. Provide the initiation or execution of any empirical research or evaluation project to inform or improve Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

Research related to alcohol, as it relates to sexual assault is underway. Research related to gender specific training on the topic of sexual assault is underway.

5.4.4. Other (Please explain): None.

5.5. Provide an update on how your Service has aligned its strategic planning documents to the *DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan

The Marine Corps has aligned its initiatives with the DoD Wide SAPR Strategic Plan in the following ways:

- Incorporating Bystander Intervention into the Marine Corps training plan, to include MVP.
- Engaging leadership through the “Command Team Training” in conveying that sexual assault is a crime and will not be tolerated within the Marine Corps.
- Creating and implementing a comprehensive plan for prevention and response, with an emphasis on victim-care.

5.6. Describe what measures are taken by your Service to ensure that Service members protected by a military protective order are informed in a timely manner of the member’s option to request transfer from the command of assignment

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- MCO 1752.5A specifically provides guidance for Commanders on separating victims from the accused.
- Victims are informed by the Commanding Officer or Sergeant Major about their option to be transferred.
- The SAPR PM ensures that all protections provided under an unrestricted report, including the option to be separated and request PCAO/PCSO, are covered in every training session.

5.7. Describe what steps are being taken to improve the collection of sexual assault data, particularly how your Service is preparing data systems to interface with the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database

- The Marine Corps obtained the specifications and requirements for the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID).
- DSAID mapping to the Sexual Assault Incident Reporting Database (SAIRD) was completed and gaps were identified.
- SAIRD will be implemented based on the final version of DSAID according to Marine Corps leadership guidance.
- While DSAID is being developed and piloted, the Marine Corps is establishing a case management tool to be attached to SAIRD, so pertinent victim care information can be tracked.

5.8. Explain how your Service is reviewing military justice processes to improve investigations and prosecutions

- In 2005, the Marine legal community, while maintaining the preference for generalists, recognized that certain supervisory legal billets, such as military justice, required additional concentration. The Marine Corps effected a change to the MOS Manual to add six additional MOSs (AMOS) for judge advocates. The re-coding created the requirement that these billets be filled with judge advocates possessing the advanced education, experience and training required to be assigned to an AMOS. In June 2010, 22 4402 billets were re-coded, all of them to the 4409 (military justice supervisor) AMOS. This initiative will provide prosecutors and defense counsel in the field with highly qualified supervisors, with proven experience and education and should greatly improve the overall quality of our litigation in the years to come.
- In addition, in an effort to address the August 2009 CMC White Letter (directing the Staff Judge Advocate to the Commandant (SJA to CMC) to provide yearly training to judge advocates handling sexual assault cases in the USMC), the SJA to CMC's Military Justice Branch at Judge Advocate Division (JAM) undertook the following initiatives.
- USMC Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP). JAM stood up the USMC Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP) in May of 2010 to provide training, resources and reach back advice for Marine Prosecutors around the world. The

TCAP is headed by a field grade military justice expert and a second tour captain with military justice experience. The TCAP, in partnership with Navy OJAG and NCIS, has already developed and sponsored training for investigators and prosecutors around the Marine Corps and DON-SAPRO on the best practices in handling sex crimes. The TCAP has developed an online electronic resource bank for prosecutors and a training blog updated weekly with tips for prosecutors and an open forum for discussion.

- Case Review Projects I and II. JAM continues to partner with Navy JAGs sexual assault experts and NCIS on the Case Review Projects. The first project was complete at the beginning of FY 10 and the second project began at the end of the FY. The Case Review Project II will include the use of an improved case review tool created by a team of prosecution and defense experts, which will be used to analyze both convictions and acquittals in sexual assault cases. The findings from the project will be used to evaluate current training criteria and assist in enhancing prosecutor training. Additionally, the project will assist in developing future training and resources to support trial and defense counsel.
- Expert Witness Project. JAM is partnering with Navy JAG and NCIS on a project which will analyze the use of expert witnesses in sexual assault trials and determine what improvements in resources and training are needed. The project will produce a database of expert witness testimony, analyze strengths and deficiencies in litigation techniques used with expert witness and develop a course curriculum on utilization of expert witnesses in trial.
- Joint Mobile Training Team. Based upon the results of the first Case Review Project, JAM, Navy OJAG and NCIS developed a training curriculum to respond to the training needs identified during the review. Key goals were to train both prosecutors and investigators together to promote cross training, exchange of ideas and develop the team concept and to promote the best practices in investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases. Accordingly, with funding from DON-SAPRO and DoD SAPRO, instructors from the Marine Corps TCAP, Navy OJAG, Naval Justice School, NCIS, and two nationally recognized civilian experts (Ms. Anne Munch and Dr. David Lisak), traveled to three regions (E. Coast, W. Coast and Pacific) to provide training for Marine and Navy prosecutors and criminal investigators (NCIS and Marine CID/MP and Navy Security). The training was provided to over 40 Marine prosecutors, and numerous Navy JAGs, NCIS agents and USMC CID investigators and took place in Jacksonville, FL, Kaneohe Bay, HI and MCRD, San Diego, CA. The feedback from the students was largely positive.
- USMC 2010 Victim Witness Assistance Program (VWAP) Conference. In an ongoing effort to improve its VWAP, which provides rights and services for victims of sexual assault, JAM sponsored the first USMC-wide VWAP training conference from 4-6 June 2010, at Quantico, Virginia. JAM developed and provided the training with a special emphasis on caring for victims of sexual assault. JAM will hold another VWAP conference in spring of 2011. Over 60

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Marine judge advocates and victim service providers from around the Marine Corps attended this training and the feedback was positive.

- Joint Prosecutor DVD Training. USMC TCAP is participating with the other Services in the development of a joint training DVD on prosecuting sexual assault. This interactive DVD program was funded by OSD SAPRO in FY09 and will have 22 interactive modules that address the topics required under DoD policy. It will include virtual scenarios that simulate a direct examination of a victim and a cross examination of the accused. Completion in early FY11 is on schedule.
- NJS Alcohol Facilitated Sexual Assault Course. JAM, OJAG Code 20 and NJS partnered with The Prosecutor's Resource on Violence Against Women to provide an advanced trial advocacy course for the Navy and Marine prosecutors (24 Marines), which was funded by OSD SAPRO. The mock scenario used in the course was based on an actual military case. To ensure the training was effective, authentic experts, including toxicologists and sexual assault nurse examiners, participated in the trial advocacy exercises. In addition, victim advocates and NCIS agents served as the victim and accused respectively in the trial advocacy exercises. Faculty included military and civilian experts on sexual assault litigation.
- DON SARC Summit Training. JAM also partnered with Code 20's sexual assault litigation and policy expert, Ms. Teresa Scalzo, to provide training for the DoN-wide SARC conference in March of 2010 for USMC and USN SARCs on the Military Justice System, Understanding the New Article 120, Rape and Sexual Assault statute, and Working with Victims through the Military Justice Process.

5.9. Describe the policies, procedures, and processes implemented by your Service to monitor sexual assault cases in which the victim is a deployed member of the Armed Forces and the assailant is a foreign national

NCIS is bound by the provisions of existing Status of Forces Agreements (SOFA), which determines the role of law enforcement agencies investigating allegations of sexual assault and other crimes. In locations where a SOFA requires Host Nation law enforcement agencies serve as the primary investigating authority, NCIS procedures require NCIS offer investigative assistance to the primary investigating authority while serving as a liaison between the effected command and the investigating authority. In the absence of a SOFA, the Host Nation retains authority over investigations of their nationals, in the event of a criminal allegation. In locations where the Host Nation lacks an established judicial system or the ability to investigate, NCIS may assume primary jurisdiction of a sexual assault investigation, after coordinating with the local U.S. military commander. In all cases, NCIS will monitor the investigation and brief the command utilizing available documentation from the Host Nation and NCIS investigative efforts.

- In reference to Unrestricted Reports, NCIS does not distinguish in their matrix the label of Foreign National.

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- In reference to Restricted Reports, the Marine Corps SAPR data system does identify accused as Foreign Nationals in the drop down menu.

6. Improve the Knowledge and Understanding of SAPR

6.1. Provide examples of your Service's efforts to leverage senior leadership and unit commanders support of the SAPR program (i.e., Held briefings, attended summits, etc.) to raise Service member's awareness of sexual assault matters

The SAPR program has a tremendous amount of support from senior leaders. In FY10, Senior Leaders engaged in the following:

- Executive Working Group Charter as SAPR OPT output
- Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps (ACMC) SAPR Operational Plan Training (OPT)
- Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps (SMMC) Sexual Assault Summit
- E-8 Seminar SAPR Brief
- SAPR Executive Working Group (EWG)
- Behavior Health Summit SAPR Brief

- SAPR Brief to Brigadier General Select Orientation Course

6.2. Describe the expansion or creation of response-related SAPR communication and outreach activities in FY10, including specific audiences and related goals.

A strategic communication plan is underway, which will provide a more standardized approach to reaching key audiences. In addition to the 24/7 Helpline, the Marine Corps has expanded outreach activities on the internet. A SAPR logo was designed to be placed on installation websites to increase our visibility throughout the Marine Corps. The web-based distance learning class is also available.

6.3. Describe the measures of effectiveness for your Service’s outreach efforts (i.e., Surveys) and detail results

The Marine Corps implemented a “3-click” rule for all SAPR websites to ensure victims of sexual assault could access resources. The 24/7 Helpline was audited in FY10 to assess compliance from the field.

The results from the MC Climate Assessment Survey (2010) are pending.

6.4. List active partnerships with other federal agencies, non-federal agencies, and/or organizations for the purpose of research and evaluation in conjunction with SAPR program activities (CMJ responses from field)

Active partnerships exist with all of the Federal Services. At the installation level, collaborative partnerships exist with medical treatment facilities and rape crisis centers. The Marine Corps attends weekly meetings with DON-SAPRO and works closely with OSD, NCIS and related organizations.

6.5. List participation in congressional hearings, briefings, and congressional staff assistance meetings

- USMC testified at the 2d Military Personnel Subcommittee Hearing on “Sexual Assault in the Military: Prevention”
- OSD SAPRO Sexual Assault Advisory Council Outreach Committee (SAAC)

7. Lessons Learned and Way Ahead

7.1. Provide a summary discussion of the progress made and challenges confronted by your Service's SAPR program in FY10

The SAPR program actively designed and initiated a more comprehensive approach to sexual assault prevention in FY10. More focused on a strategic plan and being accountable for set objectives, the way ahead is clearly outlined. Lessons learned relate to the importance of promoting a more pro-active approach to combating sexual assault, as opposed to a punitive one. Marines hold themselves to high moral standards and this involves refreshing the core-values that already exist in Marines.

Challenges:

- California's mandatory reporting laws severely hinder successful application of the Restricted Reporting options for victims to seek services in California. This also impacts victims from Arizona for whom the nearest military treatment facility is in California.
- Focusing more attention on alcohol and implementing best practices for reducing risk factors will be of benefit to the Marine Corps

Progress:

- BUMED F/T SAPR instructor was hired to provide SAFE training to all MTFs. Eleven (11) sites and 98 students were trained in FY10
- Training for providers on the SAFE is collaborative with participation from NCIS, JAM, OJAG, SARCs, and the Chaplain Corps
- MTFs are revising local instructions, initiating annual competency assessments and periodic documentation reviews. One large MTF with subordinate branch clinics revised/standardized patient care policies to ensure appropriate/timely care
- Navy MTFs used computer media and social networking sites to disseminate information on the program for beneficiaries and potential victims. Facebook, and command websites were used to increase communication efforts
- Navy Medicine Regional Chiefs of Staff and Prospective COs/XOs were briefed on the SAPR program and their specific roles/responsibilities to ensure a positive command climate and timely medical support for victims

7.2. Supply the status of FY10 plans described in last year’s report, including but not limited to: update last year’s report with status

7.2.1. Prevention

In FY10, the Marine Corps initiated a training plan that:

- Incorporates video-based Bystander Intervention training;
- Utilizes a “train the trainer” approach to effectively disseminate information to the Marines;
- Is consistent and standardized; and
- Evolves as Marines progress in their careers.

Revised curricula for: Program Managers, Command Team Training, SARC’s and UVAs is underway.

Leadership engagement made a tremendous impact on prevention in FY10.

7.2.2. Response

- With the hiring of 18 Program Managers in the field, the quality of care to victims has significantly improved
- A draft of “Standards of Care” was completed to provide guidance to victim advocates
- The establishment of the 24/7 Helpline heightened visibility and increased response time to victims exponentially
- Training for additional SAFE personnel in MTF’s with in-house capability and provide a standardization of the exam in all facilities
- SAPR training was accomplished at eleven (11) sites (98 providers), BUMED is reviewing SAPR training curriculum to ensure a standardize instruction by a certified Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE)
- BUMED will officially task facilities without in-house examination capabilities to have written Memorandum of Understanding (MOUs) with local civilian agencies that provide victim support
- Continuous review of medical MOUs will become an annual assessment

7.2.3. Oversight

The Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (DON-SAPRO) reports directly to SECNAV on related matters DON-wide. One of our taskings is to maintain visibility of Navy and Marine Corps SAPR Programs world-wide. DON-SAPRO conducts site visits in CONUS and overseas on Navy and Marine Corps installations with the goal of hearing the unique insights of field level Commanders, Program Managers and key stakeholders as well as facilitating focus groups of E1 –

E4's, our high risk population for sexual assaults. These insights assist DON in formulating SECNAV policy guidance and in structuring prevention strategies in collaboration with the Services. The site visits also provide the opportunity to provide some insight and small group training on Bystander Intervention, as part of our prevention strategy, and to get feedback on the lessons learned from our sponsored BI and Fleet SAPR Leadership Workshops.

DON-SAPRO hosts a weekly leadership meeting with OPNAV N1 and Marine Corps SAPR Program to discuss and plan Department-wide SAPR program and future initiatives.

A complete revision to Marine Corps Order (MCO) 1752.5A and AIRS Checklist are still in progress.

7.3. Describe your Service's plans for FY11, which may include the discussion of the following:

In FY11 and in accordance with the 35th CMC Planning Guidance, the Marine Corps will act to more effectively integrate all behavioral health training and resiliency programs. The Marine Corps youthful demographic is predominantly 18-25 years of age. As an at risk population with periods of vulnerability and with broad public health prevention needs, the Marine Corps intends to expand Values Based training capability and to incorporate common prevention themes such as by-standing, alcohol, decision-making, effective relationships, etc. In addition, the following ongoing actions from FY10 planning will be completed:

- Host its first Mental Health Summit, which will include sexual assault prevention and response topics
- Provide Bystander intervention training for NCOs and Junior Enlisted Marines
- Design and implement on-going training for PMs, SARCs, UVAs, Command Team, and Chaplains
- Implement a training program that is tailored to the needs of Marines as they evolve in their careers
- Complete the revision of the MCO 1752.5A and AIRS checklist
- Complete the "Standards of Care" for UVAs
- Research the impact of alcohol as it relates to sexual assault cases
- Research gender specific sexual assault prevention training and best practices
- Conduct site visits to all 18 installations
- Conduct Executive Steering Committee, Adjunct and PM Meetings
- Create a case management tool that is compatible with SAIRD
- Focus on victim care from initial response to the conclusion of care
- Conduct a Sergeant Majors Summit

Tab 1 – FY10 SAPR Program Review Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

- Work in collaboration with the DON Sexual Assault Prevention Summit
- Update the USMC Strategic Communication Plan
- Utilize the results from the command climate surveys to implement best practices across the Marine Corps
- Continue to perform mobile trainings throughout the Marine Corps to train Marine prosecutors and criminal investigators aboard Marine Corps installations
- Continue to participate in Case Reviews (Phase II) in partnership with OJAG

7.4. Other (Please explain): None.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

1. Analytic Discussion (United States Navy)

1.1. Provide an analytic discussion of your Service's Statistical Report. This section should include such information as:

- Notable changes in the data since FY09 (in percents)
- Possible explanations for changes, or lack of change, in data
- Implications the data may have for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Implications the data may have for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Other (Please explain)

In Fiscal Year 2009 (FY09), the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) reported 405 unrestricted sexual assault investigations for the U.S. Navy (USN). In Fiscal Year 2010 (FY10), NCIS reported 441 unrestricted sexual assault investigations for the USN. This reflects an increase of 35 unrestricted reports - 9% - from FY09 to FY10. There were 231 investigations opened and closed in FY09 compared to 325 opened and closed investigations in FY10, an increase of 41%.

In Fiscal Year 2009 (FY09), there were 173 restricted reports of sexual assault (including 20 reports that converted to unrestricted), for a year end total of 153. In Fiscal Year 2010 (FY10), there were 170 restricted reports of sexual assault (including 28 that converted to unrestricted), for a year end total of 142. This reflects a decrease of 3 restricted reports - 2% from FY09 to FY10. In FY09, 11.5% of the restricted reports converted to unrestricted compared to 17.5% of the restricted reports in FY10 converted to unrestricted.

Analysis

The Navy recorded 35 more Unrestricted Reports in FY10 than in FY09, and 3 less restricted reports of sexual assault in FY10 than in FY09. The data is interpreted as a positive development. Notably, it is not viewed as indicative of an increase in criminal behavior but perhaps the fact that that DON education efforts are working and more Sailors are coming forward to seek help and access the services that are available to them. There were SAPR programmatic changes and increased training on the restricted reporting option and the differences between unrestricted reporting which may have impacted command climates and helped to reduce barriers and stigma to report. It remains notable that most Navy victims who choose restricted reporting choose to keep the report restricted – 88% in FY09 and 84% in FY10 so there is not an investigation and they can continue to receive advocacy, counseling, and medical care.

During both FY09 and FY10, there has been a strong education campaign, Navy/Marine Corps-wide, to educate Sailors, Marines and civilians about sexual assault reporting options (Restricted and Unrestricted), services available to victims of sexual assault, and crime prevention. Training focused on defining criminal behavior so that more personnel within the Department better understand and recognize a sexual assault. As Sailors and Marines receive this training and become better educated about the SAPR program, they have begun to report their sexual assault victimization in larger numbers. By way of example, male victim reports nearly doubled in FY09 and rose from 9% in FY08 to 17% in FY09. Since then, male Service member victims continued to comprise between 18 - 21% of all Service member victims. Review of the individual case investigations suggests that the increase is due to male victim awareness and willingness to report offenses vice a dramatic rise in criminal behavior.

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

The data coupled with the training and education suggests that the awareness campaign will continue to drive up numbers of reports as the programs reach a wider audience. Offenders rely on the victims to question their own actions leading to acquaintance assault/rape and to remain silent. By teaching our target audience to recognize the crime of sexual assault, they will no longer question their own behavior and report crimes that occur. Further, through comprehensive education on support and treatment programs available, victims will be more likely to seek out the benefits of those programs. However, the awareness campaign will also serve to drive numbers down in the long term as the target audience becomes more aware of inappropriate behavior and avoids enabling behavior.

Both Navy and Marine Corps are actively working to improve the handling and disposition of sexual assault cases by all personnel involved in the military criminal justice system. For example, in FY09, NCIS worked routinely with agents in the field to improve investigative skills and procedures that emphasize detail oriented, concise, timely and complete sexual assault investigations. During FY10, NCIS built upon the success of FY09 efforts and completed two advanced training courses designed to expand the capabilities of investigators. Specifically, the NCIS Advanced Family and Sexual Violence Training course and the NCIS/OJAG/JAM Mobile Training Team (MTT) on Sexual Assault Investigation and Prosecution was executed. Through the two courses, ninety-two (92) NCIS Special Agents received investigative theory and practice focused on offender behavior. Both the Navy and Marine Corp have instituted enhanced training for JAs as well. (See Tab 1, Program Review, Section 4.3.5.)

NCIS continues to partner closely with the Office of the Judge Advocate General (OJAG) and HQMC, Judge Advocate Division, to improve its investigatory and adjudicative products.

2. Unrestricted Reporting

2.1. Victim Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

United States Navy – Type of Offenses (USN)

Reports of rape comprised only 8% of all reported sexual assault offenses in FY10. As in previous years, the largest category of offenses reported for the USN was aggravated sexual assault, which comprised 49% of all FY10 reports. The vast majority of these cases involved alcohol, stemming from the charge that criminalizes intercourse with a victim who is too intoxicated to consent. The second largest category of reported offenses was wrongful sexual contact at 27%. For the 325 completed investigations, there were 351 victims. Of the 351 victims, 7% reported being victims of rape, 44% reported being victims of aggravated sexual assault and approximately 31% of all victims made allegations of wrongful sexual contact, 12% made allegations of non-consensual sodomy, and the remaining 6% included allegations of abusive sexual contact, aggravated sexual contact, indecent assault which occurred prior to FY08, and attempts to commit these offenses.

Demographic Trends

Approximately 37% of reports were made within three (3) days of the incident occurring. This percentage is down from 54% in FY09. The percentage of victims who reported within 30 days is down from 80% to 66%. The longer a victim waits to report an incident, the investigation process, including evidence collection, and the prosecution become more challenging and difficult.

Weekends were the heaviest reporting periods, with Saturdays and Sundays comprising 32% of when incidents occurred.

The proportion of female and male victims remained relatively constant from FY09 to FY10. In FY09, 83% of all sexual assault victims were female and 17% were male. Similarly, 85% of the victims were female and 15% were male in FY10. This may be an indication that sexual assault prevention and awareness efforts continue to encourage victims, no matter what gender, to come forward and report.

No significant changes were noted in the rank structure or age of victims between FY10 and FY09. In FY10, approximately 64% of all sexual assault victims were E-1's to E-4's, compared to 63% in FY09. In FY10, the largest age category of victims was 20-24 years of age (51% of all victims). Similarly, in FY09 20-24 year old group was also the largest category of victims at 43%.

In the USN, the percentage of FY10 Service Member on Service Member sexual incidents increased to 65% from 62% in FY09. Alcohol involvement and underage drinking remains relevant in a majority of the cases.

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

During FY10, there were a total of five investigations that reported having Military Protective Orders put in place as a result of the sexual assault allegation; none of which were reported to have been violated.

Service Referrals

In FY10, there were a total of 901 referrals: 233 to military medical, 301 to military counseling and 168 to military legal compared to 1,568 service referrals in FY09. In FY09 the service referrals included 399 to military medical, 407 to military counseling and 233 to military legal.

In FY10, there were a total of 199 referrals to civilian facilities: 52 to medical, 117 to counseling and 30 to legal. There were a total of 4 SAFE kits conducted in FY10 and there were no reports where either SAFE kits or other supplies needed were not available at the time of the exams. There were 5 total referrals to military facilities for Unrestricted Report cases that occurred in Combat Areas of Interest (2 for medical and 3 for counseling) but there were no SAFE kits conducted.

Combat Areas of Interest

Nineteen total unrestricted sexual assault investigations were generated from the Combat Areas of Interest via USN reporting in FY10, with a total of 20 victims and 24 subjects. Seventy percent (70%) of the victims were female, with 90% of the victims being members of the USN. One victim was an Army member, two were Air Force members and two were civilians. Demographically, reports from Combat Areas of Interest are quite similar to reports for the USN overall, with E1-E4 being the largest rank category for victims (70%) and 20-24 year olds comprises the largest age group at 50% of all victims. Of the subjects in these reports, 1 was a foreign national and 2 were unknown.

The locations of the incidents varied, due most likely to the nature of the Navy's mission. United Arab Emirates (UAE) had 6 sexual assault reports, Bahrain had 5, Djibouti had 3, Afghanistan had 2, and Jordan, Iraq and Kuwait each had 1.

Analysis

The differences in the locations of the sexual assaults in the Combat Areas of Interest between the USN and the USMC are understandable due to the mission and deployment locations of each branch of service.

The data provided via the Combat Areas of Interest shows no major differences between either branch of Service when reviewing full sexual assault reporting data. The statistics for each branch of service in the Combat Areas of Interest mirror the data as presented in the full report. Demographics on victim gender, rank, and age are fairly consistent for both branches of Service even when broken down into the Combat Areas of Interest.

Both Service reports indicate that aggravated sexual assault is the number one reported sexual offense, followed by wrongful sexual contact. The occurrence of other sexual offenses varied some between the USN and the USMC. Overall it appears that aggravated sexual assault within the Department of the Navy (DON) is the primary sexual offense being reported and investigated.

2.2. Subject Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Demographic trends

United States Navy (USN) Subject Demographic Trends

Demographic trends inform prevention and awareness efforts; therefore, we examine these in terms of the most recent reports. Data analyzed in this section was culled from Unrestricted Reports opened and closed in FY10 as these are the most recent cases for which we have completed data. There were a total of 352 subjects in 325 sexual assault investigations initiated and completed in FY10 for the USN. Of the 352 subjects 267 (76%) were members of the USN, six percent (6%) were from other Services, five percent (5%) were civilian, and 13% were unknown.

One percent (1%) of the suspects were female, the same percentage reported in FY09. Ninety-four percent (94%) of the suspects were male, with the remainder being unknown.

Of interest are the age categories, which indicate the suspects in sexual assault investigations tend to be slightly older than victims. The largest age group was 20-24 (26%) followed by subjects between 25-34 years of age at 18%. Approximately 43% of subjects' ages were not reported.

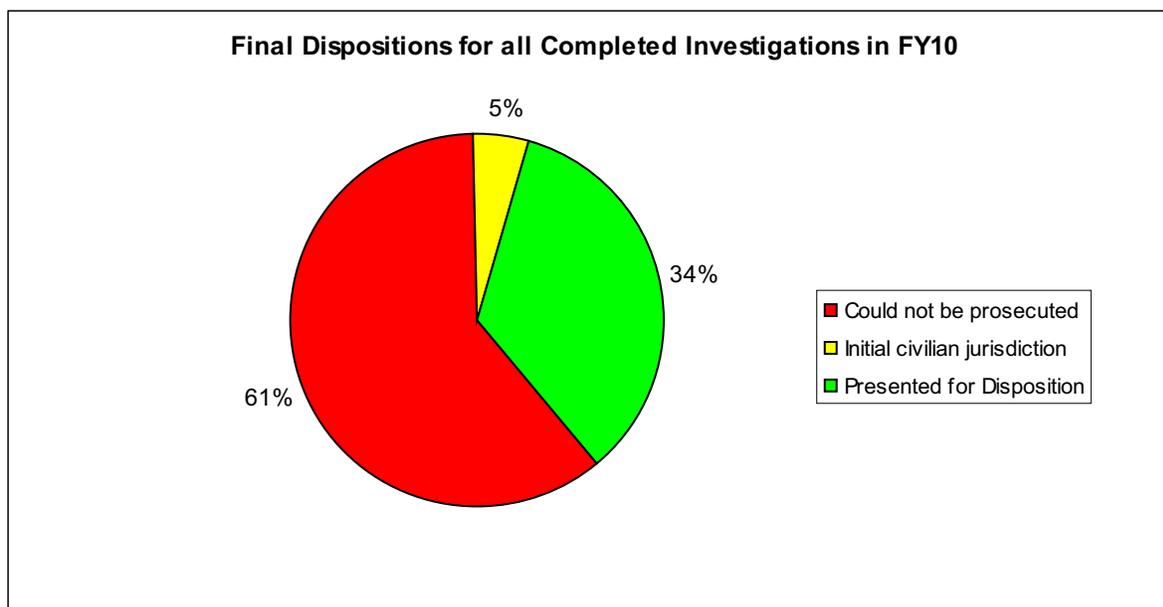

The largest rank for suspects in sexual assault investigations is E-1 to E-4 at 35%, followed by E-5 to E-9 at 21%.

Disposition Data

Disposition data must be examined in terms of all cases closed during a time period vice all cases opened and closed. Thorough investigations and successful prosecutions require time, particularly in serious and complex cases; therefore, examining only cases opened and closed in a fiscal year excludes analysis of the more egregious reports received, and as a practical matter all cases reported in the last quarter of the fiscal year. For the sake of completeness in this section, we have included all dispositions in sections D and E of the matrix (final dispositions in Unrestricted Reports opened and closed in FY10 and final dispositions in Unrestricted Reports received prior to FY10). By doing so, we are able to present a complete and accurate picture of military justice for sexual assault cases in FY10.

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Could not be prosecuted - In FY10, there were 450 final dispositions for subjects accused of sexual assault. Sixty-one percent (274) of these cases could NOT be prosecuted for the following reasons: lack of jurisdiction (13), the offender was unknown (16), the allegation was unfounded meaning it was false or the allegation did not meet the elements of a sexual assault offense (44), probable cause existed only for a non-sexual assault offense (18), the subject died (0), evidence was insufficient (70) or the victim declined to cooperate with investigation and / or prosecution (113).

Initial civilian jurisdiction - In 21 of the remaining cases, civilian authorities initially assumed jurisdiction. Of these cases, 8 were either pending or the disposition was unknown at the time this report was written. NCIS files indicate that the victim declined to cooperate in 1 case. Of the remaining 12 cases in which dispositions were known, charges were filed in 8 cases or 67% of cases. Further analysis is not possible due to lack of information regarding these cases.

Presented for disposition - As a result of the foregoing, 155 of the remaining subjects were presented to commands for a disposition decision. Commanders declined action in 30 cases pursuant to RCM 306(c)(1). Of the remaining 125 subject cases, courts-martial charges were preferred (initiated) against 70 subjects, non-judicial punishment was imposed on 36 subjects, 5 subjects were administratively discharged and other administrative actions were taken against 14 subjects. In other words, courts-martial charges were preferred in 46% of the cases in which any type of action was possible.

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

This data demonstrates that in those cases where Navy commanders had the option to take some form of administrative or disciplinary action against offenders, they chose to do so in the overwhelming majority of cases.

Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest – USN – Subjects

The USN had 24 total subjects in the 19 sexual assault investigations initiated and subsequently completed in FY10 for the USN. Fifteen (15) or 63% of the known subjects were in the USN. A smaller percentage, (17%) were either not in the military or were unknown, one of which was a foreign national.

There were ten (10) subjects or 42%, which had recordable demographics. Of those ten, 50% were between the ages of 20-24 and 20% were between the ages of 25-34.

Of the 450 final dispositions for subjects accused of sexual assault in FY10, there were 22 subject dispositions related to incidents occurring in the Combat Areas of Interest. Eight of these cases could NOT be prosecuted for the following reasons: lack of jurisdiction (2), the allegation was unfounded meaning it was false or did not meet the elements of a sexual assault offense (2), and evidence was insufficient (1), and victim declined or refused to cooperate with the investigation and/or prosecution (3).

The remaining 11 subject cases were presented to commands for a disposition decision. Courts-martial charges were preferred (initiated) against two subjects, non-judicial punishment was imposed on eight subjects, and other administrative actions were taken against one subject.

The locations of the incidents varied, due most likely to the nature of the Navy's mission. United Arab Emirates had the highest number of sexual assault incidents at

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

32%, followed by Bahrain at 26%, Djibouti at 16%, and Afghanistan at 11%. The Navy had the smallest number of incidents occur in Jordan, Kuwait and Iraq at 5% each.

2.3. Reporting Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Unrestricted Reports (i.e., Did more reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc.)
- Investigations
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

USN Trends - Descriptive Data

There was a 9% drop in the amount of on-base incidents. In FY10, 40% of the sexual assault incidents were reported to have occurred on-base while 49% were reported to have occurred off-base, with 12% unknown. In contrast, FY09 on-base incidents accounted for 49% of the reports and off-base accounted for 48% of reported sexual assaults, with 3% unknown.

As stated above, over half of the sexual assault reports were made within 30 days (66%). The weekend was the heaviest incident period (Saturday and Sunday) at 32%. When Friday is added as an incident day, the number increases to 41%, which are considered non-duty hours.

Of the 441 FY10 reported sexual assaults, 305 or 69% occurred at unknown times. Of the remaining 136 sexual assaults with known incident times, 13% occurred between the hours of 6pm to 6am, (typically considered non-duty hours) with fifty-four (54%) percent of incidents occurring between midnight to 6 am and 32% occurring between the hours of 6pm to midnight.

Investigations – USN

In FY10, 441 Unrestricted Sexual Assault investigations were initiated. Of those, 325 were opened and closed (completed) during FY10. The completed investigations had 352 subjects and 351 victims.

Of these 325 investigations, 275 involved Service members as victims. Sixty-nine Service Member victims (active duty) declined to participate in any judicial action. This is a rate of approximately 25%. The reasons victims declined to prosecute are unknown but could stem from a multitude of issues, whether it lies in services available to victims, the investigatory process, the adjudicative process, the command climate or a combination of these factors. During FY11, the Navy will continue to examine the possible reasons for victim declinations.

Combat Areas of Interest – USN

NCIS does not work sexual assault investigations any different in Combat Areas of Interest. Sexual assault investigations are handled the same whether they occur CONUS, OCONUS or in a deployed war zone. The statistics presented in this report indicate that the demographics and trends of sexual assaults in the Combat Areas of Interest replicate those in the general overall report. There were not any vast differences or anomalies noted in the Combat Areas of Interest.

Analysis

Trends in demographics, offenses, adjudication and Combat Areas of Interest have remained fairly constant between FY09 and FY10. The statistics vary slightly between services (USN and USMC) but overall, the results are fairly similar.

Sexual assault victims in the DON (both USN and USMC) are mainly represented in the E-1 to E-4 category, with the largest age group comprising 20-24 year olds. Subjects were equally concentrated in the E-1 to E-4 range and the E-5 to E-9 range. Most subjects, like victims, were also within the 20-24 year old age bracket. There were obviously many more subjects without known demographic information than victims. Therefore, the statistics provided for subjects may not be as accurate as that for victims.

Of the known days and time periods reported, well over half of all sexual assaults reported occurred over the weekend period of Friday – Sunday (64%) and between the hours of 6pm and 6am (87%). In many circumstances this period of time is considered non-duty time.

There were more off-base than on-base incidents reported for the USN and the opposite was true for the USMC with more on-base than off-base incidents reported

All sexual assault investigations are worked in the same manner, irrespective if the investigation involves USN or USMC personnel. All investigations follow the same policies and protocols whether CONUS, OCONUS or within the Combat Areas of Interest. Therefore the way an investigation is conducted and reported will have no impact on demographics, trends, or dispositions.

3. Restricted Reporting

3.1. Victim Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Demographics trends
- Service referrals
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

NCIS and other Law Enforcement agencies are not involved in restricted reporting (RR) cases. SARCs are not required to indicate the types of offenses in RR cases because it would be based on self reports by victims that may not be accurate. In addition, self reports may or may not meet the definition and criteria of the UCMJ offenses. The role of the SARC for all RR cases is to focus on providing victim support (referrals for advocacy, medical, and counseling services) and case management.

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

There was not any significant change in the amount of RR incidents in FY10 from FY09. There were 170 Restricted Reports of sexual assault in FY10 and 173 Restricted Reports of sexual assault in FY09; difference of 3. Of the 170 RR incidents, 16.4% (28) converted to Unrestricted Reporting (UR) which is a 4.9% increase from the 20 RR incidents which converted in FY-09 (11.5%). This increase could be due to the education/awareness efforts conducted throughout the Navy and a better understanding of the reporting options.

3.2. Reporting Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Restricted Reports (i.e., Did more occur reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc)
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

Navy SARCs provided the following Military Service information regarding victim Restricted Reports of sexual assault in FY10: Army-1; Navy-159; USMC-2; USAF-5; USCG-1 and 2 that had data missing in the area of Service affiliation (unknown). 74% (127) of all UR cases were service member on service member; 11% (19) were non-service member on service member and 14% (24) were unidentified subjects on service members. Incidents that were reported as occurring off a military installation accounted for 60% (103) of the cases, while 30% were reported as occurring on an installation.

Demographically, 55% of FY10 RR victims were in the 20-24 year old age range, which is up 10% from FY09; and 73% were in pay grades of E-1 to E-4 which is down 3% from FY09. The two time periods when most incidents occurred were midnight-6 am (33%) and 6 pm – midnight (35%). Incidents when the time was Unknown for Restricted Reports comprised 24% of the incidents--which creates some difficulty in determining which time frame is the most accurate. The day of the week when most incidents took place was evenly split: 24% for both Saturday and Unknown with Friday being the third highest at 15%. A historical synopsis of incidents that were investigated shows that alcohol and drug use is still prevalent among both victims and offenders in these incidents, and that most incidents take place during the weekends, off base and between the hours of 6 pm and 6 am.

There were 3 RR incidents reported in FY10 in Combat Areas of Interest (1 in Bahrain and 2 in Djibouti, Africa), which was an increase of only 1 from FY09. Of the three RR, 2 were service member on service member; one occurred on an installation and 2 occurred off of the installation. Two of the reports were made within 3 days of the incident and 1 within 4-30 days. Two of the three occurred on a weekend between the hours of midnight – 6 am.

4. Service Referrals for Victims of Sexual Assault

4.1. Unrestricted Report Referral Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

As stated previously in 2.1, there were a total of 901 service referrals in FY10: 233 to military medical, 301 to military counseling and 168 to military legal compared to 1,568 service referrals in FY09. In FY09 the service referrals included 399 to military medical, 407 to military counseling and 233 to military legal.

In FY10, there were a total of 199 referrals to civilian facilities: 52 to medical, 117 to counseling and 30 to legal. There were a total of 4 SAFE kits conducted in FY10 and there were no reports where either SAFE kits or other supplies needed were not available at the time of the exams. There were 5 total referrals to military facilities for Unrestricted Report cases that occurred in Combat Areas of Interest (2 for medical and 3 for counseling) but there were no SAFE kits conducted.

It is unknown why there was a significant decrease in service referrals for Unrestricted Reports of sexual assault between FY09 and FY10. Two factors should be considered; service referrals are based on victim agreement and preference, and the SAPR Case Management System was implemented during FY10 which provided a more automated system of tracking service referrals. SARCs had to be trained of CMS as well as integrate their existing collection systems. This is an area that will be monitored and addressed, as appropriate.

4.2. Restricted Report Referral Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

Similar to FY09 analysis, referrals for services for Restricted Reports of sexual assault were primarily made to military facilities for counseling and medical care with 249 total referrals: 192 (77%) were made to military facilities and 57 (4.3%) to civilian facilities. In FY09 there were 42 total referrals made to military facilities (17 for medical, 23 for counseling and 2 for legal), compared to a total of 192 in FY-10:77 to medical, 85 to counseling and 30 to legal.

The requirement for legal consultation, trial lawyer training by OJAG, improved working relationships between legal and SARCs, case reviews at Sexual Assault Case Management Groups (SACMGs) and a better understanding and trust of the Navy system may have contributed to this increase in services and victims feeling more comfortable seeking care and support. There were 13 (the same number as in FY09) cases where a SAFE was conducted. There were no verifiable reports of a victim whose care was hindered due to a lack of a SAFE kit. BUMED reports no victim cases where care was hindered due to the lack of available SAFE kits or supplies. Based on BUMED hiring a SANE trainer and efforts to outfit MTFs with SAFE kits has made these more viable options for victims.

4.3. Service Referrals for Non-Military Victims Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

There were no service referrals for any non-military victims/civilians as they are not eligible for RR or for any civilians in Combat Areas of Interest in FY10.

II. Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

1. Analytic Discussion (United States Marine Corps)

1.1. Provide an analytic discussion of your Service's Statistical Report. This section should include such information as:

- Notable changes in the data since FY09 (in percents)
- Possible explanations for changes, or lack of change, in data
- Implications the data may have for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Implications the data may have for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Other (Please explain)

United States Marine Corps (USMC)

In FY09, NCIS reported 299 Unrestricted Sexual Assault investigations for the USMC and in FY10, NCIS reported 254 Unrestricted Sexual Assault investigations for the USMC. This is a 15% decrease in Unrestricted Reports from FY09 to FY10. In terms of completed investigations, in FY09, there were 135 Unrestricted Reports completed and in FY10 there were 188 Unrestricted Reports completed, reflecting an increase of 39%.

In Fiscal Year 2009 (FY09), there were 32 restricted reports of sexual assault (including 3 reports that converted to unrestricted), for a year end total of 35. In Fiscal Year 2010 (FY10), there were 47 restricted reports of sexual assault (including 9 that converted to unrestricted), for a year end total of 56. This reflects an increase of 15 restricted reports – 47% from FY09 to FY10. In FY09, 9% of the restricted reports converted to unrestricted compared to 16% of the restricted reports in FY10 converted to unrestricted.

Analysis

The Marine Corps recorded 45 less Unrestricted Reports in FY10 than in FY09, and 21 more restricted reports of sexual assault in FY10 than in FY09. The data can be interpreted as a positive development. Notably, it is not viewed as indicative of an increase in criminal behavior but perhaps the fact that that DON education efforts are working and more Marines are coming forward to seek help and access the services that are available to them. There were SAPR programmatic changes and increased training on the restricted reporting option and the differences between unrestricted reporting which may have impacted command climates and helped to reduce barriers and stigma to report. It remains notable that most Marine victims who choose restricted reporting choose to keep the report restricted – 91% in FY09 and 84% in FY10 so there is not an investigation and they can continue to receive advocacy, counseling, and medical care.

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

During both FY09 and FY10, there has been a strong education campaign, Navy/Marine Corps-wide, to educate Sailors, Marines and civilians about sexual assault reporting options (Restricted and Unrestricted), services available to victims of sexual assault, and crime prevention. Training focused on defining criminal behavior so that more personnel within the Department better understand and recognize a sexual assault. As Sailors and Marines receive this training and become better educated about the SAPR program, they have begun to report their sexual assault victimization in larger numbers.

The data coupled with the training and education suggests that the awareness campaign will continue to drive up numbers of reports as the programs reach a wider audience. Offenders rely on the victims to question their own actions leading to acquaintance assault/rape and to remain silent. By teaching our target audience to recognize the crime of sexual assault, they will no longer question their own behavior and report crimes that occur. Further, through comprehensive education on support and treatment programs available, victims will be more likely to seek out the benefits of those programs. However, the awareness campaign will also serve to drive numbers down in the long term as the target audience becomes more aware of inappropriate behavior and avoids enabling behavior.

Both Navy and Marine Corps are actively working to improve the handling and disposition of sexual assault cases by all personnel involved in the military criminal justice system. For example, in FY09, NCIS worked routinely with agents in the field to improve investigative skills and procedures that emphasize detail oriented, concise, timely and complete sexual assault investigations. During FY10, NCIS built upon the success of FY09 efforts and completed two advanced training courses designed to expand the capabilities of investigators. Specifically, the NCIS Advanced Family and Sexual Violence Training course and the NCIS/OJAG/JAM Mobile Training Team (MTT) on Sexual Assault Investigation and Prosecution was executed. Through the two courses, ninety-two (92) NCIS Special Agents received investigative theory and practice focused on offender behavior.

NCIS continues to partner closely with the Office of the Judge Advocate General (OJAG) and HQMC, Judge Advocate Division, to improve its investigatory and adjudicative products.

2. Unrestricted Reporting

2.1. Victim Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Type of offenses
- Demographic trends
- Service referrals
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Military Protective Orders Issued as a Result of an Unrestricted Report (i.e., Number issued, number violated, etc.)
- Others (Please explain)

United States Marine Corps – Type of Offenses (USMC)

Aggravated Sexual Assault was the largest category of sexual offenses investigated by NCIS for the USMC in FY10. These cases comprise approximately 50% of all USMC sexual assault investigations for FY10. The second highest case category was Wrongful Sexual Contact at 27%. The 188 completed USMC investigations had a total of 192 victims. Of those 192 victims 91, or 47%, claimed to have been victims of Aggravated Sexual Assault. Approximately 32% of the USMC victims claimed to have been victims of Wrongful Sexual Contact. The USMC report also indicated that 7% of the victims claimed to be victims of Rape, 8% claimed to have been victims of Non-consensual sodomy, and 3% reported being victims of Abusive Sexual Contact.

Demographic Trends – USMC

Upon review of the FY10 sexual assault incidents, it was noted that 48% of all USMC sexual assault investigations were reported within 3 days of the incident. Twenty percent (20%) were reported within 4-30 days and 7% were reported over one year past the date of the incident. It is important to note that most reports are timely, which can be a vast benefit for investigators.

Weekend reporting (Saturday and Sunday) comprise 33% of all USMC reports generated.

The largest rank represented as victims is the E-1 to E-4 category. In FY10, 61% of all victims were E-1 to E-4 in the USMC reports. In FY09 that number was 55%, which shows a slight increase.

The largest age group in FY09 and FY10 were 20-24 year olds. In FY09 the same age group comprised 46% of all victims and in FY10, comprised 51% of all victims.

There was an increase in the number of “service member on service member” investigations. In FY09 that category comprised 55% of all investigations and in FY10 that number comprised 61% of all USMC investigations.

Service Referrals

There were sixty-eight referrals for military medical services, eighty-seven referrals to military counseling services and 118 referrals to military legal services. There were fifteen referrals to civilian medical services and thirty-two referrals to civilian counseling services. There were no referrals to civilian legal services.

USMC – Combat Areas of Interest

The USMC had six (6) total Unrestricted Sexual Assault investigations in the Combat Areas of Interest during FY10. All six of the investigations were completed in FY10. The USMC reported a total of six (6) sexual assault victims from the completed investigations, five female victims and one male victim. Five victims were between the ages of 20-24 and one was between the ages of 35-49. Two-thirds of the victims were E-1 to E-4. Four of the sexual assault offenses occurred in Afghanistan and one each in Bahrain and Iraq.

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

Analysis

The differences in the locations of the sexual assaults in the Combat Areas of Interest between the USN and the USMC are certainly understandable due to the mission and deployment locations of each branch of service.

The data provided via the Combat Areas of Interest shows no major differences between either branch of service when reviewing full sexual assault reporting data. The statistics for each branch of service in the Combat Areas of Interest mirror the data as presented in the full report. Demographics on victim gender, rank and age are fairly consistent for both branches of service even when broken down into the Combat Areas of Interest.

Both Service reports indicate that aggravated sexual assault and wrongful sexual contact are the most reported types of sexual assault offenses. Overall it appears that aggravated sexual assault within the Department of the Navy (DON) is the primary sexual offense being reported and investigated.

2.2. Subject Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Demographic trends
- Disposition trends
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest

United States Marine Corps – Subject Demographic Trends

Demographic trends inform prevention and awareness efforts; therefore, we examine these in terms of the most recent reports. Data analyzed in this section was culled from Unrestricted Reports opened and closed in FY10 as these are the most recent cases for which we have completed data. There were a total of 203 subjects in 188 sexual assault investigations initiated and completed in FY10 for the USN. Of the 203 subjects 184 (91%) were members of the USMC, less than 1% were from other Services, and nine percent were either unknown or civilian.

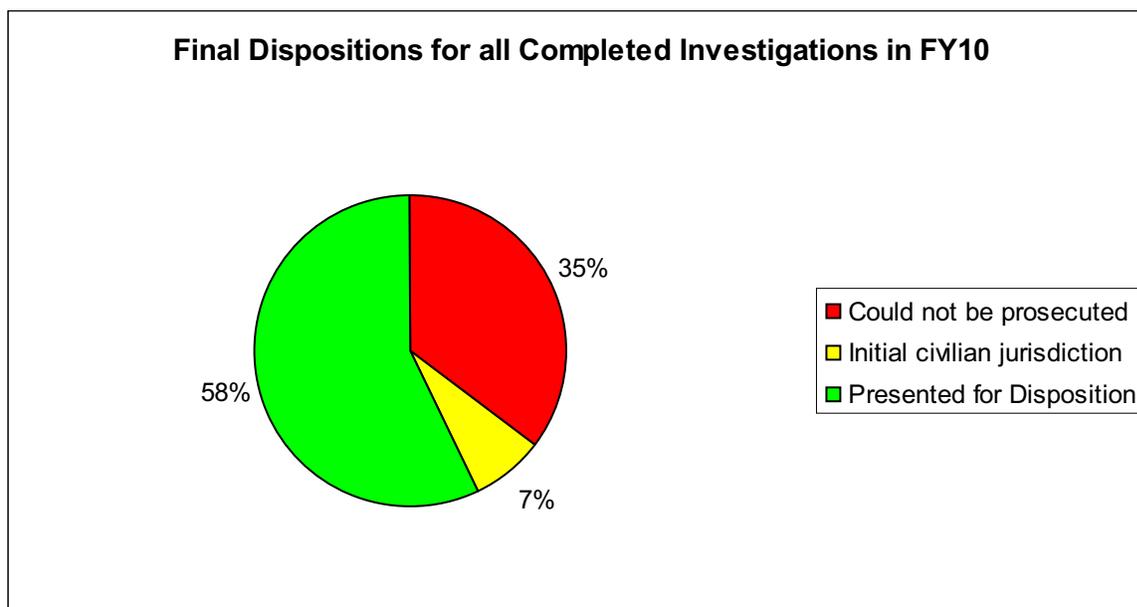

The USMC investigations reported two female subjects in FY10 and one female subject in FY09.

Of the subjects who had reportable demographic information, 68% were E-1 to E-4 and 26% were E-5 to E-9, which shows a high concentration of enlisted member subjects (94% total). Of the known subjects, 81% were between the ages of 20-34, with 51% falling within the age range of 20-24 and 30% within the age range of 25-34. This statistic, like the USN, shows that the ages of subjects tend to be a slightly older than the age of victims.

USMC Disposition Data - Analysis

Disposition data must be examined in terms of all cases closed during a time period vice all cases opened and closed. Thorough investigations and successful prosecutions require time, particularly in serious and complex cases; therefore, examining only cases opened and closed in a fiscal year excludes analysis of the more egregious reports received, and as a practical matter all cases reported in the last quarter of the fiscal year. For the sake of accuracy in this section, we have included all dispositions in sections D and E of the matrix (final dispositions in Unrestricted Reports opened and closed in FY10 and final dispositions in Unrestricted Reports received prior to FY10). By doing so, we are able to present a complete and accurate picture of military justice for sexual assault cases in FY10.

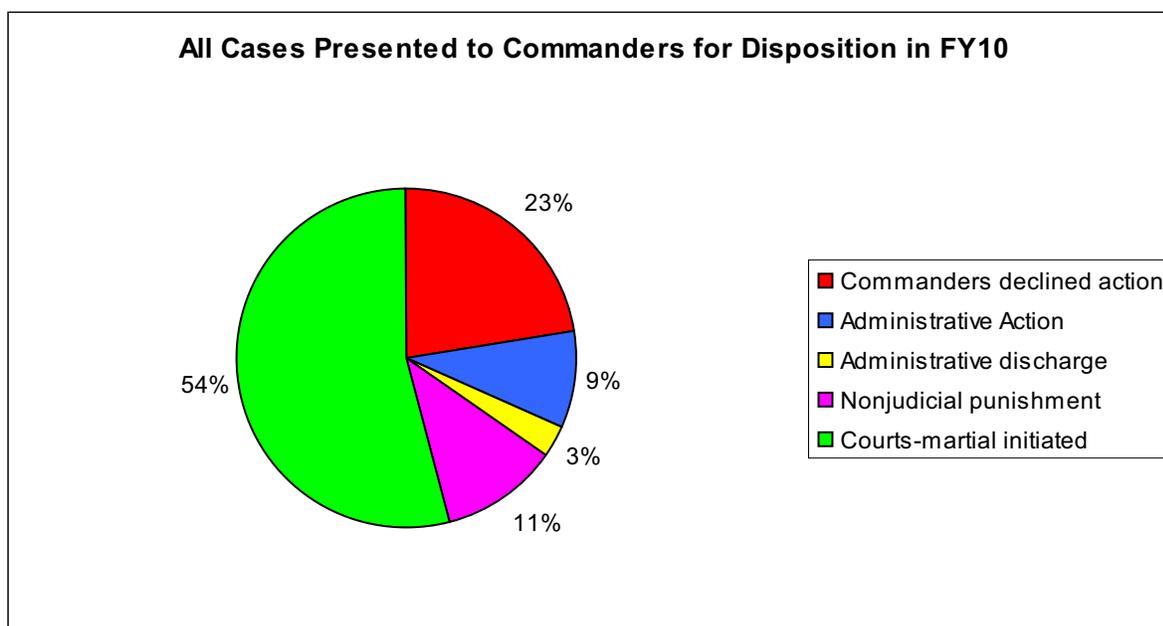

Could not be prosecuted - In FY10, there were 348 final dispositions for subjects accused of sexual assault. Thirty-five percent (123) of the subjects could NOT be prosecuted for the following reasons: lack of jurisdiction (i.e., civilian subjects NOT subject to UCMJ) (6), the subject was unknown (23), the allegation was unfounded, meaning it was false or did not meet the elements of a sexual assault offense (17), probable cause existed for a non-sexual assault offense only (10), statute of limitations expired (1), the subject died or deceased (2), the evidence was insufficient (21) or the victim declined or refused to cooperate with the investigation or prosecution (43).

Initial civilian jurisdiction – In 26 of the remaining 225 subject cases, civilian authorities initially assumed jurisdiction. Of these 26, 5 were either pending or the disposition was unknown at the time this report was written. NCIS files indicate that civilian authorities declined to prosecute due to lack of evidence in 8 cases and deemed 2 cases to be unfounded. Of the remaining cases in which disposition was known, charges were filed in 9 or 35% of the cases. Further analysis is not possible due to lack of information regarding these cases.

Presented for disposition - In total, 199 subject cases were presented to commanders for a disposition decision in FY10. Commanders preferred courts-martial charges against 108 subjects, conducted non-judicial punishment against 22 subjects, took adverse administrative action against 24 subjects, and declined action in 45 cases pursuant to RCM 306(c)(1). Thus where commanders were able to take action, adverse action was taken against subjects in over 77% of the cases, including referral of courts-martial charges in 54% of the cases.

Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest – USMC – Subjects

The USMC had six total subjects in the six sexual assault investigations initiated and subsequently completed in FY10. Two subjects were identified to be members of the USMC, with 4 unknown. Of the two with recordable demographics, one was within the enlisted range of E-1 to E-4 and the other within E-5 to E-9.

Of the 348 final dispositions for subjects accused of sexual assault in FY10, there were six (6) subject dispositions related to incidents occurring in the Combat Areas of Interest. Of these, the following dispositions were reported: subject unknown (3), victim declined or refused to cooperate with the investigation or prosecution (2), one case where the Commander declined action pursuant to RCM 306(c)(1).

Tab 2 – FY10 Statistical Report Data Call for Sexual Assaults in the Military

As indicated earlier, four of the sexual assault offenses occurred in Afghanistan and one each in Bahrain and Iraq.

2.3. Reporting Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Unrestricted Reports (i.e., Did more reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc.)
- Investigations
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

USMC Trends - Descriptive Data

The USMC had more sexual assault incidents reported as occurring On-base than Off-base, which was fairly consistent over the last two years. In FY10, approximately 41% of the sexual assault incidents were reported to have occurred Off-base, vice 54% that were reported to have occurred On-base. (Fourteen cases had unknown locations). In FY09, 40% were reported as occurring Off-base with 60% occurring On-base. (Two cases had unknown locations).

In FY10, 48% of all USMC sexual assault investigations were reported within 3 days of the incident. Twenty percent (20%) were reported within 4-30 days. This indicates an overall 68% rate concerning timely reporting. Where reported, Saturdays and Sundays (weekend) comprised 44% of the incident times reported for sexual assaults. When Friday is added to the equation, the number jumps to 59%. This statistic indicates that over half of all reported sexual assault incidents are occurring during “weekend” or off-duty hours.

A large number (175) of the reported sexual assaults occurred at an unknown time. Only 79 reports indicated a known time for the sexual assault. Using known times only (79), 59% occurred between midnight and 6am and approximately 27% occurred between 6pm to midnight. A significant number of sexual assaults, 86%, occurred during off-duty hours, between the hours of 6pm and 6am, a 12 hour period.

Investigations – USMC

In FY10, 254 Unrestricted Sexual Assault investigations were initiated. Of those, 188 were opened and closed (completed) during FY10. The completed investigations had 203 subjects and 192 victims. Of these 188 investigations, 135 involved Service members as victims. Twelve Service Member victims (active duty) declined to participate in any judicial action. This is a rate of approximately 8%, which is much less than the rate of 23% reported in FY09. A strong education campaign focused on defining criminal behavior as it relates to sexual assault, as well as the services available to victims of sexual assault may continue to have a positive impact on the victim’s willingness to report the sexual assault and participate in the investigative and judicial processes.

Combat Areas of Interest – USMC

NCIS does not work sexual assault investigations any different in Combat Areas of Interest. Sexual assault investigations are handled the same whether they occur CONUS, OCONUS or in a deployed war zone. The statistics presented in this report indicate that the demographics and trends of sexual assaults in the Combat Areas of Interest replicate those in the general overall report. There were not any vast differences or anomalies noted in the Combat Areas of Interest.

Analysis

Trends in demographics, offenses, adjudication and Combat Areas of Interest have remained fairly constant between FY09 and FY10. The statistics vary slightly between services (USN and USMC) but overall, the results are fairly similar.

Sexual assault victims in the DON (both USN and USMC) are mainly represented in the E-1 to E-4 category, with the largest age group comprising 20-24 year olds. Subjects were equally concentrated in the E-1 to E-4 range and the E-5 to E-9 range. Most subjects, like victims, were also within the 20-24 year old age bracket. There were obviously many more subjects without known demographic information than victims. Therefore, the statistics provided for subjects may not be as accurate as that for victims.

Of the known days and time periods reported, well over half of all sexual assaults reported occurred over the weekend period of Friday – Sunday (64%) and between the hours of 6pm and 6am (87%). In many circumstances this period of time is considered non-duty time.

There were more off-base than on-base incidents reported for the USN and the opposite was true for the USMC with more on-base than off-base incidents reported.

All sexual assault investigations are worked in the same manner, irrespective if the investigation involves USN or USMC personnel. All investigations follow the same policies and protocols whether CONUS, OCONUS or within the Combat Areas of Interest. Therefore the way an investigation is conducted and reported will have no impact on demographics, trends, or dispositions.

3. Restricted Reporting

3.1. Victim Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Demographics trends
- Service referrals
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

Demographic trends

Of the fifty-six Restricted Reports made in FY 2010 forty-five (80%) were between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four. Forty-six (82%) of the alleged sexual assaults were victims between the ranks of E1-E4. Eleven (20%) were male victims and three victims were mobilized reservists.

Service Referrals

There were forty referrals to military facilities for services. There were eight referrals to civilian facilities for services. Victims may be referred separately to either military or civilian service providers; or simultaneously to both.

Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest

There were no restricted reports opened in the Combat Areas of Interest.

3.2. Reporting Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Restricted Reports (i.e., Did more occur reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc)
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

Trends in descriptive information about Restricted Reports

The most notable trend difference from FY 2009 is that twenty-nine (52%) of the alleged restricted sexual assaults reports made in FY 2010 occurred off military installations. The majority of the sexual assaults occurred over the weekend, with Saturday being the highest, between the hours of 6pm to midnight.

Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest

There were no restricted reports opened in the Combat Areas of Interest.

4.1.1 Summary of referral data

There were sixty-eight referrals for military medical services, eighty-seven referrals to military counseling services and 118 referrals to military legal services. There were fifteen referrals to civilian medical services and thirty-two referrals to civilian counseling services. There were no referrals to civilian legal services.

Combat Areas of Interest referral data

There were two referrals for military medical services, three referrals to military counseling services and five referrals to military legal services.

- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

Summary of referral data

There were nineteen referrals for medical services and twenty-one referrals for counseling services at military facilities. There was one referral for medical services and seven referrals for counseling services at civilian facilities. Seven victims requested SAFEs be conducted.

Combat Areas of Interest referral data

There were no restricted reports opened in the Combat Areas of Interest.

Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data

No significant trends were identified.

4.3. Service Referrals for Non-Military Victims Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

Summary of referral data.

There were fourteen referrals for medical services, fourteen referrals for counseling services and thirty referrals for legal services for non-military victims.

Combat Areas of Interest referral data

There were no referrals of non-military victims.

Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data

The most notable difference in FY10 is that non-military victims were referred to either medical, counseling and/or legal services totaling fifty-eight.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Review: Air Force

Executive Summary

During fiscal year (FY) 2010, the Air Force (AF) maintained a robust sexual assault prevention and response (SAPR) capability through the continued placement of full-time civilian and military Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARC) at installations. Each SARC has completed a mandatory 40-hour training course conducted at Air University before assuming the role and working with victims. AF SARCs serve as the installation's single point of contact for integrating and coordinating sexual assault victim care services and case management; they also are responsible as a key advisor for commanders in assisting them to meet annual SAPR training requirements, implementing prevention programs, and establishing and maintaining a positive and proactive network in the surrounding community to include collaboration with off-installation service providers. The successes of the program relied heavily upon the 2,000-plus volunteer Victim Advocates (VA), consisting of AF active duty members and Department of Defense (DoD) civilian employees, to effectively work in-person issues with victims after their initial reports. Similarly, strong partnerships with other first-responder agencies and collaboration with key community providers at the installation level led to effective responses for victims of sexual assault. FY10 proceeded with execution of an enhanced, more holistic primary prevention based approach, which provides an overarching perspective to preventing sexual assaults before they occur. Linked to this approach are key components that include consistent message campaigns, community empowerment, risk reduction, risk management awareness through education, deterrence through effective investigative and legal processes, and synchronized response activities. The AF Deputy Chief of Staff for Manpower and Personnel hosted the 2nd Annual Leader Summit that featured in-person attendance by the Secretary of the AF and Assistant Vice Chief of Staff of the AF to emphasize institutional efforts. The outcome of the Summit provided clear emphasis for program direction and support throughout the AF. Directly supporting a research-based prevention program, the AF acquired the guidance and advice from many national experts in multiple forums or support arrangements. Significant accomplishments in FY10 include an off-site review for the guiding strategic roadmap using a balanced scorecard approach, continued with two major study initiatives, executed the first-year funding cycle of the Program Objective Memorandum (POM) cycle that provided a foundation for permanent program funding streams, and initiated training throughout the AF for bystander intervention modules for men, women, and leaders. In FY10, the AF received 585 reports of sexual assaults; 325 were unrestricted reports (includes 23 converted from restricted reports at the request of the victims) and 283 were restricted reports (23 converted to unrestricted, leaving 260 restricted). This number of reports represents an increase of 39 unrestricted (13%) and a decrease of 3 restricted (1%) reports from the number of reports received in FY09. These totals included 18 reports from the Combat Areas of Interest, 14 of which were unrestricted reports (an increase of 2 from FY 09) and 4 were restricted reports (6 total restricted reports of which 2 converted to unrestricted reports at the request of the victims). The restricted reports from the Combat Areas of interest represent a decrease of 9 from FY09, of which none had converted to unrestricted reports.

1. Program Overview

1.1. Please provide a general overview of your Service's SAPR program. This overview should include such information as:

- Authorizing Service regulations and/or instructions and dates of publication
- General organizational structure of your Service SAPR program and personnel (e.g. Installation Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) and Victim Advocate (VA) structure, mid-level program management [if any], and program management) as well as a brief description of how this structure changes in deployed environments
- Other personnel involved and their roles in your Service's SAPR Program
- Other (Please explain)

The AF Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program (SAPR) is executed from AF Policy Directive (AFPD) 36-60, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program, 28 March 2008; and, AF Instruction (AFI) 36-6001, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program, 29 September 2008 (Incorporating Change 1, 30 September 2009).

The definitions used in the SAPR guiding directives and policy mirror those listed in Department of Defense Directive (DoDD) 6495.01, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program; and, Department of Defense Instruction (DoDI) 6495.02, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Procedures.

The Assistant Secretary of the AF for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (SAF/MR) serves as an agent of the Secretary and provides guidance, direction, and oversight for all matters pertaining to the formulation, review, and execution of plans, policies, programs, and budgets addressing sexual assault.

The AF SAPR Program is a multi-disciplinary approach, involving the integrated efforts from the Deputy Chief of Staff, Manpower and Personnel (AF/A1); AF Judge Advocate (AF/JA); AF Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI); AF Chief of Chaplains (AF/HC); AF Surgeon General (AF/SG); and, AF Security Forces (AF/A7S) to deliver capabilities for installation-level Commanders to effectively execute AF policy. The synergistic approach between the functions reinforce the AF's commitment to eliminate sexual assaults through awareness and prevention training, education, victim advocacy, response, reporting, and accountability.

Within the AF, SAF/MRM provides oversight between the supporting functional communities and serves as the primary link between the AF and DoD for matters involving the SAPR Program.

The AF SAPR Program Manager is part of the AF Directorate of Services (AF/A1S) and the AF/A1 portfolio; and, provides guidance/direction for the SAPR Program to major command representatives for assigned installations. The SAPR Program management office consists of a civilian program manager, a program deputy (Lieutenant Colonel), and designated individual who serves as the Chief, SAPR Plans and Resources (Captain).

AF SAPR Program management is assisted by the AF Personnel Center (AFPC), SAPR

Operations branch, led by a GS13 with one military officer assigned. The role for SAPR Operations is to provide a reach-back capability and contact point for all field and major command activities. Additionally, AF SAPR Operations maintains rosters of all SARCs, prepares attendees for the AF SARC Course, and hosts the AF SAPR web page.

At the major command (MAJCOM) level, a MAJCOM Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) is responsible for administering the SAPR program within that MAJCOM and provides functional oversight and guidance for installation SARCs to ensure compliance with DoD and AF policy, and other applicable authority. They also provide professional supervision and assistance for the installation SARC on matters such as policy interpretation, execution of duties, and other matters as warranted. When determined by the MAJCOM SARC, this assistance may require discussions with the installation SARC or VAs regarding restricted reporting communications from victims in order to assist the SARC in the performance of his or her duties.

The installation Wing Commander (WG/CC), or equivalent, implements local sexual assault prevention and response programs ensuring that an immediate, trained response capability exists to support victims of sexual assault. The installation Wing Vice Commander is the designated responsible official to act for the WG/CC and supervises the installation SARC. Supervision cannot be further delegated. At each AF installation, a SARC implements and manages the installation level sexual assault prevention and response program, serving as the installation's single point of contact for integrating and coordinating sexual assault victim care services and case management. Services may begin at the initial report of sexual assault and continue through disposition and resolution of issues related to the victim's health and well-being. The SARC assists unit commanders as necessary to ensure victims of sexual assault receive the appropriate responsive care. The SARC is a key advisor for commanders in assisting them to meet annual SAPR training requirements; implementing prevention programs; and establishing and maintaining a positive and proactive network in the surrounding community to include collaboration with off-installation service providers.

Both MAJCOM (GS13) and installation SARCs (GS12 or military officer in the grade of Captain or higher) are fulltime positions. Each level is also authorized an administrative assistant. At unique locations, such as AF training bases with a large transient population, the installation is authorized two fulltime SARCs (1 civilian and 1 military). SARCs must complete a mandatory 40-hour SARC course at Air University before they are allowed to handle confidential reports. The AF currently has 175 fulltime positions authorized.

SARCs who are military officers are also dedicated deployment assets and fulfill requirements through 179-day deployments. The AF has primary responsibility at seven main operating locations within the Central Command (CENTCOM) area of responsibility (AOR); each maintains a fulltime capability by utilizing the deployed military officer SARC. Operations for SAPR are mirrored in the deployed environment as those for normal installations, as much as practicable.

AF SARCs are assisted in the care for victims by volunteer VAs. The VA responsibilities include providing crisis intervention, referral and ongoing non-clinical support, including providing information on available options and resources to assist the victim in making informed decisions about their case. VAs are not assigned to victims in their own unit of assignment as standard practice. The VA ensures victims continue to receive the necessary care and support until the victim states or SARC determines that support is no longer needed. The AF utilizes volunteer AF military and DoD civilians to fill this critical function; after extensive recruiting, screening, and selection, the volunteer VAs are a crucial element in community involvement. VAs must receive a mandatory 40-hour VA course conducted by a trained SARC before they are allowed to work with victims. Currently, there are more than 2,000 trained and available VAs.

2. Institutionalize Prevention Strategies in the Military Community

2.1. Under the Department’s adopted “The Spectrum of Prevention,” and its 6 components, describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to prevent sexual assault

2.1.1. Identify efforts by your Service to promote prevention-related policy

Each year, the AF begins a strategic campaign approach with installation senior leaders, major command functional representatives, and key Air Staff leadership at the AF SAPR Leader Summit; in FY10, this was conducted in November 2009 in Washington, DC. During this Summit, attendees also had the opportunity to provide additional inputs to support the DoD SAPRO “Hurts one. Affects all” campaign message in a strategic planning session. The key concepts of this message reflect the continuing reminder of the impact sexual assault has on a victim, and the impact sexual assault has on military readiness/unit operations.

Also each year, the AF SAPR Program Office conducts an off-site strategic review of the balanced scorecard and strategic roadmap for the SAPR Program. For FY10, the 75ABW/CV, Vice-Commander at Hill AFB, Utah, hosted the review. The adaptation of the balanced scorecard provides a flexible, overarching strategy to SAPR Program and focuses efforts on key themes, perspectives, objectives, and measures.

Both an organizational mission and vision are crucial to mapping a course promoting a prevention-based approach:

AIR FORCE SAPR MISSION

Prevent and respond to sexual assault through a balance of focused education, compassionate advocacy, and justice in order to promote respect and dignity throughout the AF

AIR FORCE SAPR VISION

Cultivate an AF without sexual assault which will be the benchmark for society and model for the world

In support of these, key themes provide linkage to multiple levels of the prevention spectrum:

LEAD CULTURAL CHANGE

Sexual assault remains one of America’s most under-reported crimes for many reasons. Included in these are individual perceptions of stigma, difficulty sharing details of an extremely personal nature, as well as, organizational, investigative, judicial, and supporting activity responses. Cultural change must occur in order to encourage victims of sexual assault to report. Understanding the realities of sexual assault and the conditions under which they occur is primary to this cultural shift. Equally important, is developing an environment where sexual assaults are not tolerated and all Airmen strive to eliminate behaviors and actions that lead to sexual assault.

ENHANCE COLLABORATION

A strategic approach that engages the population in different forums provides the highest probability for success. There is no single entity that can provide the awareness, response and prevention necessary to support changing an institutional culture. Instead, stakeholders must establish positive relationships that work towards eliminating behaviors that may lead to sexual assault. Through effective collaboration, with both internal functional agencies and external community services, the AF can achieve synergistic solutions to eradicating sexual assault from the AF.

SUSTAINABLE BUSINESS PRACTICES

Combating sexual assault requires long-term commitment and extensively coordinated efforts. At the core of actionable processes, the business practices must be sustainable over time with sufficient flexibility for modification based on current conditions. Plans for executing the SAPR program require continual senior leader support and emphasis to ensure program viability and continued operations. Additionally, the program must provide measurable methods to determine program effectiveness.

2.1.2. Identify the ways your Service is changing organizational prevention-based practices

Anchoring the focus of the AF SAPR Program strategic approach for a prevention-based practice are four perspectives with associated objectives:

PERSPECTIVE 1: COMMANDERS, AIRMEN, FAMILIES, AND VICTIMS

Deliver mission sustaining, customer-driven support, and services that enable our AF members and dependents to live and work in safe environments

The AF SAPR program provides awareness, response, accountability, and prevention to worldwide populations of members who have an affiliation with AF installations. Fundamental to this philosophy is that all members understand the realities of sexual assault, to include awareness of how and where these crimes are committed and situational factors that mitigate risk to Airmen. In order to provide this broad-reaching perspective, information provided must be valid, reliable, and applicable for the target populations. The information must be based on facts and obtained through peer-reviewed quality scientific studies, such as a prevalence and incidence study and an evaluation that measures the effectiveness of training and education. The results from these studies will provide insight for future policy decisions and subsequent implementation. A key element for establishing benchmark criteria to eliminate sexual assault from within the ranks of Airmen is providing a starting point for developing long-term prevention measures and incorporating social-ecological models that enhance community empowerment.

OBJECTIVES

- Expand awareness of SAPR through effective educational processes
  - Ensure populations are aware of basic concepts of the SAPR Program, to include

- reporting options and services available
- Conduct training that informs populations of AF expectations, the nature of the crime, and possible responses or services
- Increase situational awareness of the at-risk members and roles of others who may eliminate sexual assault through intervention
- Develop trust in the SAPR program for those who seek assistance
  - Bolster program credibility by building and maintaining trust through the actions of SAPR program personnel
  - Create confidence in the SAPR reporting system for victims of sexual assault by applicable confidentiality and support
  - Use the wingman construct to create safe places to work and live
- Improve victim-centered response efforts
  - Ensure those who respond to a request for services receive appropriate training and resources to provide effective care
  - Use collaboration, cooperation, and communication to tailor individual services and support as part of response efforts
- Improve institutional prevention efforts
  - Lead cultural change that creates an environment that will not tolerate events that lead to sexual assault
  - Empower the community to proactively intervene when necessary
  - Utilize social marketing tools to target specific populations with personalized messages about SAPR resources and services
- Deliver reliable information for supported populations and leaders
  - Use factual, research based information to deliver consistent messages that can be understood and is meaningful for all
  - Synchronize messages based on target populations through the use of best-practice marketing methods to reach those populations

PERSPECTIVE 2: STEWARDSHIP

Advance stewardship of taxpayer and Airmen resources by ensuring financial sustainability and future vision

For the AF SAPR program to deliver world-class service and response to the Total Force, we need to develop a rigorous Planning, Programming, Budgeting and Execution process that links resources to mission areas and develops dynamic capabilities. Deliberate planning is essential to accessing viable options in our resource constrained environment to support current and future year initiatives. Prioritization of requirements must consider a solution set that complements the first responder communities, AF Reserve, and Air National Guard as well as the active force in home station sustainment and deployment operations. Fiscal Year 2010 was the first year the SAPR Program was identified within the Program Objective Memorandum (POM). Keen budget execution will be key to successfully defending current funding and articulating the need for additional resources and emerging requirements to the AF Corporate Structure. Finally, a thoughtful review process must determine if our initiatives sustain our mission and move us closer to obtaining the SAPR vision, as well as identifying areas that require adjustments for future year planning.

OBJECTIVES

- Balance funding
  - Secure funding to support current and future program strategies and objectives
  - Optimize resources to achieve 100% execution of spending plans
- Expand and sustain adequate funding
  - Leverage partnerships to protect funding through consistency of use and availability
  - Develop base level action plans to build strong justification and effective planning for proportional share of available funds
  - Ensure service delivery consistency with budget discipline, fiscal responsibility, and funding across MAJCOMs

PERSPECTIVE 3: BUSINESS PROCESSES

Embrace innovative, efficient and effective operational methodologies and practices that ensure mission success

To provide a model and benchmark SAPR program, the AF must synchronize management of internal and external information that relates to sexual assault and implications for the force, such as new or emerging policies, studies, or research data. Consistent messaging will aid in all levels of the AF understanding the SAPR Program, especially the impact to each victim and the mission impairment commanders' experience when one of their members is either a victim or offender. Feedback is a vital but often overlooked mechanism essential to ensure field level execution meets the requirement and expectations of a force-wide program. Beyond the requirements of AFD 36-60 and AFI 36-6001, comprehensive yet non-restrictive guides must be provided to enable consistent and standard implementation, enhance care and support to victims, and support other functional facets of the program. Consistent messages and actions of functional agencies must continue working towards presenting a program that does not carry stigma for victims who report. Compliance evaluations are essential and mandatory.

OBJECTIVES

- Improve knowledge management
  - Distribute accurate and comprehensive understanding of requirements, victim needs, resources, and definitions of issues
  - Catalog research, best practices, and internal information to optimize cross-functional sharing of resources
- Improve communication
  - Enhance communication processes to provide consistent messages, respect for viewpoints, and to encourage and capture ideas
  - Ensure internal and external communication is intelligible, logical, fact based, and shared throughout partnerships
- Improve program delivery
  - Consistent implementation at all levels by use of "how-to" guides and improve cross-talk/sharing of program best-practices
  - Maintain standardized requirements validated through mandatory compliance inspections
- Improve program evaluation
  - Expand internal review capacity to improve performance management for procedures

- and standards
- Establish standard program review processes during critical personnel changeover times and periodic self-inspection criteria
- Improve data reporting procedures
  - Develop greater accessibility, efficiency, and improved timeliness of data reporting
  - Maximize institutional data collection methods and data relevance through effective program planning and personnel training

PERSPECTIVE 4: ORGANIZATIONAL CAPACITY

Maximize institutional workforce capability while capitalizing on information technologies and individual or group initiative

Establishing the AF SAPR Program as a benchmark for society and model for the world will require a robust organization with the ability to deliver support and services to a diverse AF population around the globe. Essential to our capacity development efforts are external corporate-level partnerships with nationally recognized experts in the field of sexual assault, as well as those at the installation-level with local rape crisis and community support organizations. The multi-disciplinary approach to combating the complex issue of sexual assault demands that SARCs and the first responder communities develop complementing competencies through increased collaboration. Equally important to balanced and sustained funding, is a trained cadre of SAPR professionals equipped and resourced at levels sufficient to meet the demands of a 24/7/365 day response capability. Our capability will be maximized through leveraging information technology across the SAPR operating environment to increase availability of information, streamline data collection efforts, and provide a common operating picture to the SARCs and functional communities.

OBJECTIVES

- Expand partnerships
  - Cultivate relationships with external community advocacy services to broaden support and resource service availability
  - Establish communication with Federal and State agencies to synchronize efforts and provide synergistic approaches
- Enhance information technology innovation
  - Leverage current technologies for efficient program administration at the installation, MAJCOM, AFPC, and Air Staff levels
  - Use emerging technologies to capture important program information, enhance record keeping, and track victim cases
- Enhance cross-functional readiness
  - Establish effective coordination and working processes with DoD SAPRO, other military services, and functional communities
  - Enhance role understanding and program services for all SAPR related functional communities
  - Develop consistent program execution across the Total Force
- Increase manpower availability and stability
  - Develop position workload standards for supported population size and environment
  - Establish standardized position criteria for military officers assigned as installation

SARCs

- Standardize civilian SARC work environments with appropriate support and resources to minimize personnel turnover rates

2.1.3. Describe the methods used to foster prevention-related coalitions and networks (i.e., Name prevention subject matter experts consulted and involved at the Service level)

The following subject matter experts were used either for specific projects or in multiple venues as consultants and/or targeted population presentations through different contractual agreements:

Ms Gail Stern, M.Ed, has been a sexual assault prevention educator since 1991, and is the co-author of the non-stranger rape prevention program, SEX SIGNALS. She serves as Director of Education of Catharsis Productions, and has served as a consultant to the US AF, the US Army, the US Marine Corps, the US Navy, and the US Naval Academy. She is currently pursuing her doctorate in Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, focusing on the use of humor in sexual assault prevention education.

Dr. David Lisak, Ph.D., is an associate professor of psychology at the University of Massachusetts where he conducts and supervises research on the causes and consequences of interpersonal violence. In particular, he has studied the motives and characteristics of "undetected" rapists – men who rape but who are never prosecuted. His research has been published in leading journals in psychology, trauma and violence, and he was the founding editor of the journal, Psychology of Men and Masculinity. He has conducted workshops in more than forty states across the U.S., and consults with universities, the USAF and the USA, the Department of Defense, and other institutions regarding sexual assault prevention and policies.

Dr. Dean Kilpatrick, Ph.D., is Professor and Director, National Crime Victims Center at the Medical University of South Carolina who studies the scope of violent crime and its psychological impact on victims and is the co-author of the influential “Rape in America” study.

Dr. Mary Koss, Ph.D., is Professor in the Mel and Enid Zuckerman Arizona College of Public Health specializing in sexual violence and has testified before the U.S. Senate and participated in congressional briefings on this topic.

Ms Anne Munch, Esq., is an attorney from Colorado with 23 years of experience as a prosecutor, educator and consultant in the area of sexual assault and domestic violence. She has been working with the AF since 2003 when she first assisted the AF Academy. Since then, Anne has been an integral part of the USAF Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program and was on the development team for our Bystander Intervention Programs. In addition, Anne works with civilian organizations around the country training attorneys, investigators and victim advocates. She works with all branches of the military and regularly speaks and presents to US military organizations. In 2009, Anne served as a Highly Qualified Expert for the US Army. She is highly regarded as an expert in the area of sexual assault in the US and abroad.

Dr Pat McGann, Ph.D., is Director, Strategy and Planning, Men Can Stop Rape, Inc. (MCSR). Dr. McGann led the partnership with DoD SAPRO to design the media campaigns “Our Strength Is for Defending....Preventing Sexual Assault is Our Duty” and the subsequent “Hurts one.

Affects all.”, which covers all branches of the military and provides mixed media to communicate sexual assault prevention and response messages. He was co-author of a report for DoD on the need for additional responses to sexual assault. Many of his publications address the politics of masculinity in the composition classroom and in written language.

Dr. Dorothy Edwards, Ph.D., is the author of the Green Dot Violence Prevention Strategy, holds a Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology from Texas Woman’s University. Dr. Edwards is the Executive Director of Green Dot, a center dedicated to effective intervention and prevention of power-based personal violence. With a specialty in primary prevention, she provides training and consultation in the areas of power-based personal violence, organizational capacity building, program implementation, strategic planning and community mobilization. Dr. Edwards is currently working with government entities, state coalitions, military, non-profits, community organizations, high schools and colleges from around the globe.

Dr. Jennifer Sayre, Ph.D., is the Director of Training and Development for Green Dot, et cetera. A graduate of Dartmouth College she attained her Masters’ and doctorate degrees in Clinical Psychology from the University of Virginia. Dr. Sayre completed her internship at Duke University Medical Center and a post-doctoral fellowship at the University of Virginia. She has 15 years of clinical experience with an emphasis on trauma and recovery from violence. She was also a professor at James Madison and Washington & Lee Universities. With an emphasis in primary prevention, Dr. Sayre provides training and consultation to universities, non-profit organizations, and military installations across the globe as a member of the Green Dot team.

Dr. Alan Berkowitz, Ph.D., is an independent consultant who helps institutions of higher education, military organizations, and communities design programs that address health and social justice issues. Currently he is working with the Army, Navy, Marines and AF as a subject matter expert to help them design effective bystander intervention programs. Alan is well-known for his scholarship and innovative programming on sexual assault prevention, the social norms approach, drug prevention, gender issues and social justice, and is the recipient of five national awards for his work in these areas. In addition, Alan was the Founder and Editor of The Report on Social Norms. His work is featured on his website, www.alanberkowitz.com

2.1.4. List the prevention education and training initiatives and programs your Service offers for responders, particularly those that impart individual skills associated with bystander intervention or appropriate risk reduction that does not blame victims

In addition to specific first responder training requirements identified in DoDI 6495.02, Enclosure 6, all first responders receive the appropriate AF bystander intervention training (leaders, men, or women modules) in lieu of the annual training requirement, currently waived by DoD SAPRO.

Senior leadership for the first responder functional communities were also participants in the annual November 2009 AF SAPR Leader Summit, and received informational briefs and education on specific bystander intervention, risk reduction, and the overarching efforts to transition to a primary prevention-based approach—the majority of efforts concentrated on the actions that occur prior to sexual assault.

2.1.5. Identify your Service’s efforts to promote community education in the area of prevention (i.e., Communications, social marketing, and media initiatives)

Throughout the AF, installations engaged in a variety of events to formally launch the annual campaign messaging during the annual Sexual Assault Awareness Month venues and provide members with additional information about sexual assault. Examples of these events included senior leader proclamation signings, 5K runs, “Clothesline” projects, and informational displays and presentations.

2.1.6. Describe the ways that your Service is strengthening Service member knowledge and skills (i.e., Bystander intervention)

The AF launched bystander intervention training January, 2010, with an inaugural message by the AF/A1. Bystander intervention is a strategy that motivates and mobilizes people who may see, hear, or otherwise recognize signs of an inappropriate or unsafe situation, to act. Using an interactive and dynamic model, the 90-minute courses will provide basic education about bystander intervention strategies. The format includes discussion, exercises, and scenario supported learning—the experience is fast-paced and interactive. The AF is conducting bystander intervention training in lieu of the annual training requirements identified in DoDI 6495.02, under waiver from DoD SAPRO. There are three separate modules; one for men, women, and leaders; the leaders module is designed specifically for squadron, group, and wing level leadership. Each AF member will attend the appropriate session once until the AF resumes with the DoD annual training requirement. The waiver will expire June 2012.

Additionally, individual commands and installations utilized multiple experts in delivering targeted, specific educational sessions for assigned populations. Examples of these included “Sex Signals” by Catharsis Productions, “Unnamed Conspirator” and Leader Bystander Intervention module delivery by Anne Munch Consulting, Inc., and the Green Dot Program by Dr Dorothy Edwards and Dr Jennifer Sayre.

The AF also recruited, screened, and selected an additional 400 facilitators for bystander intervention to assist SARC’s at installations, and subsequently trained during 3-day train-the-trainer courses. Local installation volunteers, with a background and in-depth understanding of sexual issues, provide an added opportunity for community members to become involved to become part of the solution in eradicating sexual assault.

2.1.7. Other (Please explain)

Elements of a generalized focus on preventing sexual assault before it occurs are contained within the inter-relationship between:

- Top-down messaging, that is consistent and applicable at all levels of the institution while resonating with the target populations
- Community empowerment, achieved through bystander intervention by providing the skills/strategies, answers “How can I be part of the solution?”
- Risk reduction includes education for those actions and choices individuals may make to ensure their own safety/increase situational awareness
- Risk management includes leadership responsibility, actions, and processes to ensure safe environments
- Accountability through effective investigations, knowledgeable Judge Advocate advice, and strong leadership to hold offenders responsible
- Continual program improvement through useful feedback processes, evolutionary methodologies, and guidance from recognized experts
- Program resourcing that institutionally provides manpower authorizations and operating budgets for members to deliver the program force-wide

Beginning in FY10, the AF SAPR Program was included in the Program Objective Memorandum (POM) to provide a permanent funding stream throughout the Future Year’s Defense Program (FYDP), 2010-2015. Projections for FY 11 are shown below, which includes the additional manpower authorizations for AFOSI dedicated investigators.

2.2. List all studies of sexual assault prevalence and/or prevention programming effectiveness supported or performed by your Service

Gallup, Inc., under contract, conducted a prevalence and incidence survey July-August 2010 to provide a baseline of statistical occurrence of sexual assault and analysis for the probability of occurrence within the AF. The results from the study will provide a baseline for occurrence of sexual assault, quantify under-reporting, and enable leaders to implement effective policies. The team responsible for conducting the study includes several nationally recognized subject matter experts in conducting large-scale research for sexual assault, in conjunction with internal AF expertise from AF/JA for the question set design. The primary definition elements upon which the questions were written were derived from Articles 120 and 125 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) and written in “layperson” language for ease of understanding. The survey was designed to elicit responses from randomly selected military populations with a 20-25 item measure and provide analysis for occurrence of unwanted sexual contact, climate in which it occurs and/or is reported (command support), and environment (geographical location). Estimated completion for a final report is December 2010 (FY11).

2.3. Describe any plans in place for Service actions in FY11 related to the prevention of sexual assault

Throughout FY11, the AF will continue delivering bystander intervention training to installation populations; and, continue training additional facilitators to assist SARCs in providing the sessions.

Additionally, the AF has contracted with SAGE Consulting, Inc., in Washington, DC, to finalize a risk reduction educational module that will serve as another foundational block for at-risk populations; SAGE will also begin initial development of a risk management guide in January 2011 for senior commanders, designed with input from those serving as senior commanders, and developed and finalized by subject matter expert(s).

Other efforts identified elsewhere in this narrative document.

3. Increase Climate of Victim Confidence Associated with Reporting

3.1. Provide major steps taken to publicize reporting options (Restricted and Unrestricted) and/or encourage the reporting of sexual assault by Service members (i.e., Local command initiatives that demonstrate the commanders role in creating a climate of confidence)

As noted in section 2.1.5, a multitude of various activities at installations included senior leadership whose public involvement continued to provide an emphasis of taking care of those members who are victimized. As part of local base practices, public marketing of reporting options took place in venues ranging from base-wide presentations, Commander calls, and special unit visits. Many SARCs also partnered with other base agencies to set up informational booths at installation events, handed out brochures of available services and marketing material at base entry gates, and collaborated with other first responder communities to enhance reporting, such as clarity between sexual assault occurring in social settings and those which occurred in domestic violence settings.

3.2. Discuss Unrestricted and Restricted Reporting process challenges encountered, as well as the solutions your Service developed and implemented

during FY10 within the context of:
3.2.1. Joint environments
No significant challenges. While different than traditional joint environments, minor issues arose achieving full operational capability (FOC) with joint basing environments; yet, resolved through reinforcement of purpose for maintaining SAPR as a Commander's authority while ensuring compliance with DoD issued Supplemental Command Authorities template.
3.2.2. Combat Areas of Interest
No significant challenges. Increased emphasis on contracts and contractors supporting missions in the AOR clarified support available for all entities assigned to operational areas. The AF position has remained constant to provide initial SARC services to whoever has a connection to an installation; the level of support provided for other services is incumbent on entitlements and status. Clarity in contracts allows contractors to utilize AF provided capability instead of handling with internal private business processes in combat areas of interest.
3.2.3. Tracking victim services
No challenges noted. As listed in the Statistical Report attached to this narrative, AF SARCs provided a total of 1,357 referrals for unrestricted and restricted reports, and non-military victims. Referrals were categorized for medical, counseling, and legal services for both military and civilian facilities.
3.2.4. Restricted Reporting in any environment
No new challenges—utilization of the restricted reporting process remains consistent with FY09. Per existing policy, restricted reporting is for active duty military, members of the reserve components when in active service, and victims of sexual assault related to domestic incidents (reporting option provided through the AF Family Advocacy Program); military spouses who are victims of sexual assault that did not occur in a domestic violence circumstance remain excluded from policy for restricted reporting. The AF recognizes that the number of restricted reports and the lower number (in comparison to FY09) of restricted reports being converted to unrestricted could indicate that some victims may lack confidence in the unrestricted reporting process. We will continue to watch for trends and look for any possible programmatic or anecdotal contributing factors.
3.2.5. Other (Please explain)
This section not used.
3.3. Describe efforts, polices, and/or programmatic changes taken to improve Service member confidence and/or victim participation in the investigative and military justice processes
In 2009, the SECAF approved the funding/hiring of 24 additional AFOSI agents to act as expert sexual assault investigators and subject matter experts (SMEs). These positions were funded in early in CY10, with 11 of these agents to be hired in FY10, with the remaining hired in FY11. As of the end of FY10, AFOSI had 7 agents in-place with an additional 6 agents awaiting completion of the AFPC's hiring process. These investigators, placed at locations with histories of high sexual offense caseloads, will be utilized primarily to conduct sexual offense investigations and serve as local sexual offense SMEs. In most instances, these investigators will be lead or assisting agent for all sexual offense investigations in a detachment and/or must assist with investigating sexual assault investigations.
Additional information contained in section 4.3.5., Judge Advocates, para. 14., for efforts designed to improve knowledge of victimization and working with victims throughout legal proceedings.

3.4. List initiatives and programs implemented to reduce the stigma associated with reporting sexual assault

Continued emphasis with leaders at all levels within the AF and the institutional approach to using bystander intervention by enhancing the wingman construct serve as positive reinforcement and encouragement for victims of sexual assault, and creating a trust-based system. The continued level of those filing restricted reports can be generalized as members are aware of the reporting options and continually encouraged to seek assistance through multiple venues of social marketing. Unrestricted reporting remains consistent with prior reporting years.

4. Improve Sexual Assault Response

4.1. Describe the policies, procedures, and initiatives implemented or advanced during FY10 to respond to, or improve the response to, allegations of sexual assault

AFOSI:

Policy with regard to the hiring of 24 sexual offense investigative agents was codified outlining the roles/responsibilities and performance expectations of these agents. Among these were mandatory involvement in sex offense investigations (either as lead or support agent); meeting or exceeding AFOSI sexual offense investigative timeliness standards; and outlining AFOSI headquarters' oversight of sexual offense investigative performance/efficiency.

The AFOSI region aligned with USAF Space Command initiated hosting an annual Sexual Assault Conference whereby they bring together representatives from Staff Judge Advocate Offices, Sexual Assault Response Coordinators, as well as AFOSI probationary and agents newly assigned to the region, to provide cross-disciplinary training for those involved in managing sexual assault at AF installations. The weeklong conference is designed to explore the different roles and aspects of addressing a sexual assault from the initial allegation, to the investigative process, and concludes with the judicial proceedings. The result of this conference has been an improved understanding between the different professions and how their efforts can complement and enhance the entire process.

Additional information contained in section 4.3.5., Judge Advocates, for an AF Space Command event.

AFOSI and 12th AF held their 3rd annual Major Crimes Investigations Workshop at Davis-Monthan AF Base, Arizona, in Mar 2010. This workshop brought together 25 AFOSI agents and 25 Staff Judge Advocates who engage in a variety of hands-on exercises and attend lectures designed to improve their inter-agency working relationships in major criminal cases, including the handling of sexual assaults.

The AF SAPR Program provided AFOSI with $300K in funds to acquire recording equipment for AFOSI field offices. The recording equipment will help AFOSI record interviews of suspects in criminal investigations, including sexual assault interviews. It is expected that recording suspect interviews will greatly aid AF commanders and prosecutors better assess and adjudicate sexual assault cases.

AF/SG:

All personnel in Military Treatment Facilities (MTF) are required to take the newly updated sexual assault Computer Based Training (CBT) as outlined in paragraph 2.1.4. within the next year and annually after that. This training provides updated training and information on how to handle any patient who requires restrictive and nonrestrictive reporting. It will be included in the annual training for all medics.

4.2. List the number of new SARCs (include Deployable) and VAs (include Deployable) trained; the types of training received, which must include refresher training; and if the training was received prior to deployment

4.2.1. SARCS (include Deployable)

4.2.1.1. List the number of new personnel trained

All AF SARCs must complete the mandatory 40-hour Air University (AU) SARC course prior to serving in the role of SARC. In FY10, 61 civilian and military members attended the SARC Course. Of these 61, 10 civilians and 13 military officers were trained as primary SARCs, 13 civilians and 25 military officers were trained as alternate SARCs.

The SARC course curriculum was developed from the requirements listed in DoDI 6495.02, Enclosure 6 and is structured into 6 major areas with 24 blocks of instruction:

4.2.1.2. Provide the types of training received (i.e., initial, refresher)
For the 61 members attending the AU SARC course, this was initial training. Existing SARCs were offered refresher training in July 2010 during the annual SARC training workshop; the workshop was a 4-day event with plenary sessions in maximizing bystander intervention training, team-based primary prevention, investigations, senior leadership perspective, and policy updates; breakout sessions were offered in leveraging technology, supervising VAs/administrative assistants, inspection-ready programs, medical protocols, communicating across generation gaps, managing budgets, assertive speaking, media landscape, and legal updates. There 172 total registrants.
4.2.1.3. Indicate if training occurred prior to deployment
All members filling a deployable SARC UTC received the mandatory AU SARC Course prior to deployment. In addition, all deployable SARCs also attended a 3-day pre-deployment, contingency course hosted at AU; the focus of this course is to prepare SARCs for the unique operating conditions and environments at primary AF operating locations in the combat areas of interest.
4.2.2. VAs (include Deployable)
VAs must receive a mandatory 40-hour VA course conducted by a trained SARC before they are allowed to work with victims. In FY10, there were 2,049 VAs available. The mandatory course of instruction is compliant with DoDI 6495.02, Enclosure 6, and includes the appropriate blocks of instruction from the AU SARC course.
4.2.2.1. List the number of new personnel trained
In FY10, 3,119 members received initial and/or refresher training—this number is higher than the available number of VAs since some attendees cannot actually serve as VAs due to potential conflict of their current role and covered communications; yet, take the course to expand individual knowledge of sexual assault. Initial and refresher training for AF VAs is identical; VAs also receive additional localized training and/or information specific to operating locale.
4.2.2.2. Provide the types of training received
AF VA training includes 17 blocks of instruction and allows for flexibility at the installation level for scheduling training: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Block 1: Realities of Sexual Assault</li> </ul>

4.2.2.3. Indicate if training occurred prior to deployment

All VAs who participated in AOR support were either already trained at the time of selection or received training prior to deployment, except in two known instances, in which the AFCENT emergency training policy was applied.

4.3. List the number of personnel who received sexual assault training:

4.3.1. Commanders (i.e., Pre-command, Flag and General Officer)

Senior pre-command training is conducted at AU and in FY10, 122 Wing/Vice Wing Commanders, and 270 Group Commanders received SAPR training as part of these courses. Installation SARCs also provided SAPR-specific training to 3,342 Squadron Commanders and First Sergeants.

4.3.2. Criminal investigators

AFOSI - Basic Special Investigations Course (BSIC): This is a seven-week course taught at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC) for new agents. Most of AFOSI's sex offense investigations training is taught in five blocks of instruction in the AFOSI BSIC. Over 30 hours of classroom and practical exercises training is given in these five blocks of instruction that specifically relate to conducting sex offense investigations. 169 agents were trained in FY10.

AFOSI Advanced General Crimes Investigations Courses (AGCIC): This is a two-week course taught at FLETC. The AGCIC encompasses a wide variety of topics relating to criminal investigations including: interviewing, photography, crime scene processing, and sexual assault investigations (victim sensitivity, handling reports with inconsistencies, etc.). The target audience for the AGCIC is agents in supervisory positions. Agents attending AGCIC have at least two years of field investigative experience before attending the course. 31 agents were trained during FY 10.

AFOSI Investigative Sexual Assault Response Training Refresher Course: This is an on-line web-based refresher training course brought on-line in FY08.

It is designed to fulfill the DoD requirement for periodic refresher training related to sexual assaults. Topics covered in the self-paced course include: sexual assault response policies, victimology, understanding sex offenders, crime scene management, interview techniques, investigating difficult cases, recantation and false information, working with VAs and Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARCs). All AFOSI special agents are required to complete this course annually. Course completion is centrally tracked via the AFOSI Learning Management System (LMS). 1,962 AFOSI agents completed this course in FY10.

4.3.3. Law enforcement

- Security Forces Formal Technical Training:
  - Currently, the SF apprentice course instructs these areas that support SAPR: Dispatch law enforcement patrols; Prepare SF documents; Conduct preliminary investigations of incidents or complaints; Victim witness assistance program (VWAP); Rape; Assault; Secure and Process crime scenes. 4,957 students were trained in SF Apprentice Course in FY10
  - The Basic Officer Course (BOC) instructs these areas that support SAPR: Crisis intervention and VWAP; Intervention interviews. 102 SF officers completed the BOC in FY10.
- SF First Responder Distance Learning: A Security Forces (SF) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) computer-based training (CBT) module has been developed for all SF that augments annual SAPO training provided by each installation. This CBT has been available to the field since January 2010, via the SF Center of Training Excellence website. SF personnel will annotate training completion on AF FM 1098, Special Task Certification and Recurring Training, in their electronic Air Force Training Record. In April 2010, HAF/A7S, Brig Gen McMillian mandated all Security Forces complete the SAPR for First Responder training annually
- Investigators trained in SAPR:
  - The Military Police Investigators (MPI) course instructs these areas that support SAPR: Interviews/Interrogations, Crime scenes, evidence collection, report writing. 79 SF airmen completed MPI in FY10
- Both SF formal training and CBT programs meet the requirements outlined in Department of Defense Instruction (DoDI) 6495.02, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Procedures

4.3.4. Medical personnel

For FY 2010, there are 6,026 medical personnel who received first responder training as an annual requirement.

Beginning 1 Jan 2011 standardized training for Healthcare Personnel called the “SAPR Course” will be located on Med Learn, <https://afms.csd.disa.mil>. All Medical Treatment Facility (MTF) personnel will complete this SAPR first responder training prior to 31 Dec 2011 and annually thereafter. This training is what Healthcare personnel are required to receive IAW AF Instruction 36-6001, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program, Chapters 2 and 3 which implements policy from DoDI 6495.02, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Procedures (E.6.3.3.1). By definition, Healthcare Personnel and First Responders are those personnel assigned to the MTF.

4.3.5. Judge Advocates

The Judge Advocate General's (JAG) Corps Educational Efforts: Department of Defense Instruction 6495.02 (DoDI) specifies training requirements for JAGs in two areas: (1) training requirements for all JAGs; and (2) additional requirements for trial counsel. From 1 October 2009 to 30 September 2010, judge advocates and paralegals received training in a number of different venues. The main training effort was conducted through The Judge Advocate General's School (TJAGS) at Maxwell AF Base, Alabama. During this time period, TJAGS conducted training on both sets of requirements identified in the DoDI, as specified for each course below:

1. The Judge Advocate Staff Officer Course (JASOC), held three times every fiscal year, is designed to introduce new judge advocates to the career and The Judge Advocate General's Corps. One hundred and sixty-five judge advocates received training covering all DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.
2. The Trial and Defense Advocacy Course (TDAC) provides judge advocates with the opportunity to develop their trial advocacy skills through practical demonstrations and moot exercises. Experts are brought from both within and outside the DoD to teach how to overcome the challenges of a sexual assault case, including such topics as addressing the voluntarily-intoxicated victim and crossing-examining an accused. The two week course culminates in a moot court regarding sexual assault. Seventy-six judge advocates received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.
3. The Military Justice Administration Course (MJAC) provides training in the management of the base legal office military justice system to those judge advocates and paralegals who are currently or soon will be either the chief of military justice or the noncommissioned officer in charge of military justice. Seventy-three judge advocates and paralegals received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.
4. The Staff Judge Advocate Course (SJAC) course provides both a refresher course in military law and a study of AF leadership principles for judge advocates recently, or about to be, assigned to staff judge advocate positions. Fifty-three new SJAs received training covering tasks for judge advocates and, although their duties do not include serving as trial counsel, this training also addressed DoDI-specified topics related to sexual assault cases.
5. The Defense Orientation Course (DOC) is taught twice annually, and is designed to introduce new Area Defense Counsels (ADC) and new defense paralegals (DP) to the practical aspects of day-to-day defense counsel duties. The course was first taught at the school in 2007. The course focuses on advising clients in common defense scenarios, defending clients at courts-martial and working with commanders and the legal office. The course hosted ninety-four ADCs and DPs.
6. The Law Office Management Course (LOMC) provides base law office Superintendents and noncommissioned officers in charge with information on recent developments having an impact on management of the legal services function of a legal office. Fifty-one senior paralegals received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel to assist them in supporting sexual assault cases.
7. The Reserve Forces Judge Advocate Course (RFJAC) provides experienced Reserve and Air National Guard judge advocates with sufficient update information on recent developments in military law to ensure their ability to function effectively, both in their normal reserve duties and in the event of their emergency call to active duty. Ninety-two judge advocates and paralegals received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.

8. The Annual Survey of the Law (ASOL) provides experienced Air Reserve Component (ARC) judge advocates and paralegals with the most up-to-date information on recent developments in military law issues. Two hundred and eighty-eight judge advocates and paralegals received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.

9. The Training by Reservists in Advocacy and Litigation Skills (TRIALS) team provides valuable on-site advocacy training at our wing legal offices. The team is staffed by experienced Reserve JAG trial attorneys augmented by JAG School faculty members along with a sitting military judge. The team offers a two-day intensive advocacy training program using a sexual assault fact pattern to hone the trial skills of our young judge advocates. One hundred and forty nine judge advocates received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.

10. GATEWAY is a three-week course focusing on improving leadership skills of the JAG Corps' junior field grade officers. During the course, the students received instruction on societal attitudes towards sexual assault and seminars were devoted to prosecuting sexual assault cases. Sixty-three judge advocates received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.

11. The Trial Advocacy Conferences (TACs) were held in CONUS, Europe, and the Pacific during the time period. The TACs provided practicing trial and defense counsel updates on evolving aspects of military trial practice, practical lessons on securing and using evidence and experts and courtroom skills practice with immediate feedback. Students learned from experienced litigators, heard from military judges and senior leaders, and networked with other counsel. Students conducted exercises using a sexual assault case. Three hundred and five judge advocates and paralegals received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel.

12. In FY 2009 the JAG School hosted several webcasts that focused on military justice issues. Topics included Staff Judge Advocates preparing trial counsel for litigation, JA-AFOSI working relationships, witness preparation, computer forensics, and an Article 120, UCMJ update. The SJA webcast was viewed by 182 attorneys and paralegals. The JA-AFOSI webcast was viewed by 294 attorneys, paralegals, and OSI agents. The witness preparation webcast was viewed by 235 attorneys and paralegals. The computer forensics webcast was viewed by 210 attorneys and paralegals. The Article 120 class was viewed by 220 attorneys and paralegals.

13. The JAG School has several learning centers on CAPSIL that have a focus on SA training. These e-learning areas specifically focused on the requirements for SA training outlined in the DoDI.

14. In addition to formal training opportunities through TJAGS, training on sexual assault related topics was conducted in a number of additional venues.

a. KEYSTONE is the annual worldwide Judge Advocate General's leadership conference with over 700 civilian, active duty, Reserve and Air National Guard judge advocates, attorneys, paralegals and support personnel from The Judge Advocate General's Corps in attendance. They received training covering DoDI-specified topics for judge advocates and trial counsel at the conference. In the plenary session, Ms Anne Munch presented a perspective on issues surrounding the prosecution of sexual assault cases. In addition, the Government Trial and Appellate Counsel Division presented a practical exercise entitled Trauma to Trial to the plenary session. This exercise used videotaped segments to focus the audience on issues typically presented at key points in investigation and resolution of sexual assault cases. Finally, the KEYSTONE attendees participated in the inaugural presentation of the AF's Bystander Intervention Training (BIT). A team composed of fifteen AF Sexual Assault Response Coordinators and Ms Munch facilitated the BIT Leader's Module to 32 groups of attendees. Bystander intervention is a strategy that motivates and mobilizes people who may see, hear, or otherwise recognize signs of an inappropriate or unsafe situation, to act. Using an interactive and dynamic model, the 90-minute courses will provide basic education about bystander intervention strategies. The format includes discussion, exercises, and scenario supported learning-the experience is fast-paced and interactive.

b. AF judge advocates attended the Army's regional conference for the East Coast Trial Counsel Assistance Program where the focus was the prosecution of special victim cases (Sexual Assault, Domestic Violence, and Prosecution under Article 120). In addition, JAGs attended the Sexual Assault Training Institute (SATI) Annual Advocate Training in Salem, Oregon.

c. In a particularly innovative training, AFOSI Region 8 at Peterson AFB hosted a conference designed to improve investigator and legal process skills as applied to allegations of sexual assault. The event represents a unique collaboration between AFOSI and AF Space Command. Participants for the conference included AFOSI agents from the Region 8 staff and local Detachments; the HQ AFSPC/JA Chief of Military Justice, and JAGs, paralegals, and civilian Victim-Witness Assistance Program coordinators from several AFSPC and other commands' base legal offices (including USAFA/JA); the Senior Defense Counsel (SDC) assigned to Peterson AFB and several Area Defense Counsels; and, the HQ AFSPC SARC and installation SARCs from throughout AFSPC and other nearby bases.

In 2010, the conference was greatly expanded for the overall participation of AFOSI, JA, and SARCs. Several agents and JAs, prior AFSPC members who now are part of the AF Global Strike Command, were also included. The conference fostered stronger education, communication, and interagency cooperation in responding to sexual assault allegations. Topics included the psychological aspects and responses to sexual assault allegations, working with false allegations, interagency cooperation, and considerations of the legal and emotional needs of victims, witnesses, and subjects. The most unique outcome of this session was the process of breaking down barriers between functions and observing the great teamwork/partnerships forming. The number of interactive events, both classroom and practical exercises, allowed a stronger bond to form between these different functionals. As an example, AFOSI agents role-played as the subject and SARCs acted as victim and witnesses to enable the investigators to practice interview techniques that accounted for victim sensitivity while focusing on discovering the facts of the case. This later translated into practice courtroom sessions to allow attorneys to

d. Training seminars that featured Ms Anne Munch, a nationally recognized expert in the investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases were conducted at Peterson AFB for personnel assigned to AF Space Command, Aviano AB, Spangdahlem AB, Yokota AB, and Kunsan AB in FY10. Attendees included judge advocates from those and surrounding bases, SARCs, investigators from the Office of Special Investigations and local law enforcement personnel and prosecutors. She also provided phone consults on cases; identifying expert witnesses, providing voir dire questions and other trial resources, providing ideas and advice on how to structure the prosecution of cases.

e. With the Army, the AF jointly funded and conducted the Military Institute on the Prosecution of Sexual Violence Conference. The training was conducted by AEquitas, a nationally recognized project of the Pennsylvania Coalition Against Rape (PCAR) whose mission is to provide the nation's prosecutors with the support, information, training, mentorship, and resources necessary to objectively evaluate and constantly refine the prosecution of violence against women. The course is designed to challenge participants to reevaluate their approach to prosecuting sexual violence crimes. The Institute explores the complex issues faced by prosecutors in balancing offender accountability and the impact of criminal prosecution on victims. In addition to practical case evaluation and litigation skills, the curriculum addresses the development and improvement of culturally-competent and linguistically appropriate victim services by prosecutors; examines the benefits of developing a coordinated victim-centered community response; explains common injuries; examines and explains relevant medical evidence; examines, explains, and offers guidance on the effective use of medical experts; explores ethical issues confronted by prosecutors handling sexual assault and domestic violence prosecutions; and offers prosecutors the ability to redefine outcomes and the very nature of justice in sexual violence and domestic violence cases. Twenty-five AF judge advocates attended the training.

f. Combining funds provided by the Department of Justice with other funds, 32 AF attorneys and paralegals, responsible for managing Victim and Witness Assistance Program throughout the AF, attended the National Center for Victims of Crime's National Conference.

4.3.6. Chaplains

Chaplain Corps sexual assault training focuses on the context of cultural, spiritual and religious differences that affect individual responses to sexual assault; practical counseling practices that support and enable victims; creating worship environments that are sensitive to victims of sexual assault; understanding the relevance of rape myths when counseling and how to effectively build rapport with victims; understanding the violent nature of sexual assault as a crime; preparing families for the psychological and physical symptomology a victim experiences; and the role of pastoral counseling for victims and perpetrators from multiple cultural, religious, and theological perspectives.

During FY10, the AF Chaplain Corps provided functional-specific SAPR training to all uniformed Chaplain Corps personnel in accordance with DoDI 6495.02, Enclosure 6. This training is provided to chaplain assistants in order to better equip them to serve victims seeking care from a chaplain and to provide greater support to chaplains while performing their duties.

Initial training on requirements identified in DoDI 6495.02 was conducted by the AF Chaplain Corps College at Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

The Basic Chaplain Course (BCC) introduces new chaplains to the unique aspects of ministry within the AF Community. The BCC teaches unique AF subjects to include working in an interfaith environment, ministry in a readiness environment, counseling skills and the role of Chaplain Corps personnel in the AF SAPR program. Fifty-seven chaplains received training covering all DoDI-specified topics for chaplains.

The Chaplain Assistant Apprentice Course (CAAC) introduces new chaplain assistants to the unique roles of serving in the AF Chaplain Corps. CAAC training includes crisis intervention counseling skills, Applied Suicide Intervention Skills Training, combined training with chaplains, one week of readiness field training at the deployment training site at Fort Jackson and the role of Chaplain Corps personnel in the AF SAPR program. Sixty-eight chaplain assistants received training covering all of the DoDI-specified topics for chaplains.

Annual refresher training was accomplished using a standardized brief produced by the Chief of Chaplains Plans and Programs Division and the AF Chaplain Corps College. Refresher training was completed by 873 active duty chaplain and chaplain assistants and provided to 1,038 Air National Guard and AF Reserve Chaplain Corps personnel.

As a Chaplain Corps initiative, the AF Chaplain Corps College contracted Loyola University's Pastoral Counseling Department to develop and teach a 5-day Professional Continuing Education course on "Spiritual and Pastoral Care Response for Military Members Affected by Sexual Assault." The course was conducted at Loyola's Columbia, Maryland campus from 16-20 August 2010 and was attended by thirty-one chaplains and thirty-one chaplain assistants. Course content centered on three modules: Understanding Trauma (bio-psycho-social-spiritual model of Post Traumatic Stress (PTS), relationship of trauma to recovery & resiliency, traumatic grief & ambiguous loss in the spiritual crises of trauma), Providing Trauma-Based Pastoral Care (assessing spiritual & psychological wounds, using stabilization techniques for PTS, creating holding and healing environments, understanding the mentality of sex offenders) and Self-Care (identifying trauma impact on caregivers, practicing self-care models).

4.4. Describe efforts to provide trained personnel, supplies, and transportation to deployed units to provide appropriate and timely response to reported cases of sexual assault

All first responders, to include SARCs and VAs are trained prior to deployment. Since FY08, deployed SARCs are required to complete notification via AFCENT to the AF SAPR Program Manager of initial reports of sexual assault in the deployed environment; the notification process provides immediate feedback to senior leadership of deployed environments while still protecting personal identifying information for restricted reports. See Section 4.2.

4.4.1. Provide information regarding any existing gaps in supply inventory results, as well as the shortage of supplies, trained personnel, and transportation resources to support deployed units in responding to cases of sexual assault

SARCs are deployed using a Unit Type Code (UTC); volunteer VAs are identified through multiple venues of media and preparation briefs, primarily prior to departure. For those geographically separated units (GSUs) that are supported by a primary operating installation, and no trained capability exists from in-place forces, AFCENT developed emergency training

procedures for VAs in FY09 if the individuals are not already trained; these forward operating locations use the VAs as point of initial contact for victims and as a link to a SARC at a primary operating installation.
4.4.2. List the number of victims, if any, whose care was hindered due to lack of available Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits or other needed supplies, and describe how this information is collected
Throughout all primary AF installations and responsible areas within the CENTCOM AOR, first responder functionals have ensured a redundant supply of SAFEs, or availability through military medical care provided by off-base agencies through Memorandums of Agreement (MOA) to ensure victim care is not hindered by unavailability.
4.4.3. For any lack of available SAFE kit cases reported in 4.4.2., describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation at those locations
This section not used.
4.4.4. List the number of victims, if any, whose care was hindered due to the lack of timely access to appropriate laboratory testing resources and describe the measures your Service took to remedy the situation
HQ AFOSI has received no reports of any field units regarding the inability to obtain timely access to, or results from, appropriate laboratories. The AF continues to benefit from a 2004 initiative, championed by the VCSAF at the time, to (AF) fund 10 crime laboratory analysts at the U.S. Army Criminal Investigations Laboratory (USACIL) to expedite the processing of evidence in AF sexual assault investigations. In 2004, the processing time for DNA evidence in sexual offense cases at USACIL was approximately six months. Following the AF funding of the 10 analysts, and implementations of provisions of an MOA between the AF and the Army, the processing time has been reduced to about 30-40 days. This processing time for routine sexual offense evidence is, according to research conducted by AFOSI, the best for any criminal investigative agency in the nation.
4.5. Other (Please explain)
In addition to first-responder training provided by functional communities, installations provided the following training: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• SARC-provided first responder policy updates/program information <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Investigators: 590</li> <li>○ Security Forces: 5,792</li> <li>○ Medical: 3,406</li> <li>○ Judge Advocates: 464</li> <li>○ Chaplains: 586</li> </ul> </li> <li>• SARC-provided non-first responder additional training for members: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ First-term Airmen/Newcomer briefs: 59,169</li> <li>○ Commander Calls: 27,989</li> <li>○ On-base supporting organizations/groups: 99,699</li> <li>○ Off-base organizations/groups: 7,158</li> <li>○ Pre-deployment: 56,452</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Annual training (Oct-Dec 2009, pre-bystander intervention training): 99,687</li> <li>• Bystander intervention training (in lieu of annual training requirement): 66,755</li> </ul>

- Small group, not to exceed 25 per session
- Leader, men, and women module delivery
- Longer training session, under waiver until June 2012 to complete force-wide

5. Improve System Accountability

5.1. Provide a description of how your Service executes its oversight of the SAPR program. Please include a synopsis of the formal processes, participants, etc. that support oversight of the program

Per AFPD 36-60, the Assistant Secretary of the AF for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (SAF/MR) serves as an agent of the Secretary and provides guidance, direction, and oversight for all matters pertaining to the formulation, review, and execution of plans, policies, programs, and budgets addressing sexual assault. Other formal processes also include AF IG inspections and AF SAPR Program Manager major command and installation oversight visits.

5.2. Describe the oversight activities that have taken place during FY10 with the methods or approaches you use to perform oversight, including but not limited to the documentation and outcomes of:

5.2.1. Program management reviews

During July-September 2010, SAF/MR sponsored oversight visits to 4 major commands/9 installations. The team consisted of the Assistant Deputy for Force Management Integration (SAF/MRM), SAF/MRM staff member reviewing the AF Resiliency Program (reviewing post-deployment processing/screening procedures), HQ/AFOSI Forensics/IOC Manager, the Associate Chief, Military Justice Division AF Legal Operations Agency (AF/JAJM), and the AF SAPR Program Manager (AF/AIS). The primary purpose of the trip was to provide Vice Wing Commanders, SARCs, first responders and other installation leadership the opportunity to share any concerns they encounter with the current policy and application of the program within their command.

Installations were chosen based on multiple criteria to provide the greatest perspective of issues, challenges, and successes installations were currently experiencing; the criteria included installations for accession sources, joint basing, large/diverse (civilian/military) populations, Continental United States and Overseas locations, operations/deployment tempo, and mission type.

General observations:

- Current AF military deployable SARCs are 38F (personnel/manpower/services). They serve either as Deputy SARCs at large training installations in the CONUS or as installation SARCs in the OCONUS. They are the resource for deployment to the AOR. Overseas installations experiencing high turnover rates as their military SARCs deploy. Review of resourcing issues is underway.
- Alcohol is a more significant issue for specific locales. Issues such as under-age drinking and instances of sexual assault become more prominent.
- More emphasis needed to ensure the location of SARC offices provide privacy and victim accessibility.
- Majority of installations have excellent MOAs and agreements with local hospitals for SAFE examinations (availability of SANEs). In one or two overseas locations victims must be driven to “larger regional” hospitals and commanders expressed desire for local SANE nurse.

Review of resourcing is underway.

- Observed Case management meetings--effective, concise, in-depth; great senior leader support, involved first responder support.

5.2.2. IG inspections of the program

AF installation SAPR Programs are inspected per AFI 36-6001, Sexual assault Prevention and Response Program, Attachment 7, AFI 36-6001 Functional Inspection Guide, by command inspection teams through command scheduled inspection processes.

Generalized findings from command inspections are:

- Administrative errors in maintaining, documenting DD Form 2910
- Lack of appropriate graded and trained alternate SARC
- No private consultation area available in SARC office
- Failure to meet annual training requirements (unit level)
- Trained VAs not accurately tracked, special experience identifier code (SEI) not updated

All findings were resolved at the time of inspection or immediately post inspection. Inspected locations received either satisfactory or excellent ratings; there are no instances of marginal or failure SAPR programs based on the established policy and inspection criteria.

The inspection guide identifies critical aspects/execution requirements of the SAPR program that require mandatory compliance:

AFI 36-6001
FUNCTIONAL INSPECTION GUIDE

Note: During the course of inspections or inspection preparations, information relating to restricted reports must be protected as to not reveal personal data of any victim. Inspectors will support the goals of this instruction as they relate to a victim’s right to privacy through restricted reporting. Any conflict arising from this guidance should be referred to the SJA and WG/CV for review, and possible elevation to the MAJCOM if necessary.

Recommendation Number	Recommendation (As Stated in the Report)	Department Update
3d	Establish Consistent Terminology and Program Standards Program Responsibility: The Secretaries of the Military Departments set forth clear guidance to all commanders that their leadership of their commands’ sexual assault prevention and response program is a non-delegable responsibility.	Completed. Command leadership key to success. AFI 36-6001, Jun 2005, “The installation Wing Vice commander is designated as the responsible official to act for the WG/CC and supervises the installation SARC – supervision will not be further delegated.

4c	Establish Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Advisory Groups The Secretaries of the Military Departments create committees at the Service level paralleling the DoD Sexual Assault Advisory Council, if they have not already done so.	Partial completion. Since 2004 the AF has maintained a “standing” Working Group at the Secretariat/Air Staff level with membership at the 0-5/0-6 level. Additionally, an Executive Steering Group comprised of 2-digit first responder leaders meets as necessary to address issues and review the program. Anticipating changes to the DoD SA Advisory Council format, we will formalize more formal AF Service level committees in early 2011
6a2	Modify Sexual Assault Program Personnel and Oversight Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Personnel: The Secretaries of the Military Departments establish Military Deployable Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (DSARCs) who will train with SARCs on their specific roles and responsibilities in preparation for deployment. DSARCs should serve as back-up for the SARC when not deployed. Appropriate number of DSARCs should be a function of military population and mission.	Completed Jun 2005. AF SARCs are full-time GS-12 civilians and military Captains (0-3) or above; Military SARCs provide full-time deployment capability; full-time civilians do also deploy.
11	Establish a Continuum of Total Force SAPR Training The Secretaries of the Military Departments establish developmental sexual assault prevention and response training and education curricula for Active Duty, Guard, Reserve, and DoD civilians. This training and education should encompass initial entry/accession programs, annual refresher training, professional military education, and specialized leadership training. Training should be tailored for specific leadership levels and local area requirements.	Partial completion. Since 2005, Air Education & Training Command has developed training modules working with education specialists and SMEs using career stream adult learning theory. They cover accessions, tech training, PME instructor, leader and pre-deployment. Some modules are developed and pending approval/release. Anticipate final completion in 2011.
12a	Leaders Must be Actively Involved The Secretaries of the Military Departments ensure all commanders and senior enlisted leaders are actively involved in sexual assault prevention and response training and awareness programs.	Completed. The Secretary of the AF and Chief of Staff of the AF participate in an annual Leader SA Summit which involves 2 or 3 days of leader training. Attendees are Wing/Vice Wing installation Commanders. Additionally, MAJCOM and Wing Commanders host various activities to emphasize & support the SAPR program.

12b	Leaders Must be Actively Involved The Secretaries of the Military Departments ensure that each installation and operational commander assess the adequacy of installation measures to ensure the safest and most secure living and working environments.	Ongoing. Installation Commanders are responsible to provide as safe a living environment as possible. They do so working with various functional commanders within their command. For example, the Safety Officer, law enforcement, civil engineers, First Sergeants, Community Action Information Board (CAIB), etc. The AF will begin development of a specific Risk Reduction Training Course in 2011.
17	Develop and Establish Peer Education Programs The Secretaries of the Military Departments develop and establish peer education programs.	Partial implementation. The AF Academy has a peer education program that is working effectively in an academic/university, somewhat controlled, environment. The AF is assessing the feasibility of a peer program within the broader military community to ensure thorough discussion on unintended consequences before such a policy is implemented. At a minimum, do not anticipate implementation of a program before completion of the ongoing AF-wide Bystander Intervention Training.
18a	Ensure Effective Recruiter Selection and Oversight Commanders of recruiting organizations ensure that recruiters are carefully screened and trained, that sexual assault prevention and response program information is effectively disseminated, and that effective oversight is in place to preclude the potential for sexual misconduct.	Ongoing. Commanders of recruiting organizations ensure that recruiters are carefully screened and trained, that SAPR program information is effectively disseminated, and that effective oversight is in place to preclude the potential for sexual misconduct. The AF Recruiting Screening Team (RST) reviews application packages including EPRs, AMJAM reports, credit checks, current commander recommendation and Mental Health Provider records review. Each also completes an interview process. Oversight is provided by announced and unannounced visits by officials in the recruiting squadron/chain of command.
18b	Ensure Effective Recruiter Selection and Oversight Commanders of recruiting organizations and Military Entrance Processing Stations (MEPS) ensure that sexual assault prevention and response awareness campaign materials are available and posted in locations visible to potential and actual recruits.	Completed but will need ongoing assessment. Commanders of recruiting organizations and MEPS are to ensure that SAPR awareness campaign materials are available and posted in locations visible to potential and actual recruits. It appears that implementation may be on a case-by-case basis and will require direction from the Commander, HQ AFRS to the Recruiting Group Commanders and then to Squadron commanders to ensure information is available.

19	Engage with Community Organizations The Secretaries of the Military Departments ensure that installation commanders, with their SARCs, collaborate with supporting community organizations.	Complete. AFI 36-6001 requires the SARC to establish and maintain a positive and proactive network in the surrounding community to increase awareness of trends, upcoming events, and potential changes in levels of safety. Installation commanders routinely interact with local communities.
22c	Provide Access to SAPR Services The Secretaries of the Military Departments ensure that SARCs work with supporting medical staff, mental health staff, and chaplains to offer unit counseling options for commanders of units in which either victims or alleged offenders of sexual assaults are assigned.	Not complete. The AF partially concurred with this recommendation. It is important to note that in suicide cases (as referenced in the DTFSAMS report), the victim is deceased and the unit counseling has no impact on them. In the case of a sexual assault, unit counseling may serve to further traumatize the victim and should be undertaken with great care.
25b	Improve Sexual Assault Forensic Exam Practices The Secretaries of the Military Departments ensure SAFE kits are either available or accessible in sufficient time to preserve evidence. The Secretaries should also ensure military personnel have access to qualified medical personnel to conduct evidence collection in a safe, confidential, and gender-unbiased manner, especially in deployed and remote environments.	Complete and ongoing. SAFE kits are stocked at AF Medical Treatment Facilities (MTF) performing sexual assault exams. In order to provide comprehensive medical, psychosocial, and legal support, the majority of our CONUS MTF have established MOUs with local hospitals. These facilities provide a team of specially trained personnel to support the victim. The team has the expertise and equipment to improve the gathering and security of evidence. MTF's with MOUS off base, do not routinely keep SAFE kits in the facility. When a contracted SANE comes on base, the SAFE kit is brought to the MTF at the time of the exam. In combat zones, AF theater hospitals stock the SAFE kits. Airlift and ground transportation have been used to assist victims in the deployed environment to obtain proper care in a timely manner, to include availability of processing SAFE kits.
29d1	Change Aspects of the Military Justice Process Sexual Assault Case Disposition: The Secretaries of the Military Departments ensure commanders consider the full range of disciplinary actions when acting on allegations. Before those decisions are made, the trial counsel shall consult the victim to determine his or her wishes regarding case disposition and provide that information to the commander.	Complete. AF practice complies with Presidential directive in the Manual for Courts-Martial, Rule for Courts-Martial 306, requiring commanders consider all avenues to dispose of cases. Victim input is required and considered.
29d2	Change Aspects of the Military Justice Process Sexual Assault Case Disposition: The Secretaries of the Military Departments ensure commanders, after consulting their servicing judge advocates, inform members of their command of case outcomes.	Complete and ongoing. AF practice is to announce results of UCMJ actions via base newspapers and other outlets. Privacy Act limitations exist for administrative/personnel actions. Victims are provided information consistent with the above.

29e	Change Aspects of the Military Justice Process Using Military Judge Resources: The Secretaries of the Military Departments and The Judge Advocates General use military judges from other Services more frequently to ensure expeditious disposition of courts-martial cases.	Complete. AF partially concurred with this recommendation. AF practice uses military judges from other Services as required and makes AF judges available. No trials have been significantly delayed for judge non-availability.
JAG LTR 1	Article 32, UCMJ Hearing Officer. Complex legal and factual issues exist when investigating and trying sexual assault cases. The new Article 120, Uniform Code of Military Justice is cumbersome and difficult for line officers to understand and apply. Convening authorities place great weight on Article 32 investigating officers' findings and recommendations. The Services primarily use judge advocates as Article 32, UCMJ investigating officers for sexual assault cases. We recommend that convening authorities appoint judge advocates (including active and Reserve Component military judges) as Article 32, UCMJ, hearing officers for sexual assault cases.	Complete. AF practice is to recommend that convening authority appoint JAG as Art 32 investigating office in SA cases. Decision rests with convening authority. IAW MCM, CA must appoint commissioned officer, major or above, or with legal training.
JAG LTR 2a	Trial Counsel/Prosecutors: Inexperienced prosecutors are trying difficult sexual assault cases involving allegations of acquaintance rape. Many of these cases have limited corroborating evidence. Until recently, prosecutors have not received specialized training regarding prosecution strategies in sexual assault cases, including assailant and victim behavior evidence, forensic evidence, alcohol-related issues, overcoming preconceived panel prejudices (e.g., lack of resistance, alcohol consumption, a victim's collateral misconduct, prior social relationships between the parties, and at-risk behavior) and working with traumatized victims. A lack of understanding exists regarding common victim behaviors which may adversely impact sexual assault case disposition. Some Services have established highly qualified expert programs and military justice litigation tracks, and identified senior prosecutors to ensure more experienced and sophisticated litigators are in the field. Nevertheless, we recommend that prior to their assignments prosecutors receive specialized training regarding trial strategies for sexual assault cases, including but not limited to assailant and victim behavior evidence, forensic evidence, alcohol and drug-related issues, and working with traumatized victims.	Complete and ongoing. AF practice is to provide specialized training to all trial counsel who may serve in sexual assault cases. Senior Trial counsel, specialists in complex trials, including SA cases, are made available for detail to SA cases. Training is accomplished in many venues, both military and civilian. In conjunction with the Army, have sponsored a Military Institute on the Prosecution of Sexual Violence conducted by AEquitas. Finalizing joint-service 22 module computer-based training with "live" interactive opportunities.

JAG LTR 2b	Trial Counsel/Prosecutors: Many judge advocates do not maintain records in sexual assault cases reflecting the basis for their case disposition recommendations to commanders. This adds to the perception that prosecutors are not taking sexual assault cases seriously and makes it more difficult to subsequently explain reasonable decisions made. For example, during installation site visits, most prosecutors did not retain case files and any files provided for the Task Force's review did not include documentation reflecting their analysis and basis for advice to commanders. Consequently, we recommend that before advising special and general court-martial convening authorities, prosecutors complete a memorandum or proof analysis sheet (for internal staff judge advocate use only) setting forth a legal analysis of the evidence before advising a commander regarding a sexual assault case (see Enclosures 1 and 2 for examples). Supervisors of prosecutors should review and retain these documents for five years after case disposition.	AF partially concurred with this recommendation. AF practice is to prepare a proof analysis on all cases for trial preparation and disposition recommendations. SJA decision on sharing actual document with commanders and convening authority. Retention for 5 years is not practicable.
JAG LTR 2c	Trial Counsel/Prosecutors: The USACIL receives its accreditation from an internationally-recognized organization. To maintain its accreditation and ensure quality of work-product, the laboratory must comply with established standards and requirements. The laboratory must evaluate, at least annually, each examiner's courtroom testimony. Trial counsel do not routinely provide feedback to the USACIL. We recommend that trial counsel provide an assessment to the laboratory regarding examiner testimony to meet accreditation requirements.	Complete and ongoing. When asked, AF trial counsel provides feedback on testimony to all witnesses. We are discussing with USACIL appropriate mechanisms to provide this input.

*The AF recognizes that for all completed items we must continue to monitor and assess; the IG compliance oriented checklist identified in section 5.2.2. remains a valuable tool and process to continually emphasize and provide oversight to critical functions of the SAPR program.

5.4. Provide a summary of your research and data collection activities

5.4.1. Describe the research and data collection activities that have taken place within your Service during the past fiscal year

The AF SAPR Program initiated a contract with Social Solutions, Inc. to conduct a training effectiveness study. The purpose of the training effectiveness study is to measure successful transference of learning with self-reported measures from respondents indicating efficacy and willingness to change behavior. The focus of the study changed from targeting existing, formal in-place training to exclusively reviewing pre- and post-measurements and field-evaluation of the newly created bystander intervention training modules; the study also included the use of test and control groups to minimize bias and improve measurement. The study is currently ongoing with one remaining site evaluation projected for January 2011. Estimated completion date is March 2011.

5.4.2. Provide the initiation or execution of any survey for the purpose of informing or improving Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

As noted in section 2.2., the AF contracted with Gallup, Inc., to conduct a prevalence/incidence survey; the results will be included in a comprehensive study research study type of report. Anticipated completion of the final report is December 2010.

5.4.3. Provide the initiation or execution of any empirical research or evaluation project to inform or improve Service SAPR programming, including highlights of available findings

As noted in section 5.4.1., the AF contracted with Social Solutions, Inc., Silver Springs, Maryland, to evaluate existing AF SAPR training. Throughout a year long process, measurement surveys were created to evaluate the effectiveness and efficacy of the AF's bystander intervention training modules. This evaluation process measures participant knowledge prior to receiving training, immediately following training, and at a period 90 days after training; the evaluation shifts from purely knowledge level to self-reported measures of "willingness" to intervene. As bystander intervention was newly fielded training materials, the AF also had the opportunity to isolate randomly selected populations and use as control groups throughout the testing period. Results from the study are expected by March 2011.

5.5. Provide an update on how your Service has aligned its strategic planning documents to the DoD-Wide SAPR Strategic Plan

The over-arching objectives of the AF strategic roadmap provide a basis for aligning with and supporting the five DoD SAPR priorities; AF supporting elements to the established priorities are identified below in italics:

- Decrease volume of sexual assaults
  - Provide risk reduction methods to at-risk populations
  - Create effective risk management processes for leaders to provide safe environments
  - Instill positive bystander intervention strategies for Airmen to take care of each other
- Increase reporting of sexual assaults
  - Establish baseline value for AF specific prevalence and incidence as measure
  - Develop consistent strategic messages for target populations to support SAPR efforts
  - Inspire trust-based processes for victims of sexual assault through social marketing
- Improve sexual assault response
  - Provide additional investigator capability for enhanced investigative process
  - Enhance first responder knowledge and skills through improved training
  - Maintain robust SARC positions and community involvement with volunteer VAs
- Improve system accountability
  - Manage program delivery through compliance-oriented inspection processes
  - Establish performance management metrics for data and research driven success

- Deliver institutional resources through deliberate planning and effective execution
- Improve knowledge and understanding of SAPR
  - Provide awareness concepts of sexual assault at all accession points
  - Host annual senior leadership forums for increased leader perspectives
  - Establish open collaboration and information sharing at all institutional levels

5.6. Describe what measures are taken by your Service to ensure that Service members protected by a military protective order are informed in a timely manner of the member's option to request transfer from the command of assignment

Per AFI 36-6001, para. 6.6.1.: Commanders, SARCs, and VAs should be aware of the array of personnel actions that are available and may be appropriate in specific cases. These actions may include, among others, alternative duty locations, hours, or assignments within a unit, permanent change of assignment on the installation, and permanent change of station, including humanitarian reassignment. Consult with the Military Personnel Element and applicable AFIs for guidance and eligibility criteria.

The AF has two processes in use to consider the reassignment of victims:

- The "Threatened Airman Program" is an exception to policy move. If an airman is threatened, the Commander, First Sergeant, and/or SARC notifies AFOSI, who will confirm if the threat exists. If a valid threat exists, AFOSI and the AF Personnel Center's Assignments Division work the issue "close-hold." The assignment is coordinated by paper copy only and provided to specific points of contacts within the Military Personnel Flight (MPF) at the installation. As part of this process, the victim's name is removed from the enterprise-wide Global Access List (GAL – email) and few members are aware of victim's permanent change of station location. This process is on a case-by-case basis.
- General exception to policy move: to request reassignment, the victim contacts the Commander, First Sergeant, AFOSI, and/or wing SARC who then coordinate with the AF Personnel Center's Assignments Division. This process is on a case-by-case basis.

5.7. Describe what steps are being taken to improve the collection of sexual assault data, particularly how your Service is preparing data systems to interface with the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database

The FY09 NDAA mandated the implementation of a centralized, case-level Department of Defense sexual assault database for the collection and maintenance of information regarding sexual assaults involving a member of the Armed Forces by January 2010. The Air Force (SAF/MRM) chaired a working group comprised of representatives from each of the Services, National Guard Bureau, Reserve Affairs, Joint Staff, and OSD Health Affairs and SAPRO for initial design of the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID). Currently in Phase II of development, the preliminary design encompasses Victim Case Management; incident data; subject demographics; subject disposition; and SAPR program administration. DOD has awarded the contract for development and the AF is scheduled for first-year delivery. The AFPC SAPR Operations Branch continued working with DoD SAPRO during FY10 on refining input location codes for place of incident and place of report. ECD Oct 2011.

5.8. Explain how your Service is reviewing military justice processes to improve investigations and prosecutions

DoD SAPRO office provided $2.3M in FY09 funds to the Services in late June 2009 to fund additional training for Judge Advocate staff. As the lead for distribution and execution of the funding, the AF distributed $350,000 to each service for training support and retained the remainder to fund joint training. The AF sent judge advocates, paralegals and VWAP personnel to training opportunities at 35th Annual North American Victim Assistance Conference, Enforcing Victims' Rights Conference, the Advanced Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault course and the US Army VWAP training Course. After reviewing feasible joint training options, the Services concluded that, under the circumstances, contracting for on-line training for trial counsel was the most practicable and would maximize the opportunity to practice and gain skills and experience in a risk-free environment. The services identified a 22-module training program that will provide trial counsel with the information and practice necessary to prepare to prosecute sexual assault cases and is scheduled for fielding in March, 2011.

SIMmersion has been contracted to develop The Sexual Assault Trial Counsel Electronic Training System to provide e-learning and simulated training for each of the 22 modules. This system will support and enhance the current DoD and JAG sexual assault training and response objectives. SIMmersion will use its proprietary PeopleSim™ Technology to custom build these modules to meet the training needs of JAG offices. In order to allow trainees to hone the skills necessary to prosecute a sexual assault case, a frequently encountered scenario has been created. Trainees will be given the facts of the case as they would typically be presented, including pictures and sworn statements; then, the trainees will proceed through each of the training modules to gain knowledge and experience pertaining to each step in the process. Each module will be self-paced and independent of the others; this will allow trainees to spend as much time as necessary mastering the skills needed to effectively prosecute a sexual assault case.

This self-paced training system will provide trial counsel with training and experience prior to being assigned a sexual assault case. The system will also function as refresher training for trial counsel who have been out of the courtroom for an extended period of time. SIMmersion's use of video and voice recognition technology will allow the user to become immersed in a realistic interpersonal exchange, and their expertise in computerized role-play training and interactive training will guarantee accelerated learning. The modules will address Collaborating with Investigators to Get What You Need; Advising Commanders; Case Strategy: Case in Chief; Understanding and Working with Victims; Understanding Offenders; Strategies for the Article 32 Investigation; Pretrial Motions; Voir Dire; Structuring an Opening Statement; Direct of the Victim; Medical Evidence; DNA; Presenting Demonstrative Evidence; Understanding and Using Electronic Evidence; Toxicology; Expert on Counterintuitive Behavior/Memory and Perception of Traumatic Events; Cross of the Accused; Structuring a Closing and Rebuttal Argument; Challenging Cases; Arguing Sentencing; Ethics; Advising and Mentoring Trial Counsel; and Article 120. Each module will include a simulation containing 500 video recorded character responses and up to 30 e-learning screens. All other modules will include up to 15 e-learning screens, a 10 question comprehension check and a total of three (3) hours of video lectures.

To fund this contract, the AF applied the retained DoD funds, the remainder of the AF share of the training funds and The AF Judge Advocate General funded the remainder from AF operation and maintenance funds.

5.9. Describe the policies, procedures, and processes implemented by your Service to monitor sexual assault cases in which the victim is a deployed member of the Armed Forces and the assailant is a foreign national

Under exception to normal reporting processes of sexual assault reports received, all reports of sexual assault occurring in the deployed environments must be submitted immediately using non-personally identifying information to provide a general synopsis of type of assault and current actions, submitted in turn to AFCENT, AFPC SAPR Operations Branch, and AF/A1S (SAPR Program Manager). The incident report format is as follows:

AOR Sexual Assault Incident Information

1. Date of incident:
2. Time:
3. Date of Report:
4. Base of incident report:
5. General location (dorm, bathroom, parking lot, off base, etc.):
6. Number of victims:
7. Number of alleged assailants:
8. Nature/Type of Assault (Rape, Sodomy, Indecent Assault, etc.):
9. Is this incident a restricted or unrestricted report?:

The purpose of this form is to provide instantaneous oversight for incidents in the AOR and to ensure all functional first responders are involved as the report requires; the report format provides necessary information concerning the offender, and specifically identified if TCN committed the offense, and permits follow on AFOSI oversight/interface with local authorities.

6. Improve the Knowledge and Understanding of SAPR

6.1. Provide examples of your Service's efforts to leverage senior leadership and unit commanders support of the SAPR program (i.e., Held briefings, attended summits, etc.) to raise Service member's awareness of sexual assault matters

As previously cited, the AF conducted the second annual AF SAPR Leader Summit in FY09; the audience included 211 total attendees. Of these, 89 were serving as senior wing leaders at that time and were provided extensive background information to assist them in preparing for the FY10 Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) strategic campaign, enabling their greater understanding and ability to provide additional guidance at home station. In turn, identical processes about instituting DoD's FY10 "Hurts one. Affects all" strategic campaign were emphasized during the AU senior pre-command sessions and mass-marketed at the major commands by SARCs to all levels of command. Incorporating internal posters, as described in section 6.2. enhanced delivery and resonated with larger audiences during and post-SAAM activities.

6.2. Describe the expansion or creation of response-related SAPR communication and outreach activities in FY10, including specific audiences and related goals

As a result of the November 2009 AF SAPR Leader Summit, language and imagery that resonates with all Airmen was developed into two additional posters and talking points to augment the one provided by DoD SAPRO for the FY10 prevention efforts.

In turn, these posters were used to support and provide a foundation for many SAAM events in April 2010; many social marketing materials were also acquired to provide a continued emphasis on SAPR themes.

6.3. Describe the measures of effectiveness for your Service's outreach efforts (i.e., Surveys) and detail results

There were no established institutional-wide measurements for outreach efforts; however, as part of the strategic off-site review (section 2.1.1.), the team developed a series of enhanced measures to support each of the 4 Perspectives contained within the strategic roadmap. Within Perspective 1, there are elements of outreach efforts in delivering reliable information:

The AF Personnel Center's SAPR Operations Branch is currently developing an operational version of the cited measures, as performance metrics, which will be fielded in FY11.

6.4. List active partnerships with other federal agencies, non-federal agencies, and/or organizations for the purpose of research and evaluation in conjunction with SAPR program activities

While there were no formally established partnerships at the institution level (headquarters), many installation SARCs remain active members and participating partners with local, off-base support and advocacy groups. Although the relationships with the subject matter experts identified in section 2.1.3. were through contractual agreements, they have remained committed to assisting the AF in establishing a robust SAPR program and providing a level of expertise that enhanced program support.

6.5. List participation in congressional hearings, briefings, and congressional staff assistance meetings

AF representatives were provided the opportunity to interact on two separate occasions with military staffers and Congressional staff members:

- Members from SAF/MR, AF/JA, and AF/AISF met with staff members from the House Government Oversight Committee to discuss current program status and language in draft NDAA FY11
- The AF/JA met with members from the House Armed Services Committee to discuss impending NDAA proposals, to include modifications to Article 120 and 125 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice

7. Lessons Learned and Way Ahead

7.1. Provide a summary discussion of the progress made and challenges confronted by your Service's SAPR program in FY10

Most activities and processes for the AF SAPR Program are longitudinal in nature and require cross-over into different fiscal years due to develop time, testing, evaluating, approval processes, and ensuring adequate marketing; major actions represented by the prevalence/incidence survey, training effectiveness study, increasing investigator manpower authorizations and subsequent hiring processes, and improving first responder training are representative of the time required to field. Many of these program plans were initiated with FY09 funds and carried through various stages of development and completion throughout FY10.

7.2. Supply the status of FY10 plans described in last year's report, including but not limited to:

7.2.1. Prevention

As described in multiple sections of this narrative, bystander intervention training was launched in January 2010 after over two years development--the AF will continue delivering force-wide in lieu of the annual training until June 2012. An additional 400 trainers were also trained in FY10 to assist the 144 SAPR Program members trained in July 2009 with the bystander intervention training modules.

7.2.2. Response

Key to robust SAPR response is continued program resourcing for operating budgets and manpower authorizations. The AF committed approximately $30M in FY10 to the SAPR Program, which enabled the continued full-time presence of SARCs, enhanced training development for first responders, and initial acquisition of additional investigator authorizations.

7.2.3. Oversight

AF senior leadership remains committed to eliminating sexual assault and providing safe environments for all Airmen and their families; as such, the AF SAPR Program continues to have senior oversight from multiple levels, from Headquarters Air Force field visits to compliance inspections. All facets of the oversight are to provide sufficient and appropriate guidance, policy, and resources to enable installations to achieve program objectives. The AF SAPR Program Manager reports directly to a member of the Senior Executive Service, the Deputy Director of Air Force Services, to provide additional emphasis for support of the program. Similarly, all senior leaders responsible for specific first responder capabilities have appointed a designated representative as part of an ongoing SAPR team that has been in existence since 2005.

7.3. Describe your Service's plans for FY11, which may include the discussion of the following:

- Restricted Reporting
- Advocacy
- Prevention and training
- Research and surveys
- Oversight activities
- Medical Healthcare
- Mental Healthcare
- Forensic exams
- Investigative
- Legal
- Chaplains

In addition to FY11 plans previously discussed in this narrative, and repeated below, AF SAPR remains committed to 8 major initiatives contained in the strategic roadmap until complete:

- Establish baseline for prevalence & incidence
  - Gallup, Inc., under contract, conducted a prevalence/incidence survey August, 2010, to provide a baseline of statistical occurrence of sexual assault and lead to analysis for the probability of occurrence within the AF. The results from the study will provide a baseline for occurrence of sexual assault, quantify under-reporting, and enable leaders to implement effective policies. The team responsible for conducting the study includes several nationally recognized subject matter experts in conducting large-scale research for sexual assault, in conjunction with internal AF expertise from AF/JA for the question set design. The survey was designed to elicit responses from randomly selected military populations with a 20-25 item measure and provide analysis for occurrence of unwanted sexual contact and climate in which it occurs and/or reported (command support). Estimated completion for an Executive Brief is November, 2010, and a final report December 2010
- Measure training effectiveness and efficacy
  - The AF SAPR Program initiated a contract with Social Solutions, Inc. to conduct a training effectiveness study. The purpose of the training effectiveness study is to measure successful transference of learning with self-reported measures from respondents indicating efficacy and willingness to change behavior. The study will target the effectiveness of newly fielded bystander intervention training modules for leaders, men, and women, based on both a control and test group process, and self-reported responses from participants. The study is currently in the process of being coordinated for the training environments and installations where the measurement will occur. Estimated completion date is March 2011

- Create community empowered bystander intervention
  - The AF launched bystander intervention training January, 2010, with an inaugural message by the AF/A1. Bystander intervention is a strategy that motivates and mobilizes people who may see, hear, or otherwise recognize signs of an inappropriate or unsafe situation, to act. Using an interactive and dynamic model, the 90-minute courses will provide basic education about bystander intervention strategies. The format includes discussion, exercises, and scenario supported learning—the experience is fast-paced and interactive. The AF is conducting bystander intervention training in lieu of the annual training requirements identified in DoDI 6495.02, under waiver from DoD SAPRO. There are three separate modules; one for men, women, and leaders. Each AF member will attend the appropriate session once until the AF resumes with the DoD annual training requirement. The waiver will expire June 2012
- Provide manpower authorization enhancements
  - AF senior leaders established full-time SARCs at every AF installation with more than 1,000 members assigned in 2005. Due to evolving and emerging mission requirements, updated manpower authorizations are necessary to provide full-spectrum capability for the SAPR Program. Recruiting, screening, selecting, and training volunteer VAs also adds tremendously to SARC workloads, as well as, conducting annual training requirements. Multiple positions are currently scheduled for realignment during FY11-12 and will require tracking for completion. The SECAF approved placement of 23 fulltime investigators dedicated to sexual assault crimes and one fulltime trainer at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center; positions are scheduled for acquisition beginning in FY11. Estimated completion dates are 1 October 2010, and 1 October 2011, respectively
- Enhance permanent funding stream through the FYDP
  - Beginning in FY10, AF SAPR allocated funding streams through dedicated Program element Codes (PECs) for all active duty, AF Reserve, and Air National Guard SAPR program funding. Prior to this time, SAPR remained a fiscal burden on Commanders and commands, and first responder functional community support for the SAPR Program was at the expense of other internal priorities that were used to justify existing funding baselines. The funding approach used incorporates a comprehensive Total Force and functional community methodology, and includes standardized non-civ pay O&M operating budgets for the Air Staff functional communities, MAJCOMs, and installations; direct funding support to the Air National Guard and AF Reserve; and, manpower costs for providing full-time members (except Air National Guard). Results from the first-year of a SAPR dedicated PEC, including allocations and expenditure rates, are under review and will lead to adjustments to distribution to ensure SAPR program objectives are achieved for the Total Force and first responder-communities. Necessary adjustments will be targeted for FY11 and FY12 allocations. Continued action is required throughout the FYDP to ensure requirements are valid and identified in the annual budget POM processes
- Develop standardized strategic and internal messages
  - To achieve institutional cultural change requires frequent and consistent messages from senior leaders to the AF population. To continue AF SAPR efforts for a primary prevention-based approach requires continual synchronization of messages focused on specific target populations or actions. The AF/A1 continues to host a SAPR Leader Summit in November of each year that includes guidance/vector from the Secretary of the AF and Chief of Staff of the AF. Participants for the annual Summits include leaders from the Air Staff, MAJCOMs, and Wing and/or Vice Wing Commanders. AF SAPR Leader Summits will continue to emphasize the DoD SAPRO campaign message “Hurts one. Affects all.” that focuses on the impact to the victim and mission readiness. Estimated completion for the next AF SAPR Leader Summit is November, 2010

- Develop field level operating guides and standards
  - In our efforts to enhance the care and support to victims, as well as other functional aspects of the program, and enable consistent and standardized implementation of policies and directives, a Standards Working Group was established in 2009. This group, comprised of MAJCOM and installation-level SARCs, is developing comprehensive guides in the following categories: program administration, training, response and prevention. The draft of the first standard, Victim Advocate Selection, Training and Certification, is complete and awaiting formal review. The Standards Working Group anticipates finalized drafts of the following six standards by March 2011: Case Definitions, Developing MOUs, Intake Documentation, Case Transfer Procedures, First Responder Training, and Transporting Victims
- Refine and standardize data collection & utilization
  - Leveraging information technology across the SAPR operating environment will increase the availability of information, streamline our data collection efforts, and provide a common operating picture to SARCs and first responder communities. The FY09 NDAA mandated the implementation of a centralized, case-level Department of Defense sexual assault database for the collection and maintenance of information regarding sexual assaults involving a member of the Armed Forces by January 2010. The AF was involved with a working group comprised of representatives from each of the Services, National Guard Bureau, Reserve Affairs, Joint Staff, and OSD Health Affairs and SAPRO to develop the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID). Currently in Phase II of development, the preliminary design encompasses Victim Case Management; incident data; subject demographics; subject disposition; and SAPR program administration. DoD has awarded the contract for development and the AF is scheduled for first-year delivery; estimated completion is October 2011

In preparation for results from the Gallup survey on prevalence and incidence, the AF projects:

- Developing a communication plan to share results with internal and external audiences
- Create internal functional/first responder working group to develop way-ahead for results
- Establish senior-level Executive Steering Group (3-Star level) to focus AF efforts
- Prepare for longitudinal measurement process and determine frequency of measurement

Two initiatives previously identified but restated and due to commence in January 2011:

- Develop Sexual Assault Risk Reduction training module (finalizes prior version)
- Develop Sexual Assault Risk Management Guide for Commanders

Chaplains: Contracts are being established for a regionally accredited University department of pastoral counseling to provide two 5-day Professional Continuing Education courses on “Pastoral Caregiver Response Training for Military Members Affected by Sexual Assault” in FY11. Additionally, contract will include development of an interactive web based training to enhance the required initial and annual SAPR refresher training for Chaplain Corps personnel.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 Sexual Assault Statistical Report Data: Air Force

1. Analytic Discussion

1.1. Provide an analytic discussion of your Service's Statistical Report. This section should include such information as:

- Notable changes in the data since FY09 (in percents)
- Possible explanations for changes, or lack of change, in data
- Implications the data may have for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Implications the data may have for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Other (Please explain)

FY10 saw the fifth anniversary of the Air Force's Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program. It is a maturing program enhanced by the efforts of a remarkable corps of dedicated Sexual Assault Response Coordinators and thousands of volunteer Victim Advocates. We are convinced this is a program that is making a difference.

In FY10, the AF received 585 reports of sexual assaults; 325 were unrestricted reports (includes 23 converted from restricted reports at the request of the victims) and 283 were restricted reports (23 converted to unrestricted, leaving 260 restricted). This number of reports represents an increase of 39 unrestricted (13%) and a decrease of 3 restricted (1%) reports from the number of reports received in FY09. These totals include 18 reports from the Combat Areas of Interest, 14 of which were unrestricted reports (an increase of 2 from FY 09) and 4 were restricted reports (6 total restricted reports of which 2 converted to unrestricted reports at the request of the victims). The restricted reports from the Combat Areas of interest represent a decrease of 9 from FY09, of which none had converted to unrestricted reports.

The increase in the number of reports may be due to a number of factors, including increased publicity and greater familiarity with the program, increased awareness as a result of the rollout of Bystander Intervention Training, and improved procedures to ensure all reports of sexual assault made to Security Forces as well as the Air Force Office of Special Investigations were captured.

At the end of FY10, 260 reports remain restricted. Fewer restricted reports converted this year than in previous years (8% in FY10 versus 14% in FY09). This change could indicate that individuals have knowledge of the program, came forward to receive SAPR services but were not interested in the formal processes associated with unrestricted reporting. Members chose to keep the report restricted—this result is consistent with studies and research of individual rationale for reporting or not reporting. An important note is that of the restricted reports made, 60 (21%) occurred prior to entry in the Air Force, an increase of 6% from FY09. In FY09, this represented 16% of victims utilizing restricted reporting indicated the sexual assaults occurred prior to entry to the Air Force; FY08 report indicated only 9.9%. While this information is noteworthy, the Air Force recognizes that the number of restricted reports and the fewer converted reports could indicate that some victims may lack confidence in the unrestricted reporting process. We will continue to watch for trends and look for any possible programmatic or anecdotal contributing factors.

The success of the SAPR program also continues in deployed environments as policies and procedures are refined at specific locations to provide the best available services for victims.

2. Unrestricted Reporting

2.1. Victim Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Type of offenses
- Demographic trends
- Service referrals
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Military Protective Orders Issued as a Result of an Unrestricted Report (i.e., Number issued, number violated, etc.)
- Others (Please explain)

There were 253 individuals, both service members and civilians, male and female, who reported sexual assault in the FY10 investigations completed year-to-date. There were 239 (94%) female and 14 (6%) male victims and 183 (72%) military and 70 (28%) non-military victims. Of the 246 reports by victims with known ages, the majority (188, 74%) were 24 years of age or under, with 40 (16%) between the ages of 16-19 and 148 (58%) between the ages of 20 to 24. Of the 183 military victims, 145 were in the grades E-1 to E-4 (79%). Specific types of offenses are included in the data statistics matrix attached elsewhere in this report and no significant differences were noted in combat areas of interest and other reports. Analysis of the report demographics remains consistent with prior years' annual reports.

2.2. Subject Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Demographic trends
- Disposition trends
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

There were 248 subjects, that included service members, civilians, and unidentified subjects, in the FY10 investigations completed year-to-date. The vast majority of subjects (227, 92%) are male, while 5 of the subjects were female (2%) and the remainder were unknown subjects. Of the 224 subjects with known ages, 120 (48%) were under 24 years of age, 17 (7%) between the ages of 16-19 and 103 (42%) between the ages of 20 to 24. Of the 211 military subjects, the majority (129, 52%) were in pay grades E-1 to E-4.

In an early snapshot of the dispositions of allegations reported in FY10, the data below reflects results from these completed investigations. Commanders, following receipt of advice from their staff judge advocate, considered appropriate action in 248 cases. In those 248 cases, action was precluded in 15 cases for various reasons, including that the subject was unknown or civilian authorities exercised jurisdiction. Seventy-six cases were pending command action at the end of the reporting period. In another 121 cases command action was declined for sexual assault for various reasons—including that the commander found probable cause only for a non-sexual assault offense (66 cases), the victim declined to participate in the military justice action (20 cases) or there was insufficient evidence of any offense (33 cases). In the remaining 36 cases, commanders initiated court-martial proceedings against 18 of the subjects for sexual assault offenses, 16 cases resulted in nonjudicial punishment proceedings against the individual under Article 15, Uniform Code of Military Justice, and 2 cases were handled through administrative actions.

In cases that arose prior to FY10, cases involving 231 subjects were presented to commanders. Action was precluded in 50 cases for the following reasons: the subject was unknown (18 cases) or civilian authorities exercised jurisdiction (32 cases). Thirty cases were pending command action as of 30 Sep 10. In another 112 cases command action was precluded or declined for sexual assault for various reasons—including that the commander found probable cause only for a non-sexual assault offense (29 cases), the victim declined to participate in the military justice action (27 cases) or there was insufficient evidence of any offense (50 cases). In the remaining 39 cases, commanders initiated court-martial proceedings against 33 of the subjects for sexual assault offenses, in three cases initiated nonjudicial punishment proceedings against the individual under Article 15, Uniform Code of Military Justice and initiated discharge proceedings in the remaining three cases.

There were no significant differences noted in combat areas of interest and other reports. Analysis of the report demographics remains consistent with prior years' annual reports.

2.3. Reporting Data Discussion and Analysis. This section should include an overview of such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Unrestricted Reports (i.e., Did more reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc.)
- Investigations
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

Overview of Reports: There were 325 unrestricted reports of sexual assault during FY10. The data on investigations has remained relatively consistent since FY07.

- In FY10, more than half of the allegations investigated were servicemember on servicemember (179, 55%), followed by 95 (29%) servicemember on non-servicemember, 31 (10%) unidentified subjects on servicemember, and 20 (6%) non-servicemember subjects on servicemember. Reported sexual assaults occurred about equally on and off the installation, with 164 (50%) occurring on base, 151 (47%) occurring on the installation and 10 (3%) occurring in multiple or not-identified locations.
- Of the 325 investigations, 54% (174) of the cases were reported within 72 hours and 69% (224) within 30 days of the event. Data on length of time between incident and report was unavailable in 3 cases, but in the remaining 78 cases, 20 (6%) were reported more than 12 months after the assault. Data on the reason for the delay in reporting is not available. Of the 190 cases when the time of occurrence was known, almost two-thirds (116, 61%) occurred between midnight and 0600. Fifty-nine percent (192) of the reported assaults occurred on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday.
- Two hundred thirty-one investigations had been completed by the end of FY10. The reported number of victims does not align with the reported number of subjects as there are 23 investigations with more than one subject and/or more than one victim

There were no significant differences noted in combat areas of interest and other reports. Analysis of the report demographics remains consistent with prior years' annual reports.

3. Restricted Reporting

3.1. Victim Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Demographics trends
- Service referrals
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

In FY 10, 264 women (86%) and 22 men (14%) filed restricted reports of sexual assault, showing a decrease of 6% female reporting and an increase of 6% in male reporting. Of the restricted reports received, 173 (61%) were service member on servicemember, 85 (30%) non-servicemember on servicemember, and 25 (9%) unidentified subject on a servicemember assaults. The grades of victims, from the highest number of reports to the lowest were E1-E4 (188, 66%), E5-E9 (66, 23%), O1-O3 (11, 4%), Cadet (14, 5%), O4-O10 (2, 1%), and Unknown (2, 1%). The most significant shift in these reports was a notable decrease of 8% of E1-E4 reports, while E5-E9 increased 10%. The age group reporting, from highest to lowest was 20-24 (126, 44%), 25-34 (77, 27%), 16-19 (64, 23%), and 35-49 (16, 6%). The majority of the restricted reports indicate they occurred during the hours of 6:00 pm and midnight (113, 40%) and midnight to 6:00 am (102, 36%); the other assaults occurred between the hours of 6:00 am and 6:00 pm, or remain unknown for the actual time. There is no significant difference from FY09 to FY10 for the hours of occurrence. Other demographic data indicated highest frequency of incident days remained consistent with prior years: Unknown (95, 34%), Saturdays (60, 21%), Sundays (36, 13%), and Fridays (35, 12%); all other reports were randomly interspersed for the remaining days of the week. Significant for FY10 for the day of the week occurrences is the large number for the Unknown category; assumption is that the significant increase of those who were sexually assaulted prior to entry to the Air Force and those who have been members but only now are coming forward to report an incident earlier in their career do not recall or know the actual day of the week that the assault occurred. Many of these now reporting may be a direct result of the efforts the AF has placed in enhanced awareness and education of sexual assault, establishing a system for them to come forward, and members subsequently perceiving trust in the program sufficient to finally report and get any care they may need. All restricted reports received by victims of sexual assault were in an active duty or Federal status at the time of the assault or at the time it was reported. There were no significant differences noted in combat areas of interest and other reports. See section 4 for service referral information.

3.2. Reporting Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Trends in descriptive information about Restricted Reports (i.e., Did more occur reported incidents occur on/off installation, etc)
- Experiences in Combat Areas of Interest
- Other (Please explain)

Overview of Reports: Generally, victims provided restricted reports 27% (77) of the time within three days of the assault; 20% (56) within thirty-one to 365 days after assault; 19% (53) of the time within four to thirty days after the assault; and 18% (52) longer than 365 days after the assault. However, 16% (45) remain unknown since the victim did not or elected not to reveal the information during the report. Consistently, this reinforces the suggestion that when the event was prior to entry to the AF or at some point in the members past career, they no longer remember the specifics of when it actually occurred. The largest change between these numbers were for those reported within three days of the assault; in FY09, 39% reported in this time period whereas for FY10 it decreased to 27%. Of the 283 restricted reports, 183 (65%) reported the incident occurred off military installations, 98 (34%) on military installations, and 2 (<1%) remain as unidentified locations. The restricted reports received by AF SARCs represented 274 AF, 5 USA, 2 USN, and 2 USMC victims.

Restricted reports made in the Combat Areas of Interest mirror these same demographics.

4. Service Referrals for Victims of Sexual Assault

4.1. Unrestricted Report Referral Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

During FY10, 822 referrals were made for victims of sexual assault with unrestricted reports to military facilities: 207 referrals were for medical treatment, 429 for counseling, and 186 for legal services. For civilian facilities, 278 total referrals were made that included 71 for medical treatment, 174 for counseling, and 33 for legal services. In the CAI, 1 referral was made for a military facility counseling. The total number of SAFE kits utilized in these referrals was 68 and none in the CAI. Numbers of referrals do not correlate directly to the number of reports or cases since an individual victim may have multiple referrals or none based on victim preference.

4.2. Restricted Report Referral Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

For FY10 restricted reports, 252 referrals were issued to military facilities; 77 referrals were for medical treatment and 175 for counseling. For civilian facilities, 77 total referrals were made that included 26 for medical treatment and 51 for counseling. In the CAI, 7 referrals were made that included 3 for medical treatment and 4 for counseling at military facilities. The total number of SAFE kits utilized in these referrals was 36. No referrals were made for legal services for restricted reports.

4.3. Service Referrals for Non-Military Victims Data Discussion. This section should include such information as:

- Summary of referral data
- Combat Areas of Interest referral data
- Discussion of any trends of interest identified in referral data
- Other (Please explain)

For non-military members who have an affiliation with the AF, 283 referrals were made to military facilities: 64 were for medical treatment, 92 for counseling, and 127 for legal services. Additionally, 294 referrals were made for civilian facilities and included 70 for medical treatment, 175 for counseling, and 49 for legal services. The total number of SAFE kits utilized in these referrals was 46. There were no referrals in the combat areas of interest for this category.
