ON THE FOLLOWING DAY HE RECEIVED DEMONSTRATIONS ON HOW TO USE GRENADES. HE WAS SHOWN HOW TO PULL THE PIN AND HOW TO THROW A

GRENADe; HE DID NOT ACTUALLY THROW A GRENADe. FROM THE GRENADe TRAINING THAT HE RECEIVED AT THE CAMP HE FEELS COMFORTABLE USING GRENADes. ALL THE WEAPONS AT THE CAMP SEEMED TO BE OPERATIONAL AND WELL MAINTAINED, EXCEPT FOR ONE OF THE RPG'S, WHICH SEEMED BROKEN BECAUSE IT SET ASIDE FROM THE OTHER WEAPONS AND WAS NOT TOUCHED WHILE HE WAS THERE. HE DID NOT RECEIVE ANY OTHER TRAINING, SUCH AS MEDICAL TRAINING. THE ONLY DRUGS HE WAS GIVEN WHILE AT THE CAMP WERE PILLS AND AN INJECTION. EACH DAY HE WAS AT THE CAMP HE RECEIVED AT LEAST THREE PILLS WHICH MADE HIM FEEL DROWSY AND DIZZY. HE DID NOT RECEIVE RELIGIOUS TRAINING NOR DID ANYONE PREACH WHILE HE WAS AT THE CAMP. HE DID NOT PRAY WHILE HE WAS AT THE CAMP, BECAUSE HE FELT DIZZY MOST OF THE TIME, NOR WAS HE TOLD TO PRAY. NO ONE TALKED TO HIM ABOUT MARTYRDOM OR OF A JIHAD AGAINST AMERICANS WHILE HE WAS AT THE CAMP.

U.S. RESTRICTED

Initial Debriefing of Mohammed JAWAD

The subject is alleged to have thrown a grenade into a U.S. Military vehicle injuring two Americans and one Afghan. He is currently in U.S. custody at Bagram Air Base.

The subject originally claimed his name was Amir Khan and that he lived in the village of Ismail Khel in Khowst. He claimed he had traveled to Pakistan on two occasions: (1) to take his sick mother there to receive medical treatment, and (2) for pleasure: sightseeing, and shopping before the Taliban took power, approximately seven years ago. He claimed he spent eight years in a school at the mosque in Ismail Khel. He had one teacher who was named (b)(6) from the Tani tribe. This teacher taught him all subjects but died during his eighth year of school. In this school he studied Pashtu, math, the Koran, Dari, religious studies, history and geography. Two years ago he took a three-month English course that was taught by a man named (b)(6) in the bazaar of Khowst. There were approximately 20 students in this class. This information proved to be untrue.

After several days hours of interrogation, the subject broke down and admitted his real name was Mohammed Jawad, son of (b)(6) and he went by the name Mir Jan while at the training camp. He was born in Miram Shah, Pakistan and is from a Zadran tribe. His real father died when he was two months old and then his mother married one of her cousins named (b)(6)

As a child in Miram Shah he worked; he was in charge of his family's grocery store next to his house in the draga section of Miram Shah. They sold rice, oil, cigarettes, and candy.

He started going to the (b)(1),(b)(6),Sec. 1.4 in the bazaar area of Miram Shah because he learned that well known mullahs came there to preach. He attended this mosque for 15 days before he was recruited to go to a Hezb-e-Islami Gulbuddin training camp in eastern Afghanistan.

He was at the camp for two-twelve days. He learned to use hand grenades and a few basic English language phrases. He received an injection and was instructed to take a pill that he believes was intended to reduce his anxiety about killing. After the training he came to Kabul.

In Kabul he stayed at a hotel next to the Puli Keshti mosque, also known as the big blue mosque, to the right of a place that sells chickens. There were stores and shops located on the first floor. He does not know the name of the hotel. The hotel, in fact, was simply a large room filled with tables. The room was very crowded; people were sleeping on table and the floor. He slept on a table.

U.S. RESTRICTED

~~UNCLASSIFIED//FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY~~

U.S. RESTRICTED

The next morning two trainers from the camp met him at the hotel. The men did not reveal their names but rather used code numbers (39 and 42). One was wearing western looking clothes where in the past he had always worn traditional Pashtun clothes. The trainers gave him and another man named (b)(6) grenades. They also gave (b)(6) a pistol, money, and pills. Shortly after that, (b)(6) gave Jawad two pills and insisted that one of the pills be taken immediately. Jawad did not take this pill because there was so much emphasis put on this pill that he was afraid it might kill him. (b)(6) put a yellow powder on the second pill and made him take it with water and then asked Jawad if he had taken the first pill. Jawad lied and said he had. (b)(6) also took some pills. After Jawad took the pill he felt big and strong and everyone else looked really small. He lost track of time, the last thing he remembers of the attack is (b)(6) giving him the sign to throw the grenade.

(b)(6) had told him to return to the hotel after the attack. Jawad did not know where they were supposed to meet the trainers - only (b)(6) had this information. The trainers had promised they would pay him after the attack. They told him they would pay him enough money to buy his own house, approximately 12,000 rupees.

Jawad claims he does not remember if he threw the grenade or not. He blames this memory loss on the drugs he was forced to take. He says Afghan Ministry of the Interior officials told him he was captured with two grenades, which he claims makes him certain he did not throw a grenade - he only had two grenades when he left the hotel.

A urinalysis test does not indicate Jawad ingested drugs. The results of blood test have not yet been determined.

Although we have broken through his first cover story, many inconsistencies remain.
